John B. Parkin was appointed architect of the proposed new two-room addition to King Albert school in the south ward, Lindsay, by the Public School Board at their meeting Wednesday.

ART EXHIBIT
A display of the paintings of Mrs. S. Hamill, Garden Hill was held recently at the Arts Club, Toronto. The paintings will be exhibited in Garden Hill in the near future.

CHEQUES FOR INTEREST
Final interest cheques are being distributed to the members of the Peterborough Building and Loan Society following payment of principal about a year ago.

ENGINEER SPEAKS
Trends in the design of modern hydro-electric plants were discussed Thursday night at a meeting of the Peterborough branch of the Engineering Institute of Canada. Speaker was R. A. H. Hayes of Niagara Falls.

FARMERS' REQUEST
Federation of Agriculture directors decided Thursday night to ask the local member of Parliament, Gordon K. Fraser, to vote for the adoption of federal legislation to ban resale price maintenance practices.

TO DEDICATE WINDOW
A beautiful stained glass window has been presented to St. Paul's Presbyterian Church by Miss Francis Eakins in memory of her sister Cecilia Josephine Eakins who died on December 27, 1948. The window is to be dedicated at the morning service on Sunday.

APPOINT REPRESENTATIVE
Mrs. C. M. Laidley was re-appointed as Lindsay School Board's representative on the Victoria County High School Board and Allan Blewett, superintendent of the Children's Aid Society of Victoria and Haliburton counties was re-appointed school attendance officer for 1952 at Wednesday's School Board meeting.

DELAY COMMISSION MEET
The death of Judge Sheldon L. Smoke, one of the members, caused postponement of the police commission meeting Thursday afternoon. One of the items on the agenda was a conference between the commissioners and board of education members on the policy of hiring traffic guards to protect school children.

BOY STRUCK BY CAR
Ten-year-old Michael De Carlo, 617 Downie St., was struck and knocked down by a car, as he ran across Aylmer St., just south of the Hunter St. intersection, on Thursday afternoon. He was struck by a car driven by William W. Thompson, 65 Markland St., Kingston, who was going south on Aylmer St. The boy was treated by Dr. Robert Bell for a cut on his right cheek, and later taken home by the driver of the car.

ASK CITY CREDIT
City council will be asked by the board of education to provide bank credit, covering the cost of building the new Kenner Collegiate until the proceeds from the debentures are available. The board originally negotiated a $75,000 loan from a bank for interim financing but that is just about exhausted. The finance committee say it is the city's job to provide credit. Debentures will likely be marketed before the end of the year.

PROMINENT CITIZENS AND A LARGE COMPLIMENT of the Peterborough and Provincial Police Force attended the funeral service of the late Judge Sheldon L. Smoke at Trinity United Church on Thursday afternoon. Judge Smoke died on Tuesday. The Above photo shows the casket being carried through the guard of honor. Burial will take place today in Paris, Ont.—(Examiner Staff Photo)

Board Gives Teachers C-O-L Bonus

Increase To Start January 1, To Be Paid Quarterly

All employees of the board of education will get a cost of living bonus beginning Jan. 1. This was announced Thursday by the board after the appointments committee had studied the requests for salary adjustments.

At the end of each quarter the employees (including teachers, staff, maintenance men) will receive $5 for each point that the cost of living has risen over the base rate of 175 (Dominion Bureau of Statistics index).

This is in addition to existing salary schedules.

The bonus is calculated on the standing of the index at the second month of the quarter. It comes into effect Jan. 1 and the first payment will be in March.

If the C-O-L index remains stationary at 191 it will mean a quarterly salary boost of $80. Some 230 employees will be affected.

The committee also reported progress on other points of salary adjustment but at the time of the December meeting had no definite recommendations.

Stolen Car Crashes In Trenton, 2 Hurt In 90 MPH Chase

COBOURG, Dec. 14. (ENS)—Two men are in Trenton hospital and a third is in Cobourg jail after a 90-mile-an-hour chase along Highway 2 at 2 am today. The chase started when rookie policeman Tom Shaw of Cobourg jotted down the license number of a car passing the Cobourg police station. Five minutes later, the license number, given as that of a car stolen in Brantford, was radioed out by Cobourg Provincial Police.

Hits Four Meters
Four parking meters ended the chase 32 miles east of Cobourg, in Trenton. In the meantime, police had fired a half-dozen shots at the speeding car, which consistently outdistanced the police autos.

The injured men are: Hugh McLean, 30, of Frankford, and his cousin, George McLean, 36, of Brantford. Hugh McLean suffered a broken right arm and broken nose. George McLean is badly injured, but details of his injuries are not known.

The third man is Norman McLean, 21, a brother of George McLean. He tried to escape after the car smashed into the four parking meters on Trenton's main street, but was caught by two Trenton constables.

At 2 am, Constable Shaw spotted the car, took the licence number. Five minutes later came the OPP radio call. The licence numbers checked and Shaw phoned Provincial Constable Bill Baluk in Cobourg.

Baluk picked up Shaw in the OPP cruiser, and they sped along Highway 2 at 90 miles an hour, after Baluk radioed for a road block at Brighton, 25 miles to the east.

Near Colborne, the two officers caught up with the stolen car and pulled alongside, flashing the police spotlight. The suspected auto pulled away from them.

Double Spin
In Brighton, the pursued car made the first turn on the highway but went into a double spin on the second turn, stopping stalled in a garage lot. There, Provincial Constable H. Cook of Brighton tried to stop them.

Starting the suspected car, the driver tried to run down the officer, but Cook dodged. He fired several shots at the auto, but missed. Constables Baluk and Shaw by this time had caught up with the stolen car and Baluk fired a few shots at it, also missing.

In Trenton, icy roads tripped up the trio. Baluk had radioed ahead for a road block at Belleville, and at Trenton, two town policemen were waiting for the car. It passed them doing more than 90 miles an hour.

On the icy road, the speeding car skidded and knocked down a light standard, but continued. Later, it skidded a second time and flattened three parking meters before being stopped by the fourth.

Surrounded Car
Provincial police from Belleville and two Trenton officers surrounded the car, and found the driver, Hugh McLean, lying to the west of the car, with his face down on the pavement.

George McLean was in the car and Norman McLean was arrested a short distance from the auto.

Provincial police at Cobourg say that without the co-operation of Cobourg town police, they would not have been able to capture the trio and the stolen car.

Women Trustees Oppose Teams Getting Awards

The two women trustees on the board of education joined forces Thursday night to snipe at special awards given championship teams at PCVS.

Mrs. Anne Rowell and Mrs. Kathleen Bell made it clear they weren't against sports. But they said that championship teams get too much recognition, to the detriment of other school groups—drama, choral society, concert band and the school magazine.

"I feel we should abolish the giving of prizes for sport," said Mrs. Rowell.

That set off a 10-minute spirited discussion, only ended by chairman Dr. Honey's rap for order.

The upshot of the discussion was a resolution forwarded to the 1952 board. They will be asked to go into the whole matter of recognizing extra-curricular activities so there will be a consistent policy.

To Buy Windbreakers
It all started when Frank Jobbitt recommended the purchase of satin, wool-lined windbreakers for the senior rugby team, COSSA champions. Mr. Jobbitt and G. Wilson Graw—a two-man committee given the job of picking something suitable for the boys—thought that $21 leather jackets were two expensive.

They compromised on the satin windbreakers, costing half that much.

W. B. Gordon suggested medals or plaques.

Mrs. Rowell said the board reconized nothing else but scholarships and sports. She opposed the idea of the awards and added that she didn't like satin windbreakers anyway.

"I feel we should abolish the

Farmers Get Less Wives Pay More For Their Eggs

Although farmers were receiving less money today for eggs than a week ago, retail customers were paying the same prices and in several cases more than a week ago.

Today prices paid to farmers for eggs were one cent lower than Thursday's quotation of 39 cents a dozen. That price was a cent lower than on Wednesday.

A wholesaler reported that prices offered the farmers were: 38 cents for grade A large, 33 cents for grade A medium, 31 cents for grade A small, 33 cents for grade B eggs, 31 cents for grade C.

The prices to the farmers started skidding about three weeks ago when the quoted price dropper five cents from 52 cents to 47 cents for A large. A week ago farmers were quoted only 40 cents a dozen, the price then remaining steady until Tuesday this week.

Were 77 Cents
On the retail market eggs were 77 cents a dozen for A large three weeks ago, but the prices soon dropped five cents a dozen. Last week prices took another skid to 56 cents for A large, 54 cents for A medium and 52 cents for A small.

Today on the retail market prices were shaky, a few stores reluctant to quote prices. One store asked 59 cents for medium and 50 cents for small while other store prices were: 55 cents and 57 cents for A large; 53 and 54 cents for A medium, 51 and 52 cents for A small.

The unsteady market has been caused by a surplus of eggs on the home market. The surplus is due to a decrease in the export trade and an over-production of broilers.

Judge Sheldon L. Smoke 'Humble Strong' Man Buried

"We are remembering today with honor and respect . . . a quiet and humble, though strong, man." Representatives of all branches of the law and citizens of Peterborough heard the Rev. Dr. D. Bruce Gordon speak these words at the funeral service for His Honor Judge Sheldon L. Smoke.

Members of the city and provincial police forces, most of Peterborough's lawyers, the Peterborough county council, the judge's friends and family joined at Trinity United Church Thursday in a last tribute to the man who was county judge in Peterborough for 17 years.

Wreaths and sprays and bouquets of flowers were massed at the front of the church, and the smell of Christmas evergreen was all through the building.

A Worthy Judge
"Deeply absorbed by law . . . he sought to interpret it, never anything but conscientious. He will be remembered as a worthy judge. Friendship and brotherhood found in him a ready and willing supporter," said Dr. Gordon.

Dr. Gordon spoke of the men who live by human laws "that conform with the laws of God." Such a life is never a poor one—it is fed by faith in God and faith in man.

"The fruitfulnes of his years among us does not end with his life, or ours."

As the pallbearers—all junior members of the Peterborough bar—bore the casket to the doors of the church, city and provincial police formed a double line down the church steps to the sidewalk.

Inside them again was a double line of the senior members of the bar, and three of Judge Smoke's fellow judges—Judge J. A. McGibbon of Lindsay, Judge M. A. Miller of Cobourg, and Judge F. J. MacRae of Whitby.

Honorary pallbearers were: Judges MacRae, McGibbon and Miller, Magistrate W. R. Philp, KC, former magistrate O. A. Langley, KC, Mayor-elect Hugh Waddell, Sheriff John A. Harstone, County Warden Peter Pearson, John R. Corkery, F. D. Kerr, KC, V. J. McElderry, KC, T. J. Carley, KC, B. D. Hall, W. F. Huycke, KC, A. L. Elliott, KC, W. J. Arthur Fair, KC, Jacob Low, Crown Attorney John A. Bradshaw, KC.

Active pallbearers were James Lillico, Robert Carley, Trevor Clarke, Norman Crook, Gordon Farquharson and John W. Corkery.

This morning the judge's body was taken by train to Paris, Ont., for burial this afternoon.

Dr. Ralph Honey To Give Up Chair

Dr. Ralph C. Honey, chairman of the board of education, said Thursday night he would not seek re-election as chairman when the board's 1952 committees are formed.

The pressure of business made it impossible for him to serve more than one term as chairman. And he said that as a matter of policy he felt he should step down.

"There are two or three capable people who can do the job," he said.

In his closing address Dr. Honey suggested that if the work of the board becomes much greater there will have to be some sort of re-organization. If trustees find much more of their time taken up on public business they will not run for office. And the board will not get same quality of trustee.

W. B. Gordon said he hoped Dr. Honey would reconsider his intention. He said the chairman had done an outstanding job during his term of office.

6,500 Children To Get View Of Santa Claus

Santa Claus will pay pre-Christmas eve visits to more than 6,500 Peterborough children during the next week when 10 city companies will entertain their employees' children at Christmas parties.

All the parties are following the same pattern as last year, cartoons, movies, magicians and other entertainment, candy and then the climax, a visit from St. Nicholas. A few firms are giving presents also to the women, and others are making long service presentations to employees as part of the ceremonies.

The eight-day parade of parties begins tonight when the Social and Athletic Association of the De Laval Company will entertain 300 children at the Collegiate. There will be films, a singsong, Santa's visit, a gift for each child and woman.

Santa's head will be spinning late Saturday night after he has visited five factory parties and given out at least 5,000 gifts.

The majority of the children, an estimated 4,000, will fill the Collegiate auditorium five times Saturday, an average of 800 a party when the CGE entertains its employees' children. The first party will begin at 9 a.m. and the last at 4:30 p.m.

The feature of each, naturally, will be Santa's appearance but there has been a program of cartoons, carol singing and other entertainment to round out the one-and-half-hour show. The presents will vary for each age group.

Other Appearances
Other appearances made by Santa Claus on Saturday will be: the Peterborough Canoe Company, at the YMCA auditorium; the Quaker Oats Company, at Queen Mary school; the Peterborough Lock Company, at the Legion Hall; the Dominion Woollens and Worsted, at Queen Mary school.

After a day's rest, Sunday, Santa Claus will begin another busy week Monday night.

His first stop will likely be at the Outboard Marine and Manufacturing Company's party at the Collegiate where he is scheduled to arrive at 7:50 for a brief stop. Before that the children will be entertained for 40 minutes with films, singing and other entertainment.

For six employees Santa Claus will come early. For the company is presenting Betty Castle, Thomas Parkes, Walter Wood, Earle Davies, Roy Masters and Harry Pounder with watches for 15 years' service.

Santa will then dash to the Western Clock war veterans' association children's party in the company cafeteria. There he will be paying his first visit to the factory.

Santa Claus will wind up his industrial party visits with another whirl a week Saturday when the Brinton-Peterborough Carpet Company holds its party at St. John's school and the Canada Packers Company at the Capitol theatre.

County Solicitor F. D. Kerr Resigns

Francis D. Kerr, KC, today resigned as solicitor for the Peterborough county council. The resignation came on behalf of himself personally and the legal firm of Kerr, McElderry, Howell Bradshaw and Fleming. He is senior member of the firm.

No reason was given in his letter of formal resignation handed to the county council at noon today. The decision came after a conference Thursday between Mr. Kerr and a committee of the county council. He succeeded E. A. Peck, KC, as county solicitor.

Mr. Kerr asked that the resignation be accepted immediately so "the county as well as ourselves, may plan for the work of the New Year."

His letter said in part:

"In severing a connection—on my part of some 40 years—I express the hope that the increased prosperity now evident in both the city and county will continue, even though it brings with it increased work and responsibility to the members of the county council . . . and to me and my firm in its practice of solicitors in this rapidly growing community."

In closing, Mr. Kerr wished the county and his successor as city solicitor, good luck.

Refuse To Help Themselves

No Unity Shown Among Market Vendors

You can't help people who won't do anything to help themselves.

That was the sentiment of directors of the Federation of Agriculture Thursday night as they considered what might be done for the market vendors.

"I thought we would have some of them with us tonight," said W. W. Dawson, chairman.

"If we could organize the market producers into a group . . ." John Kitney suggested. "The city and the county councils have committees, then they might come together, and we could see what the producers could do to help themselves. I think the city would be willing to go along with them."

City Can Afford To Aid
"I think they ought to be able to do so, judging by the figures of Ald. Braund," Melville Johnston remarked. "I guess they are correct, and if the city is going to be better off by $12,000 to $15,000 a year, they could afford to do something."

One of the members said it appeared to be impossible to get the market vendors together. They were invited some years ago to a dinner given by the city to discuss the market. Only a few turned out, and they weren't unanimous.

Clifford Johnston, North Monaghan, said: "If the farmers erected a building on that George St. site, who would it belong to? The city owns the property, and it will get more valuable all the time."

Norman McConkey agreed that it was a valuable piece of property. "In fact I doubt that you'll ever see a building erected there."

Mr. Kitney proposed that Harold Lewis, Federation fieldman, might canvass the vendors at the market, find out the extent of their interest in a permanent market.

Leased By Tender
Melville Johnston recalled the former practice of the city, leasing the market by tender, getting an annual sum for the permission to collect tolls.

"They always had a revenue every year, and it was free and easy down there," Mr. Johnston said. "Then the city council decided to run the market themselves. So they put a man on, and after that they were always in the red.

"I feel that the city gets something out of the ratepayers of the county, and ought to do something for those people," was Mr. Johnston's conclusion.

"I think others are willing to help, if they will only do something for themselves," said Mr. Kitney.

The plain problem was resolved into the question of how the vending farmers might be brought into some unity. That becomes another job for Harold Lewis.

"I think Mr. Lewis would be well advised to take some form so as he can get names on applications, and also a fee for an organization that could be formed," Mr. McConkey commented. "Otherwise I think he would be wasting his time."

Nobody attended from the producing vendors, and the only action was to request Mr. Lewis to interview them one of these Saturdays, probably after Christmas.

Ontario Cheese Producers Open Storage Warehouse and Curing Plant in Year of Their Marketing Board Success . . . Feed Grain Freight Aid Total $161,740,000 . . . Jersey Breeders Set Friday, Jan. 4 for Luncheon Meeting . . . Forums Suspend Until January.

Of prime significance in the formal opening of the Ontario Cheese Producers' $300,000 storage and curing plant at Belleville by Hon. T. L. Kennedy was its materialization of a rural hope.

Probably no one remembers the time and place when some cheese factory representative said: we ought to have our own cold storage. But, that was its airy beginning in some forgotten discussion. If some one could have then rubbed Aladdin's lamp and called into being the spacious and modernly equipped building now in daily use, the apparition would have been an incredible wonder.

In actual words, there was not much difference between Aladdin's invocation, and the hazy phrasing of a cheeseman's wish. It was only in the manner of emergence.

The idea of a cheese curing plant was repeated in necessity here and there for years that are forgotten, too. Eventually, however, it etched its way into the conceptions of men, proceeding slowly to the usual course of canvass of possibilities. These successive forward steps dissolved into the last official pronouncement that the big building of steel and concrete, 120 by 200 feet, was now open for the business of the Ontario Cheese Producers Association.

Its structural details are important, but more appealing to the imagination and memory was the manner of their accomplishment. The federal government's subsidy and a special grant from the government of Ontario were salient financial aids. Essentially, it was a producers' project.

The warehouse at Belleville has accommodation for approximately 60,000 cheese, and is equipped with the newest facilities for their handling.

"Looked Impossible"

The words of Col. Kennedy brightly frame this achievement of the Ontario cheese men: "A feat that looked impossible a few years ago is now an accomplished fact, a fact that I am extremely proud of".

This was the first time, said the minister, that the farmers of Ontario could process and ship their products themselves. A large part of this success was due to the strong credit standing of the Ontario Cheese Producers in Great Britain. That position was acquired by the Association keeping its commitments with the mother country.

He stressed the necessity of not depending on anyone else to market the products of the cheese industry, but of having agents all along the line for that purpose.

"Magnificent Job"

Sir Andrew Jones, representative of the British Food Mission, recalled the grim predictions of many of his friends that the Ontario Cheese Producers "wouldn't get to first base" . . . "but they have done a magnificent job". He suggested that the British Food Ministry was entited to an assist in its purchase this year of 25,630,000 pounds of cheddar at a cost of $8,200,000.

The inspiring aspect of the new cheese storage plant is in its local property. Not in Wisconsin or Holland or Denmark was it built, but in nearby Belleville, and as an Ontario Cheese Producers' enterprise.

A Notable Year

For them this has been a year of progressive action. Their storage and curing plant was on the way to completion when the cheese producers decided to negotiate directly with Britain an agreement, virtually a contract, to deliver 20,000,000 pounds overseas. The factories exceeded that quota. Their initiative in assumed responsibility has paid off.

On that point, Hon. W. A. Goodfellow said at Belleville: "Don't depend on the government, but help the government to make conditions better for yourselves."

This is a bright chapter of things done by the cheese producers, who are dairy farmers. They make an excellent product in their Ontario Ceddar cheese, they have an established reputation in Britain, they have set their standards of quality. Now they are in the market more than ever before "on their own" . . . Incidentally, they have shown their fellow farmers that it can be done.

174 AT MEETINGS

Frank C. Paterson, agricultural representative, is grateful to the 174 farmers who attended the health of animals meetings at Selwyn, Warsaw, Westwood and at the Y.M.C.A. last week. General discussions in the question periods of the programs were evidence, he said, of the co-operative spirit of the audiences.

"I also want to thank Dr. Harold Worton of Peterborough's Department of Health, and Dr. D. C. MacKay, veterinarian of the Maple Cattle Breeders' Association, for their very helpful assistance," Mr. Paterson said. "They are outstanding members of the veterinary profession of this country, and I am sure our farmers appreciated their discussions on the general question of how to keep cattle healthy."

Mr. Paterson said any farmers who put off attending these meetings missed something that would have been of practical information and value. "This is a dairying district, and the more we do to keep our herds in good condition, the better it should be for our rural income."

FORUMS TAKE HOLIDAY

Review night Mon. Dec. 17 concludes the second of this season's Forum series. The third group of subjects, based on farm policy, opens Jan. 7 with the question: "Should we increase production?"

KING'S WHARF FORUM

King's Wharf Forum over in Victoria county held recent meetings at the homes of Mr. and Mrs. Patrick Perdue and Mr. and Mrs. Earl Herlihey. Attendance at one meeting was 38, which is about the average for that Forum.

LUNCHEON MEETING

Directors of Peterborough and District Jersey Breeders' Association decided Wednesday to hold their annual meeting after luncheon Friday Jan. 4th at the Empress hotel. Dr. Harold Worton is being invited as speaker. Harry Young presided at the board session.

PINE GROVE FORUM

More than 30 of the members of Pine Grove Farm Forum met Monday Dec. 10 at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Garbutt. Folk Schools was the subject of the broadcast. Next meeting Dec. 17 will be at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Dunford.

PLOWMEN'S MEETING

Annual meeting of Peterborough's Plowmen's Association is booked for Mon. Dec. 17 in the office of F. C. Paterson. The October match was quite a success in its attendance, number of competitors and the quality of work. A new idea or two for the future have been mentioned, and may emerge into discussion.

CHEESE PRODUCERS' MEETING

Fred Crowe will preside at the Peterborough Cheese Producers' meeting Wed. Dec. 19 at 10 a.m. in the office of the Ontario Department of Agriculture. The industry in this county is only a vestige of its once flourishing series of producing factories, but the provincial association still recognizes the local remnant of several factories and their organization. Charles N. Heath of Belleville, secretary of the Ontario Cheese Producers is coming to the meeting.

FEED GRAIN SUBSIDY

Federal government's freight assistance on feed grain from the west amounted to $161,740,007 for the period from Oct. 1941 to Oct. 31, 1951.

Tonnage was 27,932,794 on deliveries to eastern Canada and British Columbia.

During the crop year Aug. 1950 to July 31, this year, a total of 2,086,714 tons was handled under this assistance program. The subsidy amounted to $15,309,757. The policy was inaugurated in 1941 to make it possible for livestock feeders in the eastern provinces and in British Columbia to obtain supplies of feed grains and other feeds from the prairie provinces.

FIFTEEN TO O.A.C.

Fifteen young men from this district are planning to attend the short course at O.A.C. during New Year's week, R. E. Bell, assistant agricultural representative, said yesterday. Six or seven are from the area around Norwood.

This course is in a variety of subjects from Dec. 31 to Jan. 4.

"We never had anything like that number enrolling from here," Mr. Bell said.

CHRISTMAS PARTY

Junior Farmers have an interesting program for their Christmas party at the Normal School Monday Dec. 17. It includes films, dancing, Christmas tree and exchange of presents, refreshments. Nothing about projects raising money for their various club affairs, and other problems of the year, is permitted to intrude on the social atmosphere of this party.

IFAP TO MEET IN ROME

Some 30 nations are now members of the International Federation of Agricultural Producers. Latest accessions were the farm organizations of Austria and Yugoslavia. Annual IFAP conference in 1952 will be in Rome during October. H. H. Hannam, president of Canadian Federation, retired from the presidency of the international organization last spring in Mexico City. He was succeeded by Pierre Martin of France.

MILK PRICE FORMULA

The proposed formula for determining milk prices would be similar to the cost of living index now used by industry in connection with labor casts, A. D. Robinson, president, told the Ingersoll Whole Milk Producers Tuesday. In the event of legislation establishing the formula it would be necessary to zone the province. That would mean that the price of milk would be the same in each zone, Mr. Robinson said.

FEED MIXERS FREED OF DUTY

Advice that half-ton feed mixers, for use exclusively on individual farms, will be free of import duty, has been given to the Canadian Federation of Agriculture by the tariff board of Canada following decision by the board on appeal from customs duty by the Cockshutt Plough Company. The board stated in its decision, that "It appears appropriate to designate this machine as "agricultural".

The Federation of Agriculture, in co-operation with the representative of the government of Alberta, joined in the appeal on this item.

HOLSTEIN DIRECTORS

Peterborough Holstein Breeders recently elected the following directors: Ernest Fife, Henry Sharpe, Walter Thorn, Stanley Wood, Charles E. Moore, Stewart Nelson, Norman McConkey, Joseph Coughlin, Earl Dorris, Allan Davis, Howard Clark and Ed Bulmer.

It was decided to sponsor a coach to Toronto for the Canadian Holstein Association's convention January 30.

G. A. Brethen spoke to the meeting about the possibility of the federal government discontinuing the freight subsidy on western feed grain. He suggested that a resolution should be sent to Ottawa asking for the continuance of this assistance.

It was decided to write Gordon K. Fraser, M.P., requesting him to convey the directors' resolution and wishes to the Minister of Agriculture, Hon. James Gardiner.

WON BUTTER PRIZES

Trent Valley Creameries of Campbellofrd, operated by H. N. Carr & Son, were butter prize winners in this year's competitions directed by the Ontario Creamery Association.

In the butter quality competition they scored 99.71 points out of a possible 100. Trent Valley won three of a possible four prizes, and an honorable mention.

This creamery has been winning prizes since 1927. At the International Dairy Exposition one year they captured a first prize for the best Ontario butter, a second for Canada, and fifth for the continent.

Carr's creamery buttermakers are Carl V. Stephens and Gerald Fitchett.

BUTTER QUALITY AWARDS

Canada Packers Limited of Wiarton was the winner of the grand championship Lawrson Shield in the butter quality improvement competition for the second year in a row. The competition sponsored by the Ontario Creamery Association, covered the period from May 1st to October 31st, 1951. Canada Packers Limited of Fort Frances was runner-up in this combined competition covering quality, yeast and mould, and workmanship.

In the butter quality competition, Canada Packers Limited of Fort Frances won the grand championship Roland Johnston Memorial Trophy. This plant manufactured 56,280 pounds of butter with a score of 100% first grade. Four other plants: Borden Company Ltd., Toronto; Villa Noya Milk Products Co-op., Waterford; Stacey Brothers Ltd., Mitchell, and Kemptville Creameries, Kemptville all had a score of 100% first grade butter, but the quantity manufactured was less than the winner. These four plants were runners-up in this competition.

Since the butter quality competition started seven years ago, thirteen creameries have made 100% first grade butter during the competition period for one or more years.

CHRISTMAS MESSAGE

W. G. Johnson, secretary of the Ontario Hog Producers, closes his final bulletin of 1951 with best wishes for a Merry Christmas and Happy New Year "to our members, other farm organizations, the transporters and livestock exchange, the packing industry, our consumers, friends in Canada and abroad".

These are several excerpts from the Johnson message of goodwill.

"May the new year present to us as hog producers a new approval to our marketing problems. An appeal in which we are not depending upon someone else to find the answer to our problems, but rather one in which we assume responsibility and become a party in an industry of the size and importance of that of the hog industry. With the wisdom which will enable us to accept new experiences in a growing country, may we, through a central marketing agency, set up an orderly and business-like system of hog marketing in Ontario for 1952.

It is only right that we should, at this time, look at the opportunities which appear on the horizon to serve our friends at home and abroad. We regret that "man made" conditions in the economic sphere appear to be such as to deprive us of the privilege of supplying large quantities of pork and pork products to the people in the United Kingdom and Europe.

We trust that the efforts put forth through International Food and Trade Conference will soon open up again the privilege we once enjoyed of supplying food to those people in need. Until that day comes we should keep our production down to domestic requirements."

TESTING NEW WHEAT

Genesee is the promising new winter wheat now under test in the province of Ontario. This new wheat variety, named after New York State's Genessee Valley, was developed at the Ithaca Experiment Station, Cornell University, from a selection of crossed hybrids of the Honor, Forward, and Yorkwin varieties. It will be planted in New York State for the production of Registered and Certified seed which will become available to U.S. farmers for the 1953 planting season. Genesee is a beardless, brown-chaffed, yellow-strawed plant that produces a soft white wheat particularly suited for use as a special purpose flour in cakes and pastries.

The Ontario tests—conducted over a period of two years at four different stations—show that Genesee is much more resistant to loose smut than Dawson Golden Chaff, a winter wheat variety grown in Ontario for more than fifty years. In its resistance to loose smut, Genesee compares with "Cornell" 595 which in recent year has become the most popular winter wheat variety in Ontario. Genesee, however, has the advantage over "Cornell" 595 in so far as it outyields the latter by 6-7 per cent and its grain is reported to be more shatter-resistant.

A. G. O. Whiteside of the Cereal Division emphasizes, however, that pending the evaluation by the Ontario Winter Wheat Committee at its January meeting, another year's tests may be required before this variety will be recommended for registration under the Canadian Wheat Act.

Hon. T. L. Kennedy, Minister of Agriculture for Ontario, officially opened the $300,000 cheese curing and storage warehouse of the Ontario Cheese Producers' Association at Belleville Friday Dec. 7. Federal and Ontario governments contributed to the financing of the building which affords cheese producers modern facilities of curing and delivering their cheese to the markets. The cheese industry assumed details of selling 20,000,000 lbs. of cheese to Britain this year without government intervention. They exceeded this objective as further proof of what agricultural producers can accomplish. Covered loading platforms are provided for receipt of cheese by truck and also for loading into railway cars.

Farmers Lack Time For Folk Schools

Peterborough Forums appear to be more than dubious about the appeal of Folk Schools to local farmers. There are so many new and practical affairs calling for attention, and the Danish medium of adult education would require a great deal of time for successful application.

That was the thought of Central Smith group at the home of Mr. and Mrs. R. L. Irwin. "There is a great lack of time, and so much other effort and entertainment. it would be hard to get the people interested." Mrs. R. Rowland was the discussion leader.

Thirty-eight members attended Donegal Forum at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Max Brown, in the Norwood district. Jim Leeper was leader for the evening, December 10.

That group turned their Folk School subject to good account in this proposal. "We suggest that we all try to attend the courses that are given by the Department of Agriculture in each community; and have good educational films."

In other words if the Folk School is something beyond our reach, for various reasons, let us take hold of some projects, especially of agricultural extension, that are provided for us. That is a paraphrase of the Donegal conclusion.

Lily Lake Forum had 20 at the home of Mr. and Mrs. George Middleton; Coldsprings, Otonabee, also 20, with Mr. and Mrs. M. Bullock as hosts.

Pine Grove Forum at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Garbutt frankly said that short courses or night schools "would be a greater help"; that "Folk Schools would not be much success in our community unless they were at night, as most people would not be able to attend in the day time." Twenty-nine members were present.

Evidently the 15 members at Daisy D Forum, also on the east side of the county were hesitant about rejecting the Folk School plan. Their opinion was that the School should be on a county basis, with co-operation of groups if enough people would attend. George Shonicker was leader at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Sedgwick.

These are samples of Forum reaction to the Dec. 10 subject. The conclusions testify that the discussions were possibly more profitable than they sounded at the time, especially if they result in recognition of the opportunities of rural aid and advancement, and in action of attending and supporting them.

SEILING ROYAL WING, bred and owned by Albert Seilling, Elmira, Ont., is the only Holstein in the world with three records above 1,200 lbs. fat on official test. As a seven year old she produced 1,219 lbs. fat from 28,505 lbs. milk (4.28%), as a nine-year-old 1,215 lbs. fat from 28,714 lbs. milk (4.25%) and as a 10-year-old 1,214 lbs. fat from 30,540 lbs. milk (3.97%). "Royal Wing" was milked three times daily but her fat total sets a new mark regardless of times milked daily. Her five records, two of them on twice-a-day milking total 123,283 lbs. milk 5,072 lbs. fat 4.11%. She is also North American Holstein champion and believed to be world champion for fat for three and four consecutive lactations on official test, regardless of times milked daily and for two consecutive lactations on 3x and is the only North American Holstein with more than one record above 1,200 lbs. fat. "Royal Wing" has been classified as "Very Good" the second highest rating attainable conformation.

Chinese Reds Sentence Nuns To Death By Starvation

QUEBEC, Dec. 14 — (CP). — An elderly Canadian nun who returned recently from 50 years of missionary work in China described in an interview Thursday what happens at Communist public trials.

Rev. Mother St. Blaise, now retired at the Quebec City Mother House of Franciscan Nuns, told how she and 24 of her companions were informed by official messenger in January, 1950, that Communist officials would visit their mission in Shangsa, Hopeh Province.

They came the next day, ordered the chapel cleared of religious objects in two hours, she said.

Pictures of Red Army officers replaced religious images. A large portrait of Stalin was placed on the main altar where the crucifix stood.

The nuns were ordered to appear in the transformed chapel the following evening for "a public meeting."

Took Over Hospital.

Mother St. Blaise, who was the first woman missionary of her order to set foot in China in 1902, said these Communists "had already taken over direction of our hospital, an event that was marked by a public demonstration and band music."

"The next day, flanked by two soldiers, we were led into the chapel to stand trial.

"Each one of our employees had been ordered to accuse us publicly of the most revolting crimes, strangling children, killing pregnant women on the operating table. Our medical superintendent renounced our religion publicly.

"We stood for five hours, facing the crowd, without being allowed to answer. When the judge decided there was enough 'evidence,' sentence was pronounced.

"'Since we have no powder to waste to punish such crimes,' he said, 'you will simply be left to starve to death.'

One Sack of Flour

"We were escorted back to the convent where our goods were confiscated and we were left with a sack of flour and a bit of oil."

Mother St. Blaise said that without the help of local Chinese women, the group would have died of starvation. One night they escaped to a Carmelite convent at Chungking. Finally, she was allowed to leave the country, but it took five months because of difficulties.

"I guess I waited too long before returning," she said, "now I cannot trace any relatives. I even had to be introduced to the members of my own order in the convent here. I didn't know anybody. So many things can happen in a half-century."

Get Same Holiday

OTTAWA, Dec. 14 (CP)—Thousands of civil servants who are employed on an hourly wage will get the same Yuletide holidays as civil servants employed on regular salaries. The treasury board today decided to extend the extra two-day holiday with pay — the day before Christmas and the day before New Year's—to all prevailing rate workers in the federal civil service.

School Presents Christmas Concert At Coldsprings

COLDSPRINGS, Dec. 14 (ENS) —A capacity crowd filled the hall Wednesday night when Coldsprings school pupils, and teacher William Little, presented their Christmas concert.

Larry McIntosh, a junior, was chairman for the program.

Mr. Little was pianist for the evening.

The following program was presented: the juniors presented an address of welcome. Song by juniors "Rudolf the Red Nosed Reindeer." Recitation, Kathryn Harper, "Some Christmas Gifts." Play by the seniors, "Out the Window is Down." Donald Harris played a piano solo. Shadowgraph, "Call Surgery" by the seniors. Vocal solo, "Never Been Kissed" by Jean Bowman. Drill by eight girls entitled "My Bonnie."

The seniors then presented a sketch, "Heck Says It." Song by the juniors. Dance, "The Virginia Reel," by the school. Recitation by Viva Morrison. The seniors sang a selection. Piano solo, Nadene Morrison. The program closed with the "Nativity Scene."

Santa Claus arrived to distribute the many gifts. Attendance prizes were presented by Mr. Little to Ruth Turner, and Donald Harris. A scholarship prize was won by David Denny for getting 91 per cent on his fall studies.

Toy Dept. Wonderland Exciting Christmas Gifts

Every toy department is a wonderland of the most thrilling and exciting gifts for kids of all ages.

From Santa's workshops comes a host of colorful, action-packed new toys—designed to set young hearts pitter-pattering come Christmas morning.

Dolls Do Everything

Dolls, in this year's toy pack, endear themselves to 'little mothers' with their almost-human charms. They walk, talk, eat, cry and laugh.

Many of them wet their didies, sip milk through a straw, get their hair waved (dyed, too) and even suck their thumbs.

Their bodies, now made from soft, life-like latex foam, seem to invite cudding and loving from eager little girls.

There's the just-like-real walking doll, who gets wound up and walks besides her mistress, almost 'big as life'.

There are sets of dolls in twins, triplets and even quadruplets for the little mother's loving care.

Of course, there are scads and scads of accessories . . . famous-designer doll dresses, extra changes of diapers, carrying and travel cases, carriages, bathinettes and bassinettes—all of them in wonderful doll-sized editions — to thrill every little girl on Santa's list!

More Little-Girl Toys

The very young miss will cook like mother on her honest-to-goodness electric stove. She'll iron, sweep, launder her doll's undies, and bake a cake with miniature, working models of kitchen and household utensils.

The little miss will love her sew-a-fine-seam sewing machine, her embroidery kits and pattern sets for making dolls' clothes.

She'll play house with fully-furnished dollhouses, where even the kitchen is complete with tiny, tiny replicas of the smartest furnishings.

Airborne Cowboy Clears Out Elk Saves Valuable Apple Orchards

By PARRIS EMERY
Nea Special Correspondent

YAKIMA, Wash.— (NEA) — Ranchers in Yakima Valley will tell you that Carl Brady is probably the greatest elk and antelope herdin' cowboy in the world —even if he never spins a lariat or rides a cow pony.

Brady, a 30-year-old former Air Force pilot, rides herd in a helicopter. And while he's more interested in crop dusting as a business, he's credited, in classic cowboy hero tradition, with ending the "Yakima Elk War" and saving valuable orchards from destruction.

The elk war broke out a couple of winters ago when blizzards on the Cascade slopes covered the natural browsing grounds of about 6,000 elk, forcing them to seek forage in the valleys. They turned up in the orchards and began feeding on young apple trees.

Men in jeeps, on horseback and on foot tried to drive back the marauding animals, but it was a costly process because cold and hungry elk have little fear of man.

Threatened Cattle

Ranchers started shooting the elk to defend their property. Sportsmen, angered at the slaughter, threatened to shoot a cow for every elk, and the war was on.

Brady, who likes the ranchers to stay in business so he can dust their orchards, figured he'd better come to the rescue. He remembered he had once flown over some elk on the Cascades just to watch them, and discovered he could herd them in any direction he pleased with his flying cayuse.

State game officials were somewhat cynical, but Brady kept talking and they finally agreed to go along for the ride.

From his flying horse, Brady spotted 25 elk nibbling in an orchard. He buzzed them, and they ran for a corner. Then he flew behind them, driving them out of the orchard, down a steep hill, up a trail and back to their refuge, seven miles away. It took an hour and 25 minutes, and Brady never lost an elk.

Four days later—and $50 an hour—he had driven all the elk back where they belonged, and from then on it was just a case of rounding up the strays. The war was over.

Last spring the game department called on the flying cowboy to round up some troublesome antelope so they could be moved to another area.

It took him about an hour and a half of maneuvering over miles of sagebrush country before he found out the antelope have to be driven much faster than elk. Then he rounded up 14 in one fell swoop, herding them into the corral so fast they almost went out the other side.

This winter, when the snow on the mountains gets deep, Brady will be back in the saddle again. The ranchers won't lose their apple trees, the sportsmen won't aim at cows, and the elk will meekly go home, like the happy ending of a western Saturday matinee.

Foils Holdup

MONTREAL, Dec. 14—(CP)—A bank manager of a branch of the Banque Provinciale Du Canada at Varennes, 20 miles south of here, foiled a hold-up attempt by two men by firing a shot at them as they entered the building. One of the men drew a revolver to return the fire, but when he saw bank manager Emil Tousignant preparing to fire a second shot both fled.

King's Broadcast Top Event On Radio Christmas Day

By HARRY ECCLES,
Canadian Press Staff Writer.

The voice of King George is the outstanding feature of all the great programs arranged for Christmas Day, the one day of the year when radio has its maximum audience as families gather across the country.

Canadian listeners, with fresh memories of the tour by Princess Elizabeth and the Duke of Edinburgh, will more than ever be keen to hear His Majesty's regular Christmas Day message this year in view of the serious lung operation he underwent September 23.

The Christmas Day message by the King to his people around the world will be broadcast from the Royal study at Sandringham in Norfolk at 10 am EST. This will be his 14th Christmas broadcast as King. While the message is traditionally personal and non-political, he felt it necessary a year ago to point to the spectre of war and warn against any trend to appeasement. He said each individual should adopt the motto, "Whatever comes or does not come, I will not be afraid."

Gift of Christmas

Preceding the King's speech the British Broadcasting Corporation is putting on a world-wide exchange program. The theme this year is the Gift of Christmas. As it moves from Britain to Europe, to the Americas, to Australia and the Far East, to the African Continent and over to the frozen rocks and valleys of Korea, the speakers will bear witness to the vitality of the values enshrined in the meaning of Christmas.

With the help of the United Nations, for whom Canadians and men of many other nationalities are battling in Korea, the BBC will bring the voices of Korean children singing at a Christmas party behind the lines.

Christmas programs of the Canadian Broadcasting Corporation are spread over several days, starting Dec. 22 with an account of Christmas in the Yukon, where folk started in November to parcel up gifts for relatives "on the outside."

The trans-Canada network on Sunday night, Dec. 23, presents an adaptation of several episodes from the Pickwickians' Christmas Holiday at Dingley Dell, the rollicking warm-hearted story by Dickens. On Christmas Eve will be broadcast carols from historic King's College chapel at Cambridge.

On Christmas Day itself, the CBC opens with the BBC's world-wide program at 9 am, EST, followed by the King's message. Afterwards well-known Christmas tunes will be heard played on the carillon of the peace tower at Ottawa by Robert Donell, the federal carilloneur.

The traditional Christmas Day religious service at 11 am this year is being broadcast from the chapel of the Royal Canadian Mounted Police at Regina. Special Christmas features fill the rest of the day until at 7 pm. The CBC microphone tours the world to visit Canadians obliged to spend the day away from home—notably the men of the 25th brigade in Korea and the 27th brigade in Germany.

Music on Christmas night includes a performance of Tchaikovsky's "Nutcracker Ballet" by a CBC orchestra conducted by Paul Scherman, followed by Arthur Honegger's symphonic psalm "King David," performed by the CBC's Montreal orchestra and chorus of 45 voices with solo singers.

UK Existence Depends On Able Work

LONDON (CP)—Garfield Weston, Canadian-born executive of big British bakery interests, believes British business men should comb their staffs to find the right men for the right job because Britain's existence depends on it.

In an informal speech at a company meeting the former Toronto biscuit executive said the matter of management is one of the vital problems of the day.

He pointed out "the vital difference of good management, strong management, aggressive management, as compared with weak management—though working with the same tools, in the same circumstances, and on the same problems.

"England must comb through the management of every single business in the country until she is satisfied that there are at the top the ablest men that she can possibly command. Our very existence demands it."

Weston, known here as the "cookie king" because of his bakery interests, has businesses in Australia, South Africa, Britain and the United States, as well as 32 companies in Canada. He recently obtained a controlling interest in the famous London department store, Fortnum and Mason.

BORDER CLASH—Camera study of violent catches an East German policeman and his accomplice (left) as they seize a youth who trie to flee across the border into an American sector of West Berlin. Meantime, trained Cominform agents are being infiltrated across the border from Eastern Germany to stir up a new wave of Communist activity in the Bonn Republic.

Few Germans Ready To Rush To Aid West Opinion Now Favors Neutrality Plan

By LEON DENNEN

BONN, Germany — (NEA) — Few Germans are ready to rush to the defense of the West. Their reluctance is no sign that they've developed a love for Moscow, however.

The German people realize that they are sitting in a very favorable bargaining position. They believe that a united Germany could act as a balance of power between the East and West and thus exact greater concessions from both sides.

That is the attitude I found, as I talked with dozens of ordinary folk during a tour from Berlin to the Ruhr. It is why West German Chancellor Konrad Adenauer is facing a hard parliamentary battle on the question of rearming Germany within the proposed European army.

The 75-year-old Chancellor said on visits to Paris and London that conditions in Germany were "especially favorable" for European unity. He emphasized that the Bonn Republic has rejected the idea of "neutralization."

Decided Shift in Opinion

But there has been a decided shift in West German public opinion in favor of neutrality in the "impending conflict between the United States and Soviet Russia."

Nationalism and new forms of Nazism are on the increase. More Germans now favor reunification with the Communist state in East Germany—even at the expense of a compromise with the Russians.

As the danger of Soviet aggression against the West grows, they hope to be able to raise the price of their cooperation.

Dr. Kurt Schumacher's vocal social democratic opposition is especially unhappy over the agreement recently reached in Paris between Chancellor Adenauer and the United States, Britain and France.

Under the Paris "Peace Contract," West Germany is to receive limited sovereignty. But the socialists want additional Allied concessions as Germany's price for taking part in a European army.

German nationalism is being strengthened considerably by Moscow's campaign to divert Germans from European unity by dangling the lure of national unity before them.

Communist activity in the Bonn Republic is at a new high. It has been stiffened lately by the influx of trained Cominform agents infiltrated across the borders from Czechoslovakia and East Germany.

Disrupt Germany Economy.

Following Cominform orders, the Kremlin's emissaries are seeking to disrupt German economy through strikes, sabotage and acts of violence. They are also engaged in a feverish rumor-mongering campaign to sow anti-Western suspicion among the Germans.

Despite Allied assurances, rumors persist in Germany that the Bonn Republic is being "sold down the river" at secret Big Four conference held in Paris under United Nations auspices.

Russia's drive for German "unity" has made a greater impression on the nationalist-minded Germans than is generally conceded in the West, according to Soviet experts in Western Germany.

This is even true of Berlin — the little island surrounded by Soviet might where anti-Communist feeling is strongest.

"More Germans now support the idea of their unity first, with European integration second," Ernst Reuter, the courageous and pro-Western Mayor of Berlin, told me.

The Germans are aware, of course, that geographically West Germany is crucial for the defense of Europe. Economically she has the heart of Europe in the Rhur— the greatest of all such prizes the Russians could seek.

The West needs "German assistance, both in geography and military strength," Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower told the recent NATO Council meeting in Rome.

A German contribution in men, materials and money has figured prominently in all of NATO's defense calculations. But this contribution is not likely to be forthcoming in the near future.

Eisenhower's project for a European army may have to be revised drastically at the NATO Council meeting scheduled to be held in Lisbon in February.

Should Britain and France finally agree to a European army, the U. S. will still have to overcome German reluctance to join in the defense of the West.

Better Forest Record

FREDERICTON, NB (CP). — Chief forester G. L. Miller announced that New Brunswick closed the 1951 forest fire season with the lightest acreage loss in five years. Total number of fires, 113, lowest since 1945, burned an estimated 2,500 acres of timber land.

Fifth Freedom?

MOLDE, Norway—(Reuters)—Inhabitants of Molde (pop. 4,000) now have the town council's permission to spit—on the streets, not on the sidewalks. Proposing the motion, a councillor said persons might move to other towns unless they were allowed to spit in the street.

RETURNING HOME — Lt.-Col. Jacques A. Dextraze, DSO and Bar, 32, of Montreal, officer commanding the Royal 22nd Regiment in Korea, will return to Canada. He will be succeeded by his senior company commander, Maj. J. A. A. G. Vallee, 35, of Quebec City, who has been promoted to the rank of lieutenant-colonel. Col. Dextraze will be posted to Canadian Army Staff College at Kingston, Ont., after a few weeks' leave.

US Companies Raid Firms Building Planes

TORONTO, Dec. 14 — (CP) — Representatives of United States aircraft companies are reported "raiding" plane-building firms in the Toronto and Montreal areas for skilled labor.

Agents of at least three major US defence contractors have signed up employees during the last few weeks from the staffs of Avro Canada Limited at nearby Malton, de Havilland Aircraft of Canada at suburban Downsview, and Canadair Limited at Cartierville, Que.

Wages offered by the US firms are said to be generally higher than those paid in Toronto and Montreal.

May Discard Needle

VICTORIA, BC (CP) — City authorities propose a new test for diphtheria immunization which may do away with injections by needle. The new method is to give children caramel-flavored candies containing the equivalent amount of toxoid. Between 70 and 100 students in each of three age groups will take the test here.

Gifts For Homemaker Practical, Precious, Econominal And Are Always Welcome

You may have a heart of gold at Christmas time, and even though your purse doesn't match it, you needn't give up hope of giving distinctive gifts for the home-maker on your list.

Shops, everywhere, have rounded up a myriad of wondrous gift charmers—for every taste, type, and most important— for every budget.

Let's look at gifts for the homemaker! If the kitchen's her favorite province—wife, mother, aunt or grandmother—she'll go for gifts such as these.

Cooking Made Easier

Make her cooking chores easier with an electric table broiler that cooks steaks, chops, hamburgers or hot dogs, right at the table. Or, with an electric pot that cooks beans Boston-style at the table or serves chili, spaghetti or soup, piping hot.

If you want to give her the gift of electric magic—then choose from any of the wonderful new kitchen helps—roasters, mixers, irons (steam, regular or the new ones that are both!), coffee brewers, deep-fat potato and donut fryers, waffle irons, grills and countless others.

For each and every phase of home-making, you'll find the precious practical gift!

Varying in styles from modern to traditional are the many gracious gifts of glassware for cooking or for serving.

You'll find top-of-the-oven glass cookware . . . oven-bakeware—smart new serving pieces that go from the cook-stove to the table to sparkle in smart design and decorator colors.

There are distinctive coffee tables that raise up to dining height . . . lamp tables with pull-out shelves and drawers; step tables with room for books, ornaments and magazines; corner tables that enhance sectional sofas; television tables that swivel about for good-viewing.

Padded leather-top tables and long, low window tables double as benches for TV parties and small-space dwellings.

Another new design table has ceramic trays that double as planter bases or refreshment servers.

These are smart gift tables that come in the classic mahoganys, walnuts, oaks and the newer, modern beauty of limed, bleached and natural-finish woods.

Ceramic, china and wooden-based lamps with new interpretations in sculptured designs of classic figurines, abstract patterns and geometric treatments are gift-slanted for the home. Their shades are petticoat-ruffled with ruching and pleats, or stark-simple taking on elegance in color and fabric.

In the small gift department are wonderful ceramics, pottery and wooden ware for trays, table and mantle ornaments, lazy susans, tier trays; mirrors, framed pictures and leather hassocks all taking on gift-importance.

Embroidered doilies and table cloths, quilted spreads comforts, quilts, afghans and fancy linens are all slated for gift-giving to make it a Christmas that is practical, and pretty, too!

Fire Hall Not Red But Village Faces Are

BERE REGIS, England, Dec. 13—(Reuters)—This sleepy Dorset village has the distinction of having the only fire station in all of Britain not painted red—and red-faced officials want to know why.

At the recent opening of Bere Regis' new fire station village officials stared aghast. They saw before them a vision of cream sliding doors blue window frames and discreet pink brickwork. The walls inside were pale blue.

An "inquest" Wednesday shed no light on who was responsible for the decor.

Minister Of Education Tries To Get Reforms In Spain

By HENRY BUCKLEY

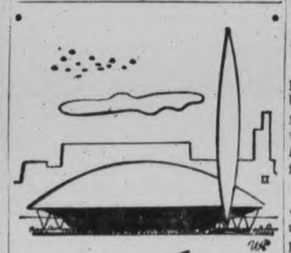
MADRID, Dec. 14—(Reuters)—Spanish pupils, parents and teachers are in an uproar over the proposed educational reforms of Education Minister Joaquin Ruiz Jiminez.

Jiminez—literally tall, dark and handsome—wants to modernize the traditional curriculum and enforce at least minimum standards in all schools.

The minister is concentrating his efforts on the education of secondary school pupils. Of the 357,000 high school students in Spain, about one-third attend state schools and two-thirds go to private schools, most of which are run by religious orders.

The institutions of the Jesuits and other leading orders are run as well as, or better, than the state schools. But this does not hold true for hundreds of other schools run by monks, nuns or non-religious private organizations, where many teachers are unqualified.

Reform Demanded



Abuse of a Franco law allowing private schools to issue their own high school diplomas (instead of granting them on the basis of standard state requirements) has led some parents to demand reform.

Because of the law some private schools have been passing unqualified students—either to please proud parents or to hide the defective educational level of the institution itself. The truth comes out when these students, graduated from high school with flying colors, fail ignominiously in their university entrance examinations. Their parents, naturally, are enraged to find they have been living in an expensive fool's paradise.

Other parents support a change in the overloaded and impractical curriculum.

Nevertheless, large numbers of parents strongly oppose any educational changes.

Observers here are watching with interest Jiminez' attempts at reform. But they do not expect he will have much success. Many a Spannish cabinet minister has tried and failed to challenge the vested interests of education in this country.

Oil Reserves Expand As Western Exploration Pushed

By GRAHAM TROTTER

EDMONTON, Dec. 14 (CP) — The oil and natural gas industry of western Canada, still a lusty youngster, took on the proportions of a giant in 1951.

It was the industry's greatest year for production, for exploration activities and for cash proceeds. But as 1951 ends, even greater developments are in prospect for next year.

Again it was almost an all-Alberta show in 1951 but the three other western provinces made a spectacular entrance into the picture with promising discoveries. The first oil was found in British Columbia. Saskatchewan added several important oil and gas discoveries under an increased exploration program, and southwestern Manitoba had its first show of oil.

At the year end a second major outlet for Alberta oil appears in prospect. Premier E. C. Manning said the province's production had reached the point where another outlet was needed immediately to keep pace with the capacity of its fast-growing number of producing oil wells.

The best bet was that the oil would be piped to the closest market, the Canadian west coast and the US Pacific northwest where the demand for Alberta crude is mounting. Several companies wishing to pipe Alberta oil to the coast through the Yellowhead or Crow's Nest mountain passes await approval from the Board of Transport Commissioners at Ottawa.

Big Pipe To East

This year saw Alberta crude reach eastern markets in Canada for the first time. The oil, some 13,000,000 barrels of it, flowed through the $90,000,000 interprovincial pipeline, stretching 1,150 miles from Edmonton to the lakehead from where it was transported by tankers down the Great Lakes.

Plans are to increase this flow to an estimated 18,000,000 barrels next year, and to 26,000,000 barrels in 1953. But oil cannot move across the Great Lakes during the winter. The proposed year-round pipeline to the west coast, which would take a year to build, would help offset this factor and prevent production cut-backs in Alberta.

Natural gas pipelines also were in the news. The Alberta Legislature last April approved the first major export of natural gas —south into Montana solely for essential defence production by Anaconda Copper Mining Co. The 70-mile pipeline was completed by year-end and only approval of the US Federal Power Commission was needed to start the gas moving south.

Announcement Soon

The provincial conservation board, completing three years of exhaustive inquiry into other applications for permits to export gas, was expected to announce soon whether Alberta has an exportable surplus over and above the province's needs for the next 30 years.

Early this year the board decided there was no surplus for export. But the government said it would favor export as soon as adequate reserves were proven. It issued new "incentive" regulations designed to speed gas exploration. Reserves soon multiplied to the point where authoritative sources estimated they were at least double the province's 30-year requirement.

Most of the companies seeking gas export permits want to ship the gas to the west coast and the Pacific northwest. Others want to send it as far east as Montreal.

Boon To Alberta

Alberta's oil and gas industry developed to such an extent—in one week last August oil output reached a record 180,423 barrels daily—that Premier Manning was moved publicly to envisage the possibility of a tax-free province. The government has mapped out a debt-retirement program by which is hopes to make Alberta debt-free by about 1973. The province has undertaken the west's most ambitious road program, and this year started "sharing the wealth" with its municipalities through big annual grants.

And still untapped in northern Alberta are the vast McMurray Oil Sands, estimated to hold the world's largest-known source of oil.

This year the government bought in the continent's leading oil and engineering experts to discuss the feasibility of extracting the oil from the sands and marketing it. They agreed with S. M. Blair of Toronto, the government's oil sands engineer, who reported in January that the sands could be economically tapped.

New Developments Soon

New developments are expected soon in this phase of the oil hunt. The government already has announced its policy on royalties and lease for the oil sands and has promised every reasonable inducement to firms pioneering the work.

During the year Alberta also increased its royalties on oil production. Generally, they were favorably received by the oil industry. Under the new scale, effective for the next 10 years, the average royalty paid the government will be nearly 14 per cent compared with the former average of between nine and ten.

The year was not without its problems. Pressure at the fabulous Redwater Field, accounting for about half of Alberta's output, was discovered to be decreasing at an alarming rate because of the great withdrawal of oil, especially since the interprovincial pipeline went into operation. The operators planned to carry out a giant water flooding project at the field next year to maintain pressure and prevent a substantial loss in the ultimate oil recovery.

Virtual Standstill

Development work at Redwater was coming to a virtual standstill at year-end as the productive limits of the field were being reached. Discovered in 1948—it was world's biggest field discovery of that year—Redwater appeared to be nearing a maximum of close to 900 oil producers. In 1950 Redwater accounted for an average of 35 new oil wells each month; this year the average was about 12 and tending lower.

The Leduc field, whose discovery in February, 1947, heralded Alberta's new oil era, headed development activity towards the end of the year.

No new major fields like Redwater or Leduc were discovered in 1951. But a number of smaller fields, especially at Wizard lake west of Leduc, gave great promise. A Wizard lake well uncovered a pay zone of 603 feet of oil bearing strata, one of the thickest on the continent.

A small oil discovery, the first in Manitoba, was made in the Virden district, 60 miles southwest of Brandon and near the Saskatchewan border.

Important discoveries of heavy crude and natural gas were made in the Kindersley and Colesville districts of Saskatchewan, about 120 miles southwest of Saskatoon. More oil and gas wells were brought in at Lloydminster, still Saskatchewan's only major producing field.

Talk of oil and gas pipelines to the west coast gained new impetus with the discovery late in the year of light crude oil at a wildcat well near Fort St. John in northeastern BC near the Alberta border. The find spurred development work in that region.

ARRESTED BY CHINESE—Msgr. Gustave Prevost, 37, of St. Eustache, Que., has been arrested by the Chinese Communists as a "confessed" spy and saboteur. A Shanghai newspaper announced Msgr. Prevost had confessed "during his trial" that the Legion of Mary with which he was connected "engaged in various reactionary activities against the interests of the Chinese people." Montreal officials of the order doubt he would make such confession of his own free will.

Senate Rejects 2 Amendments

Campbell (L, Ontario) to clarify a section dealing with exclusion of the Maritimes from the equalization sections of the bill.

The amendment was lost on a voice vote after Senator Wishart Robertson, government leader, and Senator A. K. Hugessen (L, Quebec), chairman of the transport committee, said the government was satisfied to accept the section as it stood.

The bill was then given third and final reading.

Only amendment accepted was a minor technical change recommended by the committee, clarifying the position of telegraph and telephone companies with regard to the rate-setting powers of the Board of Transport Commissioners.

OTTAWA, Dec. 14—(CP)—The Senate Thursday rejected two proposed amendments to the government's freight-rates equalization legislation and gave it final approval substantially in the form it passed the Commons.

The Upper Chamber turned down recommendations for amendments made by its transport committee to the transcontinental rate sections of the bill. The amendment was defeated by a vote of 26 to 15.

Also turned down was a change suggested by Senator Gordon P.

Is Agriculture Lagging Official Wonders

By FORBES RHUDE
Canadian Press Business Editor

Is Canadian agriculture keeping pace with progress made in other directions?

The current monthly letter of the Canadian Bank of Commerce asks this question, and finds that for various reasons it is not possible to give a categorical answer. However, it ends by saying:

"If, as seems probable, our agricultural industry is in a period of transition, we may encounter temporary disclocations, the severity of which seems likely to be regional in its incidence; but the importance of agriculture as the broad basis of our economy will be undisturbed."

The letter notes that agricultural production has increased in volume, but has decreased in its proportion of national output.

In the immediate post-war period its gross value averaged 19.1 per cent of the gross national product. This percentage dropped to an average of 15.8 per cent in the post-war years 1946-50. And in a 25-year period its proportion has declined by about half.

Population Increase

Its physical volume, however, on the basis of 1935-39 equals 100, has averaged 126 in the post-war years. But in the meantime there has been a population increase of 18 per cent, so that the volume per capita has increased by less than seven per cent.

Among other things, the letter notes that the man hours required to grow and harvest an acre of grain on the Prairies have been more than halved since 1930, and a comparable reduction has been made in the harvesting of hay.

U.S. Outlook

The National City Bank of New York, in a review of the American economic scene, says:

"Taking into account the probable defence outlays, the enormous unfilled orders of the heavy industries, and now the chances for improvement of soft goods perhaps in early 1952, a period of sustained and possibly higher industrial activity, with corresponding employment and flow of purchasing power, is indicated for the months ahead.

"In the circumstances it is fortunate that some people entertain doubts as to the outlook and the buyers are conservative. In a time of inflationary dangers a degree of skepticism is healthy and salutary. The weakness of unanimity was demonstrated as recently as the beginning of 1951, when almost every one feared shortages and expected higher prices. The effect was to inflate demand and push the boom to the excesses for which the industries most affected have been paying since.

"The stability of prices over the past few months is immensely gratifying. It is attributable to many causes, but among them a high place must be accorded to the soberness with which so many people have regarded the outlook; and to their understanding that the stupendous productive resources of this country (the U.S.) make even an armament program of the present magnitude manageable."

Canadian Court Martial Begins Today In Seoul

By BILL BOSS

SEOUL, Dec. 14—(CP)—Brig. A. B. Connelly, chief of the Canadian military mission in Tokyo, arrived Thursday to preside over three Canadian courts-martial, the first of which is scheduled to begin today.

First soldier to be tried is Spr. John Murray Steeves, of Moncton and Regina, a sapper with the Royal Canadian Engineers in Korea. He is charged with the murder of a South Korean civilian and faces additional charges of attempted murder and wounding.

Two gunners of the Royal Canadian Horse Artillery will be tried next week. Their names have not been announced.

Sten-Gun Shooting

Steeves was charged following the death of an aged Korean named Chin Yong dok by a Sten-gun shooting in the village Hwang Bang Sept. 17. Two other Koreans were injured in the shooting.

The courts-martial will be held in the Canadian field punishment camp near here. Court members change with each case but Brig. Connelly will remain president for the three.

Members of the first court-martial are Lt.-Col. Norman Wilson-Smith, of Winnipeg; Majors Hodgson Goodfellow, of Kingston; A. B. Lacasse, Montreal, and Herbert Baker, Picton; and Capt. J. Howlett, of Petawawa.

Defence counsel is Lt.-Col. J. R. Cameron, of Army Headquarters, Ottawa, who recently arrived in Korea. Prosecutor is Lieut. A. B. MacDonald, of Kingston, and judge-advocate is Maj. J. Loranger, Ottawa.

Ontario Girls Finish Two-Year Trek

SAINT JOHN, NB, Dec. 14 (CP)—"It's wonderful to be home in time for Christmas," two young Ontario women agreed Thursday as they hoisted their packages and began the last leg of a 15,000-mile hitch-hiking tour.

As for their two-year jaunt which took them through Europe and farther north than the Arctic Circle, Lenny Burton, of Burgessville, and Johnny Cochrane, of Midland, "wouldn't have missed it for the world."

The 1949 graduates of MacDonald College at Guelph had $10 when they arrived here on the liner Empress of Canada from Liverpool. That was considerably more than the five shillings they shared on their arrival in London two years ago. When they reached Sweden six months later they didn't have even "five bob."

Dishwashing and other kitchen work financed the long journey. The girls washed dishes in England, Sweden and France. They worked 18 hours daily for six weeks in Stockholm to get funds for their return to Canada.

One momento of the adventure is the blue jeans they wore when they left Canada, when they worked overseas and when they climbed Norway's mountains. Too threadbare and flimsy for today's frosty weather, the jeans were in the packsacks as the hikers set out in warm ski suits they had worn in Swedish Lapland, 132 miles north of the Arctic Circle.

Says Greenland's Eskimos Sturdy Race

PARIS (Reuters)—The world's most northernmost people, the North Greenland Eskimos, are a highly civilized community, according to Jean Malaurie, a young French scientist who has just returned to Paris after a 14-month stay among them.

With six Eskimo helpers and 70 sleigh dogs, he spent part of his time exploring the eastern shores of Kane Basin, the frozen sea between Danish-administered North Greenland and Canadian Ellesmere Island, and the rest living at the Eskimo settlement of Siorapaluk.

Malaurie, though only 29, is a veteran of three polar expeditions. This trip was financed by the French government's scientific research centre.

Malaurie is full of enthusiasm and respect for the high degree of civilization reached by the people of Northern Greenland despite their almost complete isolation from the outside world.

The Northerners, a group of about 400 demi-nomadic people, are substantially different from the South Greenland Eskimos who have had far more wordly contact. They speak a strong dialect which is barely comprehensible to the Southerners, and their recent development has been on different lines.

Changes In South

In the South, the Danish government's post-war policy of raising living standards and improving the use of natural resources has already brought important changes. The Southern Greenlanders were once great hunters, but their reserves are almost exhausted, and the Danish administration has been leading them deliberately towards a new means of gaining a livelihood—fishing.

In the North, game still abounds. Hunting is still the only business and Danish government control has been limited to the careful administration of a handful of about 20 Danish officials resident in the Northern "capital," the legendary town of Thule.

They are making conscious efforts not to interfere with the Eskimo customs which, according to Malaurie, are ideally suited to their surroundings.

Most aspects of Eskimo life are regulated by traditional rules which are strictly observed. These include especially hunting rules, infringement of which is punished by fines. An Eskimo "parliament" which meets once a year in Thule fixes such fines, settles any conflicts arising from the customs or makes new rules.

DOROTHY DIX

Jealous Man Will Make Happy Home Impossible

DEAR MISS DIX: Is it wise to marry a man who is a terribly jealous person and yet hasn't any reason to be? My younger sister, Jean, who is just 21, is engaged to a fellow a few months younger than herself.

Dorothy Dix

She works quite often at night and it takes about twenty minutes to get home. On these nights he calls at the time he thinks she should be coming in the door and if she has stopped by to get a coke, or do some shopping, and is a little late, he gets suspicious and quarrels with her when she does arrive. He doesn't like her to go out with the girls at all and complains when she speaks to one of her old boy friends on the street. She thinks he will change after they are married. What do you think?

B. S.

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: Your sister is right; her fiance will change after marriage — he'll get much worse! Jealousy of the type you describe is a mental quirk that is incurable. It grows more intolerable as time goes on. If your sister goes ahead with her marriage she'll have a miserable future. She'll be forbidden to see any of her old friends, and probably won't be allowed to see her own family. The trouble she has now with her fiance will be multiplied a hundredfold.

Try To Dissuade Her

Jean is much too young to be tied to a jealous fiance; a suspicious husband will be unendurable. If you have any influence with her at all, or if anyone else in the family or among her friends can talk sense in to her, have the engagement broken. I am assuming, of course, that you are presenting the matter in a true light. All lovers are jealous to a degree, but to carry the emotion to the extent of cutting a girl away from all friends is beyond normalcy.

A girl should always be wary of a man who resents her friendship with other girls. No man should ever expect to be the sole interest in his wife's—or sweetheart's — world. Family and friends have a place in her life, too. To exclude them is unfair.

The saddest part of being married to a suspicious man is that no matter how completely a girl gives up all her former associates, nothing in the world will convince her husband that she has done so. Every time the telephone rings, or the mailman delivers a letter, her husband will be sure it's a rival. Every smile she gives a neighbor, every word of greeting to a casual acquaintance will be misinterpreted. Each incident will be followed by a storm of accusations too ridiculous even to be refuted.

If this sort of life does not appeal to your sister, she had better end her engagement.

DEAR MISS DIX: Recently you advised a young housewife to take up typing at home. Your reply to her was very encouraging. I left work a few months ago as I am expecting a baby. Since then I have been searching for typing jobs to do at home. I have read the want ads every day, but so far there has been no luck for me. Do you know how I could obtain a job to be done at home?

LORETTA.

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: Your most promising possibility would be an ad inserted in this paper inquiring for the work you want. The classified department will be glad to help you phrase it. You might also get in touch with employment agencies in your city. They frequently have work of this sort. Of course, both sources require the expenditure of some money on your part, but the outlay is small and the possible returns good.

DEAR MISS DIX: I am 14 years old and in love with a boy 18. Our plans were to be married when I was 15. He gave me my ring on my 14th birthday and we told our parents. They didn't approve of our engagement and won't until I am out of school. Should I return the ring and wait until I graduate or wear it for the next three years?

ROSETTA

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: By all means return the ring. You're much too young to be engaged. Your parents are absolutely right in not approving this foolish step. Three years from now you'll have an entirely different outlook on life; in the meantime it's not fair to either you or your boy friend to be tied up by an engagement.

MOVIE COLUMN

Victor Moore At 24 Full Of Plans

By BOB THOMAS.

HOLLYWOOD, Dec. 14 (AP)—Victor Moore, nearing his 75th birthday, is full of plans for his career, which already has spanned 54 years of entertainment history.

The veteran comedian is currently acting in his first picture in two years. He is the pivotal character in "We're Not Married" in which he plays a confused justice of the peace who has been marrying people without the proper authority.

Despite his screen inactivity, Moore has not been idle. He has appeared on many television programs and also has done stage work. His plans include a return to Broadway and his own TV show.

"I did 'On Borrowed Time' at the La Jolla Playhouse last summer," he said. "It's a wonderful play and I enjoyed doing it very much. Now I have plans to take it to Broadway, and I believe it would be my last play there."

Moore's swan song on Broadway would mark the end of a long and distinguished career on the stage. For 18 years, he and William Gaxton starred on the big stem in such hits as "Of Thee I Sing," "Anything Goes," "Louisiana Purchase," "Leave It To Me."

Only Two Flops

"During our partnership, Billy and I had only two flops," he recalled. "Oddly enough, they were by the two men who provided our biggest hit—'Of Thee I Sing'. The shows were 'Hollywood Pinafore' by George Kaufman and a comedy by Morrie Ryskind."

The comic is also cooking up a plan to star on his own television show and has been mulling a number of formats. The one he likes best at present is about a retired mailman who runs a hotel for dogs.

Moore likes to do TV, finding it much like vaudeville. But he feels the medium will be best presented on film, instead of live shows. He commented on the voracious appetite of TV for comedy material.

"Why, I did the same act in vaudeville for 25 years," he observed. "Nowadays, you can do one act on TV for one performance and the material is dead. It presents a tremendous problem for comedians."

SS Party Very Successful

Anticipated attendance was exceeded when 63 children arrived for the St. Alban's Sunday school Christmas party on Thursday. They had a wonderful time playing games and viewing two films, shown by the Rev. H. J. Scuse. Then Santa Clause gave each child a gift and they were served treats, drinks and candies. A box of gifts sent by Mr. and Mrs. George Brook contained prizes for the best attendance at the children's choir, led by them throughout the past season, and these were distributed by Mr. Scuse. This very successful party was arranged by superintendent Mr. Albert Orr and Mrs. A. Maskell, Mrs. W. Higgins, Mrs. L. Bowler and Mrs. W. Wood.

Hold 4th Christmas Party Of Louis Braille Society

The Louis Braille Society of Peterborough was qualified as a service club by an aldermanic spokesman who extended congratulations to this fine organization at the fourth annual Christmas dinner party Thursday night. Alderman T. D. Miller, representing the mayor at this function, said, "We consider this one of the most worthwhile clubs in the city and wish it every success."

President of the Society Earl Schwanz, who has been totally blind since birth, read a welcoming address to the members and their guests as they assembled at the attractively decorated tables in the Legion Hall. "We are endeavoring to improve and extend our activities and with your support this branch will continue" he said. An expressed hope that the high standard of the Christmas meetings would be surpassed seemed realized as the evening continued.

The dinner each year is prepared and served by the ladies of the Order of the Eastern Star who are given funds to buy the food from the Society treasury. The Order this year provided the dessert and donations toward the turkey were received from the Ladies' Auxiliary and the Men's branch of the Legion. With the former donation, president Mrs. should feel free to call on her Auxiliary members for any help they might need.

Draw prizes were given by Mrs. Alex Butcher and the guest speaker Dr. R. A. Kelly made the draws. Prize winners were Mrs. A. Mason advised the society it Mesley, Mrs. McKibben, Miss Geneva Sedgwick and Mr. Stollery of the CNIB.

Entertainment was provided by Mrs. D. Jackman in two songs, "Moonbeams" and "My Hero" from the Chocolate Soldier, and by Mrs. J. Morley who sang "Christmas Is Here," "Smiling Through," and "I'm dreaming of a White Christmas." An orchestra was on hand to play for dancing later.

Mr. Ozzie Meagher, after expressing appreciation to the soloists, announced that the Lion's Club is offering a Braille watch for the man or woman who has the "high" score in bowling for the season after January 1st. The members bowl at the K. of C. hall each Wednesday. Thanks was also expressed to the Lion's Club for their great service to the Society in providing transporttaion.

Congratulations on the arrangements for the evening were offered by Magistrate W. R. Philp, chairman of the local advisory board to CNIB. Recreation director Alex Sinclair extended the season's greetings and a wish for health and happiness and the achievement of the Society's objective.

Dr. F. P. McNulty, honorary president, introduced Dr. Kelly whose address was directed to the blind people.

"You are compensated for your blindness when you do not see the terrible things that men do and cannot see the hate and greed in men's eyes." Continuing Dr. Kelly quoted a verse from Micah outlining God's requirements of man, ("to do justly, and to love mercy and to walk humbly with thy God.") "You have those requirements," he said. "You are men in a world of men."

"What shall I give for Christmas?" being the current query, Dr. Kelly took this as a title and said to the blind, "I can give you understanding and friendship, but, you can give me forgiveness for all the thoughtless and unkind acts I have done—bumping you on the street, blowing my car horn at you—and you can give me the greatest gift of all—the example of your lives. You as a group and individually are the happiest of people. So carry on just as you are and possibly it will be a little contagious and rub off on the rest of us."

Appreciation of the address was expressed by Mr. Frank Simmons.

Mr. Tom McQuigge voiced thanks to the ladies of the Eastern Star and the Ladies' Auxiliary and men of the Canadian Legion.

worship service. Mrs. E. Mesley, daughter of the late Christina Stevens, gave a few words of welcome to the parents and congratulations to the leader for her efforts in making the Baby Band a success. The money gifts from the boxes amounted to $16.21. Mrs. A. Gertley led in games and Mrs. D. Ireland presented the story.

Guests were Mrs. F. W. K. Harris, St. Andrew's Church; Mrs. W. R. Philp, Trinity Church; Mrs. E. Mesley, Mrs. G. Gertley and Mrs. R. Hanscom.

The Rev. H. G. Douglas assisted in distributing Christmas gifts to the children. The Helen Roger Auxiliary served refreshments.

The boys who contributed to the ice cream for the children were: Bill Logan, Roy Weldon, Bob Morrison, Philip Chevelier, Percy Bartley, Glen Taylor, Bob Gardner, Tom Sarginson and Robert Ross.

Select Slate of Officers

Knox WA meeting was held Thursday afternoon in the church parlour with Mrs. H. Todd presiding. It opened with a Christmas carol and prayer. The devotions were in charge of Mrs. C. Sparks who told the story of Christmas. Mrs. C. Weldon sang "The Holy City." Scripture was read by Mrs. J. Kemp. Miss Phyllis Kidd contributed a lovely piano selection, "Trinity Chimes." Minutes were read by Mrs. C. Gertley and Mrs. G. Hutchinson gave a very satisfactory financial report. Mrs. Cliff Beno reported for the nominating committee and the following slate was selected: honorary president, Mrs. H. G. Douglas; president, Mrs. Eric Pearse; vice-presidents, Mrs. H. Todd, Mrs. G. James and Mrs. F. Dunford; secretary, Mrs. C. Gertley; treasurer, Mrs. G. Hutchinson; cent-a-day convener, Mrs. C. Weldon; press, Mrs. G. Morrison; flower and cards, Mrs. F. A. Kidd; pianist, Mrs. R. A. Goodfellow. Prayer to close the meeting was offered by Mrs. Sparks.

Hold Supper Party

WMS Group One of George St. met at Mrs. H. Walker's home this week for a Christmas supper party. The program following supper opened with a poem titled "December" read by Mrs. Alex. Edmison. Mrs. E. Booth led the carol singing and Miss L. Deyell was at the piano. The ladies repeated a Psalm in unison and Mrs. Booth told the Christmas story, assisted by Mrs. J. Bateson, Mrs. E. Parnell, Mrs. G. Benton, Miss Spence, Mrs. E. Beatty and Mrs. A. Roseborough who sang a solo. This was carried out by candlelight. The mission study paper was read by Miss Deyell. A vote of thanks to the hostess was voiced by Mrs. E. Mason. Mrs. Parnell offered her home for the January meeting.

CWL Draws For Shawl

Monthly meeting of St. John the Baptist sub-division of the CWL was held in the auditorium Thursday evening. President Mrs. G. Maloney opened with the Rosary and the League prayer. Minutes were read by Mrs. J. Doleman, the treasury report by Mrs. T. McGarrity, correspondence by Mrs. V. Anglesey and a bingo report by Mrs. B. Monahan. Several ladies offered to donate homemade candy for the Christmas party at the House of Providence next Sunday evening. Draw was made on a shawl donated by Mrs. J. Shaughnessy, Haggart St. and the winner is Mrs. J. Freeman, 452 Brioux Ave. The Rev. Dr. F. M. Grant spoke briefly to the ladies expressing thanks for work done in the year. The lunch was served by Mrs. Monahan and Mrs. Anglesey.

St. James' Young People's Union

Regular Tuesday evening meeting of St. James YPU was held in the primary room. The worship service was conducted by the Citizenship Missions with Miss Ethel Menzies leading the group assisted by Miss Rayma Brown and Danny McClenaghen with Evelyn Atkinson at the piano. Soloist for the evening was Miss Gladys Langton. The Rev. N. McCormack gave an inspiring message on the true meaning of the Spirit of Christmas. In the business meeting the minutes of the Monday evening executive session, discussion on the carolling activities for shut-ins next Tuesday and the New Year's Eve dance were brought to the group. Visitors Vera Relbin, ending her long absence from the group, and Ray Brooks were welcomed after a sing-song led by Arden Stevens a light lunch was served.

Mission Circle Chooses Name

St. James' Mission Circle Christmas supper meeting was held Tuesday evening at the home of Miss Muriel Hall, 29 Ware St. The dining room was nicely decorated with red and green streamers for the occasion. In the absence of president Miss Beverly Gibson, Miss Jessie Martin took the chair and read Christmas greetings from Mrs. George Hill, secretary of Mission Circles for Peterborough Presbytery. The hymn, "What A Friend We Have In Jesus," was sung. Miss Martin led in prayer with the "Lord's Prayer" in unison and the Christmas scripture lesson was read by Mrs. Mabel Booth. A discussion was held in regard to a new name for the Circle. It was voted to call it the "On-We-Go Mission Circle."

Fathers Guests Of Daughters At CGIT Banquet

Mark St. CGIT held a father and daughter banquet Wednesday evening in the basement of the church.

About 90 girls and fathers sat down to tables attractively decorated in the Christmas theme. Menues were in the shape of red bells and place-cards were tiny lighted candles in marshmallow holders. A delicious meal was served by one of the Mark St. WA groups, under leadership of Mrs. C. Logan.

CGIT President Ruth Hendren proposed a toast to the King. Hilary Powell gave a toast to the fathers, and Mr. M. Clydsdale responded. The toast to the church by Gail Ferguson was responded to by the Rev. B. S. Morwood.

Mrs. Morwood, CGIT superintendent, gave the fathers a brief outline of the work their daughters do in CGIT, and introduced the four group leaders. She then lead in a rousing sing-song. While Gingle Bells was being sung Santa arrived and gave out a gift for each father and girl from the Christmas tree.

Ruth Hendren presented Pat Berry, bride of this week, with an electric kettle from the girls and leaders.

Ruth Hendren was the master of ceremonies for following program: Piano duet, Margaret and Shirley Fell; accordian solo, Betty Found; duet, Karen Hopcroft and Pat Elliott; recitation, Wanda Grills; piano solo, Arlene Clysdale.

Guest speaker was Mr. Charles Forsythe, secretary of the YMCA, who outlined to the fathers some of the difficulties teenagers come up against, and suggested how best they could help their daughters through these important years. Mr. Morwood introduced the speaker and Beverly Payne thanked him.

Directors Give Christmas Party For Youngsters

Approximately 75 attended the annual Christmas party given by the board of directors for the wards of the Peterborough Children's Aid Society and St. Vincent's Orphanage, held at the children's home, Wednesday.

Santa Claus was the main feature of the program and musical entertainment and recitations were provided by the wards. Guest vocal soloist was Tony Burns and guest pianist Nancy Girven.

President Mr. Bruce Sargent was chairman for the program and Mrs. W. J. Gordon was pianist.

Lunch was served following the program.

Members of the board in charge of the party were Mrs. Paul Irwin and Mrs. J. E. Girven, in charge of buying; Mrs. L. Yeotes, refreshments; Mrs. C. Pilon, program, and Mrs. J. Wharry, candy.

Mrs. H. Ritchie Adresses WMS

Mrs Harold Ritchie, lieutenant-colonel of the Salvation Army, was guest speaker at the Stewart Hall WMS candle-lighting service.

Her theme for the Christmas message was "Our Gift to Him."

Mrs. Ritchie also accompanied the carol singing with her guitar.

The slate of officers for the new year was read and adopted, and the treasurer reported that all obligations for the year had been met.

The meeting closed with a social period.

Newspaperwoman Chosen For Woman Of Year Award

By DOROTHY ROE

NEW YORK, Dec. 14—(AP)—United States newspaperwomen have chosen one of their own as "woman of the year" for 1951.

She is Marguerite Higgins, plucky and pretty foreign correspondent for The New York Herald Tribune, whose coverage of the Korean war brought her both national headlines and a pulitzer prize.

More recently the pert, blond Maggie has travelled around the world writing a series, "Around Russia's Curtain", authored a book, "War In Korea" and covered the U.S. on a lecture tour.

In the poll of women's editors of Associated Press member newspapers, runner-up for the title of outstanding woman of the year was Princess Elizabeth, whose recent American tour made miles of headlines.

Ona visit to Washington with Prince Philip during her recent Canadian tour, Princess Elizabeth captured the love and admiration of America's capital with her grace and charm.

Miss Higgins, the only newspaperwoman on the Korean battlefront, won international attention when, orderd to the rear for safety, she stood her ground with the announcement, "I'm here as a reporter, not as a woman."

Tops In Sports

Tops in the field of sports is Maureen Connolly, 16-year-old winner of the National Women's tennis championship.

In literature, the vote goes to Rachel Carson, author of the best-selling "The Sea Around Us."

Judy Garland tops the list in the theatre, for her sensational success in bringing vaudeville back to Broadway.

In the field of science, the editors chose Dr. Florence Sabin, of three women doctors who were winners of the American public health association's 1951 Lasker awards.

Others named as outstanding in their fields are:

Public affairs: Anna Rosenburg, assistant United States Defence Secretary.

Radio: Talullah Bankhead.

Music: Dorothy Kirsten, opera and concert star.

Movies: Judy Holliday, academy award-winner for her performance in "Born Yesterday."

MARY MOORE SAYS:

How MuchChocolateEquals One Square Of Chocolate?

By MARY MOORE

QUESTION: I enjoy your column and use a large number of your recipes. The Chunk Pickle recipe is really good. Thanks, Mrs. K. S. for Judy's Icing, but I've also mastered Elsie's Fluffy Icing, too. So now I have two good ones.

How much chocolate equals a squares of chocolate? Could you print some Christmas cookies, also chocolate cookies with nuts etc. in them. Mary, would you know what I can use to get my baby's white woollens which have turned yellow white again? I have a good muffin recipe made with Graham flour and oil if you or any reader wants it I'll send it in. Also is 400 deg. F. hot enough to bake tea biscuits, and I bake them for 20 minutes, but they never raise any at all. Hoping to hear from you through your column. Mrs. W. S. E.

Answer: I'll answer your last question first because another reader wants information on biscuits. My recipe for—

Tea Biscuits Supreme (or Anna's tea biscuits)

Will answer all of your problems. This is intended for Mrs. A. W. of R.R. No. 4, too.

Two cups all-purpose flour, 4 teaspoons single-action baking powder (ordinary baking powder), ½ teaspoon cream of tartar, ½ teaspoon salt, 2 teaspoons sugar, two-thirds cup milk, ½ cup shortening or butter or margarine. Milk and shortening should be at room temperature S the dry ingredients together. The flour is not sifted before measuring. Cut the shortening into them until the mixture is crumbly. Add milk all at once. Quickly stir. Pat and roll out on floured board to ½ or ¾ inch thickness. Cut out with floured cutter, preferably small. Bake on ungreased cookie sheet at 450 deg. Fahr. about 10 minutes.

One-third cup cocoa plus ½ teaspoon butter or shortening equals 1 square (1 oz.) chocolate.

By now you will have seen the Christmas cookie recipes that appeared in this column yesterday.

As for yellowed woollens I hope some of our readers will give their remedies. I have one suggestion to make. Use 1 teaspoon each borax and ammonia and 1 tablespoon Javelle water to a quart of fairly warm water, plus about ¼ cup finest soap flakes. Gently agitate the garments about in this solution for about 5 minutes. If this does not make them pure white try 2 teaspoons borax and 2 tablespoons Javelle water to each quart of warm water needed. Be sure to rinse them thoroughly in several waters to completely remove these cleaning agents from the fabrics. Dry by patting between towels, then on a line in the house.

Yes, I would like the Graham muffin recipe, thank you.

QUESTION: I have tried your recipe for Christmas hermits and found them delicious. I reserved all of the red cherries for decorating the tops of the cookies. Should some of the red cherries have gone in the batter?

I would also like to know what you consider the best method for storing cookies to keep them fresh, and what do you call a stale cookie? My family considers cookies that are more than three or four days old as something ancient. Thanking you, Mrs. C. D.

ANSWER: The fat in cookies will go rancid. I have tasted shortbread recently that was stored too long and tasted stale, but if cookies are kept cold enough they will keep for weeks and weeks. I do not think your family would complain if you served them one of two-week old sour cream rolled-out cookies. They improve with keeping and I will send you the recipe if you want it. Lebkuchen keeps excellently. Did you see it in yesterday's column? Yes, the red cherries in the hermits were to go on the tops only.

WestwoodWI Held Meeting

WESTWOOD, Dec. 14 (ENS)—The December meeting of the Women's Institute was held on Tuesday afternoon in the Community Hall. The president, Mrs. T. J. Cardwell, conducted the meeting. A letter was read from an institute member in England through the Friendship link, describing WI work in her community.

It was agreed to send a donation of $10 to the Hospital for Sick Children. Some used clothing, to be sent to Greece, was handed in and further donations may be brought to the hall on January 2, 1952. It was decided to hold the next card party on January 2, and hostesses for the evening were named.

In answer to the roll-call each member donated a Christmas card to be sent to a shut-in. An exchange of Christmas gifts was held and a sale of miscellaneous articles netted the Institute more than $23.

The Thought for the Day was given by Mrs. Redmond Walsh and a trio contest prepared by Mrs. Eric Pulfer, was won by Mrs. Aubrey Wood. Mrs. Fred Neilson gave a recipe for cup cakes as a demonstration. Lunch was served by the hostesses, Mrs. L. Hutchinson, Mrs. S. Nelson, and Mrs. Pulfer.

THESE PLAY FASHIONS are not what they appear to be. Brief but modest pleated skirts in nylon-and-acetate (left) look like shorts at first glance, actually provide more cover-up. Pleats are permanent; attached panties fit underneath. Trick shorts and skirt (right) appear to be pleated, actually are made with series of stitched down gores. This can be collapsed flat and rolled into a neat, narrow package to fit into the corner of a suitcase.

THE EXPERTS SAY:

Decorate Christmas Tree With Popcorn Balls

By KAY REX
Canadian Press Staff Writer

As certain as Christmas-trees and Santa Claus, all kinds of "company" will be dropping in the next couple of weeks.

Whether they come for dinner or an evening visit mother will want them to try her Christmas cake. And of course, there's always home-made candy.

Where possible candy-making should be left to the young ones. It gives them a feeling of importance to be able to help with the actual holiday preparations. Even the six and seven-year-olds should be encouraged to try a hand at the baking.

Stuffed dates are an easy-to-make and delightful "sweet" which for some families are as symbolic of Christmas as turkey and cranberry sauce.

Buy the big dessert dates, remove stones and fill centre with an icing-sugar mixture. For an added Christmas touch, this may be colored with red or green food coloring. Then roll dates in powdered sugar and arrange on plates.

Tree Sweets

Why not decorate the Christmas tree this year with old-fashioned popcorn balls?

Ingredients: one cup honey, one cup sugar, one-half cup water, one teaspoon salt, one teaspoon vanilla extract.

Combine honey, sugar, water and salt in sauce-pan. Place over low heat, stirring until mixture begins to boil. Cook to firm ball stage (250 degrees fabrenheit). Remove from heat. Add vanilla and stir only to blend well.

Pour slowly over three quarts popped corn in large bowl. Lightly grease the hands or rinse them in cold water and press corn into balls. Wrap in waxed paper. Yield: Eight medium popcorn balls.

Honey-almond balls also are good for Christmas.

Ingredients: Four ounces unsweetened (squares) chocolate; one-half cup liquid honey; one-quarter teaspoon cinnamon; one-eighth teaspoon salt; one-half cup finely chopped, blanched almonds.

Melt chocolate over hot water. Add honey, cinnamon and salt. Beat well, add almonds. Chill until firm enough to handle. Form into small balls about one inch in diameter. Roll balls in icing sugar or finely desiccated cocoanut. Yield: 30 balls.

'Twas the Night

If you are planning a party for Christmas Eve remember that everyone eats a large variety of foods at Christmas time and the simple but attractive party fare will be enjoyed.

Shortbread cookies are good, and also easy to make.

Ingredients: One quarter cup shortening, three-quarters cup of butter, three-quarters cup brown sugar, 2½ cups flour, pinch of salt. Roll in balls, put a dent in middle and put in a piece of maraschino cherry before baking in oven.

Bethany Lodge Instals New Officers

BETHANY, Dec. 14 (ENS)—The Good Luck Lodge No. 1207 of the Ladies' Orange Benevolent Association at Bethany held their annual election of officers this week with the following appointments:

Worthy Mistress, Mrs. Hilda Bigelow; Deputy Mistress, Mrs. Mary Edwards; Recording Secretary, Mrs. Belle Smith; Financial Secretary, Mrs. Gladys Fisher; Treasurer, Miss Hazel Malcolmson; Junior Deputy Mistress, Mrs. Vera Smith; Chaplain, Mrs. Ina Palmer; Guardian, Rev. T. S Gault; Director of Ceremonies Mrs. Bertha Ferren; First Lecturer, Mrs. Doreen Clark; Second Lecturer, Mrs. Violet Phillips, Pianist, Mrs. Ruby Reynolds; Inner Guard, Mrs. Mildred Bristow; Outer Guard, Mrs. Mary Finney; Second Committee, Mrs. Freida Morton; Auditors, the Rev. T. S. Gault, Mrs. Ruby Reynolds, Mrs. Violet Phillips.

Freida Pilling, Past Grand Mistress of Ontario East, was presiding officer for the election, assisted by Myrtle Sproats, Grand Deputy Lecturer, and Sister Daymen, Worthy Mistress of Eastern Star Lodge at Peterborough.

Following the business period, the Bethany ladies served lunch and a social hour was enjoyed.

What's Right?

quit asking you for dates, because you do not care to go out with him.

WRONG: Tell him that you just don't want to date him.

RIGHT. Just say that you are busy each time he asks for a date. Eventually he will get the idea that you aren't going out with him. He may be hurt, even so, but at least he will save face this way.

Christmas Treats Ample But Costly Britons Find

By MURIEL NARRAWAY.

LONDON (CP)—Britain's government leaders may be bandying words on a proposed "austerity" Christmas in rationed food, but there is no shortage in the special delicacies that are favorite items on most festive tables.

A walk through any of the big, downtown food stores sets housewives calculating how many goodies their bank balances can afford.

For the only restrictions on non-rationed goods are the prices.

As yet the threatened cut in canned food supplies has not reached the counter, and delectable displays include tins of cooked ham weighing anything from around 15 pounds to as little as six ounces, and a choice of varied sizes in tinned chickens, cooked and prepared.

There are tinned turkey, whole or sliced, chicken and pork livers, cocktail sausages, frankfurters, lobster, crayfish, prawns and a wide variety of fat French, Italian and German sausage, sold by the pound.

The price of these goods may be somewhat higher than that of rationed fare, the cost of which is kept low by government subsidy but most housewives spend that "little extra" on Christmas fare and supplies of non-rationed goods are large and succulent.

Easily Handled

Best selling point about the canned varieties is the ease with which they can be handled in kitchens and rooms with inadequate cooking facilities.

Many would-be hostesses breathe a sigh of relief at the ease with which they can obtain tins of prepared chicken and turkey savories that help make an interesting buffet luncheon or dinner.

And for those who don't mind the cost, most big stores have a variety of poultry and game, expertly cooked and prepared, trussed and garnished with imagination. Not only that, but a complete dinner can easily be built up on prepared foods alone.

Favorites still notable by their absence—they have been almost unobtainable since the end of the Second World War—are North American canned pears, peaches and pineapple.

Housewives need not be dismayed, however, for there is a wide variety of bottled fruits, including all three, and varied types of fruit salads. Bottled pineapple pieces, for instance, cost as little as 2s 6d.

An expensive item on most banqueting tables will be the Christmas crackers. Most "decent" crackers are priced around two guineas a box, and decorative cracker table novelties cost around £5.

Lawyer Admits Dropping Case For Congressmen

WASHINGTON, Dec. 14 (CP)—A former government lawyer admitted today he let a tax prosecution case drop at the request of a Congressman.

The admission came as Charles Oliphant was being questioned by a Congressional committee investigating alleged irregularities in the United States income tax department.

Oliphant, who quit last week as general counsel for the internal revenue bureau, said the case involved the Washington beef and provision company for 1942 tax deficiencies. He said the case was dropped at the suggestion of Rep. James Morrison Louisiana Democrat.

He added that he took the actions despite instructions from his own boss that the case should be pressed.

Tipped Off Caudle

Later, under questioning by Rep. John W. Byrnes, Wisconsin Republican, Oliphant admitted that he tipped off T. Lamar Caudle that his income tax returns were under investigation.

Caudle is former assistant attorney general of the United States whose resignation was forced several weeks ago by President Truman who said his outside activities were improper for a person holding government office.

With Caudle in its witness chair, the committee delved extensively into his activities and turned up such things as airplane trips to Florida as the guest of a business man in tax troubles, a $5,000 commission on sale of an airplane, and certain associations which committee members have denounced as questionable.

Eastern Star LOBA Installation Held

Officers of the Eastern Star Loyal Orange Benevolent Association 525 were installed in a ceremony at the Orange Hall with RW Sister Edith Benton, Grand Deputy Mistress of Ontario East presiding, assisted by RW Sister Muriel Sproats, grand lecturer, and RW Sister Rose Sexsmith, grand junior deputy mistress of Ontario East assisting.

These officers for 1952 are:

Benton; 5th, Sis. Sexsmith.

The meeting closed with a few remarks from Sis. Terrace, past mistress of Star Bethlehem Lodge No. 650 and RW Sis. Knight, and Brother Deyell, Grand Lecturer of Ontario East.

Mothers Need To Get Away

TORONTO, Dec. 14— (CP) — Mothers, harried by the incessant demands of bringing up a family, need to get away from the home atmosphere, even if only for three or four hours a week.

Dr. Margaret McCready, principal of home economics, Macdonald Institute, Guelph, Thursday told a round-table group of 40 Women's Institute home economists, that there should be a supply of qualified helpers to take over the home briefly while the mother escapes. Women would never rise to their potential heights until they were relieved of some of the burdens of homemaking.

Prof. W. H. Drummond of Guelph said that women do a good job of spending the family income but consumer information is badly needed.

H. & S. News

KING GEORGE SCHOOL

King George Home and School Association meeting in the kindergarten room this week opened with the singing of "Silent Night." President Mrs. C. Ferguson held a short business period. Mrs. G. Lathangue, home education convener, announced that study meetings will start in January.

It was announced that the next regular meeting will be held in Mark Street Church in the form of a home education meeting, with George Street Baby Band presenting their play, "Scattered Showers."

Pupils of Miss Dobbin's room sang "First Noel" and "It came upon a Midnight Clear," under the direction of Miss Eastwood, and accompanied on the piano by Mrs. Northey. Rolene Gilbert, a Grade 8 pupil, sang two solos, "Frosty the Snow Man" and "Cold, Cold Heart," accompanied by Helen Walker at the piano.

Speaker of the evening, the Rev. Ivan Morgan, of Murray Street Baptist Church, was introduced by Mrs. J. Watters. He gave an informal talk on some of the symbols of Christmas—the Christmas tree, the holly, the mistletoe, and the star. He was thanked by Mrs. G. Chute.

Refreshments were then served by Mrs. Roberts and her social committee.

Car Crash On Hill

In a car collision on a slippery hill on the Hastings-Norwood road this week, Gordon Jammett, 481 Gilmour St., was driving toward Campbellford. As he came over the top of the hill, he saw a car on the slope in front of him on the wrong side of the road. It had skidded trying to make the hill and was at an angle on the road.

Pammett was unable to stop before hitting the car. It was earlier reported erroneously that Pammett's car was the one that had skidded on the hill and been hit by the other car.

Violet Cocktail

PARIS, Dec. 14. (AP) — A cocktail with violet petals sprinkled in it won the 1951 cocktail championship of France Wednesday night for Michel Filippi, 28, a bartender from Nice. Other ingredients: Equal parts of gin and dry vermouth; two dashes creme de cacao; spot of Kirsch, a strong liqueur, orange peel.

Humane Society Checks On Horses

Bruce Menzies, humane inspector reported at the meeting of the Humane Society on Wednesday night that during the month he had made four trips into rural areas investigating ill-treatment of horses. He also said that 51 cats and 47 dogs were humanely destroyed and homes were found for nine cats. Following the meeting refreshments were served by the social committee.

W. A. Goodfellow Has Heart Attack

TORONTO, Dec. 14 (CP) — Ontario Welfare Minister W. A. Goodfellow suffered a heart attack Thursday at his desk in Queen's Park.

Hospital authorities said he was resting comfortably. Overwork and the strain of the recent election were said to have contributed to the seizure.

First elected to the provincial legislature in 1943, he was appointed Minister of Welfare in 1945 in the Drew cabinet. Subsequently he was re-appointed welfare minister under Premiers T. L. Kennedy and Leslie Frost.

In the November 22 election he was returned as member for Northumberland county with a 4,000 majority over Liberal candidate Charles Johnston of Cobourg. Mr. Goodfellow's home is in Codrington.

Obituary

MRS. ROBERT DAVISON

Mrs. Robert Davison, 43, Winona, Ont., and formerly of Lakefield, died in Hamilton hospital Wednesday, following a short illness.

Mrs. Davison, the former Mary Agnes Tanner was born and educated in Lakefield, daughter of Mrs. C. S. Tanner, Lakefield, and the later Mr. Tanner, and has lived in Winona about 11 years.

She graduated from Toronto General hospital in 1934 and spent one year at the United Missionary hospital, Hearst Ont. The next 5 years she was private duty nurse at Toronto General hospital. At the end of the period she went to Winona.

She was a member of Winona United Church and a very active worker in the church.

She leaves her husband and her mother, Mrs. Tanner, Lakefield; three sons, Robert, 8; John, 5; George, 3; one daughter, Margaret, 9; two brothers, Charles, Ouro Petro, Brazil; George, Lakefield; and two sisters, Mrs. Robert Cotes (Jean) Toronto, and Margaret, Lakefield.

The funeral will be held Saturday at 2 p.m. from the Hendren funeral home to Lakefield United Church.

The Rev. W. H. Tonge, Lakefield United Church will conduct the service. Burial will be in Ray's cemetery.

giving of prizes for sports," she said. But added, "I don't mean this year."

Mr. Craw said the board would give equal recognition to drama and choral groups if they entered contests the same as teams do.

"The choral society entered the Kiwanis Festival," said Mrs. Bell

"Yes, the society entered, but didn't win," retorted Mr. Craw. "I maintain that if the drama or any other group goes out and wins we'll honor them just the same as a winning team."

Mr. Gordon said he disagreed with Mrs. Rowell. He thought sports should be recognized.

Made More Important

"Sports are made more important than any other group; the band or orchestra are just as important," said Mrs. Bell. She referred to a letter appearing in Wednesday's Examiner, that was signed "A lover of fine arts."

"Lover of fine arts" said she was "amazed" when looking over the list of prize winners at the PCVS commencement to find "no consideration of the time spent in all the other activities of the school except sports.")

At this point Dr. Honey rapped for order and got the discussion back to the point at issue. The boys will get their satin windbreakers and the board will make a recommendation to its successor.

JEANETTE SCOTT CHAPT.

Jeanette Scott Chapter, IODE met in the Green Room of the YWCA, Mrs. R. Matthews, regent, presiding. Donations were made to the National Shipping Fund, the Commonwealth and Empire Fund.

It was moved that $15.00 be sent to the Y Nursery School in the South end to buy creative blocks. A Christmas gift of a new flag and a copy of The Wonderful Wizard of Oz is to be sent to the adopted school at Rose Island, Ontario. Members were asked to bring in used story books for the school.

Mrs. Max Comstock announced that the annual dance will be held January 19th, at the Kawartha Golf and Country Club. An interesting film "Trooping of the Colours" was shown by film convener, Mrs. Jim King.

Refreshments were served at the close.

Streamline Distribution

TORONTO, Dec. 14 (CP).—Ontario dairies intend to "streamline" distribution techniques by thrice-weekly deliveries in an attempt to reduce the price of milk, a member of the Ontario Milk Distributors' Association told the association convention Thursday. The distributor said an Ottawa dairy is ready to start a three-day-a-week delivery system but has not yet received sanction of the drivers' union.

THE PILE OF WRECKAGE at left was a palatial East Denver home until it was leveled by a B-29 bomber which crashed into a row of houses. The big plane came in low with its tail down over the Denver suburb, lopped the top storey off one home, clipped three others and then heaved broadside into a fifth. The home and the plane both burst into flames. Eight airmen were killed, and seven other persons, including a maid in one of the homes, was injured.

Your Garden:

African Violets Lend Color To Homes In Winter Time

By HENRY PREE (NEA)

The African violet, while seemingly a new plant to Canadian indoor gardeners, was first exhibited in Europe in 1893. However, it was not until 1933 that it became well known to America.

Today one might safely venture a wager that 50,000 or more Canadian housewives are raising better African violets in a sunny kitchen or living room window. And like the commercial grower, the indoor gardener has discovered that African violets can be temperamental.

Fortunately, most troubles can be avoided or, in most cases, be cured if caught in time. For the past month the old gardener has been receiving requests for the best method to get rid of the most dreaded of all insects that attack African violets, the cyclamen mite.

Carolyn K. Rector, in her splendid book "How to Grow African Violets," writes: "This insect is too small to be seen without a magnifying glass, but it can be spotted by the damage it does to the plant. The centre is the first to show it. It grows puckered and fuzzy looking, and usually turns a brownish color, or a light gray.

"The stems are shorter than normal and the foliage becomes brittle. The buds drop off and any flowers surviving long enough to open are distorted. The best thing to do about cyclamen mite is to prevent it by treating the soil every three or four months with sodium selenate. This chemical permeates the fibers of the plant and poisons any insects that attempt to live on it."

Like many other garden chemicals, sodium selenate it a deadly poison, and must be handled with care, and according to the directions on the container. However, this danger has been reduced to a minimum by the recent introduction of the chemical in capsule form.

One merely places a capsule in the soil, thus doing away with the dangerous chore of mixing. Several garden shops are offering this easy way of safeguarding African violets.

Should you have occasion to discard soil treated with sodium selenate do not dump it in the vegetable garden. Put it in a shrub bed and dig it under.

Many commercial growers have found that spraying every ten days with either ½ teaspooon of TEPP to one gallon of water or two teaspoons of pyrethrum-rotenone solution to one gallon of water has kept their plants rather free of cyclamen mite. To be effective the spray must thoroughly coat the underside of the leaves as well as the tops.

Gardening Questions

Q—A large branch on an old apple tree of ours extends a few feet over on the neighboring property. Can the neighbor cut off the offending branch without permission?

A—Your neighbor may remove those portions of the branch over his side of the boundary line. While he need not notify you that he is going to cut off the branch the wood belongs to you. Any cutting must be done according to good arboreal practices.

Q—Are orchids parasitic plants?

A—Definitely no. A parasite is a living plant that lives on another organism from which it derives its food. Orchids use a tree as a roosting place to obtain sufficient air and sunshine. From it they also get an appreciable amount of organic nutrients from the sedimentary accumulations. The leaves are green which means they contain clorophyll and manufacture their own food. Consequently orchids are not parasites.

Ministers Meet

MARMORA, Dec. 14 (ENS).—Centre Hastings Ministerial Association met Monday afternoon in the United church, Queensboro, for the December meeting. A paper on Martin Luther was read by the Rev. Boyd Beckel of Ivanhoe United church.

The January meeting is to be held in St. John's United church, Tweed.

Ford Gives $3,000 On Behalf Of Workers

WINDSOR, Dec. 14. (CP)—On behalf of its employees, the Ford Company of Canada has contributed $3,000 to the Windsor Goodfellows' Christmas Fund, club officials said today.

The $3,000 is an addition to $2,000 already given on the company's own behalf. The Dec. 3 strike of 9,000 Ford production workers has prevented the club from making its usual Christmas canvass of the company's offices and plants.

Mrs. Owen Murray Re-elected WMS President

SPRINGVILLE, Dec. 14.—The Springville WMS met at the home of Mrs. Cecil Neals with an attendance of 26. Mrs. O. Murray president, opened the meeting with prayer. The nominating committee reported the following slate of officers:

President, Mrs. O. Murray; vice-president, Mrs. H. Rowan; secretary, Mrs. B. Preston; treasurer, Mrs. P. Johnston; press secretary, Mrs. B. Preston; Christian stewardship secretary, Mrs. A. E. Larke; Christian citizenship and temperance, Mrs. W. Bowles; friendship secretary, Mrs. M. Johnston; literature secretary, Mrs. D. Cathcart; supply secretary Mrs. O. Dunford; Missionary Monthly and World Friends secretary, Mrs. M. Cullen; pianist, Mrs. H. Bothwell; Mission Band leader, Mrs. Clifford Johnston; assistant, Mrs. Manson Cathcart; group leaders, Mrs. L. Whittington, Mrs. G. Whitfield, Mrs. A. Stevens, Mrs. C. Neals.

Mrs. W. Lytle presented the Study Book. Mrs. Allen Stevens, program convener, read a Psalm and led in prayer. Carol singing was enjoyed. Mrs. Parnell told the Christmas story. An accordion solo by Miss Lang was much appreciated also her accompaniment of the Christmas carol singing. Mrs. Sharpe spoke on the purpose of Christ's coming and Mrs. Stevens and Mrs. Johnston closed the meeting with prayer. Mrs. Bidgood expressed the appreciation of the gathering to the hostess and guests. A social hour was enjoyed.

Ford Strike Ended, Begin Work

May Take 3 Weeks For Factory To Get Full Production

WINDSOR, Dec. 15. (CP)—A 12-day wildcat strike at the Ford Motor Company of Canada plants has ended and work will resume as soon as the huge automotive factory can be put back into operation.

But it may take three weeks to restore it to full production. Before the turbines can be started, the powerhouse must be warmed. After that, it will probably require 48 to 72 hours to get turbines running and make possible even a partial supply of power, light, heat and water to the plants and offices.

The power house was shut down by the United Automobile Workers (CJO), in what the company said was a violation of its contract after the unauthorized walkout started Dec. 3.

The strike came to an end Friday night after a settlement plan was accepted by both union and company. It provided for arbitration of the cases of 26 men dismissed for inciting work stoppages.

Touched Off Walkout

The dismissals touched off the walkout of 9,000 production workers and eventually led to the idleness of an additional 3,000 persons employed in Ford offices and in feeder plants.

The settlement agreement also called for a new start on contract negotiations. The wage talks were launched six months ago but broke down. Delay in the handing down of a conciliation report was the reason given for the staging of a series of work stoppages.

The resumed contract talks still will be based on the conciliation report, handed down the day the production workers went on strike. It recommends a 13-cent-an-hour increase. The union has been seeking a 30-cent "package" increase over the basic hourly rate of $1.32.

The strike ended two days after Walter Reuther, UAW international president, stepped into the situation and conferred with officials of the Ford local. The proposals he worked out with them were put before a meeting Friday of the union members.

Repel "Invasion"

WOLVERHAMPTON, England, Dec. 15. (AP)—Police were called Friday to repel an invasion of a local store which had advertised a sale of 5,000 pairs of scarce nylons to "men only" as a Christmas gesture. Some 15,000 surged into the store when it opened, pushed back police, shoved past fainting shop girls and vaulted counters to get at the stockings.

Will Prosecute Wanger For Shooting

BEVERLY HILLS, Calif., Dec. 15 (AP).—The District Attorney says he will prosecute movie producer Walter Wanger for felonious assault, despite any efforts that may be made to prevent him being tried for shooting the agent of his actress wife, Joan Bennett.

Prosecutor S. Ernest Roll, taking cognizance of reports that the agent Jennings Lang, might decline actively to prosecute Wanger, issued this statement:

"If the police sign a complaint, and Chief Linton Anderson says he will, this office will prosecute the case regardless of the desires of the participants."

Roll said the complaint may be filed today.

Lang, shot in the groin, was progressing satisfactorily in a hospital. He underwent surgery Thursday night, a few hours after he was shot while he talked to Miss Bennett in a parking lot.

Lang, 39-year-old representative of Music Corporation of America assigned to west coast television talent, was given two blood transfusions.

Moves Out

Wanger Friday moved out, bag and baggage, from the $140,000 residence of Miss Bennett, after he was released on $5,000 bail.

While Miss Bennett visited a friend, Wanger drove to their home, loaded a steamer trunk, several suitcases and two overcoats into his car, and said he was moving to an apartment. He declined to make any statement on his marital status or the possibility of a divorce.

Shortly after his arrest, Wanger blamed Lang for what he said was a change in Miss Bennett's attitude toward him, and Chief Anderson quoted the producer: "I shot Lang because he broke up my home."

The 41-year-old Miss Bennett insisted her relationship with her agent was strictly business and she said that "If Walter thinks there was any romance. . . he is mistaken."

Lang, a former lawyer, says he is "bewildered by the unfortunate and unprovoked event . . . and Walter Wanger has misconstrued what was solely a business relationship."

Police say Wanger bought the .38 calibre revolver four months ago, about the time he employed two special investigators to check on the association of his wife and Lang. Reports of the investigators were found in Wanger's car and have been turned over to the district attorney.

Four Injured As Storm Blocks View

Lloyd Strong Killed By Steel Rod On Back Of Truck

BETHANY, Dec. 15. (ENS)—One man was killed and four others were hurt when their car crashed into the rear of a truck in a blinding snowstorm Friday night on Highway 35 at the Janetville corner.

Dead is Lloyd Strong, 33, of RR 2, Bethany, father of two small children.

Injured and in Ross Memorial hospital in Lindsay are: Neal McNeil, Jack Hannah, Ray Stinson and the driver, Wilson Staples, all of Janetville.

Their injuries are not known as yet.

Strong was killed instantly when a steel rod at the rear of the truck lanced through the right front windshield and pierced his head.

Two Vehicles Stopped

A southbound truck driven by a man named Ellis from Nestleton was stopped on the west shoulder of the road and a northbound car driven by Thomas Staples of Bethany (no relation to Wilson Staples), was parked on the east shoulder.

Ellis had stopped his truck to hail the Thomas Staples car and ask the condition of the highway to the south, police said. Both vehicles had their headlights turned on.

Wilson Staples was driving south, and failed to see the car and truck until it was too late because of the swirling snow. His car sideswiped Thomas Staples' auto and smashed into the rear of the truck.

Dr. McArthur of Blackstock, coroner for the district, pronounced Strong dead. Provincial police from Bowmanville investigated and an inquest will be held.

Strong's widow, the former Marian Sanderson of Wilberforce, has been ill and staying with her parents for the past two months. The two children are with her.

Survivors

Strong is survived by his widow and two children, Sharon, 2, and Lorna, 1; his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Isaiah Strong of Bethany, four brothers, Gordon of Pontypool, Elwood of Peterborough, Roy of Bethany, and Ronald of Port Perry.

There are three sisters, Mrs. Mansell Finney (Mary), of Bethany, Mrs. Richard Armstrong (Rita) of Pontypool and Mrs. Edward Rose (Irma) of Bowmanville.

Foreign Exchange Controls Off After 12 Years

OTTAWA, Dec. 15. (CP)—Foreign exchange control is ended. For the first time in 12 years, Canadians can freely buy at their banks as many United States dollars or other currencies as they wish. There are no more "H" forms necessary for taking funds across the US border. The individual can hoard as many US dollars as he wants and the investor can buy American stock on the New York—or any other — market to his pocket books content. He, or any other Canadian, can export as much of his capital and savings as he wishes; all of it if he wants.

Restrictions on foreign exchange dealings ended Friday, with a Cabinet decision to eliminate the foreign exchange dealings which have ruled so much of Canada's economic—and at times private—life since wartime September, 1939.

Finance Minister Abbott made the decision known to the Commons at 5 pm Friday—after the money markets had closed—in a surprise announcement that brought swift approval from banking circles.

Surprise Announcement

Th announcement was unsuspected and dominated a bits-and-pieces day in which the Commons dealt with a half-dozen pieces of legislation in a drive towards a Christmas adjournment sometime next week.

The abolition of Foreign-Exchange Control has no effect on the practice by which Canadians returning from the US are allowed to bring in $100 worth of American goods duty free every four months. That is a Customs regulation and has nothing to do with exchange. control.

The exchange restrictions, a hang-over from the Second World War which was used to block a dangerous decline in dollar reserves in 1947, have been eased progressively in the last couple of years as Canada's reserves strengthened and her general economy brightened.

Mr. Abbott disclosed at a press conference following his Commons announcement that the government was on the verge of abolishing the controls a year ago last September when Canada freed the dollar, but decided to watch developments and hold back a final decision.

Mere Technicality

The Foreign Exchange Control Board was reduced to a mere technicality by an Order-in-Council adopted Friday. Legislation to rescind the controls formally will be introduced in parliament next spring.

The Board itself will exist only on paper but by an Order-in-Council the government can at a moments notice reimpose controls, if found necessary.

Under a special exchange fund, officials will be able to continue to trade in US dollars. In this way, they can come to the aid of the Canadian dollar if there is any sudden rush to dispose of it or if any special need for heavy amounts of American currency arises in Canada.

Blizzard Strikes Across Canada, Cold Wave Here

By The Canadian Press

A fierce blizzard hit Quebec and the Maritimes today a week before the official beginning of winter. Bitterly cold weather settled over much of the rest of Canada.

The blizzard, borne from the New England states by stiff winds, hit Montreal with full force during the night and today was moving rapidly in a north-easterly direction. Seven inches of snow fell on Montreal before 8 am tying up transportation over a wide area. Some bus services discontinued service.

Heavy snow began to fall early today in Nova Scotia and New Brunswick. Up to 12 inches by night-time was forecast, with the snow turning to rain in Nova Scotia. "Extremely cold" was the forecast for the Maritimes for Sunday.

Bright skies with bitterly cold weather prevailed over most of Ontario where more than five inches of snow fell Friday night and early today. By morning the storm, moving at a rapid clip, had swept eastward, leaving in its wake blocked roads and snarled transportation over a wide area. Two deaths in highway accidents were blamed on the storm.

Sub-Zero Temperature

From Northern Ontario to the Rockies, sub-zero temperatures prevailed. Saskatoon shivered in 32-below-zero weather. Twenty-three below was recorded during the night at Edmonton. It was 18 below at Winnipeg. And no let-up in the cold wave was in sight. The forecast for the prairies was for continued cold weather for tomorrow.

A storm moved southward along the British Columbia coast. Gale warnings were hoisted in northern waters. Rain was reported general in the coastal areas with snow in the mountainous interior of that province.

Reject Truce Supervision Plan

MUNSAN, Korea, Dec. 15. (AP)—A United Nations commands truce negotiator today accused the Communists of trying to win at the conference table what they could not win in battle. Other UN delegates reported "no progress at all" in today's prisoner-exchange negotiations. Maj.-Gen. Howard Turner lambasted the Reds after rejecting a six-point Korean truce supervision plan calling for limited troop rotation. "You seek to gain through negotiation what you could not win through fighting. You seek to avoid through negotiation what you could not avoid through fighting," he said.

"In accepting the restrictions advocated by the United Nations command, you would merely accept a continuation of limits on your military capabilities which exist today as a result of UN command military operations.

"We are not talking as a victor over the vanquished. We are talking military realities on which this armistice must be based," Turner continued.

Appear Deadlocked

Negotiators appeared deadlocked both on plans for policing an armistice and exchanging prisoners of war, despite earlier indications that compromise solutions of both thorny problems might be near.

The two sub-committees will meet again Sunday at 11 am (9 pm EST Saturday) in Panmunjom.

Rear Admiral R. E. Libby said the sub-committees on prisoner exchange are right back where they started.

Libby said the Reds merely reiterated their demand that the UN allies approve their plan for a bulk exchange of prisoners before turning over a list of the prisoners they hold.

UN negotiators, on the other hand, insisted that data on prisoners and prison camps be disclosed as the first order of business.

Unlucky House Hit 16 Times By Cars In Last 15 Years

HUNTINGTON, W. Va., Dec. 15. (AP)—With a sigh of resignation, Robert Turner today began planning repairs to his unlucky house on 13th Avenue which has been hit by motor vehicles 16 times in the last 15 years. The latest bit of misfortune occurred Thursday night when a runaway truck butted another scar into the anatomy of the Turner residence.

Part of the porch was demolished. A passenger in the truck, Charles Pauley, 26, is in serious condition in a Huntington hospital.

The less seriously injured driver, 34-year-old W. J. Vickers, has the dubious distinction of being the 16th motorist to smash into the well-scared house in 15 years.

Turner has had only two such experiences since buying the house.

The previous owner, Sol Masinter said cars and trucks tore off the porch repeatedly, smashed down front-yard trees and even invaded the living room while he lived there.

Keep On Going

The house is a likely target for motorists because it is at the bottom of a downhill street that takes a turn as it approaches the house. Occasionally, motorists keep right on going.

The Masinters once thought of erecting a fence at the edge of their property to shield the poor old house. But a lawyer advised them they might be held liable if any drivers were injured on the fence.

There is one consolation. The lawyer said motorists who crash into the house are trespassing.

Let that be a warning to number 17.

Steel Strike Feared In US

PITTSBURGH, Dec. 15—(AP)—The possibility of a country-wide steel strike New Year's day is a matter of grave concern in government circles today.

But at the same time, economic stabilizer Roger L. Putnam informed the steel industry that any automatic price increase based on a wage raise would not be permitted.

Voicing the government's concern of a strike possibility were two ace federal mediators, Clyde Mills and Walter A. Maggiolo. After taking a quick look at the progress of contract talks here between United Steelworkers (CIO) and US Steel Corp., they declared:

"The possibility of a steel strike poses a very serious situation because of the economic effect it would have, in addition to its effect on our defence effort. There is great concern over the possibilities of a work stoppage."

The union's contract with US Steel and most other steel producers expires at midnight Dec. 31. A strike can begin immediately after that.

Russ Bloc Asks Talks Reopened

PARIS, Dec. 15—(AP)—A Soviet bloc spokesman today called for the re-opening of private Big Four disarmament talks.

Poland's Stefan Wierblowski told the United Nations political committee that, since the secret talks between Russia and the western powers had led to some agreement, efforts for further accord should be discontinued.

Syria's Faris el Kilhouri informally suggested Friday that talks be resumed. Egypt's Adly Andraos Bey also endorsed the idea.

Without specifically rejecting the idea of new Big Four talks, US Ambassador Philip C. Jessup said: The western powers were also trying to broaden the idea of agreement "and we think that the new disarmament) commission is the proper forum of the process."

Wierblowski's was the first Soviet bloc reaction to the revised western disarmament resolution which Jessup formally presented Friday.

The new resolution attempted to make concessions to certain Russian points of view which were clarified in last week's secret Big Four talks.

Peterborough County Drunkest In England

Peterborough, Eng., Dec. 15 — (CP).—Residents of Peterborough are indignantly disclaiming responsibility for their county living up to its ancient name.

According to official statistics the Soke, administrative county area) of Peterborough was in 1950 the drunkest county in all England and Wales.

Peterborough officials have an explanation for this, however.

"Only 20 of our drunks lived here," Chief Constable F. G. Markin confided. "The rest were imported workers or vagrants."

US Ambassador Tries Mediation

CAIRO, Dec. 15. (AP) — The United States ambassador, Jefferson Cafferty, called on Egypt's acting foreign minister, Ibraham Farag Pasha, today for the fourth time in eight days.

Caffery told reporters afterward that "we've been continuing friendly conversations for the good of our two countries."

The meeting was arranged at Caffery's request.

Held Without Charge

ST. PAUL, Minn., Dec. 15 (AP) —Two St. Paul fathers were held without charge today after police said they admitted the $2,600 holdup of a tavern to buy Christmas presents for their 16 children. Officers identified the suspects as Jack Patraw, 36, father of 12 children, and George Lehan, 32, who has four.

Gunmen Try Kill UMW Official

HAZARD, Ky., Dec. 15 (AP)—Unknown gunmen have tried again to kill Tom Raney, United Mine Workers official directing an organizing campaign in Leslie and Clay counties.

Raney, UMW international representative, said he and two other organizers were fired upon from ambush Thursday night near Wooton, in Leslie county.

Five bullets struck their car but Raney and the others escaped injury. Raney said the shooting started when he stopped the car and got out to look for another auto that had been trailing them.

Machine-gun slugs fired from a passing car last Oct. 6 ripped into Raney's vehicle shortly after he and another man stepped out to enter a grocery at Stinnett in Leslie county. The gunmen never were found.

Want Parliament To Set Salaries

OTTAWA, Dec. 15 (CP).—Opposition developed in the Commons Friday to a government measure providing for setting by the government without reference to parliament of the salaries of the members of the civil service commission.

Stanley Knowles (CCF-Winnipeg North Centre), J. M. MacDonnell (PC-Toronto Greenwood), J. L. Noseworthy, (CCF-York South), W. J. Browne (PC-St. John's West), and C. W. Hudgson (PC-Victoria Ontario) all raised objection to the principle of taking from parliament the power to set the commissioners' salaries.

Works Minister Fournier, piloting the bill, repeated reasons he gave previously. He said when the salaries were set by statute, as at present, it usually was a long time before anyone got around to increasing them.

Fined For Smuggling

FOLKESTONE, England, Dec. 15 (Reuters) — Mrs. Benedetta Rossi, 52, was fined £200 Friday for entering England from France with 229 pairs of nylon stockings sewn into her underclothes.

Must Pay More For Security Eisenhower Warns Europe

PARIS, Dec. 15—(AP)—General Eisenhower bluntly warned rebellious West European nations today that to have security they must increase their military spending.

The Supreme Allied Commander made a personal appearance before the treasurers of the North-Atlantic Treaty Organization. A spokesman said he told them:

"Unless we get ahead" with a planned build-up of forces "we'll never achieve the serenity and confidence to which Western Europe and the rest of us are entitled."

He went before the 12-member NATO temporary committee as some European nations were said to be balking against the committee's request for increased military budgets, in some cases running as much as 50 per cent.

"By carrying on" Eisenhower was quoted as saying ,"we can reach a point where it would be foolish for an enemy to attack." Only then, he added, "can we start thinking about lightening the defence burden."

The 12-man committee has been working for two months on a secret 100-page report on the capacity of each of the 12 Atlantic Pact nations to increase its share of the mutual defence burden. The report said only the US, Britain, Portugal and Iceland are producing at the top of their ability, and that others must increase their effort.

Belgium, for one, is reported to have indignantly refused the committee's recommendation that she could and should step up her military budget by 50 per cent.

(Reuters News Agency Friday night said protests against increases are expected also from Holland, Denmark, and possibly Canada.)

L. Dana Wilgress represented Canada at the meeting.

Canadian officials declined to comment on published reports which placed Canada third on the list of eight NATO countries said to be asked to boost their efforts.

British Philosopher Sues Norwegian Gov't

OSLO, Dec. 15 —(Reuters)—British philosopher Bertrand Russell was named today as one of the eight people suing the Norwegian government for a total of 20,000 kroner ($2,800) over a flying-boat crash near Trondheim three years ago.

Nineteen persons were killed when the plane crashed into the sea. Among the 25 saved was Russell, then 76, who was swimming around the wreckage in icy waters.

The claims by Russell and seven other passengers or relatives of those killed are against the ministry of communications.

When the case—the first of its kind in Norway—goes before the court at Trondeim Tuesday it will be charged that the pilot did not receive correct reports from air-control authorities.

Bank Of England Loosens Its Control Of Sterling

LONDON, Dec. 15 — (CP). — The Bank of England loosened its control of sterling today to curb speculative dealings which have weakened the British pound.

The dollar parity of the pound remains at $2.80 US and the official price of gold is still pegged at 250 shillings a fine ounce. There had been world-wide speculation that Britain this weekend would devalue her currency.

An official bank statement announced that the foreign exchange market will be reopened in London Monday for dealing both in spot and forward currencies.

A main effect will be to relax —but not to end—exchange control restrictions.

The main effect of the changes is that though exchange control remains, transactions will take place through the market instead of through the Bank of England.

The Bank of England will allow a wider "spread" on either side in spot exchange. The present spread is one per cent either side of the parity, but the new margin will not be announced before Monday.

Commercial banks will be able to deal in forward exchange at market rates.

A longer-term objective of the Bank of England's move might well be to free sterling entirely. This would enable the British pound to find its own level on the world's money markets.

The British presumably think that a freed pound eventually might become worth more than $2.80.

The Bank of England is a British government agency. Its new policy will give greater flexibility to exchange transactions.

More Canadian Troops To Reach Rotterdam

THE HAGUE, The Netherlands, Dec. 15 (Reuters) — A further contingent of the 27th Canadian Infantry Brigade, including a detachment from the Royal Canadian Dragoons and the 1st Highland Battalion, will arrive at Rotterdam Sunday, the Canadian embassy announced today.

The units will disembark early Monday morning and will immediately entrain for Hannover to join the remainder of the brigade.

They will be welcomed by Pierre Dupuy, Canadian ambassador in Holland, Col. T. A. Johnston, Canadian military attache, and Maj.-Gen. J. R. H. Lagas, director of transport of The Netherlands army.

VISIT TO McGILL—A distinguished New Zealand scientist and philosopher recently visited the physiology department at McGill University in Montreal and chatted over some equipment in the lab. Prof J. C. Eccles, head of the physiology department at University of Otago, Dunedin, is shown seated. With him are Dr. F. C. MacIntosh, chairman of the McGill department, right, and Dr. A. Burgen, professor in the department.

Trailer Camp In England No Paradise For Canadians

NORTH LUFFENHAM, Rutland, England, Dec. 15—(CP)—Forty Canadian families live in a trailer camp on bleak grasslands near this new RCAF station, and some of them don't like it a bit.

LAC Leonard Brame of Vancouver and Stettler, Alta., his Scottish wife Doreen and three young children occupy a rented caravan which affords living space about equal to that of a hall in a small Canadian house. But smiling Mrs. Brame says cheerfully "we know we just have to put up with it."

Other are less stoical. For Mrs. Beverley Greig, wife of LAC D. M. Greig of Toronto, life in North Luffenham has been "two months of misery."

"Tell them we want to go home," said Mrs. Greig. "Canada was never like this."

Rat Trouble

With two visiting friends nodding approval as she spoke, Mrs. Greig claimed that her 15-months-old daughter Donna has to sleep on a damp mattress; that rats had torn the baby's buggy apart; and that there is "no real supervision" at the trailer camp.

Mrs. Freda Smalley, whose husband comes from Leaside, and Mrs. B. G. Lapier, of Trenton, with her corporal husband, chimed in with complaints about the atrocious English climate, primitive bathing facilities, lack of transportation and lack of water.

Mrs. Kathleen King, who formerly lived in a four-roomed flat with her husband, Cpl. A. J. King of Montreal, disagreed. She said there is "certainly no hardship" and added she likes being able to get cheap milk for the baby and plenty of canned fruit.

R.C.A.F. officers deplore conditions at the trailer camp, which they admit is hardly a paradise. But they can't see any alternative. Soon, they hope, conditions will be improved by a barracks and community centre.

The camp stands in flat grassland rendered damp and dispiriting by rain and fog. The caravans may be modern or their yellow paint may be peeling, but all are tiny. Gas stoves leave a faint, unpleasant smell. Yet the Canadians pay rents ranging from £3 to £5 a week.

Not far away are clean, white-painted married quarters, housing 16 families, and 30 brick permanent quarters which formerly provided accommodation for 79 RAF families. These are all full. Some Canadian families live in nearby hotels.

Generally, the decision seems to be to accept the housing shortage at "Little Canada," as North Luffenham is sometimes called, as just part of the growing pains inevitable in moving to a new air base. But there is considerable resentment among all ranks because the RCAF paid passage from Canada for most men and their families—but not for all.

Those who paid their own way not only suffer financially, but their names are low on the housing lists. The feeling is that this represents a genuine breach of faith.

Toronto Fears Possibility Of TTC Strike

TORONTO, Dec. 15 (CP)—The possibility of a street-car and bus strike in the near future worried many of the 1,300,000 residents of the Toronto metropolitan area today.

The Toronto Transportation Commission, which operates the publicly-owned street-car and bus system, announced it would grant only part of a wage increase demanded by the Street Railway Union (AFL).

Union members will meet Sunday to consider the commission's proposals. It is expected they may take a strike vote at the meeting or will set a date for a referendum.

H. C. Patten, TTC general manager, said the commission is prepared to accept the recommendations of a majority report of a conciliation board and grant an immediate increase of five cents an hour.

The union seeks 15 cents more, plus fringe benefits the TTC estimates at 26 cents an hour.

The present union agreement, covering 4,700 employees including those of the subsidiary Gray Coach Lines, provides for a basic rate of $1.24 an hour plus a cost-of-living bonus of 16 cents an hour. The TTC says the average weekly earnings of its operators are $68.50 a week, including overtime and time allowances for certain types of runs, and that granting of the union demands would bring average earnings to $80 a week.

Mr. Patten said the increases sought by the union would require a boost in the fares, now three for 25 cents, to a straight 10-cent rate.

Mrs. D. Timlin WA President

ROSENEATH, Dec. 15 (ENS)—Mrs. Dawson Timlin was elected president of Centenary WA at their December meeting held Wednesday evening. Following are officers elected: president, Mrs. Dawson Timlin; first vice-president, Mrs. Arnold Elder; second vice-president, Mrs. Silas Sherwin; secretary, Miss Emma Sherwin; treasurer, Mrs. Reginald Timlin; organist, Mrs. Arnold Elder; assistant organist, Mrs. Bruce Arthur; Good Cheer convener, Mrs. Leo Timlin; parsonage committee, Mrs. Dawson Timlin, Mrs. Silas Sherwin, Mrs. Ernest Burrison; flower committee, Miss Jessie Sherwin, Mrs. Ernest Burrison, Mrs. Silas Sherwin; quilt committee, Mrs. Dawson Timlin, Mrs. Arnold Elder, Mrs. Delbert Sherwin, Mrs. Newman Lean, Mrs. Charles Thackeray and Mrs. Walton Lean; convener of lunch committee, Mrs. Neil Sherwin.

The retiring president, Mrs. Silas Sherwin, presided, with Mrs. Arnold Elder as organist.

The Christmas cheer committee reported having packed nine boxes for the ill, the aged, and the shutins in the community. Mrs. Reginald Timlin and Mrs. Ernest Burrison were responsible for the packing.

One hundred aprons had been sold by the society during the year, was the report presented by Mrs Ernest Burrison, convener of the apron committee.

It was also the Christmas meeting of the society. They invited the ladies and men of the community. Mrs. Silas Sherwin presided over a Christmas program. Appropriate readings were given by Mrs. James L. Timlin, Mrs. Arnold Elder, Mrs. Dawson Timlin; Christmas carols were sung; Mrs. R. C. White contributed a vocal solo, "Rolling Downward Through the Night"; Mrs. Ernest Burrison conducted a Christmas quiz won by Mrs. Wilbert Smith's group.

A Christmas tree and exchange of Christmas gifts were in charge of Mrs. Bruce Arthur and Mrs. Leo Timlin.

Mrs. R. C. White, in a few well chosen words, tendered a vote of thanks to the retiring president, Mrs. Silas Sherwin.

Mesdames Newman and Walton Lean offered their home for the January meeting, with Mrs. Bruce Arthur in charge of the program.

STRATFORD, Dec. 15 (CP)—No hog prices were established here today.

WINNIPEG GRAIN

WINNIPEG, Dec. 15 (CP) — Coarse grains futures prices generally showed an easier tone during the last half of Friday's session on the Winnipeg Grain Exchange.

Some increased offerings were prompted by a weaker trend on US markets. Commercial demand was limited with the aprpoach of the end of Great Lakes navigation for the season. Wide losses were registered in rye on lack of support. Prices for Class 2 and IWA wheat were down ⅞ of a cent.

Keenleyside Builds Up UN Department

By NORMAN ALTSTEDTER

PARIS, Dec. 15. (CP)—Beside the depression and cynicism of most United Nations employees who handle problems of international politics, one United Nations department headed by a former Canadian Cabinet minister stands out with its forward-looking enthusiasm.

Dr. Hugh L. Keenleyside, formerly Canada's deputy resources minister, has built up from scratch since September, 1950, the UN Technical Assistance Administration aimed at helping under-developed countries to pull themselves up by their own bootstraps.

Following a round-the-world trip to check on projects going forward in various countries, Keenleyside and his staff were more convinced than ever that they were working on the one job in the UN that has a constructive contribution to make to the peoples of the world—and nothing else.

Old Hand

Keenlyside, formerly of Vancouver, is an old diplomatic hand. As charge d'affaires at Tokyo, he set up Canada's first diplomatic post in the Far East in 1929. He spent six years in Japan. He visited that country again in his recent tour as well as Yugoslavia, Turkey, Israel, Pakistan, India, Burma, Thailand, Indonesia and Korea.

As Director-General of TAA, Keenleyside has both a diplomatic and administrative job. He has to help keep contributing countries interested in the program as well as seeing that it runs smoothly. For the administrative job he has at the top of his staff 10 experts — recruited from 10 different countries.

Budget Amounts

During the first 18 months of its existence, TAA worked on a budget of some $20,000,000 to which Canada contributed some $700,000. During the next 12 months the program is expected to receive another $20,000,000 for its work.

More than 1,000 experts have been sent out to various countries by TAA after requests were received. These experts have given advice on a wide range of problems including land reclamation in India, industrialization in Yugoslavia, rural teaching in Syria, textile arts in Ecuador, child care in Jordan and sugar cane production in Haiti.

Fear 18 Drowned As Boat Capsizes

SINGAPORE, Dec. 15. (Reuters)—Eighteen persons, including a 13-year-old princess, were feared drowned after a crowded double-decked motor boat capsized in the swollen Perak River, west of Ipoh.

The boat turned over after hitting a submerged log late Friday.

The missing princess is the daughter of Rajah Zainon Rashid and Raja Zakiah—grand-daughter of a former Sulton of Selangor.

Play Features Christmas Party

CAMPBELLFORD, Dec. 15—(ENS). — The annual St. John's United Church Sunday School Christmas concert was held on Thursday evening in the basement of the church. Much preparation, particularly in arranging costumes, was evident at this year's playlet, entitled "Heigh-Ho, the Holly."

Senior pupils of the Sunday School featured conversational parts and were supported by intermediate and senior department pupils in the presentation of the scenes and carol singing. In a last-minute change occasioned by the sudden illness of Ronald Pierce, his important part was well taken on short notice by Tommy Fox.

The play presented a typical family during an evening at home discussing the many Christmas celebrations they have enjoyed throughout the years. Father is awaiting a call from a married daughter, bringing her family home for the holiday. Patricia, the 'teen-age daughter, has a telephone call from the all-important man in her life, and forces father to retire to the drug store to await his call.

The following is a list of characters in the play: John, the father, Tom Fox; Amy, the mother, Barbara Fox; Grandmother, Mary Ellen Emmons; Grandfather, Bob Nicholls; Patricia, Barbara Smith; Martha, Margaret Nelson; the skaters, Isobel Chadwich, Betty White, Theresa Hennessy, Sandra McDonald, Geraldine Kellogg.

The Sunday School superintendent, Vern Spencer, spoke briefly words of welcome to the patrons at the opening of the concert. A prelude of Christmas piano music was played by Miss Marion Twigg. Mrs. George Nicholls played Christmas music for the play.

Begin Delving Into Evidence In Tax Scandals

WASHINGTON, Dec. 15—(AP)—It now is up to a federal grand jury to sift fact from fiction in the amazing and conflicting stories studding an investigation of federal tax scandals.

This was apparent today as members of a House of Representatives subcommitee—wearied by lengthy hearings highlighted by everything from mink coats to $500,000 "shakedowns"—temporarily closed up shop for the holidays.

And President Truman may announce today a broad program to eliminate government wrongdoers—a program he returned to Washington from vacation to develop in the wake of tax scandals.

Sent To Department

Chairman Cecil King (Dem. Calif.) ordered the transcript of testimony sent to the justice department last week. He did so after Abraham Teitelbaum, Chicago lawyer, named Bert K. Naster and Frank Tatham, two Floridans, as engineers of a purported $500,000 "shakedown" attempt on the claim they could "fix" his tax troubles.

Both Nathan and Naster denounced Teitelbaum's story as "lies".

Attorney General Howard McGrath has ordered the story—with all its conflicts—sent to a District of Columbia grand jury to decide whether prosecutions for perjury are warranted.

The committee called a halt to its inquiry Friday night after laboring for three weeks to penetrate a thick fog of intrigue and mystery spreading through Washinton's top officialdom and the haunts of the influence peddlers and "dealers".

Stopped Car Struck Man, Woman Injured

Two people were taken to hospital late Friday after a two-car collision on Water St., just north of Dublin St. Neither is seriously injured.

Mrs. Harold Sanders, 297 Louis St., a passenger in one of the cars, is in Civic hospital with cuts on her forehead, lower lip and left knee. Her condition today is satisfactory.

C. P. Moloney, RR 9, Peterborough, is in St. Joseph's hospital with cuts on his lips and chin.

Moloney told police that he was blinded by the lights of the car driven by Harold Sanders, husband of the injured woman. Sanders' car was backed diagonally into the west curb and was facing south when struck by Moloney's northbound vehicle.

Both cars were extensively damaged on the left front.

It was snowing at the time the accident occurred. Police Constables Jack Wilson and W. A. Scott report.

Blizzard Strikes

Extension of Storm

The snowstorm in the eastern provinces was an extension of a blizzard in the midwestern United States Friday which created havoc over a wide area.

Montreal, where trains, bus services and air transportation were off schedule, appeared to be about 100 to 150 miles north of the storm centre. But Montrealers didn't think so as they fought their way to work through high snowdrifts that restricted street-car movement to a crawl. The temperature was about 15 above zero. Near-zero was predicted for tonight.

In Ontario, temperatures from 10 to 20 degrees lower than today's 20-above-zero weather were forecast for Sunday. It was expected to be well below zero in northern areas. And the weatherman said no immediate relief from the cold could be expected.

Board Orders Cut In Cream

If you see a man with a red face contrasting nicely with the white snow today, chances are he's a dairy man.

On Friday, Peterborough dairies sent out notices that cream prices, as well as milk prices, would go up today. In the afternoon, the Milk Control Board order was received, ordering a reduction in the price of cream.

Table cream was cut two cents to 18 cents a half pint, and whipping cream was decreased five cents to 25 cents a half pint. Quart prices are 85 cents for table cream and $1.25 for whipping cream.

Milk is up two cents a quart to 21 cents.

Two Youths Arrested On Shoplifting Count

Two youths were arrested by city detectives Friday afternoon and charged with theft.

It is alleged they took two pair of socks, two pair of gloves and a sweater from the War Surplus store, Charlotte St.

In custody on the shoplifting charge are Cecil Howe, 23, Romaine St., and Gerald Card, 24, Edison Ave.

The couple were arrested by Sgt. Detectives John Stevenson and W. A. (Bud) Clarke in a downtown department store. The manager had noticed the two loitering around inside, became suspicious, and phoned the police.

They were unable to account for some of the goods in a shopping bag.

Obituary

JOSEPH PATRICK HOWRAN

Joseph Patrick Howran, 58, Bridgenorth, died in Peterborough hospital Friday following a 5-month illness.

Mr. Howran was born in Ennismore, son of the late Cornelius Howran and Margaret Davidson and has been a farmer in that district all his life. He was a member of St. Peter's Cathedral.

He is survived by nine sons, William and Ambrose, both of Peterborough; Lawrence, Sarnia; Thomas, Roland, Joseph, James, Donald and John, all at home; five daughters, Mrs. Thomas Spencer (Margaret), Warsaw; Mrs. Thomas Drummond (Betty), Peterborough; Alma, Laura and Cecile, all at home; and one brother, William, Peterborough.

The funeral will be held Monday from the Duffus funeral home to St. Peter's Cathedral for requiem mass at 9 am. Burial will be in St. Martin's cemetery, Ennismore.

THREE-DAY WEEK

The Port Hope Sanitary Co. announced that it has been forced by lack of sales to cut their four-day work week to a three-day week. With Christmas just a little more than a week away, J. Owens, company spokesman said, "We hated to have to do it."

Mrs. George C. Daly

Funeral of the late Mrs. George C. Daly of 384 Park St. N., who died in hospital on Wednesday following a prolonged illness, was held from the family residence on Friday to St. Peter's Cathedral. The Rev. Ray Garvey said requiem mass and the Rev. J. J. McCarthy of St. Joseph's Church, Douro, was in the sanctuary. Pallbearers were Thomas Lansfield, Dr. Richard Sheehy, James White, Roy Dixon, A. F. Seidel and Percy Downs. Graveside prayers were said by Father Garvey and burial was at St. Peter's cemetery.

UK Diplomat Shot By Czechs

LONDON, Dec. 15 (Reuters).—Sentries in Communist Czechoslovakia wounded a British diplomat and a woman embassy employee when they were "caught red-handed with highly secret state documents," Prague radio announced Friday.

The man, Robert Neil Gardner, second secretary at the embassy, and the woman, Daphne Gregory Maines, have been ordered to leave the country.

The woman will be expelled "when she leaves hospital," the radio added. Gardner must go within 24 hours.

The broadcast said the two were caught Thursday when trying to "escape from a prohibited military area near Ostrava." It claimed Gardner was seen digging up a tin containing the documents. He put in its place a package of money.

The sentry fired at and stopped a car in which the two tried to get away and they were arrested.

The radio said the government sent an official note to the embassy demanding the expulsions.

Both were slightly wounded as they tried to escape the note said.

MP's Do It

Ready To Smoke Smugs Or Almost Anything Cheap

It would be music to my ears, it would, the first voice that whispered in my shell-like ear: "ssst, buddy, wanna buy some smugs?"

But a whole week has passed and not a single smuggler rapped on my door, whispered in my ear, or told me to go somewhere, knock three times and ask for Joe.

It isn't that I like American cigarettes much. Sometimes there are bits of gravel and suchlike in the end you put in your mouth; sometimes, nuts; always, they are rolled in blotting paper.

But there's something about them I like. That's the price. At 30 cents for 20 cigarettes I could smoke rolled-up ragweed and probably get to like it.

Can't Resist

I'd just like somebody to rustle up a few smuggled cigarettes and test my will power with them because if there's anything I can't resist, it's temptation. Just try me.

I'd be inhaling in good company, too. One Quebec MP has estimated that 70 per cent of the members of the House of Commons smoke smugs. And they're the so-and-so's who put that whopping excise tax on smokes.

It's a snowballing racket. More and more bootlegged American cigarettes are being smoked in Canada, and customs officials, the RCMP and the like, are seizing them in great handfuls.

Windsor, Montreal, Ottawa, and the smaller border points are fair game for the smoke smuggler. One writer said that cigarette bootlegging is starting to make rum-running of prohibition days look like a Sunday school picnic.

Culprits Caught

Those who have been fined for bringing more than a carton of US cigarettes across the border include a priest, a detective, football and hockey players, a newspaperman and a taxi driver.

How do people buy them? Often as not, it's a door-to-door business in the larger centres. Salesmen cursorily disguised as insurance agents, printing salesmen, or what have you, come to an office and take orders. They deliver the following week.

In Windsor you can telephone for deliveries and get your smugs in a matter of minutes. Possibly that applies to Ottawa and Montreal as well. In the Maritimes railwaymen have offered regular supplies of contraband smokes to tobacco retailers.

It doesn't happen here, at least not to any extent. If you want American cigarettes, you have to buy the ones legally imported by retailers at 47 cents a deck.

There ain't no justice.

Rouge Plant Union May Call Strike

DETROIT, Dec. 15 (AP). — A threat to strike the Ford Motor Company's huge Rouge plant, "regardless of whether the strike would be legal," was made Friday by President Carl Stellato of Local 600 of the CIO United Auto Workers Union.

Stellato is demanding establishment of a plant-wide seniority system in the Rouge plant, which employs 60,000 workmen. Company-union negotiations on this demand broke down Friday.

Stellato then wired John S. Bugas, Ford vice-president, that Local 600 "has no alternative than to strike the Rouge plant if the problem is not resolved by Jan. 15, 1952."

Shenandoah Park In Virginia Mountains Almost Like Driving On Roof Of World

Song and prose have sought to capture and set down the beauty of the Blue Ridge Mountains of Virginia. But no picture has yet been painted which does full justice to the loveliness which bedecks Shenandoah National Park. The Indians aptly named it "Daughter of the Stars."

The soft blue haze on the mountain peaks never much more than 4,000 feet high and the panorama of the valley floor seen from the lookouts up on the mountains, are scenes to linger in the tourist's memory.

The vivid greens and strange red-colored earth in Virginia charm most visitors. But many drive to Shenandoah Park in the heart of these mountains mainly to travel its Skyline Drive.

The Skyline Drive has been described as a resortland on the roof of the world. It commands many gorgeous views of the Piedmont Plateau and the lovely valley. The panorama is spread in every direction, always with a softness that holds great appeal.

For Car Drivers

This is a place primarily for those who have their own cars and enjoy driving. It can be made in two weeks easily with plenty of time to taste the delights of the other things Virginia offers.

Skyline is a broad, modern highway extending 107 miles from Front Royal in the north to Rockfish Gap near Waynesboro in the south, linking with the Blue Ridge Parkways. The park is open all year and picnic facilities and camping sites are available. The majority of cabins and restaurants are closed, however, during the winter and early spring, though Panorama and Swift Run Gap usually are open the year round on a reduced scale.

Enter At Four Points

The Skyline Drive is accessible from the main highway at four points from State Highways 12, 55 and 522 at Front Royal; from Lee Highway US 211 at Thornton Gap; Spotswood Trail US 33 at Swift Run Gap, and Jefferson Highway US 250 at Rockfish Gap.

For those visiting Virginia without cars, there is a regular bus service. It runs within the park over the Drive between the north entrance and Swift Run Gap. The towns of Front Royal, Luray and Elkton are near park entrances and connections can be made by railway.

The maximum driving speed in the park is 35 miles an hour. Car drivers pay an entrance fee of 25 cents for a one-day permit, or $1 for a calendar year permit.

Rise Abruptly

The Blue Ridge Mountains rise abruptly from the Shenandoah Valley floor forming a western escarpment and reaching the maximum elevation of 4,049 feet at Hawksbill Mountain. The rise on the Pjedmont or eastern side, is more gradual and numerous spur ridges and foothills extend eastward from the crest of the range. Between these spur ridges deep forested hollows are drained by turbulent mountain streams which form waterfalls of various heights.

Among other attractions in this section are the Skyline Caverns found a mile south of Front Royal. These are the world's only known collection of Anthodites, flowerlike calcite formations. One of the unique features of the caverns is the geometric plan of tour which avoids retracing or repetition. Other points of interest include Mary's Rock and the many panorama views.

Certain sections of the park have a variety of shrubs. The azalea, wild sweet crabapple and hawthorn bloom in May; the ninebark, Jersey tea and sumac in summer. During late May and June, the mountain-laurel transforms the whole countryside into a mass of bloom. The vivid tints of autumn are seen best between October 10 and 20. Wildflowers bloom everywhere from mid-April to November. This makes a wonderful splash of color.

Difficult to Choose

It is difficult to decide which is the more beautiful time in the Shenandoah. Spring and summer are always lovely. But autumn coloring is unrivalled. Even up to November 1 the vivid hues are arresting.

Autumn offers another diversion in the Charlottesville apple festival frequently held from October 2-6 with parades, apple tours and a ball as part of the program.

The last of September and the first of October is the best time for Shenandoah apples and the best centres are Winchester, Charlottesville, Mount Jackson, Harrisonburg, Staunton, Waynesboro, and Roanoke. Much of the actual harvesting can be seen from the highways, but if you are interested in the process from orchard to packers, most packers welcome visitors. The Winchester Chamber of Commerce supplies information about arrangements.

Not so well known are two other scenic drives where the mountains move into closer range and clear, wide rivers cross the highway. Clinch Valley, centred by US Route 19 from Bluefield to Hansonville, could be called the Scotland of the US. Green hills of blue grass pastureland drift into high wooded mountains that present every hue in autumn. In the far southwest tip of the state, a drive over US 58 through a wide valley rimmed by the Cumberland and Powell Mountain between Jonesville and Cumberland Gap offers some of the most majestic scenery in the southwest.

Florida Pays $20 Per Tree From Ontario

By The Canadian Press

This is the season for buying and selling Christmas trees. Across the land, except in those areas where a man can cut his own, the lordly evergreen is offered on a thousand vacant lots.

A Canadian Press cross-Canada survey today showed trees plentiful and prices about the same as last year. In most centres the householder can buy a tree from $1 to about $2.50, depending on size and type.

Tree exports to the United States were reported higher than last year, with the price up a bit.

Mild weather slowed early sales in Ontario where Scotch pine and spruce were most popular. In Toronto, dealers asked $2 for a four-foot Scotch pine without sprayed-on coloring.

Quebec officials estimated the cut for domestic use at 200,000. Provincial police set up a special patrol to discourage city dwellers from stealing trees from farmers' bushland.

Big Business

In several provinces, cutting of trees for export has become big business. Besides bringing in US dollars, it provides seasonal revenue for owners of woodlots and the men who cut the trees.

Many of Ontario Scotch pines go to Florida, where the retail price is $15 to $20 for a medium-sized tree.

For Christmas tree buyers, experts had this advice: put the tree in the coolest part of the room, keep it in water and discard it as soon as the needles start to fall, avoid overloading electric light circuits with several strings of tree lights and make sure decorations are the kind that will not catch fire.

Christmas Meters?

COBOURG, Dec. 15 (ENS)—The parking meters are garbed in cedar boughs to add a touch of Christmas but the town workmen didn't remove the stingers from the meters. The coin slot heads are plainly visible and there is still a penalty if you park and don't pay.

Young's Point WA Nominates Officers

YOUNG'S POINT, Dec. 15 — (ENS)—The United Church WA held their December meeting at the home of Mrs. Pete Godfrey, with the president, Mrs. Breaker, in the chair. A number of Christmas carols were sung followed by Christmas readings. The treasurer reported over $100 was taken in at the Christmas sale.

President, Jean Crowe; vice-president, Mrs. R. Breaker; treasurer, Mrs. Reed; secretary, Mrs. Jones; sick committee, Mrs. Abbott and Mrs. McIlmoyle; sewing governor, Mrs. Jackson; membership committee, Mrs. P. Godfrey and Mrs. G. Finn.

It was decided that several boxes are to be sent to sick members and friends for Christmas.

Churches Plan Carol Services

Christmas carol and candlelight services will be held on Sunday night in many of Peterborough's churches. These will include the singing of carols by the congregations, Christmas cantatas and plays and the playing of the Christmas oratorio.

In St. Paul's Presbyterian Gwen [illegible] and Christopher Gledhill, [illegible] favorable acclaim in the spring with their piano and organ work will again be heard. At the commencement of the service they will play a 15 minute recital and then during the service, which will be choral, they will play the Symphony from the Christmas Oratorio. Junior and senior choirs will present a program of song.

At George Street United the annual candlelight service will be held. There will be numbers by the junior, intermediate and senior choirs and the later will sing the Christmas cantata "Christ is the Hope of the World".

At Park St. Baptist the evening service is being conducted by the CGIT under the direction of Mrs. G. Herzog and Miss Jean Rogers. Trinity United will hold its annual candlelight service, as will St. Andrew's United and at Knox United the stories of favorite carols will be told.

At Murray Street Baptist the minister will tell Henry Van Dyke's Christmas story "The Other Wise Man" and there will be the singing of carols. At Mark Street United the junior school's white gift and carol service will be held and they will present the play "O Night Divine". St. James United will have a carol service with the junior and senior choirs taking part.

White Church, School Hold Christmas Party

HAVELOCK, Dec. 15 (ENS)—Despite several counter attractions in the district, the annual Christmas entertainment at the White church was greeted with a large attendance from the Rush Point, South Lake and Victoria districts as well as from Havelock, Norwood and Campbellford. Proceeds amounted to $51.25.

This has been an annual event for more than 50 years and is a special occasion for the members of the White church Sunday school and the pupils of Rush Point school, who unite in presenting the program.

The numbers presented by the Sunday school were directed by Mr. and Mrs. Earl Pollock and Mrs. Cora Curtis, the latter being the accompanist. Those presented by Rush Point School were under the direction of their teacher, Mrs. D. Petherick, and music teacher Donald Pollock.

The Rev. R. G. Newman officiated as chairman. Short addresses were given by Earl Pollock who has served since 1930 as superintendent of the White Church Sunday school and Mrs. Petherick.

The following program was presented by the Sunday school: chorus, "Bethlehem Star"; recitation by Evelyn Wrightly, dialogue, "The Rising Sun", chorus, "Lovely Little Robin"; recitation by Betty Menzies; dialogue, "Striking the Blow"; pantomime, "Jesus Keep Me Near the Cross"; guitar solo by Ronald Newton; dialogue, "Saving the Bacon"; vocal trio by Miss Shirley Bennett, Paul Newman and Robert J. Hill with Miss P. Belt as accompanist; vocal solo by Mrs. R. G. Newman with the Rev. R. G. Newman as accompanist; closing chorus, "Glory to God in the Highest".

Numbers by Rush Point school: recitation by Phyllis Embleton, quintette, "Ring Out the Bells of Christmas"; recitation, Della Petherick; dialogue, "$100 Yeast Cake"; recitations by Della Petherick and Bobbie Davidson, dialogue, "Difference of Opinion"; recitation by Billy Parker, drill, "In the Good Old Summertime"; vocal duet by Iris Toms and Ruth Morrow; monologue by Joan McGowan; vocal solo by Donald Pollock; piano accordion solo by Barbara Pollock; recitation by Iris Toms; dialogue, "Once in Royal David's City"; vocal solo, Joan McGowan. There were also six choruses by the school.

"U.N. Has Committed Aggression Against Us"

This startling phrase came out of the mouth of Dr. Malan, Prime Minister of South Africa. He was speaking in Cape Town Thursday morning, to explain and attempt to justify why the South African delegate to U.N. at Paris has been called home, and why his delegation will not attend Assembly meetings. U.N. is thought to be the noble defender of humanity against aggression (as in Korea): to have South Africa accuse the United Nations, of which it continues to be a member, of aggression is both shocking and contradictory. What is the trouble?

* * *

The trusteeship committee of the Assembly has agreed to hear a representative of South West Africa air that territory's grievances against the Malan regime and South Africa's assumed overlordship. Dr. Malan says U.N. has no business discussing the matter at all, because it is an internal squabble, outside the jurisdiction of U.N. He quoted the late general Smuts: "A fundamental principle of the Charter is this: that this organization (U.N.) will not poke its nose into the domestic matters of other countries." South Africa claims that South West Africa is part and parcel of South Africa. Disputes between it and the South African Government should not be brought to the attention of U.N. any more than a dispute between the Quebec Government and Ottawa. That is the argument.

* * *

We can sympathize with the point of view that legislating for natives in South Africa is a difficult problem, whose complexities are little realized by outsiders unfamiliar with the black, Boer and British requirements. (The apartheid rule is neither entirely black nor white; there is something to be said for it, as well as against it.) But this fact is clear: under the international trusteeship system of U.N., agreed to by U.N. members, U.N. has jurisdiction over "territories now held under mandate" (Article 77). South West Africa was a German colony before the Great War. After it, the populous area was mandated to South Africa by the League of Nations. When U.N. was formed it took over the mandate jurisdiction of the old League. Therefore, South West Africa has every right to appeal to U.N. and to be heard by its councils. Dr. Malan and his Government may object, they may briefly withdraw from U.N. circles, but that does not change the principles or charter of U.N. It is bound to hear the representatives of the native interests in South West Africa.

Enticing Canadian Capital To Brazil

Canadians are accustomed to thinking of Canada rather meekly as a place to be exploited by foreign capital. They have been conditioned by financial history to believe that not only do they not have the capital to invest abroad; they haven't the money to develop their own land. They have rarely floated the biggest Canadian enterprises themselves—Hudson's Bay Company in other days, in these days the Labrador-Quebec iron deposits. And wherever they turn to look at a big factory it is a branch of an American firm, thinly disguised by the prefix "Canadian" to the name: Canadian General Electric, Canadian Westinghouse, General Motors of Canada, Canadian Nashua Paper, Canadian Raybestos; the list is endless. Canadians have the habit of thinking they have no capital for big enterprises. But Brazil thinks differently.

It is a shock to read a pamphlet put out by the Brazilian Government specifically to entice Canadian capital to Brazil. Fancy that—Brazilians believing that Canadians have capital to invest, and trying to lure it! Flattering to one's national ego.

"In order to facilitate the influx of foreign capital, the Brazilian Government is creating a free market for currencies, thus enabling a Canadian investor to exchange his dollars for a much better rate than that existing in the official market. Therefore a Canadian company planning foreign expansion should first look to Brazil."

Brazilians know that Canadians have capital—big capital. Their biggest company is Canadian: the Brazilian Traction. As they point out in the pamphlet, this is the second largest Canadian company, second only to the Canadian Pacific. With this company operating in Brazil, the people of that country are not deluded, as many Canadians themselves are, that Canada is short of enterprise and capital. With the great shadow of Brazilian Traction looming over that land, Canadian capital must seem to them as big and omnipresent as American is to us. Incidentally, it speaks well for the management of Brazilian Traction and the esteem in which Canadian dollar-enterprise is held, that the Brazilian Government is now campaigning for more Canadian investment in their country. Canadian-Brazilian trade now runs to about $100,000,000 a year.

The Hand Of Harold Ross

When Harold Ross's death was announced last weekend from Boston there were thousands who heard the news with regret, but millions, who had, in one way or another, felt the touch of Ross's hand were unperturbed; they had never heard of Ross, and if they had done so they would have forgotten his name immediately. He was the editor and founder of that remarkable magazine The New Yorker, and as such he had as great an influence on the thought and writing of his time as H. L. Mencken in the generation immediately before him.

Ross's magazine is regarded by those who read it occasionally, or who have merely heard of it, as a funny magazine with a glossy, faintly smart-alec approach to life. Those who read it regularly and carefully know that it is more than that; its principal offering is criticism of life, which is not always funny, and the glow which comes from it is the result not of varnish, but of genuine style. Its influence upon written English in the U.S.A. has been large, and good, for it is certainly one of the best-written periodicals in the language. Its atmosphere of well-bred, well-educated humanism has had its share in shaping the minds of its readers, and through them, of many people who do not read it. It has achieved the feat—remarkable in the U.S.A.—of being fully democratic without at any time confusing democracy with vulgarity or the cheaper sort of sentimentality.

The magazine has, of course, exhibited faults as well as virtues. In literary taste it has sometimes sacrificed real worth to modishness. A few of its critics, particularly those dealing with the theatre, have forgotten that criticism is not primarily a means of self-display. Its famous "Profiles" vary greatly in quality, and a few of them seek to give the impression that they are written from the Judgement Seat of God, rather than from a journalist's desk. But if such faults had not been shown the magazine would have been inhumanly good; its virtues far outweigh its faults.

This was the magazine which Ross made, and which he dominated. He is said to have been a man of difficult and irascible temperament, stern and even harsh in dealing with his staff; though apparently not a writer himself, he was a severe critic of writers and demanded standards of style and accuracy which strained the capacities of many of those who worked for him. In person and demeanour he was at the opposite end of the pole from the elegant gentleman whose portrait appeared on the cover of The New Yorker each year on the anniversary of its first issue. He was courageous, and not the least of the brave things he did was to establish a department in his magazine for the criticism of the press, and to permit frequent and by no means gentle mockery of his advertisers.

Ross was a great editor—an exceedingly rare bird. Great editors are rarely writers themselves; they are more often men of fine taste and executive ability who understand writers and ,who can bring forth the best from other men's talent. Great editors, like impresarios in other fields, trust their own judgement implicitly; they do not do their work through committees or by seeking to sound out public taste; they please themselves, and by so doing they please others. By pleasing his own very exacting tastes Ross laid his hand upon the writing and thought of the U.S.A., and in no small measure upon Great Britain as well. How The New Yorker will fare without him remains to be seen.

NOTES AND COMMENT

The Windsor Star says that Canada is not really a bilingual country. Surprise, surprise!

A New York judge says that it is not against U.S. law to sleep in a tree. This alone, however, will hardly serve to make it popular.

A Danish scientist announces his discovery that beer and wine induce sleep. Once again science pants doggedly in the wake of common sense.

Sally Rand, the fan dancer, says that her act is not lewd. Sally has been doing that act for so long that it is not only not lewd, but in serious danger of becoming uninteresting.

A medical survey says that "the excess fat on Americans would supply enough energy to do 1½ billion man-hours of work." Now, if the doctors who figured that out are so smart, can they tell us why that amount of work is not done by the Americans who possess the fat already?

Tales Of War and Peace

THE CRUEL SEA, by Nicholas Monserrat (Cassell—British Book Service).

NO NEW novel since the war has moved this reviewer more than "The Cruel Sea". Despite its length and close print (which discourage a reviewer from reading a book to its end) this story kept me engrossed—and I know nothing about the Navy nor am I particularly fond of the sea. It is a story of a captain and his crew on a corvette in the Royal Navy during five war years. Any reader connected at all with the Navy during those years must find the novel compellingly interesting and evocative.

The story is told with a vividness of detail, an emotional strength and an episodic sharpness that suggest that the theme and setting are autobiographical. They are. Nicholas Monserrat served in the Navy from 1939 and commanded a corvette and then a frigate. His novel is the story of the Atlantic, and two ships (a corvette which was sunk, and then a frigate) in convoy work chiefly at the western approaches to Britain.

But the book is not merely a diary of the author's experience, nor a record of events: it is an artistic recreation of them done by a writer who knows how to portray men and their moods to make a story. Three men emerge most fully from his pages: Lieutenant-Commander Ericson, who commands both ships; his First Lieutenant Lockhart, and another young sub-lieutenant, Ferraby. Unaccountably, Ferraby is lost sight of after the sinking of the 'Compass Rose',—although the author tells us that he was among the few survivors. The pages are peopled by others who are individuals—such as Lieutenant Morell who had a minor actress for a faithless wife; seaman Gregg whose wife was a strumpet, and the abominable Australian bounder Bennett, first lieutenant of the 'Compass Rose', until he found a softer berth.

The novel falls into two natural parts: the corvette 'Compass Rose' and her crew and career; and the frigate 'Saltash' and her story. They are linked by crews, which are in part the same men, by the cruel sea, and by the continuing boredom, savagery and gallantry of the war on the Atlantic in small convoy ships.

The book combines the authenticity and graphic detail of a remarkable documentary film, and the intensity of the hearts of men moving in great times. Its emotional impact is both affectionate and terrible. Can a more vivid picture of the navy at war in small ships ever be drawn? I doubt it. T.J.A.

THE MASTERS, by C. P. Snow (Macmillan).

IT would be foolish to say that C. P. Snow is a neglected writer, for he has been praised by some of the most discerning critics of the day, and it appears that his books sell in respectable numbers. But it may be said that he is not so widely known as he deserves, and that writers not worthy to be named with him are sometimes named when he is forgotten. But for qualities of depth and understanding of life, and for the completeness of the effect they achieve, he has not many rivals writing today. He is a sober novelist, not given to satire, or to indignation over things which cannot be helped, or to sensational explorations of the coal-holes of life; for this reason he does not appeal to people who read as they drink cocktails—for a quick shock; nor does he appeal to those who seek in books the grubby adventures which they do not find in life. He writes about adults, for other adults to read. The way of such a writer must be quiet, but his eventual destination may be far beyond his more clamorous contemporaries.

In "The Masters" he continues the experiences of Lewis Eliot, who has engaged his attention in three earlier novels. The scene once again is a college in Cambridge; the theme is the choice of a new Master from among the fellows of the college. The manoeuvrings and political dodges which are involved in this choice are described, but not in too great detail, and in this experience, which appears to be limited in scope and consequences, we are able to see much of human motives and ambitions, clearly and understandingly set forth. This is a first-rate novel by a master of his craft, and if you have not previously read anything by C. P. Snow, you should not postpone that pleasure. R.D.

THE CLOWN, by E. J. Oliver (Clarke Irwin).

IF IT WERE NOT at a time of year when many books must be reviewed, it would be a pleasure to write at length of this one. Its theme is not one which will immediately attract great numbers of people who have little interest in or experience of the theatre; it is the story of a man who, in childhood, conceived an ambition to be a clown, later wished to be a tragic actor, but finally found himself a clown, and a great one. There is nothing obvious or cheaply sentimental in the telling, but in less skilled hands than those of the author the story might have become the foolish old one about the clown-with-the-aching-heart. As it is, the book suggests many things which lie at the root of comedy, but which are in themselves very far removed from what appears to the world to be comic.

An odd thing about this book is that its clown-hero comes from a prosperous middle-class family, and is himself a man of education. The history of the theatre does not, so far as we know, contain any record of a clown with such a history; although they are undoubtedly clever men, clowns are not usually drawn from the educated or prosperous classes. Even the great Grock, who was often rumoured to be a Ph. D., or at least a schoolteacher, was very sketchily educated. But this is by the way, and detracts nothing from Mr. Oliver's unusual and interesting novel. R.D.

THE BIG SHOW, by Pierre Clostermann Clarke Irwin).

THIS is the story of the war in the air over Europe from 1942 to V-E day, as a French fighter-pilot saw it. Pierre Clostermann tells of many exciting moments — a duel above Scapa Flow, strikes against V-bomb sites, belly-landing a Spitfire in fog. "It is a magnificent story" writes Marshall of the Air Force Sir John Slessor in his Foreword, "and makes one proud, not only of those French boys who fought so gallantly and gaily with us, but of the Royal Air Force in which they served".

It is really an "inside story" of R.A.F. fighter operations, of the Free French in them, told warmly and intelligently by a pilot with enough awareness of the world and his people to become after the war the youngest member of the Chambre des Deputes.

Apart from the recollections of warfare in the air and the people in the planes, it has some informed observations which an ordinary pilot would have missed. (He is not ordinary—he rose to command a Wing.) This, for instance: "It was at this stage that the Germans began to bury their factories. It was an extraordinary feat. As early as January 1944, the Germans had taken a census of all quarries, caves and other suitable sites. They even went to the extent of diverting railways for dozens of miles so as to use the tunnels. It was only later, when Germany was occupied, that the full extent of this troglodyte activity could be assessed. In the middle of a large forest near Alt Ruppin the Russians discovered a clearing where nearly 100 Heinkel 162's and F.W. 190's were lined up under trees carefully camouflaged. A little further on, following a railway line that seemed to lose itself in a clump of trees they found the entrance to a subterranean factory, six acres in extent and with a production capacity of four fighters a day. The aircraft were transported in lorries as far as the Berlin-Hamburg autobahn still under construction, a few miles away. One of the completed sections, 60 yards wide and 2½ miles long and perfectly straight, was used as a runway —a magnificent improvised airfield. One could quote dozens of similar cases. The Germans were therefore able, contrary to all the estimates, to maintain a very high level of production, in spite of bombing attacks, of the order of 2,000 aircraft a month".

This book, in its French edition, has sold more than half a million copies already. T.J.A.

THE QUEEN MOTHER, by Marion Crawford (British Book Service).

THIS is a much better book than the author's earlier effort called "The Little Princesses". Miss Crawford, who served as governess to the royal children, and lived on terms of some intimacy with the royal family during that time, is somewhat coy, possessive and sentimental in her style of writing, but she cannot exercise these traits as freely in writing of Queen Mary as she did in writing of that august lady's grandchildren. The book is, upon the whole, soberly written, and the photographs which it contains are alone worth the purchase price.

There are people who do not like the royal family; we do not think there can be many, however, who do not feel respect and admiration for the Queen Mother, who has maintained all the attributes of aristocracy and royalty in the frowsy social atmosphere of our day. In her, these attributes of dignity and self-possession are seen at their best; not cold or oppressive, but firm, kindly and noble. This book is an excellent record of a life given to duty, but not broken by duty. R.D.

THE DAM BUSTERS, by Paul Brickhill (Evans—British Books).

THIS is probably the greatest R.A.F. story that has ever been told, greatest because it is an authentic account of the greatest R.A.F. Squadron, Number 617, which was commanded by some of the greatest heroes of the R.A.F., men like Guy Gibson, V.C. and Leonard Cheshire, V.C. It was formed specifically to bomb the Moehne and Eder dams in the Ruhr. It did this and went on to other feats of glory and great daring. Its last great wartime commander was a Canadian—Air Commodore Fauquier. This book will be reviewed later; we note it here in the press of pre-Christmas books to bring it to the attention of readers who may want to buy it as a Christmas gift. It is a lively, skilful account.

I'VE FOUND A FRIEND, by Henry J. Keith (Tower Books—Ottawa & Napanee).

THE Reverend Dr. Keith is an elder statesman of the United Church and a plain preacher with a background of learning. This collection of homilies and short sermons, modern instances of scriptural authority, can be solace to the faithful and props to their religious experience. Dr. Keith, first minister of Knox Church, Peterborough, has divided his later ministry between western pulpits and eastern Canadian church executive positions, including League of Nations local offices. The friend he has found is Jesus. T.J.A.

THIS WEEK'S BUDGET of reviews leaves little space for our accustomed quotation, which must therefore be a short one. It is from George Eliot, or Marian Evans Cross, as we prefer to think of her, and it is simply this: "Blessed is the man who, having nothing to say, abstains from giving in words evidence of the fact".

Seven Cent Newspapers

(Vancouver News-Herald)

In Victoria the two newspapers have gone to seven cents daily. This is the first breach in the five-cent ceiling in Canada. Across the United States, one newspaper after another has been moving from five to seven cents.

At their recent meeting in San Francisco, Associated Press editors declared the seven cent price for daily newspapers is only transitional. The price of all dailies would soon be 10 cents, as it already is for the major Los Angeles papers.

The 15 cent Sunday newspaper, they said, was now uneconomic and it was heading for 25 cents.

Daily newspapers have been five cents or less for so long that it had come to be thought there could be no higher price.

In terms of depreciated dollar values, a 10-cent newspaper price today would be the equivalent of less than the 5-cent price pre-war.

A 7-cent newspaper price, as in Victoria today, is actually just about equal to a 3-cent price—or two cents below the 5-cent pre-war price.

Bible Message

(From the Authorized Version)

For God, who commanded the light to shine out of darkness, hath shined in our hearts, to give the light of the knowledge of the glory of God in the face of Jesus Christ . . . We are troubled on every side, yet not distressed; we are perplexed, but not in despair . . . Always bearing about in the body the dying of the Lord Jesus, that the life also of Jesus might be made manifest in our body . . . We having the same spirit of faith, according as it is written, I believed, and therefore have I spoken; we also believe, and therefore speak; knowing that he which raised up the Lord Jesus shall raise up us also by Jesus, and shall present us with you . . .

For our light affliction, which is but for a moment, worketh for us a far more exceeding and eternal weight of glory; while we look not at the things which are seen, but at the things which are not seen: for the things which are seen are temporal; but the things which are not seen are eternal. (II Cor. 4: 6, 8, 10, 13, 14, 17, 18.)

And I heard a great voice out of heaven saying, Behold, the tabernacle of God is with men, and he will dwell with them, and they shall be his people, and God himself shall be with them, and be their God. And God shall wipe away all tears from their eyes; and there shall be no more death, neither sorrow, nor crying, neither shall there be any more pain: for the former things are passed away. Letters To The Editor

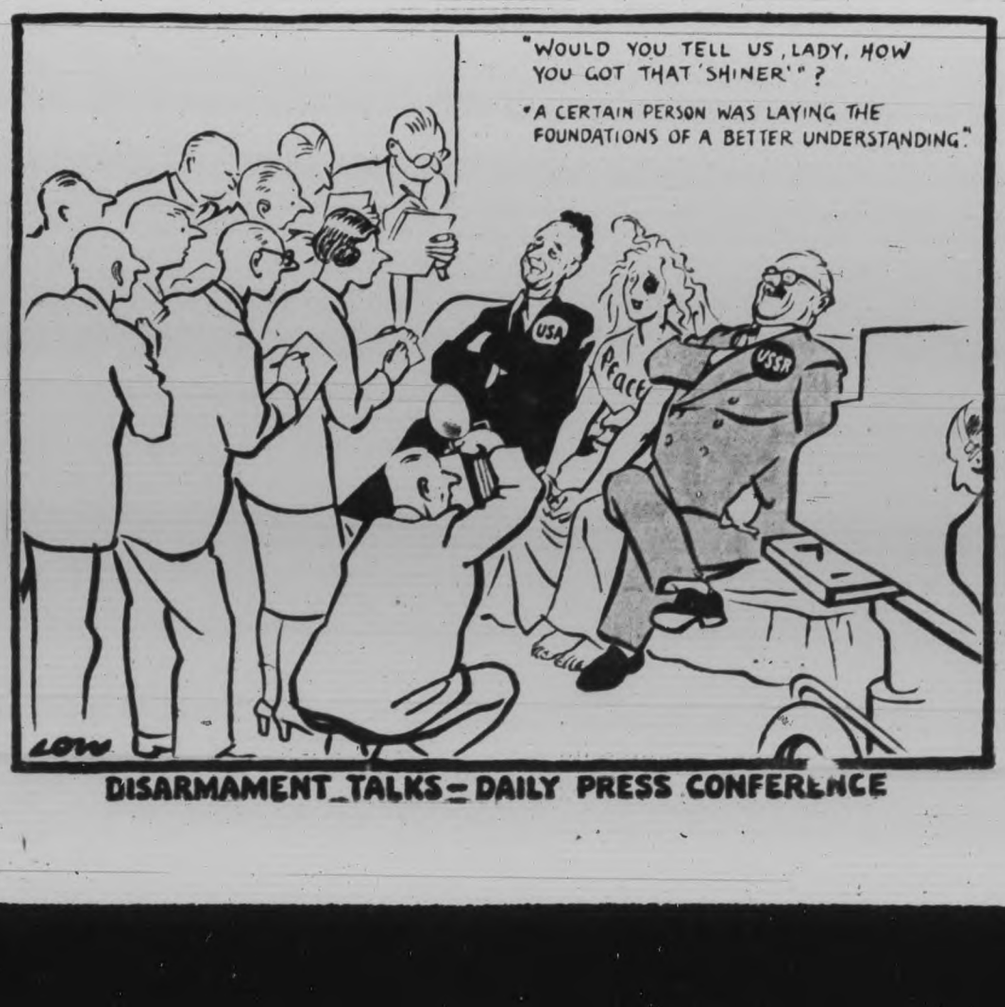
ASKS FOR BETTER CARNIVAL

Sir: Was reading in tonight's Examiner that if the Peterborough Exhibition is moved back to September date, the board of directors would have to look for a new carnival. By what I saw of the show last year as well as the year before they should, as it wasn't much as carnivals go; in fact the less said about it the better. These days everyone wants the most for their money and if a carnival is indispensible in attracting crowds why not one of the best? Ottawa gets the World of Mirth shows and some of our western cities get Model Shows of America or Royal American Shows. These carnivals are big wagon shows not the kind of shows that come in box cars. I can remember a few years back when the Greater Sheesley Shows came to our fair. We had fun at the fair then—not go down, as of late years, look around and come home. Then you could see Coloured Minstrel show, South Sea Island show, Wild West show, Sam S outlaw show, Boxing and Wrestling shows and so on.

Now the class of carnival we get is mostly made up of rides. Myself, like a lot of city people, I mostly go to our fair for the carnival end of it. As I have been what you might call a circus and carnival fan for years the kind of carnivals that our good fair gets of late years makes me want to go into a hotel and cry in my beer. Come on folks drop our good editor a few lines on carnivals we get now and the ones of a few years ago.



Yours truly,
TEXAS TOM

NOW PUTT

The amateur golfer stepped up to the tee and looked towards the hole some 250 yards away. Then he turned to the caddy and said, "That's good for one long drive and a putt."

He addressed the ball very carefully and with a vicious swing drove it about two feet away from the tee.

The caddy immediately stepped up, handed him the putter and said, "Now for the putt."

You'd think we would have enough sense to stop talking about fishing in the Kawarthas now that winter is here but it is, after all, our greatest attraction and sport. Oh yes, we have our great deer hunt each Fall that breaks into print with loud short bursts. It is soon forgotten, a minority sport. But fishing appeals to everybody

For many years The Peterborough Examiner, in conjunction with Lucky Strike Bait Company, have conducted a fishing contest which runs from May 1 to Oct. 15. As a constant compiler of records we are pleased this year to receive more entries than ever before. We never worry a great deal if entries in some classes are few or missing entirely. The contest is a voluntary sort of thing and it is up to the contestants whether or not they wish to take the trouble to fill out the entry slips.

Without further ado, here are the lucky people, placing first, second and third in the various fish groups:

'Lunge

1.—W. J. Wilson, Tidiorite, Pa., 30 pounds, 4 ounces, taken in Buckhorn Lake on a spoon, rod trolling. Guest of Oak Orchard.

2.—Dr. Emmett W. Arnold, New Madison, O., 28 pounds; caught in Mudturtle Lake at Norland.

3.—William Jacobs, Painsville, O., 27 pounds, in the Trent River at Campbellford. A flatfish was the lure.

Many more muskies were entered; in fact, they were the largest class; they scaled all the way down to 14 pounds. Rice Lake was not up to par this year. We used to count on contest whoppers from that district going one, two, three.

Pickerel

1.—John L. (Finnegan) Hill, 97 Robinson St., Peterborough, 11 pounds, 5 ounces, with a bucktail streamer at Nassau on the Otonabee River.

2.—J. E. Haskins, 62 Chatsworth Dr., Toronto, 11 pounds even, on a wobbler bait in Kamaniskeg Lake, up in the Bancroft country.

3.—Fred Lapham, Perry, O., 10 pounds, 3 ounces, on a flatfish in Gilchrist Bay, Stony Lake, just before the season closed, too.

Runners-up brought in some dandies from other sections of Stony and on the Otonabee from Young's Point to Rice Lake, Sturgeon, Pigeon and Long Lakes. The general average weight was about eight pounds.

Small-Mouth Bass

1.—Walter Bruce, 634 Union St., Peterborough, 5 pounds, 8 ounces, on a live frog at the Auburn Dam on the Otonabee.

2.—Peter J. Foltz, R.D. 1, East Canton, O., 5 pounds, 6 ounces, at Rice Lake, on a river plug.

3.—Roy N. Manbeck, Lewiston Heights, Lewiston, Pa., 5 pounds, 5 ounces, on a flatfish on Schooner Lake in the Land o' Lakes section.

Black bass are showing a decided come-back and they are growing into the nice 5-pound average class in many cases.

Large-Mouth Bass

1.—Henry Nerad, Lake Ave., Ashtabula, O., 7 pounds, 8 ounces, on a silver minnow, again in Lake Kaminiskag Lake, Bancroft way.

2.—Albert Soloman, 5884 Douglas St., Pittsburgh 17, Pa., 6 pounds, 8 ounces, with a spook plug on Rice Lake.

3.—Amos B. Minor, 28 Lehn Springs Dr., Williamsville, N.Y., 6 pounds, 2 ounces, with a pikey minnow at Buckhorn Lake.

By far, the most entries for Greens came from Chemong Lake, but unfortunately even the largest of them was not in the running. The Otonabee and Indian Rivers and Sandy Lake at Lakehurst, made some nice showings.

Speckled Trout

The one and only entry, and a dandy, makes a winner of G. H. (Bus) Hutchison, 744 Bethune St., Peterborough. This beauty weighed six pounds, even, and was taken on red and white trout trolling spoon in East Lake.

Several fine messes were brought to The Examiner office and were reported, but only one man filled in a slip. What can you do?

This is no indication that speckle fishing is lagging in the district. I have seen too many catches and it would seem this year's were a little bit better than average.

Lake Trout

1.—Frank Whitehouse, 488 Mark St., Peterborough, 23 pounds, 12 ounces, from Drag Lake, Haliburton, and taken on July 3.

2.—Gerald Keller, Box 11, Madoc, Ont., 21 pounds, 8 ounces, Weslemakoon Lake in the Land o' Lakes country.

3.—Dr. William N. Hayes, 277 Park St., Peterborough, a 7-pound laker in the Wilberforce country.

Does this indicate that only district talent go after the big ones? I don't think so, but do know that fishing for them, and boating them, really takes know-how

Brown and Rainbow Trout

Nary an entry in either class. We know there were several Browns taken this year and, though they didn't come up to the old bruiser taken by Rufus Payne at Millbrook, there were some nice ones all the same.

♠ ♠ ♠ ♠

The Prizes . . . .

These lucky people listed above, fall into three classes as you will see above. Firsts, seconds and thirds. The first prize is a fishing rod, with a reel and line for second place and an assortment of Lucky Strike baits for the number threes.

To the nine American winners, of a total of 16, we are giving two choices. We shall send their prizes, on which they must pay Customs charges, or, hold them at this office for pick-up next summer.

Seven Canadian winners will have their prizes shipped to them and townsmen may pick them up personally.

The contest was conducted in a business-like fashion and we are pleased with the results. It's too bad some fishermen forget to send in their slips because the weights of fish listed above don't do justice, it some classes, to the big ones we know were taken from the Kawarthas during the past season.

Finny business, these contests. It's been a lot of fun.

HBC Jr.: Your query about the difference between wildcats, bobcats and lynx. They are confusing to us, because they are so rare. The wildcat and bobcat are one and the same and grow to an adult 30 pounds. Canadian lynx grow twice the size and there hasn't been one shot in these parts for years. Both species live on rabbits and hole up in rocky dens. Their screams are terrifying things to hear. The one trapped and shot by Vincent Dunford on the east shore of Clear Lake last week, is no doubt the "large animal" that has been scaring the daylights out of summer cottagers.

PUPILS ENJOY SCHOOL so much that truancy is no longer a problem, Douglas Loomis, public schools attendance officer, finds. In bright classrooms such as the Grade 2 room ABOVE, class projects engage the pupils' interest. Here toys gathered from their homes are being assembled to send as gifts to tubercular Eskimo and Indian youngsters in the Far North. Left to right, Margaret Barton, Gail Turner, David Dryman, Audrey Johnston, Michael Mitchell and Alan Fraser inspect toys with their teacher, Miss Joan Krogh, Prince of Wales School. At RIGHT, Attendance Officer Loomis looks over the list of absentees which senior school nurse Miss May Jory keeps and consults with Principal R. J. Bolton, of Prince of Wales School. (Staff Photo).

Truancy Now Thing of Past In Peterborough Schools

By DAVE WHITE

Truancy in city public and separate schools is almost a thing of the past: That's the word from educational authorities today.

It's not that the Tom Sawyers and Huck Finns are gone forever, replaced by a less adventurous type of schoolboy. The boys are the same; it's the schools that have changed.

The heart of the matter is this: kids no longer want to play hooky.

Why?

Well, one and perhaps the principal reason is summed up in this explanation given by Percy D. Windrim, inspector of public schools:

"The emphasis in education has shifted; nowadays we try to fit the school to the needs of the child, not the reverse."

Truancy Negligible

The upshot of this modern educational policy is that children generally find it more fun to be at school than stay away.

"Truancy today is negligible," said Douglas A. Loomis, Board of Education attendance officer. "It's no worry at all. Scarcely worth mentioning. Since last January 1 there have been 20 half days and one full day of truancy—11 days altogether."

When you stop to consider that the average attendance during the year in city public schools was 3,666 children, and there were 196 school days, it gives you some idea of the unimportance of truancy today.

PCVS has a similar story.

Joseph Maher, separate schools attendance officer, also finds this form of absenteeism no longer important.

The Minister of Education, in his annual report, no longer even lists truancy in his summary of absenteeism. It forms a negligible fraction of the statistics marked "other reasons."

Last published figures for Ontario show that in 1946 there was .27 per cent truancy in schools.

Mr. Windrim said that during the last 10 years, in particular, there has been a tendency to make the school fit the child. Courses are adjusted so the child is satisfied.

A glance at the newest textbooks is one indication. Print is large, there is a liberal sprinkling of colored pictures and illustrations to focus interest, and unfamiliar words are screened out. The vocabulary is adjusted to suit the grade.

Within Child's Comprehension

Care is taken that the child is not forced to try and comprehend something that is beyond his interest level and vocabulary.

Discipline is still firm but much of the threat of physical punishment as a corrective has been eliminated. The strap is still used when nothing else works but the emphasis today is on understanding the problems of the individual pupil.

It is only natural that there should be more truancy among the misfits in school than among the successful pupils. The new "opportunity classes" that give 50 per cent academic work and 50 per cent handwork have been set up to look after this group.

The child who is not as bright as others scholastically no longer feels the humiliation of being backward. He is allowed to learn at his own pace.

Mr. Loomis estimates that there were double the number of truants among this group as compared with other pupils. This year he cannot recall any of these children being truants. Apparently they are adjusted to school life.

The result: another decline in the percentage of truancy.

It doesn't take a Marxist to detect that there is an economic side to truancy too. In the depression 30s there was always a sizeable perventage of children whose parents could not afford to clothe them properly.

Without boots, warm clothing, and other winter gear, the children were thought better off at home. And the children themselves, conscious that they looked shabby beside others, were willing, if not happy, to oblige.

There is still the odd case of that, even in these relatively prosperous times, as both Mr. Loomis and Mr. Maher can testify.

Mr. Maher thinks there are three main reasons for better school attendance.

Because of good times and the aid of the Children's Allowance, parents are able to feed and clothe their children better. And the boys and girls look healthier.

"School laws are more rigidly enforced. If a child is away the teacher immediately wants to know the reason why. The only excuse is sickness.

"In addition, there is better understanding between the parents and teachers. Credit must go to the school boards. They get to know the teachers' problems and the first step toward a smooth-functioning educational system is taken in the homes."

Check Off the Allowance

The Family Allowance can be useful in another way. Occasions don't arise very often but if a parent is unco-operative in seeing that his children attend school the Allowance can be discontinued.

As a last resort the parent can be taken into Family Court. There the matter is threshed out before Magistrate W. R. Philp, KC, who is sympathetic but firm.

The School Act says children must attend until 16 years of age. Exceptions are made when the child is needed to look after the home, and when economic necessity forces a youngster to help out the breadwinner.

But the decline in truancy doesn't mean that the work of the attendance officer ("don't call me truant officer") is superfluous. Nowadays the emphasis has changed from tracking down absentees to being a sort of good will ambassador—a liaison between the school and the parents.

The last word on the subject was by Mr. Loomis: "We find parents more than co-operative. They know that education is necessary if their children are to get along in the modern world. Generally, a bit of a chat with them and there's no more truancy.

Flautist of Warsaw Pioneer In Wheat Milling Industry

By RICHARD F. CHOATE

The Song of the Waterwheels has been heard through the centuries wherever people have been alive to the importance of the energy that lies in natural rythms.

Within the last century flour-milling frontiers have widened constantly, and Peterborough County mill wheels have contributed creditably to a paean that may be likened to a New World Symphony in the sphere of water-music.

The part played by cereal milling has been of vast importance in the life and work of Peterborough people. Associated for some time with the writer's grandfather, Thomas Choate, in operation of the Warsaw mills on the Indian River was an uncle, David Thomas Choate, who was born in Glanford, Ont., in 1827. Let the printed record speak for itself:

Mr. Choate was brought up by his paternal grandparents and received what education they could afford. His grandfather died when the lad was but fourteen years of age. He was then apprenticed in a flour mill and learned the trade of a miller. In 1852 he constructed and operated the first flour mill in California. For want of a building in which to place the machinery he utilized a condemned whale ship which had been drawn up on the beach. The incentive to starting the mill was the arrival of a large cargo of wheat from Valparaiso, South America. Up to that time no wheat was grown in California, but the next year she furnished largely her own supply — Vide "The Choates in America" by Dr. E. O. Jameson, Boston.

Returning from California by the Isthmian route, in those days before the Panama Canal was even a dream, David Choate encountered much of the rough and tumble life which was characteristic of the time. First his ship was wrecked, then members of the party were set upon and robbed. Nevertheless, he made his way back to Warsaw, his belt and its gold content still intact.

In Iowa

Within a year or two David Choate had established a nexus between Peterbofough county's Indian river and Iowa's Cedar river, on which was situated the original mill of the Quaker Oats Company, now the world's greatest cereal plant.

About the same time, just after 1854, that Ferdinand Schumacher was establishing the first Quaker Oats mill at Cedar Rapids, David T. Choate was carrying on a substantial milling business at Cedar Falls, some fifty miles up-stream on the Cedar river. His business prospered and his Cedar Falls home for many years was a centre of social activities. He was an accomplished flautist and one of his hobbies was Spencerian penmanship. On the onset of his wife's fatal illness, David Choate relinquished his Cedar Falls milling interests and returned to Warsaw where Mrs. Choate died November 16, 1835.

Mr. Choate continued to reside in Warsaw many years where his expert knowledge of mills and milling again were most helpful. He died at the home of his brother, William Burnham Choate, in Aurora, Ill., about the turn of the century.

Sharing the Cedar Falls home of David Choate for many years after the untimely death of her mother was his niece, Celestia Elizabeth Bingham, daughter of Dr. James Bingham, long Medical Health Officer of Peterborough. Miss Bingham, on her return to Peterborough, her birthplace, became the wife of George Stevenson, first secretary of the Lock Works, a nephew of Janet Stevenson, who served as mayor and MP.

In the days when the "dressing" of mill-stones was an art, Mr. Choate was clearly entitled to a "master's" degree. In the years he lived at Warsaw and at "Maple Hill" farm near Clear Lake, he retained his interest in milling and achieved, as well, notable success in floriculture and in the development of grape arbors.

A century has seen great achievements in the technology of flour-milling. But we shall do well to remind ourselves that the primary impulse which drives the flour mill waterwheel (or turbine if you will) is cultural and not merely technological. For flour mill energies are directed toward ends vastly different from those employed let us say, in the processes of the metallurgical industries. We may expand with technological facility the production of steel or chemicals. But we cannot so expand the production of wheat, or other organic life-giving plants, which still remain very few in number. After the centuries that have intervened since they were first evolved from a wild grass of Asia Minor.

Expansion of the output of bread grains is not achieved by the imposing of industrial techniques on plant or soil. Organic growth is rooted in the earth and it depends basically on the organic conditions that make for soil fertility. Increased production has been achieved by the bringing of successive areas of wild land under cultivation of selected or "improved" races of these species, rather than by the domestication of endemic wild species.

Peterborough's Red Fife wheat, grown by David Fife from a few kernels near the Indian river in Otonabee, was of incalculable importance in the rolling back of frontiers and the addition of millions of acres to the continent's wheat lands. Still another memorable triumph for cultivation or culture was scored by Dr. Saunders with his celebrated Marquis wheat.

Organic growth such as that of plants cannot be manhandled by machinery without killing it. Only by the studying and intensifying of natural processes can production—and not merely production but reproduction be attained. This is not the mastery found in metallurgy. Rather, it is who played a notable part in the real-life drama of flour-milling in the earlier years. For many years a resident of Warsaw, he was associated there with milling on the Indian river. In the stirring Gold Rush Days of the Forty-niners, he operated in an abandoned whaling-ship the first flour mill in California. Later he carried on a substantial milling business on the Cedar river in Iowa, at Cedar Falls, some fifty miles upstream from Cedar Rapids, where about the same time Ferdinand Schumacher was establishing the original mill of the Quaker Oats Company which has grown into the world's largest cereal plant.

Petes-Hawks Share First Collins Notches Winner As Petes Edge Kingston

KINGSTON, Dec. 15.—Peterborough Petes edged the battling Kingston SAC by 4-3 Friday night in the Community Memorial Centre and maintained joint leadership in the OHA Senior "B" group race with the Belleville Hawks who crushed the trailing Peterborough Eagles by 7-3 in the Moira River city. Slightly over 900 fans attended the local attraction, the start of which was delayed for fifteen minutes owing to the late arrival of the visitors.

TWO GOOD REASONS for the Petes sharing the top rung of the senior "B" league with Belleville are Ted Collins (top) and Gus Leonard (bottom). Collins, a graduate of the minor leagues, rapped home the winning counter against Kingston Friday night as the Petes won 4-3. Genial Gus, the Petes' captain, again led his team to victory, their fifth in eight games. — (Examiner Staff Photos).

The surprising Petes, who have lost one game less than Belleville and are therefore the percentage leaders, have now won five games in eight starts although they have notched 44 goals and have permitted exactly as many.

Even more amazing is the fact that the Belleville Hawks have scored 49 goals and have been scored upon the same number. Kingston holds a 46 to 45 mark, while the Eagles who have lost six games in nine starts, have been outscored by only 45 to 44.

Last nights play ran according to the form charts and not at any time did more than one goal separate the combatants. Unfortunately from a local point of view the Petes did all the leading and culminated a fine performance when Collins, on a pass from Garvey, scored the winning goal at 16.11 mark in the final period.

West Scores

In a tensely waged opening period the Petes gained a 1-0 advantage on a goal by Junior West at 13.57. Early in the middle session Dave Casey of the Petes drew a minor penalty and during his absence "Bud" Ohlke working in combination with Don Murray, beat goalkeeper Ray Harding at 2.37. When again at full strength the Petes accelerated the pace but drew nothing but blanks until at the eleven minute mark "Chum" Fryia sped in to score after taking a pass from the weaving Dugan.

Playing cannily from the start of the last period the Petes had the Scruttonmen at bay until Clint Tinkess, aided by Gerry Wagar, former Queen's University star, beat Harding at 8.25 and forced the invaders to alter their tactics.

With the Petes gunning for that tie breaking goal the initiative was taken away from the SAC's but they showed to advantage defensively before a three-way attack, West to Jake Wade to Gus Leonard, broke the stalemate at 12.41. But Cliff Aitken, in conjunction with Murray and Ohlke, balanced the scales in a space of seventy-three seconds.

Collins Does It

The SAC's tried manfully to snatch the verdict from the fire but the canny Petes did not waver and finally at the 16.11 mark Teeder Collins beat Donie Dougall with a tricky shot after Fred Garvey had engineered the attack. The visitors played checkerboard defensive hockey the rest of the way in clinging to a hard earned victory.

West of the Petes and Ohlke, the local veteran, shared attacking laurels each with a goal and an assist. Don Murray had two assists to lead in that department.

Teams:
Peterborough—Goal, Harding; defence, Jopling and E. Leonard; centre, Dugan; wings, Fryia and Mason; alts., Wade, Mortimer, G. Leonard, Casey, Garvey, Collins, West and Floyd.
Kingston—Goal, Dougall; defence, Stewart and Bender; centre, Murray; wings, Ohlke and Aitken; alts., Goodfellow, Sweetman, Watt, Larmer, Tinkess, White and Wagar.
Referee, Jim Crombie, linesman, Art Casterton.
Summary:

First Period
Eagles—West	13:57
No penalties.
Second Period
Kingston—Ohlke (Murray)	2:37
Eagles—Fryia (Dugan)	11:00
Penalties—Casey.
Third Period
Kingston—Tinkess (Wagar)	8:25
Eagles—G. Leonard (West, Wade)	12:41
Kingston—Aitken (Murray, Ohlke)	13:54
Eagles—Collins (Garvey)	16:11

Penalties—E. Leonard, Sweetman, Bender, Casey.

Black Hawks Whip Canadien Peewees

In a penalty-free game the Black Hawks handed the Canadiens a 3-1 setback as the peewee teams played a 20-minute preliminary game to the IOOF-Lindsay junior game at the Civic Arena.

Decked in brightly colored National Hockey League sweaters, both teams met with the approval of the fans attending the IOOF Father-Son night.

Haig opened the Hawks' scoring early in the first period on a solo effort. Copping rapped in the second score on a pass from Nichols and Copping topped off that play with a second goal soon after on a rebound.

McCarthy got the Canadiens' lone tally near the end of the game on a neat rush.

Standouts for the Canadiens were Innis, Garvey and McCarthy and for the Hawks, Hendry, Haig and Copping.

Neills Score 75 Set New Record In Basketball

Neills blasted 75 points through the netted hoop Friday night in the Ladies' Basketball League game at the YWCA against the Lindsay lasses to set a high team scoring record. Lindsay managed to score a total of 24 points between Neills' baskets.

In an exhibition game the LOBA team walloped the Nurses 49-12 for the second drubbing of the evening.

Neills, who are undefeated this year and were undefeated for the senior title last season, appear to outclass the other teams in all departments, passing, quick breaking, shooting, steady checking and looking for an opportunity. They took advantage of every break Friday night and rarely missed on any scoring chance.

It was quite evident in the first half that there would be a slaughter before the game was over. In fact the slaughter was well on its way. Led by Mabel Gillen with seven field baskets and two foul shots for a total of 14 points, Neills climbed to a 32-9 half-time score.

Pauline Stewart, Sue DeVarga, Joan Dunk and Grace Poast added points as Neills used the first half for a warming up session. Shirley Algar, Marjorie Owen and Donna Copp sprinkled Lindsay's nine points throughout the half.

Pauline Stewart, Wilma Byers, and Joan Dunk completed the slaughter for Neills in the second half. Using fast breaks, deceptive passes and accurate shooting they wheeled in 34 points of the Neills' total 43 for the half.

Meanwhile Lindsay connected for 15 points by Shirley Algar, Ruth Beard, Ruth Gibson, Marj. Owen and Marj. Vanstone.

The exhibition game followed the same pattern as the league game. The LOBA lasses jumped on the Nurses quickly in the first half to run up a 27-8 score, then complete the second slaughter in the second half pushing through another 22 points to the Nurses' four.

Pauline Stewart, who scored 15 points in the league game, racked up another 15 points against the Nurses to lead the scoring. She was backed by scoring efforts by practically all her teammates, especially Gillen with eight, McIlhaga, Dunk and Byers with six each.

Former girls' cage star at PCVS Betty Jaquith, scored all but two of the Nurses' 12 points.

Neills (75)—Stewart 16, DeVarga 5, Bestard, Byers 9, Gillen 15, Dunk 22, Callan, Smith, Poast 4, Castle 4.
Lindsay (24)—Algar 6, Beard 3, Owen 3, Vanstone 3, Copp 1, Cullis, Green, Hawkins, Robertson, Gilson 3.
Exhibition game:
LOBA (49)—Gillen 8, Stewart 15, Dunk 6, Owens 2, Jackson, McInroy 2, McIlhaga 6, Byers 6, Poast 4.
Nurses (12)—Jaquith 10, Hannan, Stackhouse, Whiteside, Flavelle 2.

P. Peel Hits 877 Trio

Patricia Peel rolled a neat threesome of 877 this week in the CYO Bowling League at the Knights of Columbus alleys. Her total included a high single of 344 and another nifty 341 to go with 192. Gene Killen hit 292-227-189 for a trio of 708.

Spades won eight points over Diamonds with 2977 to 2946, and Hearts took eight with 2916 over Kings, with 2738. Six points went to Aces over Clubs on 2755 to 2535, while Jacks' 2478 gave them four points over Queens, who had 2430.

STEADY TOILERS FOR "JOLLY JACK'S" FLIGHTY WINGS—Among the Detroit Red Wings' line-up of stars are Gordie Howe, left and Leo Reise. The latter is a rugged defenceman, while Gordie is the Wings' big offensive gun. The Red Wings continue to dominate the N.H.L. standing although the Toronto Maple Leafs are trying to close the gap.

SPORTS SHOW WINDOW

By CEC. PERDUE, Sports Editor

A darktown strutter by the name of Bobo Brazil will exchange head butts with judo slashes in the main mat bout with Lord Athol Lawton at the Brock Arena next Tuesday night. Lst pro grapple card here for several weeks as the wrestlers head home across the continent for Christmas holidays. The popular and colorful Bobo will have a big following when he goes against the huge and wily Layton, master of the jugular slash. Both have plenty of ring savvy and they play it wide-open. Semi-final pits Pat Flanagan against towering Hi Lee, while the prelim sees Chief Suni War Cloud in against rough Stan Mayslack. "We'll leave fans a real Christmas card with this show," Promoter Frank Tunney said in announcing the opponents.

A bit out of season, maybe, to mention lacrosse — and when is the Petes' party?—but an item from St. Catharines announces the re-organization of the senior Athletics. Col. George Begy is prexy, and other officers include: Bill Fitzgerald, Ted Graves and Dait Disher. Also an 11-man board of directors. Disher is the important gee, being secretary-treasurer, and senior lacrosse players having as itchy a palm as other senior athletes. No coach announced there as yet. The item concludes: "It was rumored that the winter brand was due for a revival over the border but several proposed clubs have had financial difficulties and it is doubtful if the teams will play."

Ducks Coming Down?

Always on the prowl for a good clipping, we also note this St. Kitts' piece on puck refs: "The crowning insult to the Ancient Order of Hockey Referees arose on the Pacific Coast in a pro game played in staid old Victoria. Anyone who has visited Victoria, described as a little bit of England transplanted some 5,000 miles, will know it takes much effort to arouse the populace there. But a CP wire reports that a referee in Victoria at a game was struck squarely on the head by a dead duck thrown from the bleachers. Question is what was a fan doing with a dead duck in a hockey game?" Dunno, maybe, it's a wonder the ref wasn't a dead duck, unless the missile was unfrozen—as many claim referees have soft heads.

Kingston Sacks—well, it's S.A.C., for Social and Athletic Club—tackle the Petes here Monday night. An 8.30 OHA senior "B" fixture in Civic Arena. Nylons won't lend their name this semester to the club owing to some embarrassment caused by suspensions, so the Kingstons use a saucer of alphabet soup as a designation. But they're not weak, by any means. A potent pack of fast-steppers and hard-hitters, they've surprised all by staying up in the race for first place since the schedule opened. And are showing signs of improvement right along. Yeah, the Petes will find 'em a tough dish in the Monday eve melee—one rating a hefty crowd.

Along The OHA Front

Reports of the three OHA games concerning local teams should be in elsewhere, but this column was written a trifle in advance—as The Examiner's annual party was staged Friday night. Eagles were at Belleville, Petes at Kingston in senior "B" action, and Lindsay played our junior "B" Oddfellows here. Besides Monday's senior tilt, Kingston at Petes, there are two senior frays away on Wednesday next. Petes trek to Bella Villa, and Eagles journey to Kingston. Last games then till the day after Christmas. The junior joust here next Wednesday sees Kingston Vics going against our IOOF-ers. That winds them up at home, until Santa Claus has made his rounds.

OHA and CAHA have fallen in line and dismissed the new icing-the-puck rule. They've gone back to the old system of icing, same as in the NHL, minor pro circuits, Maritimes and Quebec loops. Too many whistles and stoppages of play. Fans want sustained puck action today and hockey moguls are fully aware of the fact that the fans pay the freight. So, henceforth, it will only be called icing when an attacking team deliberately shoots the puck over defending team's goal-line from the attackers' side of the centre red line. In other words, an attacker crosses the centre line and can shoot the disc ahead to the enemy end of the rink, and it won't be called back for icing.

Lindsay Wins Over Oddfellows At Civic Arena

Oddfellows' first Father and Son night of the 1951-52 season proved a big success Friday night at Civic Arena as a good sized crowd of rabid junior hockey fans young and old, witnessed a dogged duel between Red Mitchell's Lindsay Kinsmen and Johnny Godfrey's battling Oddfellows—a thriller from start to finish.

Lindsay won the game 6-3 but only after a terrific two-way struggle all the way. A strong third period drive by the big visiting squad proved decisive after the teams had fought it out on fairly even terms for two frames, and this despite the fact that harsh rulings by referee Calhoun depleted the attacking strength of Oddfellows a good portion of the first two frames.

Two majors and three minors, one major coming in the second for a player allegedly clipping McGuire, proved a handicap to the fast travelling Links, who nevertheless lacked nothing in fighting spirit to make it a dog-fight to the wire.

First Blood

Oddfellows opened the scoring at 6:45 in the first period when Bill Stewart, who worked well with Kenny Floyd and Dick McCracken, fired a bullet drive just inside the blue line to the left side on a lightning rush. Kinsmen equalized late in the chapter when Norm Dysart combined with Doug Powell to flick one in near the left crease, on a fast scramble. It was nip and tuck both ways in a torrid frame. Oddfellows enjoyed a fair edge in play in the first 20 minutes. In spite of a manpower shortage when Armstrong and Kimball served, the former a major for drawing blood from Powell's lamp. Schinkel and Powell also sat out minors in the hot first frame.

Showed Edge

Action aplenty featured the second period as both teams gave it everything to thrill the enthusiastic crowd and Links showed an edge in power to swarm around McGuire in the early stages. Paul proved equal to the occasion as did Red Wasson in the home cage, stopping labelled rubber from all angles. Midway in the frame, Twist accidentally clipped McGuire to draw a major and the teams rested till the custodian returned. Shortly thereafter, Calhoun chased McCracken and Armstrong for slashing and Gord Deeth fired the only tally of the period with the two-man advantage at 15:10 on a close in drive.

Oddfellows played magnificent hockey while short with Army Armstrong a standout defensively and Red Robinson, Bill Twist, Ab Buckton, Bill Stewart and all their mates buckling in hard for a win in a great showing, one of the finest to date.

Kinsmen attacked with gusto and telling effect in the withering final frame with Doug Powell and Ken Schenkel leading the offensive. Despite Oddfellows' stubborn defensive, Bruce Hall, Walter Shewington and Schenkel each dented the mesh by the three-quarter mark before Links could fool McGuire.

The Godfrey crew came back strong however, to again threaten when Ken Floyd and Red Robinson found the target on smart plays with their mates to put Oddfellows on the upgrade; but they were unable to quite follow up their advantage sufficiently to turn the tide. Lindsay added a single extra tally by Powell with a few seconds to go to end a crowd-pleasing tilt.

Lindsay—Goal, McGuire; defence, Lucas, Shervington; centre, Powell; wings, Schenkel, Dysart; alts., Deeth, Copeland, Hall, Cameron, G. Vasey, Smith, Packer, Marshall, Traux (spare goalie).
IOOF—Goal, Wasson; defence, Armstrong, Clapper; centre, Robinson; wings, Ferguson, Buckton; alts., Stewart, Kimball, Bigford, Floyd, McCracken, Coyle, Twist, Heffernan.
Referee—D. Calhoun; linesman, Bun Kingdon.

Belleville Outplays Eagles Throughout Speedy Game For 7-3 Win Before 892

BELLEVILLE, Dec. 15.—Having an edge in play in all three periods, the Belleville Hawks swept through to a 7-3 victory over the Peterborough Eagles in a senior "B" game here last night before 892 fans. One of the best games played here this season, the pastime developed into a hard-checking battle with the Hawks grabbing the verdict with their fast two-way skating and at times had the Eagles checked almost to a standstill. It was a clean hard-fought hockey all the way through with Referee Bill Reason of Kingston handing out eleven penalties, one a misconduct to Doug Mortimer with the clock lacking three seconds of game time.

The only rhubarb of the game came at that time when Mortimer and Wardhaugh started a pushing match with the Eagle drawing a minor and the misconduct.

Wardhaugh drew a minor. The feud continued after the whistle blew game end and players and fans milled around the dressing room entrance in what might have developed into a free-for-all. The Hawks drew four of the total sentences.

Out Front Once

The Eagles led but once during the game when they scored the first goal after six minutes of play in the first period. Hawks tied it up ten minutes later and took the lead early in the second heat. Eagles roared back a minute later to tie it up and then the Hawks took over. They scored three goals to the Eagles one to take a 5-3 period lead. They rapped home two goals in the first two minutes of the third period and that ended the scoring.

Both rival goalies Nicholls and Lefort stood out with fine performances as the game developed into one of the fastest seen here this season. Rink-length rushes and narrow goal escapes had the fans in an uproar although Nicholls had more work to do than the Hawks' goalie.

Greenlaw Scores

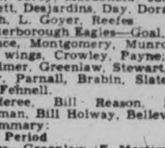
It was nip and tuck hockey until six minutes of the first period when Greenlaw scored the first goal assisted by Fred Mortimer and Reg. Stewart. Two minutes later Vern Goyer broke into the clear with only Nicholls to beat. Keith Montgomery dumped him with a sliding trip and he got the gate. That player drew his second penalty with Goyer for roughing and the Hawks surged in with Bastedo bashing home a rebound to tie the score.

Hawks grabbed the lead on the first play of the second period with Vern Goyer banging home Semarks' pass. Eagles raced back with Bill Crowley leading the attack and scoring on assists from Bert Hill and Gord Fennell. The game flashed at top speed and Barrett combined with Bastedo to put the Hawks one up. Crowley drew a penalty and he had no sooner got back than Greenlaw got the gate. Doran gave the Hawks a two-goal lead when he golfed an ankle-high shot behind Nicholls. Payne cut the margin to 4-3 with four minutes to go on a ganging attack with Bob Parnell and George Brabin but the Hawks got that one back seconds later on Wardhaugh's pretty goal unassisted.

MacDonald duplicated Goyer's second period goal in the opening seconds of the third period taking the big Hawks' centre's pass to score at 32 seconds. Goyer fashioned the insurance marker seconds later combining with Carey for the Hawks seventh counter and the final score.

Hawks did not let up and had the better of the play in what was a fast and furious period. Mortimer and Doran drew the only sentences of the heat until the dying seconds of the game when the Eagles and Wardhaugh tangled.

Goyer, Wardhaugh, Doran, MacDonald and Jones looked the best for the Hawks with Bastedo and Lefort coming through with fine performances. Goyer got two goals and an assist with Barrett, Doran, MacDonald, Bastedo with an assist, and Wardhaugh getting the rest.



Summary:
Belleville—Goal, Lefort; defence, Bastedo, Semark; centre, V. Goyer; wings, Carey, Macdonald; subs, Jones, Barrett, Desjardins, Day, Doran, Wardhaugh, L. Goyer, Reefes.
Peterborough Eagles—Goal, Nicholls; defence, Montgomery, Munro; centre, Hill; wings, Crowley, Payne; subs, F. Mortimer, Greenlaw, Stewart, D. Mortimer, Parnall, Brabin, Slater, Wootton, Fennell.

New York Rangers Take On 2 Top Teams At Weekend

By The Canadian Press

The unpredictable New York Rangers, currently showing signs of stir in their last-place deadlock with Chicago Black Hawks, take on the National Hockey League's two top teams over the weekend. Hardly boasting over only eight wins in 26 outings, even though two of them have been in the last three games, the Broadway b's roll into Toronto tonight to do battle with the second-place Maple Leafs. Sunday night they entertain the league-leading Detroit Red Wings back in New York.

A week ago, the men from Manhattan were about as unconvincing a club as any in the six-team league. Then their coach, Neil Colville, announced his retirement and Bill Cook, one of the greatest forwards in NHL history took over.

Cook's return to the blues last Sunday did something. His club came through with a 7-2 win over Toronto. Tuesday night they bowed 4-2 in Boston, but Wednesday trounced Bruins 6-3 back in New York. They roll into the weekend's play a determined bunch.

One of the most notable facts of the Ranger uprising has been Gaye Stewart's surge. Scoreless in 24 games, he was shifted from Paul Ronty's line over to Don Raleigh's threesome. In four games he has popped in no less than six goals.

Raleigh Scoring

Raleigh too has been scoring. The Blue's top point getter, the lightweight centre has picked up eight points in three games. He now is tied for third place in the NHL point parade.

The Toronto Maple Leafs, playing host to the New Yorkers tonight and making the long trip to Chicago Sunday, are hard hit by injuries.

Howie Meeker will be missing with his injured knee while Bill Juzda is recovering from an operation on his foot. Yesterday Joe Klukay slammed into a goal post during practice and hurt a knee. It is doubtful whether he will start tonight.

Leafs are using Tim Horton, called up from Pittsburgh, to fill in along the blue line and will have Danny Lewicki up forward. However the fast-skating winger is still moving slowly with an injured knee.

Montreal Canadiens, holding down fourth place by only one point over New York and Chicago entertain Boston Bruins tonight and skate into Beantown for a return engagement Sunday. Tonight's other game will see Chicago playing at Detroit.

Religion, War And Conquest

This Sunday many Sunday schools will study the story of the Israelites' conquest of their former homeland, as they came out victoriously from the wilderness in their long journey from Egypt.

The story is in the Book of Joshua and contains a passage the probably many of us have never noticed in our concentration upon the nobler aspects of Joshua's courage, effective leadership, and devotion to his task (Joshua 1:6, 7).

This passage is in Chapter 6, in the account of the capture of Jericho. Telling of the capture of that city by the Israelites, verse 21 says: "And they utterly destroyed all that was in the city, both man and woman, young and old, and ox, and sheep, and ass, with the edge of the sword."

That is a statement that cannot be passed over lightly, or without a great deal of thought. To visualize the scene must surely be to feel a deep revulsion against the bloody slaughter, the strange destruction of unoffending animals, and especially the killing of all, "both man and woman, young and old."

It must be seen against the background of war, carnage and massacre, down through the ages, as well as against the foreground of the terrible slaughter of our own times.

The whole panorama of cruelty and massacre is sad to contemplate, and all the sadder is the fact that in that ancient day, and so often in later times, such slaughter has been carried out under the professed authority of God and the sanction of religion.

Against the gory scene of an Israel destroying its enemies is the nobler conception of the later Hebrew saints and prophets of Israel through whom all the nations of the world were to be blest—a prophecy that in notable measure has come true. (See Isaiah 62, Psalm 67).

Further, there is the New Testament teaching of love to one's enemies, a fulfillment, as Jesus said, of the noblest teaching of the saints and prophets who had prepared the way.

There is much in all this of cause for reflection. It is only in our own times that any vital protest has arisen against the doctrine and practice that might makes right, and of right by conquest.

In the long history of mankind conquest has established sovereignty, regardless of any question of right, or aggression. Within this century, two world wars have been based upon the false notion of right by conquest.

Now, at last, the United Nations organization has repudiated that doctrine and is seeking to recognize aggression for its inherent wrongfulness, and to deny sovereignty to the aggressor.

The issue of Israel's conquest of Canaan lies far in the past, but the issue of conquest and destruction of enemies is a vital issue, perhaps the most vital of all issues today.

PETERBOROUGH EXAMINER

VOL. CIII. No. 140 — SATURDAY, DECEMBER 15, 1951

MAIN STREET TOPICS

NURSING VISITS

Nurses of the Department of Health made 496 visits to homes in November. There were 736 visits to individuals, 151 new homes visited and 247 individuals visited for the first time.

COMMUNICABLE DISEASE

A minor epidemic of chicken pox in Peterborough was reported today by Dr. R. A. Kelly, MOH. There were 253 cases during November. He also reported three cases of German measles, six cases of mumps and one case of measles.

PICTURES OF PETERBOROUGH

Two municipal journals have featured Peterborough on their recent outside covers, Ald. A. B. Burrows mentioned at the Council meeting this week. One was the City Hall by floodlight, reproduced from the photograph taken by C. G. (Nick) Nichels of the Examiner. The other was Peterborough's new civic crest on the cover of Civic Administration magazine.

STRAUSS PACKED HOUSE

The Johann Strauss "Die Fledermaus" packed the Centre Theatre Thursday night ,and there was a big house in the afternoon. A main streeter remarked this morning that the Rome Opera orchestra was alone worth the money. He said a balcony full of fiddles was something to remember. Harry Yudin, Centre impressario of these occasional departures into grand opera, said he would have liked more music with the libretto. However, he has an opera booked for early January. It is Donizetti's "Elsir d'Amore".

COUNTY APPOINTEES

Four county high school trustess were appointed by council Friday. John Kitney replaces Fred Agnew on the Peterborough Board of Education and Mr. Kitney remains as the county appointee on the Peterboro-Suburban High School Board. Ernest McDonald, Asphodel, replaces E. F. Leeson on the Norwood-Havelock District Board (Mr. Leeson was acclaimed reeve of Havelock for 1952 and will be a member of county council). Eric Pearson, Smith township, was returned as the appointee on the Lakefield District High School Board.

APPROVE FOX BOUNTIES

Combining utility with pleasure, county councillors Friday voted to once again give a $3 bounty for each fox killed in Peterborough county. The dates are Dec. 1 to February 28. The fox pelts must be cleaned and dried and brought into the office of the county clerk and treasurer on Thursday only. Reeve James Humphrey, Asphodel township, said foxes were still thick in his part of the county. And Reeves Dick Stewart, Otonabee, and Charles Flynn, Harvey, both said they recently had chickens killed by foxes.

CARDS, CARDS AND MORE CARDS will be flowing through the post office carrying Christmas greetings as the annual rush begins. Thursday and Friday were busy days for the workers but the peak is expected Monday. Parcels also are flowing in as Elmer Brown (left, top photo) and Jack Campbell (right) will agree as they sort the overseas mail. Parcels are also being sent out of Peterborough as Jack Harvey (bottom photo) will agree, as he weighs gift boxes.—(Examiner Staff Photos).

Fund Started For Painting Of H. R. H. Kenner

Ex-students and friends of the late Dr. H. R. H. Kenner are joining with members of the board of education to raise a fund for an oil painting of Dr. Kenner. It will hang in the new Kenner Collegiate, Monaghan Rd.

C. S. Browne, principal of PCVS, suggested that this would be a fitting tribute. Members of the board of education agreed and the nucleus of a committee to start the campaign has been formed.

Already on the committee are Dr. Ralph Honey, chairman of the board, Mr. Browne, Stanley Adamson and Mrs. Rowell. Dr. Honey was given power to add and representatives of other interested groups will be added.

It has been suggested that a noted Canadian painter do the portrait.

Tentative plans call for it to be ready when the Kenner collegiate is officially opened in the fall of 1952.

Mercury Sliding Time To Cover Up

If you have been wondering when to put on your long woollies, now is the time.

Friday night's temperature dip to seven degrees above zero was nothing. Tonight it's going to skid down to 10 degrees below zero and it won't climb beyond 10 degrees above during Sunday.

And you can be sure that is the best you can expect.

Instead of the five inches of snow forecast for Friday night, only two and a quarter inches fell. But high winds whipped it about and threw it in drifts that had motorists worried. This morning the winter world wasn't as bad as most people feared.

If you are looking for consolation to ease the shock of Sunday's freeze, you might find it at Killaloe. It will be 20 degrees below zero up there.

CHILD HEALTH CLINIC

During November, 17 child health clinics were held by the Department of Health with a total attendance of 445. In October there were 17 clinics with an attendance of 346.

Flood Of Christmas Mail Begins, May Reach 1 Million

More than 1,000,000 Christmas cards and letters are expected to flow through the Peterborough post office between now and next Saturday in spite of the increase in postage rates, Harry White, postmaster, said today. During the past three years the Christmas rush has increased by about 120,000 cards and letters. Last year in the 12-day period before Christmas the load was 974,300 as compared with 833,100 in 1949 during the same period.

In the wee hours of Friday morning the rush began in earnest as the cards began to pour through, equalling the flow of Dec. 13 last year, a good indication that the 1,000,000-mark might be reached this year.

Rush Begins

Mr. White expects the heavy flow to begin today on cards and letters with a peak probably reached Monday. This reasoning is based on last year's figures when the peak of 158,000 was reached on December 16, three days earlier than 1949's peak of 167,000.

When the rush really begins, the office is ready to handle it. On the second floor the city delivery will be sorted, on the first floor the out-going mail and the rural carriers' mail in the basement.

Extra help will be added to the regular staff, already four men have been helping sort out the cards, letters and parcels. As the rush becomes heavier, more men, probably more than 100 will be taken on. These men will help the letter carriers, sorters and parcel post workers.

Parcels for the Peterborough district delivery began to increase Thursday when the overseas mail arrived for the first time in any quantity. These included a number of parcels from England, Scotland and Holland. There were also a few from Denmark.

The out-going parcels this year will be handled at the post office while the armouries will again be used for the city delivery as in previous years. They have started already to use the old gun room to sort the parcels.

HELPING HAND

A near catastrophe was averted when a kind-hearted bus driver set things straight for two brothers about four and six years old who became lost in the confusion of buses. The youngsters had climbed aboard a Nicholls Park bus instead of a Jackson Park bus. When they saw themselves being trundled off in the wrong direction, they hurried up to the driver and with tears rolling down their faces, told their plight. The driver stopped at the next corner and pointed to the corner where they could catch the right bus. He let them out and they stood beside the bus and burst into tears. The driver jumped out and calmed their fears as he led them over to the right corner. A short distance up the street the driver stopped an approaching bus and shouted across the street to the other bus driver that there were two unhappy passengers waiting for him.

Businessmen Vote To Keep Price Fixing

The Peterborough Chamber of Commerce is voting "Yes" for the retention of resale price maintenance in Canada.

A ballot is in the mail to the Canadian Chamber of Commerce from the city's chamber marked yes to the following question—

"Does the Peterborough Chamber of Commerce favor the practice of resale price maintenance?"

The Peterborough chamber reached this pro vote following the counting of ballots sent in by members. The vote was 103 to 43 for the retention of this practice in Canadian economy.

Ballots marked pro or con will be sent to the Canadian chamber from the 700 boards of trade and chambers of commerce in Canada. The results of their tabulation will be presented to a special committee set up in Ottawa to study this question.

The sudden interest in resale price maintenance arose when legislation was proposed abolishing the practice.

Turkeys To Cost 75c Per Pound

Butcher shops and counters were hesitant today to quote turkey, geese, and duck prices for the Christmas holiday, some explaining that "no one's talked turkey yet".

But in across-the-counter whispers it appears that if there's to be a roasted, golden-brown turkey at Christmas, the customers will be paying at least as much as last year.

The high price this year is likely to be about 75 cents a pound for choice birds. But the average price is likely to settle at 69 cents for hens, weighing between 10 and 18 pounds, and 59 cents for the big birds, weighing over the 18-pound mark.

Turkeys this year are plentiful and most stores are stocked up or are stocking up from Peterborough district ranches. In fact one George St. store has already stored 600 birds for the Christmas and New Year's dinners.

The prices in three stores all varied. The high was 75 cents for grade A hen turkeys, the medium price, 73 cents a pound for hens and 63 cents for the large birds, and the low price of 69 cents for hens and 59 cents for large birds.

Geese this year are reported more plentiful and will be selling for much the same prices as last season. Prices were quoted at 59 cents and 65 cents in one store and 63 cents and 65 cents in another.

The price for geese usually varies with the price for heavy turkeys.

Ducks will not be too plentiful and will sell for prices varying in from 55 cents a pound to 59 cents.

City Buying To Hit Record For Christmas

Only One Exception To Bright Picture For Local Stores

According to several store managers Christmas sales in Peterborough are heading for an all time high.

With seven more shopping days still to go, heads of hardware, jewellery, mens' and ladies' wear and department stores all expressed confidence that volume sales this year would surpass the 1950 total.

There was only one exception to this generally optimistic outlook. The manager of a furniture store who has been in business in the city for nearly 40 years, described this year's buying as "anything but good".

He blames this situation primarily on layoffs in local industries. Fear of unemployment is contagious, he said. Those who are unemployed do not have the money to spend, while many others in the community who see their friends out of work curb their spending as well for fear they may be next.

Generally, the type of merchandise being purchased this year varies somewhat from a year ago.

Less Expensive

One manager put it this way. Last year, a customer might buy several articles, one costing, $25, another $15 and two smaller articles for say $6 and $2.

This year, the same person will be buying as many articles but they will be lower priced articles.

However, this man pointed out that so far toy department sales in his store are 50 per cent above last year.

Higher priced articles are not moving he said but people are buying more smaller articles. Expensive linen sets and fancy bed spreads are not selling but scarves, gloves and accessories are going better than ever.

Another man explained that his sales had been up for the last three months as compared with the same period last year. Appliances are not moving he said but other lines are more popular than ever. He said he believed the jump in sales was largely due to his having mailed 15,000 catalogues to householders in the district early in the fall.

Electric trains, tricycles and higher priced children's toys are not in very great demand but games, and smaller toys are selling better than last year he said.

Price Conscious

Asked for an opinion on the reason for the drop in appliance sales such as mixers, irons, toasters and so on, he said he did not blame credit restrictions and high prices as much as the fact that consumers are over price conscious.

If I marked down those items he said, (pointing to a shelf of electrical appliances) to the prices I was selling them for two or three years ago, they still wouldn't sell and well as they did then.

He said he believed the main reason for this is that people are taking the attitude that everything is priced too high and they simply try and get along without buying them.

One exception to the general trend was the proprietor of a jewellery store who stated he was selling $15 and $20 items this year where other years, the demand had been more for lower priced articles. He said that this might be due to a difference in prices in other stores since he explained he was passing on the savings of bulk purchasing to his customers.

So far, the flow of shoppers through downtown stores has been fairly steady during the last four days of the week, Monday and Tuesday being fairly light.

The inevitable last minute rush of day-before-Christmas gift buyers is expected to be about the same as usual.

Naturally, the individual sales are for smaller amounts but they explain, the overall result will be a total sales volume that will exceed that of last year.

Hard Aport

Drink, a stupid horse or swirling snow and darkness may have been to blame. But in any case something went wrong in Confederation Square in front of the city hall. The sidewalk snow plow followed the wrong course from the northeast corner toward the statue in the centre. A path was plowthrough the snow on the grass parallel to the cement walk but about 15 feet west of it. The other paths appeared to be in place.

Clinic Caretaker Surprises Thieves At Work

Thieves, believed to be looking for narcotics, were foiled Friday night when they were surprised in the Peterborough Clinic by the caretaker.

In their haste to escape they dropped a cardboard box containing several boxes and bottles of pills. None of the narcotics — all locked in a safe — was taken.

An inventory, taken by a member of the Clinic staff, revealed that nothing was stolen.

Saw Two Running

Alfred Hempstead, caretaker, decided on a final checkup about 11:30 pm. Apparently the thieves saw him first because the first indication he had that anything was wrong was when he saw two men running from the dispensary.

He caught only a glimpse of them and was unable to furnish police with a good description.

Entry was made by removing a rough outer door on the east side of the building, where an addition is going up, and forcing an inside door. Once inside, they found jimmy bars left by a working crew and, using the bars, they forced the door of the dispensary and pillaged the narcotics cupboard.

As the narcotics were all locked in a safe all they got was some packages and bottles of pills. And they dropped these in their haste to escape.

Man Found Hanged In Bowmanville Jail

BOWMANVILLE, Dec. 15—The body of a Trenton man, 63-year-old Frank Oliver, was found last Friday hanging by the neck in his cell in Bowmanville jail.

Oliver had used his tie, looping it around his neck and over an overhead pipe. He had been dead for several hours.

Arrested December 6, Oliver had disappeared from home October 20. He was being held at Bowmanville awaiting return to Trenton to answer certain charges.

Renew Talk On Building Of Causeway

County Council Shows New Interest In Crossing At Gannons

Chances of getting approval for the building of a causeway at Gannon's Narrows seem better now than a year ago at this time.

For the last few months county council had let the matter drop after being told that a shortage of construction steel was a major obstacle. That situation is now partially relieved.

Another bright spot is the indication from the Department of Transport that a bridge or swing span could be installed as soon as the causeway is completed. Earlier in the year the Department of Transport did not include the cost of the span in its estimates.

The Department of Highways and Public Works in Toronto had turned down a suggestion that a temporary timber structure be built out to the swing span. This rejected plan proposed that some time after the temporary structure was put up the causeway could be completed.

Get Consideration

Departmental engineers decided that no move could be made unless work on the causeway and swing span went ahead at the same time. Doing the work by instalments would prove costly.

"I know the Toronto authorities have the project in mind," Ewart Marston, district engineeer, told council at the closing session. "They will give it careful consideration if they are assured the swing span will be installed at the same time as the fill is dumped."

At the Good Roads convention it was announced that 30 per cent more steel will be available this year. And this revived discussion of the Gannon's Narrows causeway.

Before adjourning Friday noon, county council once again went on record as favoring the construction of a causeway. A committee was appointed to go into the matter again and draw up preliminary plans so a start can be made on the project.

Members of the committee are Reeves Charles Flynn, Harvey township; James Gifford, Ennismore township; and Dick Stewart, Otonabee township.

Picture For Your Child Saint Nicholas Who Lived

By NANCY CLEAVER

"Jolly old Saint Nicholas,
Lean your ear this way!
Don't you tell a single soul
What I'm going to say;—
Christmas Eve is coming soon,
Now, you dear old man,
Whisper what you'll bring to me,
Tell me if you can!

Christmas wouldn't be Christmas in many homes without songs about Saint Nicholas or the immortal poem "Twas the Night before Christmas" by Clement Clarke Moore. Small children look forward eagerly to hanging up their stockings on Christmas Eve—and finding them chuck full Christmas morning.

Saint Nicholas Story

When Junior asks "Tell me about Santa Claus!" mother may be glad to know something aabout the legendary figure Saint Nicholas and the origin of the Santa Claus story.

Saint Nicholas was born in Asia Minor late in the third century. His parents were wealthy and he was left quite a fortune. He was very generous and loved to give little gifts to needy folk.

But he didn't give in order to be thanked, and so he tried to give his presents without anyone knowing who sent them. Often when it was dark, he would slip quietly into a poor home and leave a little surprise on the hearth.

One story about Saint Nicholas tells how he helped a poor nobleman who had lost both his wife and his fortune. This man had three daughters and he was worried about their finding husbands because he had no money to give them for a marriage dowry—in those days a girl without a dowry to set up housekeeping was just out of luck!

On three different nights, Saint Nicholas tossed a little bag of gold through the open window into the nobleman's living room. On the second occasion the nobleman hurried out to see who was his benefactor. Saint Nicholas was swifter than the nobleman and made his escape. But the third time the nobleman was so quick that he ran and grasped the cloak of Saint Nicholas, "Kind Servant of God, why hide thy good deeds thus?" he cried. Then Nicholas, like many another quiet Christian, answered that he did not want anyone to know of his liberality.

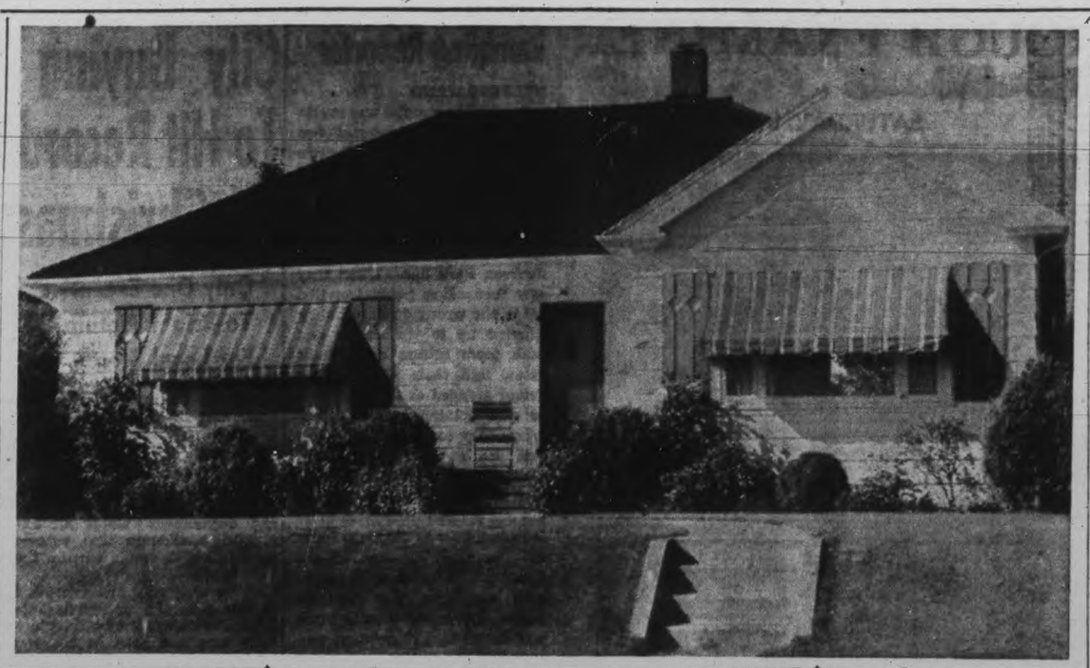
Well To Remember

In this twentieth century, when everyone seems to want credit for charity, (and income tax receipts for gifts!)it is well to remember Saint Nicholas. We know him as "The Children's Saint" because so often his presents were for little folk. But he was also called the patron saint of sailors and travellers. He became the Archbishop of a seaport town, Myrna. The date of his death was in the Christmas month, December 6, 326 A. D.

Parents are sometimes alarmed when they hear Santa Claus being condemned as "telling a child a pack of lies." They are on safe ground when they picture for their child the Saint Nicholas, who really lived.

Children are imaginative and they love poetry and rythms. In "The Night before Christmas", Santa is called "a jolly old elf." Never claim that he is a flesh and blood person.

In a large city, the number of Santa Claus figures in different stores is confusing to a child. Explain that these merry gentlemen are just "playing Santa". Do let your child "play Santa" with an old pillow case full of toys — or better still, plan with your child to give a gift to a needy family like the Saint Nicholas of long ago.



Has Place In Affections Of Young

Some modern educators are trying to pour scorn on Santa and other folk condemn him as pagan. But he keeps his place in the affections of the younger generations.

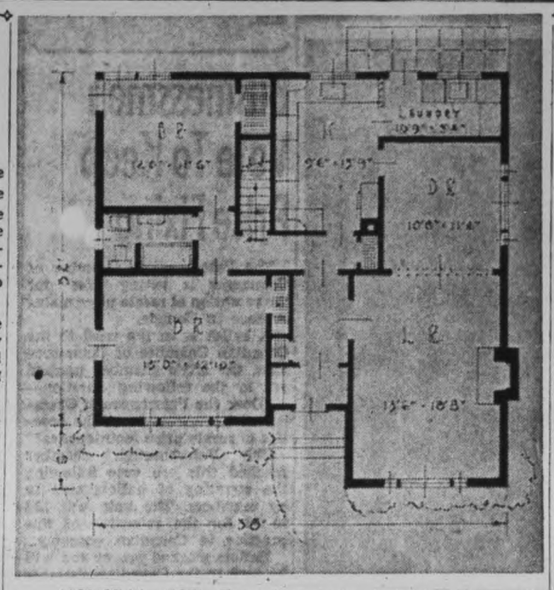
Surely there is room in this last month of the year for both Saint Nicholas and the Baby Jesus. The legend of this old saint need take nothing away from the true meaning of Christmas as the Birthday of Jesus.

Our children should be taught when they are quite young that although Santa Claus is part of the fun of Christmas eve and morning, the real significance of December 25th, lies in the story of the coming of the Christ Child to earth. In His Son, God revealed his love for all mankind. In Christiana G. Rosetti's beautiful words:

Love came down at Christmas,
Love all lovely, Love Divine,
Love was born at Christmas,
Stars and angels gave the sign."

Howe Proposes Farmers' Loan

OTTAWA, Dec. 15 (CP)—Trade Minister Howe proposed in the Commons Friday night that the federal government underwrite special loans to prairie grain farmers, granting a 25-per-cent guarantee on loans to be limited to $1,000 to any one farmer.



The government's guarantee will cover any loans made by banks to farmers with grain still on their farms and fields during the current crop year.

It is a move designed to aid those farmers who have been hit financially, by the transportation and storage crisis which hampered movement of western grain to market, and also those whose harvesting has been delayed by bad weather.

Mr. Howe's statement on the government's guarantee was made in introducing a resolution to set aside $5,000,000 to cover any losses by the government which may result from the guarantees to the banks.

"Uhder the plan which the government is proposing," said Mr. Howe, "the banks will operate under an arrangement similar to the Farm Improvement Loans Act.

"That is, they will make loans on their own account to farmers and the government will stand prepared to meet losses up to 25 per cent of the loans made."

HOUSE No. 527—Everything to be desired in the small cottage-style home is offered in this design, which contains less than 25,000 cubic feet. Its simple lines insure reasonable construction cost. The five rooms are all more than average size, and the kitchen, with its adjacent laundry is something to behold! Here is a housewife's dream come true. Notice the amazing amount of cupboard space—and don't miss that desk just inside the door from the front hall. Open planning has taken away any feeling of "boxiness." Huge windows — and there are plenty of them — are additional features of this plan. For working drawings, write Home Building in Canada, 372 Bay St., Toronto.

Norwood Auxiliary Holds Candle Service

NORWOOD, Dec. 15—(ENS)—The carol and candlelighting service of the Evening Auxiliary of the United Church WMS was held Wednesday evening at the home of Mrs. Gerald Baker.

The president, Miss Pauline Weir, opened the meeting with a reading entitled "The Message of Bethlehem," followed by singing "O Little Town of Bethlehem." A silent prayer for missionaries was held.

Following the secretaries' reports, the nominating committee gave a report on the 1951 executive which was returned to office for 1952 with the exception of the Community Friendship secretary, who will be replaced by Mrs. Gerald Baker.

Miss Lila Kirk opened the worship service with a scripture reading, and the carol "Angels from the Realms of Glory" was sung. Miss Kirk led in prayer.

The carol and candlelighting service was directed by the president. The Magnificat from the hymnary was read in unison and then the first candle was lit by Miss Clara Jenkins for the goodwill and friendship of the Jews in Canada. An Indian carol, "'Twas in the Moon of Wintertime," was sung by Mrs. Russell Gardner. The second candle was then lit by Mrs. Earl Hamblin for the goodwill of the Canadian Indians. The carol, "O Come All Ye Faithful" followed, and the third candle was lit by Mrs. Fred Patterson for the goodwill of French Canadians.

"Away in a Manger" was then sung, followed by the lighting of the fourth candle by Mrs. David Hall for those whose ancestors come from Europe, Africa and Asia. A poem, "O Canada," was given by Miss Weir. A carol, "Infant Holy," was then sung, followed by the lighting of the fifth candle by Mrs. W. Roberts for the newcomers to Canada from war devastated lands. A reading on the author of the carol "Gentle Mary Laid Her Child" was given after which the carol was sung. The lighting of the sixth candle, a taller candle, which had a Bible open at St. Luke's Christmas Story , was lit by Mrs. Jack Stewart as the candle of Christian love.

End In Deadlock

LISTOWEL, Ont., Dec. 15 — (CP). — A milk price meeting between the bargaining committee of the Listowel Distributors and the Ontario Whole Milk Producers League ended Friday in a deadlock. Farmers held out for an increase to $4.60 a hundredweight from $4.12½. Distributors said granting the increase would push the retail price of milk to 21 cents a quart from 19 cents. The dairies offered $4.35 a hundredweight, which they said would mean a one-cent increase in the retail price.

Broken Jaw For Pains

TORONTO, Dec. 15 — (CP).—A jeweller who made a grab for a gun held by one of two thugs who held up his suburban Scarboro Township store Friday night suffered a broken jaw for his heroics and lost $40 from the cash register. Joseph H. Bell, 45, was aproached by two men, both about 30. One of the men pushed him and pulled out a revolver. "I grabbed for it," said Bell. "He hit me across the face and that is the last I remember until I came to on the floor."

— NASTER ANSWERS — Bert K. Naster, Hollywood, Fla., businessman, testifies before the House Ways and Means sub-committee investigating tax scandals. He was questioned about an alleged $500,000 shakedown of Chicago lawyer Abraham Teitelbaum.

County Cuts 600 Pine Logs

Cutting of timber in the county forest, north of Norwood, has started again.

Reeve James Humphries, Asphodel township, chairman of reforestation, said 600 pine logs have already been cut, amounting to nearly 35,000 board feet of lumber (log measure).

James Moore, caretaker, and a helper started Monday to cut 200-300 spruce logs and they should be finished soon.

Reeve Humphries said the committee had still not decided whether or not to mill the logs on the county property or sell them in log form.

He also told council that a road has been cut into the heart of the county forest. It is about three quarters of a mile long and has been gravelled.

The road spans a creek and will be useful for getting into the forest should a fire start.

Smugglers' Loot

HARRIMAN, NY, Dec. 15 — (AP). — A truck loaded with 56,500 packs of cigarettes headed for the black market in Canada was seized Friday by New York State Police and tax unit agents. The Tax Department said the seizure was the largest haul ever made in the state. The cigarettes are worth about $11,320 retail value in New York.

Won't Go To Jail

NEW YORK, Dec. 15—(AP).—A young $75-a-week textile salesman accused of lavishing $36,000 in stolen money on a Broadway showgirl who later called him a "creep" will not have to go to jail. "Thank you," sighed Sidney M. Levy, 27, when the judge today suspended an indeterminate sentence on a grand larceny charge on Levy's promise to do his best to make restitution. He placed Levy on probation for 10 years.

Flood Project

FORT FRANCES, Ont—(CP)—Town council is considering construction of a road dike along the Rainy river, to hold back flood waters and protect riverfront property. Financial aid will be sought from the federal and Ontario governments.

Would Like US Steel

TORONTO, Dec. 15—(CP)—Sir William Rootes, British industrialist, Friday suggested that the United States sell Britain 1,000,000 tons of steel a year. This, he said, would be one of the greatest things the US could do to enable Britain to carry her world-role, including that of defence.

How To Value a House By Homeowners' Yardstick

Do you know how much your house is worth? The odds are almost ten to one that you don't. You may be able to come within a few hundred dollars of the price your house will bring on the market, but the chances are that you will miss its actual worth by one or two thousand, according to the experience of real estate appraisers.

In these days of shifting and inflated real estate values, it's not easy for an owner to know just what his place is worth. However, as a result of recent studies into the comparative values of new and old homes, the Minneapolis-Honeywell Regulator Co. Limited has come up with a formula to aid householders in this respect. Here's the new homeowners' appraisal yardstick.

1. Find your home's replacement cost. This can be done by checking with a local contractor to learn the cost of building a new house of the same size and design.

2. Discount the builder's replacement estimate by about 15 per cent. This is done because building material costs may drop that much sometime in the future.

3. Deduct from this a depreciation figure based on a yearly rate of 2 per cent. The rate is higher if your home is obsolete in design and equipment, or the surrounding neighborhood is deteriorating.

4. Add the replacement cost of various improvements which might not ordinarily be included in the average builder's plans. These would include such items as additional landscaping, combination screens and storm windows, automatic clock-type heating controls for both up and down stairs, an electric dishwasher, garbage disposal unit, panelled den, etc.

5. Add the value of the lot. This can be determined by averaging the prices for which similar lots in the neighborhood have sold recently. The total result will be a fairly close appraisal on your home's value. For an even closer estimate, take the following two steps:

Or Figure It This Way ...

6. Ascertain the selling price for homes of the same size and type—and condition—in your area. This means the prices at which these homes have actually sold, not their asking prices. Average these prices and discount the result 15 to 20 per cent.

7. Find the average yearly rent for similar homes in the neighborhood. Multiply this figure by 10—a customary rule-of-thumb formula among real estate men.

Strike an average of the totals arrived at in steps 5, 6 and 7—and you'll come reasonably close to what your house is worth.

Wallpapers for the Small Room

For a small room, have as few breaks as possible. Paint woodwork to match the background color of your wallpaper. Cool colors—blues, grays and greens—add an air of spaciousness to a room. Try wallpapering "flush" doors to make them look in one with the walls.

Stripes used horizontally around a room are likewise effective. Three plain walls with one patterned wall make a room seem larger. Avoid vertical stripes in a small narrow room—they make a room look narrower and taller.

Hold Second Caucus

TORONTO, Dec. 15 (CP)—The eight Liberals elected to the Ontario legislature Nov. 22 Friday held their second caucus since the election. A spokesman said after the meeting that no decision was reached as to who will lead the group, now official opposition. Farquhar Oliver, House leader during the last session, was one of those elected.

Acting Chief "Hod" Pearse To Take Over

COBOURG, Dec. 15 (ENS)—Acting Chief Constable Harold ("Hod") Pearce, will be appointed chief of police when the necessary by-law is brought in next week at the last council meeting of the year.

He is a native of Cobourg and has lived here all his 45 year. He served in the last war with the 3rd/47th Battery. He joined the police force in 1945 and for the past several months has been acting chief of police during the leave of absence of W. J. Carey, who resigned early this week.

The police force consists of the chief and four constables, Homer Seale, Gene Butler, Charles Cunningham and a recent appointee, Tommy Shaw.

Constable Seale, who is a member of the Galloping Ghosts rugby team, served in the navy in the last war, while Constable Butler and Cunningham saw service in the army. Constable Shaw is 23 and the other three constables are in their early thirties.

Hope Cold Will End New Type Of Flu

COBOURG, Dec. 15 (ENS)—Parents with children missing school through a type of flu, are hoping that the cold spell will put a halt to it.

A type of flu is afflicting many youngsters, and adults too, which comes on very suddenly without the usual warning of a cold. The patient has an attack of nausea and for several days after feels listless and depressed.

The cold spell hardened up country roads which during the unseasonable mild weather were boggy as in the spring. Merchants, too, welcome the colder weather hoping it will pep up Christmas buying. However, there are more than 300 without steady employment, while others are without any work at all and the effect is being felt by local storekeepers.

CBC Should Present All Sides-Radio Committee

OTTAWA Dec. 15—(CP)—The radio committee of the Commons recommended today that when a radio broadcast deals with a controversial subject the fullest opportunity be given to listeners to hear all sides.

In its final report to the Commons, the committee reaffirmed acceptance of the principles upon which the policies of the CBC on controversial broadcasting are based.

These principles, approved by previous parliamentary committees, were:

1. The air belongs to the people, who are entitled to hear the principal points of view on all questions of importance.

2. The air must not fall under the control of any individuals or groups influential by reason of their wealth or special position.

3. The right to answer is inherent in the democratic doctrine of free speech.

4. Freedom of speech and the full interchange of opinion are among the principal safeguards of free institutions.

Discuss Series

The report recalled that the 25-man all-party committee had discussed a recent series of broadcasts by a group of psychiatrists, including Dr. Brock Chisholm, Director-General of the World Health Organization, and Bertrand Russell, well-known British author and philosopher.

(John Blackmore (SC—Lethbridge) charged in the Commons Thursday that Dr. Chisholm had advocated birth control in his broadcasts.)

The report said:

"The committee recommends that, where views on any subject are going to be expressed which are known to be controversial, care be taken to ensure that full effect is given to the third principle stated above, that it be carried out in a direct and plain way so that the same listeners have the fullest opportunity to hear all sides."

Cottesloe WMS Chooses Officers

COTTESLOE, Dec. 15 (ENS)—The Christmas meeting of Cottesloe WMS was held at the home of Mrs. Tom Webster, with a large gathering present. Mrs. Howard Harnden was pianist and Mrs. George Barr was program convener.

The Christmas service in the missionary monthly was followed. Mrs. A. Tedford gave the dedicatory prayer for the missionary offering. Mrs. Webster had a missionary Christmas tree beautifully decorated with colored lights, around which each member placed her gift in answer to the roll call, the gifts being sent to the Salvation Army in Peterborough for distribution.

Mrs. George Barr was leader for the candle-lighting service. Miss Helen Tedford read the Christmas story. Mrs. Tom Webster sang "Silent Night" as a solo. Those lighting candles were: Mrs. Howard Patterson, Mrs. Johnson Blakley, Mrs. J. S. Kidd, Mrs. Howard Harnden, Mrs. George Webster and Mrs. Geordie Toms. Verses were read by Mrs. George Barr. A duet was sung by Miss Helen Tedford and Mrs. John Gallaher.

Miss Helen Tedford gave the report of the nominating committee and the following officers were elected for 1952; honorary president, Mrs. William Forsyth; president, Mrs. John Gallaher; vice-president, Miss Helen Tedford; corresponding and recording secretary, Mrs. George Barr; Christian stewardship, Mrs. Johnson Blakley; Christian citizenship secretary, Mrs. Fred Toms; Missionary Monthly secretary, Mrs. J. S. Kidd; Mission Band leaders, Mrs. Harnden and Mrs. Tom Webster; associate member secretary, Mrs. Charles McMillan; press secretary, Miss Helen Tedford; supply secretary, Mrs. Merd Clysdale; pianists, Mrs. Charles McMillan and Mrs. Howard Harnden.

Tugboat Skipper Capt. Gilby Dies

CLEVELAND, Dec. 15 (AP)—Captain George T. Gilby, 78, sometimes referred to as the dean of the Great Lakes tugboat skippers, died in Marine Hospital Friday.

Gilby was leader of two rescue operations on the lakes. In 1913 he took aboard 26 men trapped on two ships in a storm. Another time he took his tug into a 60-mile gale to rescue a workman who had fallen on a crib.

He had been an employee of the Great Lakes Towing Co. here since it was organized in 1899.

Market Prices Cross Experts In Quick Decline

By DICK BAIDEN
Canadian Press Staff Writer

Tradition doesn't mean much on stock markets. Investors grumbled this week as earlier signs of rising prices failed to develop.

The year-end is generally regarded as a strong period and most observers had expected a continued climb this week. Instead, the markets faltered to eliminate most earlier gains.

Canadian professionals noted increased unemployment as an important factor. Layoffs exceeded the usual seasonal percentage, they said. Even the Christmas spirit caught a share of blame as traders claimed many investors were "too busy with Christmas to pay any attention to business."

New York's Wall Street Journal commented: "The Street is worried about reports of softening demand in many industries including department stores, automobiles and some divisions of pharmaceuticals."

General Thinness

Mitigating slowly declining prices was a general market thinness. Activity decreased as prices slipped, while selling pressure was noticeably light.

Toronto opened the week slightly higher as investors attempted to continue the previous week's upswing. Late selling Monday, however, turned back the drive. Montreal papers and industrials based in slow trading.

Prices slipped steadily in Toronto Tuesday and late selling dropped the exchange's industrial index more than two points. All groups weakened in Montreal.

Late support reversed a steadily declining market in Toronto Wednesday and erased most losses. Papers and industrials weakened in Montreal while other groups were steady.

Mild mid-afternoon selling pressure Thursday eased Toronto industrials to their third decline. Activity dwindled to the slowest pace in about two weeks. Papers and industrials steadied in Montreal.

Not Checked

Friday's early rally in Toronto failed to check a downward movement. Industrials closed with a loss of more than a point. Papers and industrials turned lower again in Montreal.

New York opened the week irregularly in quiet trading. Prices drifted narrowly lower Tuesday but steadied Wednesday. Chemicals and airlines were in demand Thursday while selective demand broadened Friday.

From Friday to Friday the Toronto Stock Exchange indices showed industrials down 5.52 at 338.75, golds up .39 at 83.18, base metals down 1.07 at 192.57, and western oils down .34 at 125.81.

In the Montreal averages banks were up .04 at 30.08, utilities up 1.6 at 87.2, industrials down 1.5 at 227.2, combined down .5 at 180.5, papers down 13.07 at 791.30 and golds down .49 at 78.66.

Bandit Escapes

EDMONTON, Dec. 15 (CP)—An armed bandit escaped with $1,400 cash today from a South Edmonton branch of the Bank of Toronto after firing a warning shot between the manager's legs. Ordered into a get-away car at the point of his own revolver, Branch Manager W. H. Sales was forced to drive the bandit three city blocks to another car.

Plan Central Office

TORONTO, Dec. 15 — (CP) — Attorney General Porter today announced the setting up of a central office for the handling of probation cases designed to co-ordinate the probation services of the province. At the same time, he announced the appointment of Daniel W. P. Coughlan as head of the office. Mr. Coughlan, 37, a graduate of Trinity College, served five years in the Royal Canadian Navy and has been engaged in probation work in Guelph and Wellington county since 1946.

BUFFALO SHOOT—The buffalo herd at Elk Island National Park, 25 miles east of Edmonton, is being thinned. Some 625 of the shaggy animals are to be killed. The meat will be sold at butcher stores across Canada. Here is a group of the buffalo marked for slaughter. The herd—1,700 before being thinned out—is the largest controlled buffalo herd in the world.

3-Star General Keeps Eye On Picture

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD, Dec. 15 (AP)—Here's one picture that should be getting expert technical advice—from a three-star general.

He is Lt.-Gen. Robert Eichelberger, veteran of both World Wars and commander of the Eighth Army in the Pacific during the Second World War. The general is in Hollywood to act as technical advisor on "Francis Goes To West Point."

On the movie set, he seemed to be enjoying his duties and was full of admiration for the talented mule. "This is kind of a lark," he smiled, "but the Pentagon wanted to be sure West Point would be portrayed with dignity."

Gen. Eichelberger is well qualified for the post, having been a commander of West Point.

Well I Swear

The party's getting rough. If you listen closely in "Death of a Salesman," you'll hear Kevin McCarthy utter a "dammit." This is the first time the epithet has been heard on the screen since "Gone With the Wind."

The town is talking about MacArthur's performance in the film. Little is known about him. He played the role in London. He is a pal of Marlon Brando and Montgomery Clift, and like them, resisted Hollywood offers until he could write his own ticket. He convincingly plays an 18-year-old in "Salesman" but McCarthy is actually 37 and the father of three children.

Sets World Record

BRANDON, Man., Dec. 15—(CP). — A world's record was claimed Friday night at a poultry show here when a company bid $21 a pound for a 20-pound turkey. The bird, exhibited by J. S. Fraser of Gunton, Man., was declared grand champion of the dressed poultry division. The competition is sponsored by the Manitoba Winter Fair.

War Still On In Korea Canadian Wounded Grow

By BILL BOSS

WITH THE CANADIANS IN KOREA, Dec. 15—(CP)—There's still a war on over here.

Orders may be out governing the nature of ground activity, limiting it to reconnaissance patrols, but that doesn't mean that "all's quiet on the front."

Throughout the day and night there are liberal exchanges of artillery and mortar fire between the Communists and United Nations. Air power now is being used by both participants.

So, if small arms and automatic-weapon fire is rarely heard where the 25th Canadian Infantry Brigade is manning positions it won in September and October, and defended in tremendous battles in November, the devastating effects of artilery and mortar fire still are evident.

At intervals of 10 minutes the other day, a hilltop manned by the 2nd Battalion Royal 22nd Regiment was hit by concentrations of mortar bombs. They came in clusters of four, eight and 12.

Those bombs take their toll.

Lots Of Wounded

Every day ambulances still take wounded down to the dressing stations. Every day mutilated bodies still are collected at the Vandoo "jeephead," wrapped in blankets and prepared for shipment down to Pusan, where they will be buried in the United Nations cemetery.

Every day there is a new story about the dugout, or dugouts, that received direct hits, about the man killed on the spot and his comrade who escaped unhurt.

Every day shelling hits the 1st Battalion, Princess Patricia's Canadian Light Infantry.

And every day similar shelling and mortaring plasters the 2nd Battalion, Royal Canadian Regiment.

Every night Canadians go out on patrol ahead of their defence lines. They are reconnaissance patrols. But they are still patrols, and just as liable to being shot up as are the Chinese probes into the Canadian lines.

The day's communiques might not suggest it, nor the news reports. But every day, until armistice terms finally are agreed upon at Panmunjom, the life of every Canadian manning the Korean front remains in danger.

Accidental Death Ruled In Bus Crash

GILLINGHAM, England, Dec. 15 — (Reuters). — Red-eyed and haggard, bus driver John Samson, who drove full-tilt into the rear of a marching column of cadets killing 24, Friday heard a coroner's jury pronounce a verdict of "accidental death." As the verdict was announced after an inquest packed with tension and drama, Samson broke under the strain, buried his head in his hands and cried.

Life Membership Given In WMS

Annual meeting of St. Paul's WMS was held Friday and opened with a call to prayer by president Mrs. Perks. Discussion arose from minutes read from an executive meeting held previously. Mrs. K. Tedford sang two lovely Christmas carols. Reports from various department secretaries indicated a good year, with interest and givings being well maintained. A life membership certificate was presented to Mrs. W. Hinds, the presentation made by Mrs. T. J. Carley. Devotions were conducted by Mrs. N. Courtney, assisted by Mrs. A. McCuaig, Mrs. Dickson Davidson, Mrs. H. Brockley and Mrs. Weir. Mrs. Perks called on Mrs. H. Eastwood for the report of the nominating committee.

The Rev. C. G. Boyd then conducted a brief, impressive service in which the following were installed in office for 1952: Honorary presidents, Mrs. R. R. Hall, Mrs. James Dutton, Miss Nina Davidson; president, Mrs. Walter Perks; 1st vice president, Mrs. H. Eastwood; 2nd vice president, Mrs. W. C. Steinkrauss; 3rd Vice president, Mrs. J. J. Craig; treasurer, Mrs. W. A. Hinds, assistant treasurer Miss M. A. Lees; Recording secretary, Mrs. T. E. Curvin, assistant Mrs. T. J. Carley; corresponding secretary, Mrs. D. W. Clark; press secretary, Mrs. P. B. MacQueen; supply secretary, Mrs. A. Erskine; glad tidings secretary, Mrs. H. Eastwood; student secretary, Miss Lillian Esplen; literature secretary Mrs. O. M. Steer; junior organizations secretary, Mrs. C. A. Sollitt; welcome and welfare secretary, Miss Mary Lees; telephone convener, Mrs. E. H. Howson; social convener, Mrs. D. T. Diplock; pianist, Mrs. T. Staff Dinner Party Employees of Zeller's Limited were guests of their employer, Mr. D. J. Fitzgerald, Wednesday evening at a dinner party in the Empress Hotel. Committees from the staff took charge of the arrangements and the program. Corsage gifts were sent to Mrs. Fitzgerald and to personnel supervisor Miss Elaine Savigny and wives of department heads. Presentation of a cosmetic case was made by the girls to Miss Savigny, during the evening. Thanks to Mr. Fitzgerald was voiced for the entire staff by Mrs. Doreen O'Toole. The program opened with a sing song and a skit was put on by Don Barrick and Paul Doris. Santa Claus (Paul Doris) came with a bag full of gifts and he was helped with the distribution by elves in yellow, green and blue costumes (Don Barrick, Mrs. M. Clark and Mrs. N. Reid.) The dinner tables were set for 74 guests and decorated with candles and Christmas ornaments.

Life Membership Given

ROSENEATH, Dec. 15 (ENS)—A life membership certificate and pin were presented to Mrs. Albert Halstead, in recognition of many years of faithful service, at the meeting of the WMS of the United Church. The certificate, a gift from the society, was presented by Mrs. Delbert Brisbin. The life membership pin, a gift from the members, was prsented by Mrs. R. C. White.

Completely taken by surprise, Mrs. Halstead replied briefly.

The meeting was held at the home of Mrs. A. J. Campbell with the president, Mrs. J. N. Lovelace, presiding, and Mrs. C. W. Varcoe pianist.

The Rev. R. C. White conducted the installation service for the following officers: president, Mrs. J. N. Lovelace; first vice-president, Mrs. Delbert Brisbin; second vice-president, Mrs. Albert Halstead; corresponding secretary, Mrs. Douglas Coyle; recording secretary, Mrs. Fred Lewis; treasurer, Mrs. J. A. Nichol; missionary monthly secretary, Mrs. Andrew Brown; literature secretary, Mrs. J. N. Lovelace; citizenship and supply secretary, Mrs. A. J. Campbell; community friendship, Mrs. George Mouncey; associate helpers' secretary, Mrs. Ford Derry; Christian stewardship, Mrs. Reginald Crego; assistant Christian stewardship secretary, Mrs. R. C. White; pianist, Mrs. C. W. Varcoe; baby band superintendent, Mrs. Isabel Brown; mission band leader, Mrs. Louis King.

The following annual reports were presented: the treasurer, Mrs. J. A. Nichol, reported that their allocations of $225 had been met in full; Mrs. George Mouncey, community friendship secretary, reported 301 cards, 59 boxes, 97 letters, six hospital calls and 99 home calls by individual members and 33 cards were sent from the society.

Mrs. Andrew Brown reported 23 Missionary Monthly's and 30 World Friends had been in circulation during the year. Mrs. Isabel Brown, baby band superintendent, reported one meeting with 19 babies and their mothers present. Total collection from meeting and mite boxes, $8.62.

The program was a Christmas carol and candle-lighting service. The following members assisted in lighting the different candles: Mrs. J. N. Lovelace, for the Jews of Canada; Mrs. Delbert Brisbin, for the Canadian Indians; Mrs. George Mouncey, for the French Canadians; Mrs. Andrew Brown, for those whose ancestors came from Europe; Mrs. J. A. Nichol, for all newcomers to Canada from war devastated areas of Europe. The tallest candle, the candle of Christian love, was lit by Mrs. A. J. Campbell.

The program concluded by singing "Lord of the Lands," followed by prayer. The hostess served refreshments.

MRS. LEON D. CRESTOHL, immediate past president of Women's Canadian ORT, who was honored at a ceremony when an official scroll was presented to her, recording the inscription of her name in the Jerusalem ORT School.

Sergeant's Christmas Ball Provides 2 With Turkeys

About 150 couples had a grand time at the Sergeants' Christmas ball staged Friday night in the Armouries drill hall. The sergeants of the 50th HAA Regiment RCA had made cabaret style arrangements for their guests and provided good orchestra music for the dancing.

Two large turkeys were given as door prizes and the draw winners were Staff Sergeant W. Young and Mrs. H. B. Davidson, wife of RSM Davidson. During the evening there were three lucky spot dances and prizes were given.

What's Right?

A girl has a car but her date for a dance does not and she wonders if it would be all right to mention that they might use her car.

WRONG: She decides that it would not be proper to offer the use of her car, even though she knows the young man well.

RIGHT: If she wishes, she mentions casually that they can use her car if he thinks it would be a good idea.

Teen Y Club Holds Christmas Dance With Novelties

The Teen Y Club held a jolly Christmas party at the YWCA Friday evening with dancing the main form of entertainment. Decorations were in the Christmas theme with lighted Christmas trees and the centrepiece for the refreshment table a snow scene set off by candlelight. The light refreshments were served in the green room while the dancing was in the recreation room.

Master of ceremonies was Al Plunkett, assisted by Miss Gweneth Reed and Miss Marion Foster, in carrying out the novelty numbers.

Prizewinners in the "musical knees" were Helen Zakos and Bob Laughlan, in the elimination dance, Helen Zakos and Jack Prest, the squat dance Ann Lancaster and Bob Leach, and spot dance winners were Carryl Lang and Bob Keeting and Ann Lancaster and Bob Leach.

The girls attending were: Drenna Greenly, Ann Lancaster, Joan Metcalfe, Dorothy Ann Johnston, Mary Wasson, Marion Outram, Helen Zakos, Gail Patterson, June Skitch, Martha Mitchell, Sandra Duke, Barbara Craig, Carryl Lang, Penny Brown, Ann Law, Marjory McGrath, Florence Miller.

St. Alphonsus School Concert

A well-balanced Christmas program was presented by the staff and pupils of St. Alphonsus school on Thursday evening. The concert in which every pupil had a part was thoroughly enjoyed by parents and friends. The Rev. R. Macdonald was chairman and announced the following songs and numbers:

"Welcome" sung by grades 2 and 3, "Rudolph" by the kindergarten, a rhythm band selection, "Truth telling machine" dialogue by grades 5, 6, 7 and 8, "Santa Claus Sleeps" by grades 1 and 2. The program was completed by the presentation of the nativity scene entitled "No Room in the Inn," by grades 4, 5, 6, 7 and 8 girls. Mr. Walter Morrow was guest pianist.

Father Macdonald drew lucky tickets for door prizes. A panda as big as little Cathy Carroll was her prize and a toboggan was won by Danny Daly.

Santa Claus had been invited by the Martha Club and he helped Mrs. Wm. J. Riddle and committee to present all the children of the parish with a suitable gift fruit and candy.

HAS THEM IN STITCHES—More than 2,000,000 stitches go into the making of each of the character dolls above, part of the "Dress Through the Ages" collection of Mrs. Lillian Lunn, now being shown in London, England. Made of stitched or crocheted velvet cord and wool, the foot-high figurines depict dress styles for the past 700 years. At left, above, is "Princess Margaret" in an embroidered gown. At right is "Mae West" showing off her well-filled "Diamond Lil" costume.

Fire Brigade Draws For Fowl

BRIDGENORTH, Dec. 15 — (ENS)—Bridgenorth Fire Brigade Friday night entertained a large gathering at their annual Christmas dance in the Forester's Hall. Round and square dancing was enjoyed, with music being played by Tommy Sullivan of Lakefield and Jimmy Jones of Young's Point, and Andy Anderson and Bill McDougall of Bridgenorth calling the squares.

During the dance draws were made for the fowl on which the Brigade members have been selling tickets in past weeks.

Winners of turkeys were Judy Ray, Earl Blewett, both of Bridgenorth, Robert Lehelgh, RR 4, Lakefield, Pearl Hancock, RR 2, Peterborough, Mike McNamara, 193 Lake St.

Geese were won by John E. Lazure, 381 Water St., Jim White, Bridgenorth, George Hickey, 306 Simcoe St., W. H. Morwood, 648 Gilchrist St., L. Greenwood, 274 Thomas St.

Chickens by Robert Anderson, 196 Lisburn St., Harold Wilson, 421 Bethune St., Butch White, Bridgenorth, Edith Heffernan, 368 Wilson St., R. Hanbidge, Ida.

DOROTHY DIX

Develop Interest In Other Things

DEAR MISS DIX: I have a problem which may seem small to you but is important to me. I wish you could give me some ideas on how to be a better partner to my husband. First of all, he is very well educated and I am not; he is interested in all the daily activities which do not interest me; he can sit and carry on a conversation for hours while I can say what I have to say in five minutes. He is very neat, I am not. He likes sports and I would not give two hoots for all of them. I would like to be interested in the things he likes, but for the life of me I just can't avoid being bored with them. When he talks about his work, my mind is miles away. He is a wonderful husband, thoughtful and generous. He refuses me nothing I want and we get along very well, surprisingly enough, but I would like to know more about the things he liwes. CORINNE T.

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: It certainly is very surprising that you and your husband get along so well when you are completely disinterested in everything he likes. It is more surprising that two people of such diverse natures should ever have married. With a husband as fine as yours, you should be willing and eager to develop an interest in his activities. You would find, I am sure, if you ever exerted yourself enough to learn more about his pursuits, that they would prove quite fascinating to you. Many sports which now bore you might turn out most exhilarating.

Try Reading

If you really want to be a keener and more receptive wife, the road is very easy. Books, magazines, newspaper articles are available on practically every subject. With very little time and effort you could learn enough about anything to carry on a good conversation.

The two points on which I think your husband is most patient are (1) your untidiness, (2) your lack of interest in his work. Point 1 is very easily overcome. All you need is the will, and, again, very little time or effort. Persistence in this fault will eventually make you a very unpleasant person to live with. Point 2 should be overcome if you are at all concerned about the family welfare. After all, your husband's work makes possible his generosity. Even if you don't care enough about him to force a little more attention when he discusses his business, selfish motives should prompt it. An ignoble purpose, it is true, but better than none.

Inferior education on the part of a wife is no barrier to a happy marriage, provided the lady is aware of the handicap and does her utmost to overcome it. Many many women with little formal schooling have risen in the world with their husbands and stand side by side with them in the highest levels of the business and social worlds. If you sincerely aspire to be a real helpmate, there is no obstacle in your path.

In your case, Corinne, I am afraid you must overcome a terrific laziness of mind and body before you can cope with any other angle. While you regret your inability to share your husband's life more fully, you lack the determination to drive ahead to a set goal. You are married to a man who is too easy with you. His satisfaction might not last for ever, so why not make the supreme exercise of will and begin a rigid program of self-improvement. A good marriage is worth the effort.

DEAR MISS DIX: Please settle a dispute about an engagement ring my mother left six years ago. My sister's son is becoming engaged and my sister wants to give the ring to her boy. He has money enough to buy a ring, but prefers to get a car. I want the ring to remain in the family. My sister says it is her ring and she can do with it what she wants. Who is right? JOANNA.

ANSWER: Surely your sister's son is a member of the family, so it seems to me he is as much entitled to his grandmother's ring as anyone. You might prefer to have it go to a daughter of yours or your sister's, but since you mention no other children, I assume the boy is the only grandchild. It is much nicer to have an article of such sentimental value as an engagement ring used rather than stuck in the depths of a safe deposit box where no one will ever see it. It is to be hoped that your nephew's wife will realize the value of the ring and treasure it accordingly.

DEAR MISS DIX: Would it be proper for me to ask a young man with whom I have never been out to escort me to a high school graduation? WONDERING.

ANSWER: Yes, it is perfectly proper for you to extend an invitation to a young man for such an occasion as you mention.

MARY MOORE SAYS:

Readers' Saturday Column

QUESTION: I have read some of your nice recipes and would like you to let me have them . . we have tried some of your candy and enjoy it very much. Would you kindly reprint Mrs. Duddy's jelly roll as I have lost the corner of it. Please send sponge candy, Turkish delight, fondant and fudge.—Mrs. Grace A.

ANSWER: I am so glad you enjoyed the candies. Column for December 6 gave you Turkish delight, fondant fudge plus some others. In it I promised to give you sponge candy, so here it is.

Sponge Candy

Mix together 3 lbs. granulated sugar and 1 lb. glucose (buy this at the drug store), in granite kettle with 1 cup water. Stir to mix then place over heat and heat to 300 deg. Fahr. A candy thermometer is absolutely essential. While batch is cooking mix together in a bowl 6 level teaspoons baking soda and 5 teaspoons water. When batch is cooked remove from heat and stir in the soda-water mix. Stir well and quickly. This should be in a vessel too large for it to allow for the foaming. Pour into greased pan at once to desired thickness. Do not touch after pouring. Let stand until cold. Break into pieces when cold.

NOTE: Measurements must be very accurate. Be sure to use measuring teaspoon for the soda and water. You may have to make this two or three times before you turn out a professional product but it is amazing how easy it is to produce a very presentable one.

Mrs. Duddy's Jelly Roll

Three-quarters cup sifted cake flour, 1½ teaspoons single action baking powder, ¼ teaspoon salt, 4 eggs, ¾ cup sifted sugar, 1 teaspoon vanilla. Jelly for filling. Sift flour and measure. Mix together in a bowl the eggs, baking powder and salt. Stand this over smaller bowl containing hot water and beat with rotary beater, gradually adding the sugar as you beat, until the mixture becomes thick and light-coloured. Remove bowl from hot water. Fold in the sifted flour and stir in vanilla. The size of pan for a jelly roll is 15x10 inches. Grease it, line with paper to within ½-inch of edge, and grease again. Turn in batter. Bake at exactly 400 deg. Fahr. for 13 minutes. Turn from pan at once onto cloth sprinkled with icing sugar and immediately cut off crisp edges of cake. Quickly spread with jelly and roll up. Wrap in cloth and cool on rack.

QUESTION: Enclosed find a pickle of all things! I would like to know why they have that funny "sweety" taste, and if there is anything I could do about it. They were always delicious until last year. I used the same recipe. This is it: four quarts cucumbers put in brine in proportion of 4 parts water to 1 part salt. Let stand 3 days. Drain off brine and cover with fresh soft water. Change the fresh water 2 days more. Put the cucumbers on stove with a liquid of 1 cup water to 1 cup vinegar to cover. Add alum (about 2 walnuts or more). Do not let them boil, but keep hot for 2 hours. Drain and put in crock. Cover with the following syrup which must be boiling: 3 oz. pickling spice, 3 lbs. white sugar, 3 pints vinegar. Each day for two days drain off syrup and heat to boiling point. Leave in crock or seal in jars. Is there any way to fix them up? I enjoy your column. Mrs. Gladys M.

Mrs. R. C. Newman Elected WA Head

HAVELOCK, Dec. 15 (ENS)—The Christmas meeting of the Women's Missionary Society of Havelock United Church was held at the parsonage Thursday afternoon, with Mrs. R. G. Newman presiding owing to the illness of the president, Mrs. G. W. Chiles.

The devotional part of the meeting took the form of a candle-lighting service led by Mrs. R. Bonney, with the following members assisting: Mesdames F. Chase, H. R. Haacke, H. Agnew, H. Hoard, P. Haig, C. Anderson, Rae Williams and J. M. Shotton. Solos were sung during this period by Mrs. R. G. Newman and Mrs. H. Agnew, and a duet by Mrs. F. Chase and Mrs. H. Watson, with Mrs. Newman as accompanist.

Mrs. C. Spencer, the treasurer, presented a report showing that the allocation had been reached and there was a balance on hand.

The Rev. R. G. Newman conducted the election of officers for 1952 as follows: honorary president, Mrs. G. W. Chiles; president, Mrs. R. G. Newman; first vice-president, Mrs. A. Anderson; second vice-president, Mrs. H. Hoard; third vice-president, Mrs. J. Cochrane; recording secretary, Mrs. W. Forsyth; corresponding secretary, Mrs. W. M. Platt; treasurer, Mrs. C. Spencer; Christian stewardship and finance secretary, Mrs. Rae Williams; strangers' secretary, Mrs. H. Agnew; associate helpers' secretary, Mrs. J. M. Shotton; supply secretary, Mrs. A. Anderson; literature secretary, Mrs. N. Blakely; cheer secretary, Mrs. C. H. Roberts; temperance secretary, Miss M. Seeney; press reporter, Mrs. F. Rogers; pianist, Mrs. H. Watson; lunch convener, Mrs. H. Hubble.

Mary Moore

pickle in your letter! Tasted good though, to me. While you may have used exactly the same recipe each year there are other factors that enter into the picture that change the result. Cucumbers could have been old. Vinegar I believe was too strong — you may have used a 60 grain vinegar without knowing it. Use the best quality of bottled vinegar on the market—preferably spirit vinegar for this recipe. "two" walnuts" of alum are too much—1 "hickory nut" is much better.

The only thing I can suggest is to drain off the syrup on the pickles. Soak them in very weak brine —2 tablespoons salt to 1 quart water — overnight; Then cover them with the same syrup you describe but add twice as much water, to it.

I should add that your original brine is 4 times too strong with salt. Sixteen parts water to 1 part salt is nearer to correct. Write to me when pickling season rolls round again and I will send you my sweet cucumber pickle recipe—other readers are very enthusiastic about it.

French Strike Ends

PARIS, Dec. 15 (Reuters) — A five-day strike of 20,000 miners and railroad men in the Lorraine coal basin ended Friday when the management agreed to arbitration on the men's demand for higher Christmas bonuses.

Life In China Described In Coldsprings

COLDSPRINGS, Dec. 15 (ENS)—"Missionary Work In China" was the subject of an address given by Miss Ethel Wallace, now of Gore's Landing, a returned missionary.

The address was given at the December meeting of the Coldsprings Women's Institute, held Thursday at the township hall.

Miss Wallace was born in North Gore, which is between Ottawa and Prescott. She attended Victoria University in Toronto, graduating in 1905. At that time there was a special appeal for missionaries in China. Miss Wallace volunteered her service and in the early spring of 1906 left for China, under the Methodist Church of USA.

Mrs. Wallace was dean of a young ladies' college in China.

She said that the needs of little children are tremendous in China. During her time over there, she spent eight years as a refugee. A social service centre was built to help take care of their needs. They learned how to live on soybean products, namely soybean milk and soybean cakes.

Miss Wallace spent 42 years in China and Singapore.

The president, Mrs. Keith Harper, presided. The secretary, Mrs. Herbert McKinley, gave the financial statement, showing a balance on hand of $623.50.

Miss Edith Hoskin spoke a few words in memory of the late Mrs. Sidney Wallace, a valued member of the WI. The president read a letter from Mrs. Wallace, thanking the WI for the lovely wreath they had given.

The WI voted to donate $100 to the fund being raised to aid Paul Harris rebuild his machine shop, which was lost by fire recently. Ten dollars was voted to be sent to the Hospital for Sick Children, Toronto. The sunshine committee, Mrs. M. Timlin and Mrs. W. McMann, reported four cards sent, also a Christmas box to Paul Jacobson, a soldier in Korea.

Plans are being made to send plants or the equivalent to nine shutins at Christmas.

Travelling Library

Mrs. Mc Mann informed the Institute that the travelling library, consisting of 39 books, had arrived. She said anyone was free to come at any time to select a book to read.

Mrs. L. McIntosh conveyed best wishes to the WI from Mrs. Hilda Newton, a past member, who now lives in Indian Head, Saskatchewan.

Mrs. E. Jamieson and Mrs. A. Linton are a committee to select a one-act play which the Institute will present to raise funds for the district fund.

Plans were made for the euchre and dance being held on Dec. 27. Mrs. W. Maughan and Mrs. T. Cusworth are in charge.

Christmas gifts were exchanged.

Other numbers on the program were a solo by Mrs. A. Bowman, "O Come All Ye Faithful"; Mrs. L. McIntosh gave a reading, "Dickie's Christmas"; Christmas carols were sung with Mrs. C. Timlin pianist.

Mrs. Elmer May thanked Miss Wallace and those taking part.

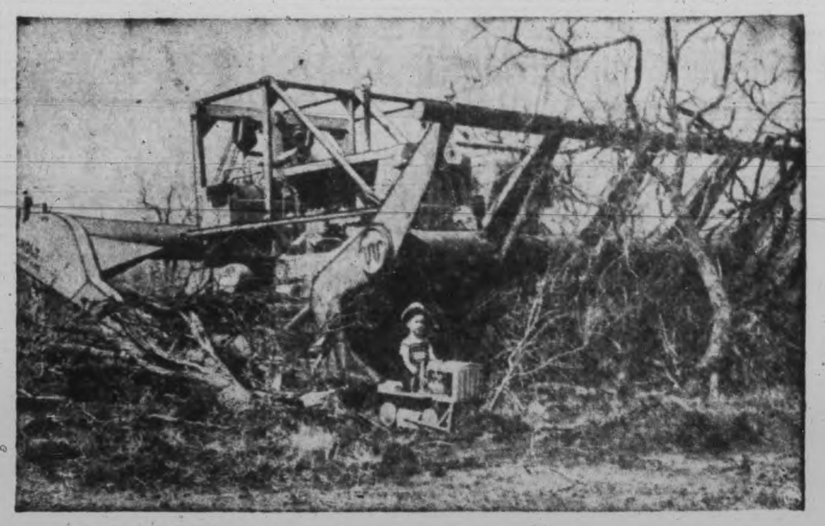
Mrs. Clifford Baptist was the convener in charge of the program and lunch.

The next meeting will be in the evening of Jan. 23.

Recover Painting

WASHINGTON, Dec. 15 (AP)—A famous 18th century painting depicting the assumption of the Virgin Mary, has been recovered and returned to the Monte-Cassino Benedictine monastery in Italy. American officials recovered it from a former German soldier who is reported to have found the canvas badly damaged, among the rubble of the abbey.

Can Pay Bonus



WASHINGTON, Dec. 15 (AP)—American employers who want to start giving a Christmas bonus to salaried workers may do so, but only up to $40. The salary stabilization board, which has jurisdiction over pay of people on salaries, has ruled bonuses may be paid irrespective of whether it was the company's practice to do so in previous years.

BLIND BENEFACTOR

Louis Braille, inventor of the reading system for blind persons, was himself blind from the age of three.

ACE OF ACES—Maj. George A. Davis, Jr., of Lubbock, Tex. emerges from the cockpit of his F-86 Sabrejet in Korea after downing two Communist MIG-15 fighters. Davis, who got two more MIGs in a vast all-jet dogfight, now has 10 planes to his credit. He is the world's leading jet ace.

TRY THIS ON YOUR LAWN — Little Stevie Cavazos and his toy tractor are dwarfed by the 52-ton steel monster mowing down mesquite and brush on the King Ranch near Kingsville, Tex. The 270-horsepower "cat," with specially designed "claws," cuts a 16-foot swath through the tough brush, clearing an average of four acres an hour. The big machine is actually two caterpillar tractors tied together as "Siamese twins."

Miracle Element Boosts New Zealand Pasture

By J. C. GRAHAM

DUNEDIN, NZ—(CP)—Minute quantities of molybdenum have caused a miraculous increase in pasture growth in tests at a research station near here.

Hopes are held that the tests will result in a great improvement of second-class land, enabling more stock to be carried to the acre and hence increasing the country's production of meat, butter and cheese.

Applied at 2½ ounces to the acre, the little-known element has caused an increase in pasture growth in some plots of as much as 100 per cent. A large amount of further research is necessary before it is known what lasting benefit will result to various types of soil, but there is every indication that many areas where it has been difficult to maintain a strong growth of grasses and clovers will be greatly improved.

Content Low

Analysis of the soil in the plots treated indicated that initially they were very low in available molybdenum content. Sodium molybdate in soluable form was applied and remarkable improvement was shown within a month. The plots could be seen from a distance by their dark green and lush growth of clover.

Regular mowings were made and the clippings weighed and amazing figures resulted. The growth obtained from the first cut was equivalent to that from the application of three tons of lime to the acre. The average increase over all plots was 30 per cent from the first cut, 50 per cent from the second and 100 per cent from the third.

Plainly Marked

The plots were on sloping ground and when heavy rains leached some of the tiny quantities of molybdenum down into untreated ground the flow could be clearly seen by the line of increased growth.

G. A. Holmes, superintendent of the Invermay research station near Dunedin, where the tests were held, is cautious about the general application of the research until further trials are held. But he is optimistic that the proper use of molybdenum under controlled pasture management will bring great development of second class lands in many areas.

Already farmers in several districts have top-dressed their fields with molybdenum, with very satisfactory results.

Not First Time

This is not the first time that use of trace elements has resulted in improvement in farming in New Zealand. Some years ago much new land was opened up by the discovery that the stock disease know as bush sickness could be counteracted by spreading minute amounts of cobalt. Large areas which had been useless for grazing have become prosperous farms.

Now interest is being taken in further research into the effects of molybdenum. It is thought that the difficulty in obtaining good establishment of pasture on some soils after cropping with cereals may be related to the exhaustion of soil supplies of available moylbdenum. The virtues of wood ash, certain types of compost, and other soil treatments may basically lie in a microscopic content of molybdenum.

Fete Coldsprings Pair Married 50 Years

COLDSPRINGS, Dec. 15 (ENS)—Mr. and Mrs. William Harris, Precious Corners, were guests of honor at a party Tuesday evening when approximately 125 of their near neighbors and friends, gathered at Coldsprings hall to fete them on their 50th wedding anniversary.

Twenty-two tables of progressive euchre were played during the first part of the evening.

Wilbert Davey was chairman, and song leader when some community singing was enjoyed, with Mrs. Albert Davey at the piano. Dr. R. S. Robertson and Harry Tinney were also on the platform.

An address of congratulation was read to the couple by Mrs. Albert Davey. Mrs. Wallace Hoskin, Beverley and Davey, and Harold Baker then presented the bride and groom of yester-year with a trilight lamp, lace table cloth and a basket of bronze 'mums. Mrs. Harris was given a corsage.

Mr. and Mrs. Harris replied. Refreshments were served.

Roseneath News

Mr. and Mrs. Roly Thackery, Bill and Frances were guests at the Hull-Bromley wedding at Christ Church, Mimico, on Saturday.

Mr. and Mrs. James Webb attended the confirmation service at St. Columba's Church, Toronto, when their grandson, John Lennox, was confirmed.

Ardith Thackeray, with the RCAF, St. John's, Quebec, spent the weekend at her home here.

Included among those from Roseneath attending the 50th wedding anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. William Coyle, Cobourg, were: Mr. and Mrs. John Coyle, Miss Mary Coyle, Mrs. T. S. Coyle, Miss Elizabeth Coyle, Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Down and Mr. and Mrs. R. B. Nichol.

Weekend guests of Mr. and Mrs. Roly Thackeray were: Mr. William Thackeray, Denbeigh; Miss Edna Thackeray and Mr. Ernest Seden, Toronto.

Mrs. Jas. Curtis has returned after spending the past week in Toronto.

Mr. and Mrs. L. R. Lockhart, Cobourg, were guests on Wednesday of their daughter, Mrs. Richard Surerus, Mr. Surerus and family.

Murderer Set Free

MEXICO CITY, Dec. 15 (AP)—A confessed murderer was set free Friday because no autopsy had been performed on his victim. The Mexican Supreme Court ruled that laws of the state in which the slaying occurred require an autopsy and the lack of one was sufficient to overrule the conviction.

CO-ORDINATE CHARITIES

ROME, Dec. 15 (AP)—An international conference of Roman Catholic charities was formed here Friday by representatives of 12 countries in North America and Western Europe. Purpose of the organization will be to co-ordinate Roman Catholic charitable activities on an international scale. Headquarters will be in Rome.

World-Wide System

MONTREAL, Dec. 15 (CP)—Canada officially opened its world-wide telecommunication system Friday when Transport Minister Chevrier snipped a ribbon over the clicking teletypes in the St. Sacrament Street offices of Canadian Overseas Telecommunication Corporation. The COTC, is a Crown-owned concern embodying some of the companies that previously carreid on cable communications over the world.

1925 Members Attend Percy Council Session

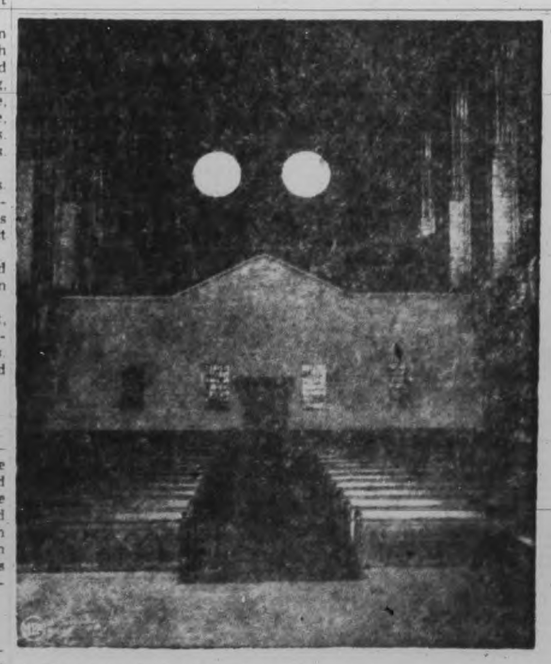
WARKWORTH, Dec. 15 (ENS)—The Percy township council met on Tuesday in the town hall. George Broadworth, the Deputy Reeve of 1951 but the new Reeve for 1952, was in the chair. Other members present were the councillors of 1951, R. B. Nelson, Cecil Grills and Ambrose English. The new councillors for 1952 were also invited to attend. They were Stewart Atkinson, Eric Merrill and William Johnston.

It was moved and seconded by Grills and English respectively that deputy returning officers be paid $6.00 and the poll clerks be paid $5.00.

The council accepted the resignation of Leonard McGee as chief valuator.

Among accounts to be paid the following received cheques in payment of the election expenses as returning officers at the various centres: A. Ward, $19.60; John Weatherson, $21.40; Ray Seeney, $18.60; Don Thompson, $14.00; Don Smith, $24.80; Wm. Coveney, $23.25.

Baptist Mission School Concert



HAVELOCK, Dec. 15 (ENS)—A very successful Christmas entertainment was held at the Baptist Mission on Thursday evening when a special feature of the program was a movie film: "Christ Is Born," shown by the Rev. W. N. Crandell, of Marmora. The pastor, Mr. Lawrence Bigelow, officiated as chairman.

The following program was presented in a creditable manner by the children of the Sunday school exercise, "Gifts for Jesus," by Betty Ann Whalen, Donna Miller and John Keast; vocal trio by Joan, Jean and Bevin Hoard; exercise, "If Jesus Dwells With Us," by John Miller, David and Jeffrey Collington; vocal trio with actions, "Away in a Manger," by Sharon McLean, Joan Patterson, Carol Miller. Several Christmas carols were sung as choruses by the school. Recitations were given by Brenda Miller, Sharon McLean, Peter Peverley, Jo-Ann Miller, James Hoard, Carol Miller, Joan Patterson, with Timmy Bigelow bringing the program to a close with his recitation entitled "Good Night."

After the distribution of gifts and candy to the children, the benediction was pronounced by Rev. William Rae, a returned missionary from Japan and China.

Hurled Into Sea

OSLO, Norway, Dec. 15 (AP)—A huge snow avalanche hurled two trucks into the sea Friday. The driver of one was killed. The two occupants of the other truck managed to break a window and crawl to safety.

CHURCH WITHIN A CHURCH—Built under the arches and against a wall of the bomb-blasted Lutherkirche in the U.S. sector of Berlin, this new church offers a place of worship for a small congregation. Lacking funds to repair the larger building, the parish built the smaller, heatable one underneath the organ of the original church. About 200 people visit the little church within a church every Sunday.

Marlies Down Biltmores 7-5 As Indians Subdue Mercurys 7-4

By The Canadian Press.

The two top teams in the Ontario Hockey Association's Junior A circuit met Friday night and settled—temporarily—the leadership in the 10-team league. The game took top billing in a busy night of seven contests in the OHA junior and senior A loops.

Toronto Marlboros, helped mightily by four goals from Danny Poland, came from behind to down Guelph Biltmores 7-5 in Guelph and break the first place tie between them. Poland scored three of his quartet in the final period when Dukes outscored Biltmores 4-1.

In the other junior games, Barrie Flyers lengthened their winning streak to four games when they downed Oshawa Generals 6-4 at Barrie. Kitchener Greenshirts strengthened their fifth place stand with a 6-4 decision against Toronto St. Michael's while St. Catharines Teepees upset Galt Black Hawks 5-2 in St. Catharines.

Senior play saw Stratford Indians lengthen their first place lead with a 7-4 win over Owen Sound Mercurys. Brantford Redmen earned a 2-0 shutout at home against Hamilton Tigers while Sarnia Sailors edged Kitchener-Waterloo Dutchmen 5-3 in Sarnia.

In the Northern Ontario Hockey Association Senior A League, Sudbury Wolves climbed to within four points of first-place Sault Ste. Marie Greyhounds as they dropped North Bay Black Hawks 9-4 in Sudbury.

Scoring Stars

In the Guelph-Marlboro game Eric Nesterenko, Wally Maxwell and Bill McFarland added to Poland's four big goals. Bill McCreary, Frank Bettiol, Ken Laufman, Louis Fontinato and Dean Prentice notched goals for Biltmores.

Johnny Martan struck twice for Barrie's 6-4 win over Oshawa while Fred Pletsch, Don McKenney, Fred Etcher and Chuck Wood added singletons. Herve Dejordy led the Generals with two while Bob Attersley and Larry Thibeault scored one each.

Joe Ingoldsby with two and Greg Hicks, Orv Tessier, Herb Dares and Jim Farelli led the Kitchener attack against St. Mike's. Murray Costello, Bill Dineen, Mark Reaume and Jim Logan counted for the Saints.

Billy Young, Allan Kellogg, Joe Schnurr, Gord Myles and Ando Orrin Gould scored in St. Catharines' 5-2 win over Galt. Tony Poeta tallied both of the Black Hawks' markers.

Don Heinbuch and Mickey Roth led the Stratford senior squad with two goals each. Dinny Flanagan, Billy Flick and Mike Ritchie scored the others. Tom Burlington, Mike Bukacheski, Bill Allum and Andy Grant were the Owen Sound scorers.

Don Oberholtzer and Bill Schill notched Brantford's two goals in their 2-0 win over Hamilton Tigers.

Leads Sarnia

Norm Tustin's three goals led Sarnia Sailors to their 5-3 victory against Kitchener - Waterloo Dutchmen. Don Lardner and Al Cotterell tallied the other Sarnia goals while Mike Dzuira, Al Kulik and Doug Verity were the Kitchener marksmen.

Three games are scheduled in the junior league tonight and two Sunday afternoon. Tonight Guelph goes to Waterloo while Windsor is at Galt and Oshawa entertains Kitchener. Tomorrow afternoon's doubleheader at Toronto will see Windsor taking on St. Mike's and Marlboros meeting St. Catharines.

In the senior circuit, Sarnia is at Kitchener tonight while Hamilton plays in Brantford and Owen Sound entertains Stratford.

Mrs. Robert Davison

The funeral of Mrs. Robert Davison, Hamilton, the former Mary Agnes Tanner of Lakefield, who died Wednesday, was held today in Lakefield United Church. The Rev. W. H. Tonge of Lakefield United Church conducted the servcie.

Pallbearers were Ray Jackman, Robert McCracken, Charles Stewart, Ralph Millage, Russell Little, Neil Wood. Burial was in Ray's cemetery.

Concert Held At Lakefield

Elm Corners School held its annual Christmas concert on Friday evening in Lakefield Memorial Hall, under the able direction of Mr. G. Knox, principal, and his staff.

The program began promptly at 8 o'clock with Mr. Ron Miles, chairman of the school board, acting as master of ceremonies. For the next two hours, parents and friends enjoyed a well-prepared entertainment. The beautiful Christmas cards and songs were interspersed with recitations and clever exercises.

Three short plays, "Heck Says It," "Home Management" and "Santa's Helpers," were presented by the senior grades, and two plays, "Wanted—A Housekeeper" and "Scheming Sammy," by the juniors.

During a short intermission, ladies of the Elm Corners Home and School Association sold home made candy.

A little exercise entitled "We Know," by the small pupils of Grade I prepared the way for Santa's entrance. More than a hundred pupils with their small brothers and sisters, gave him a rousing welcome. After some jolly greetings and songs requested by Santa, he called all the children up to him to receive a Christmas treat.

Mr. Wiles thanked all who had helped to make this Christmas concert a success.

Here and There In Sport

By The Canadian Press

Floyd Ailsby, after 15 years in the New York Ranger organization, is finally getting his chance to break in with the Blues tonight in Toronto.

Ailsby, who started with New York Rovers and now is their playing coach, has played in both the American Hockey League and the United States Hockey League, which folded last year.

Ailsby, a hefty defenceman, will replace Jim Ross, who suffered a knee injury Wednesday. Ailsby played last season for St. Paul and was named on the USHL all-star team.

The Ontario Jockey Club disclosed Friday at Toronto that thoroughbreds were still eligible for the 1952 King's Plate on payment by their owners of a $15 nomination fee Dec. 1. Among the outstanding two-year-old in 1951 nominated for the 93rd running of Canada's top turf classic were J. E. Frowde Seagram's Flareday, winner of the coronation stakes at Woodbine Park, and Imperial Stable's Caractacus, winner of the Clarendon Plate at Thorncliffe Park.

John Barnum of Grand Rapids, Mich., and Matty Furgol of Lemont, Ill., were tied for first place Friday at the half-way mark of Havana's 72-hole invitation golf tournament.

Barnum shot a seven-under-par 65 Friday to give him 135 strokes for the first 36 holes. Furgol went six-under-par for a 66 but his 69 Thursday gave him 135 to tie with Barnum for the lead.

Harry D. Smith, 75, sports editor emeritus of the San Francisco Chronicle, died in hospital in San Mateo, Calif., Friday night. He had been in poor health for several years and recently had a leg amputated.

At Kansas City, James J. Carroll, St. Louis gambler was indicted Friday by a federal grand jury which charged he failed to file income tax returns on betting payments of nearly $2,000,000. Carroll was named in two indictments listing 104 counts. One true bill of 101 counts listed individuals from all parts of the country who had won horse race and election wagers totalling $1,813,160. The other charged that Carroll failed to make returns reflecting these payments for 1948, 1949 and 1950.

Examiner Employees Hold Christmas Party

Approximately 160 employees and guests attended the annual Peterborough Examiner Christmas Party held in the Kawartha Room of the Empress hotel Friday night.

Highlight of the evening was the visit of Santa Claus admirably portrayed by Robertson Davies, editor. His able assistant, George Cobb, gnome from Santa's workshop helped in the distribution of gifts to members of the staff and guests.

The evening commenced with a Christmas dinner. Tables were decorated with poinsettia leaves and candles. The head table was centred with a miniature Santa Claus, sleigh and reindeer and white and yellow mums.

Following the dinner musical entertainment was presented by Agnes Logan Green, Peterborough pianist; the Coventry Singers and the Searles Trio.

Alfred Quemby was master of cermonies for the evening. Toast to the guests was made by Harry Huff and responded to by Stanley Longhurst. H. L. Garner, general manager, responded to Miss Jean Stenton's toast to the management. Miss Margaret Rodney introduced the new members of the staff.

During the evening Christmas carols and song favorites were sung accompanied on the piano by Charles Allen.

Honored At Dinner

ORILLIA, Dec. 15 — (CP) — Premier Leslie Frost and Hon. Arthur Meighen, former Conservative Prime Minister of Canada, Friday night joined 50 friends and associates of the Orillia Packet and Times at a testimonial dinner honoring C. H. Hale, editor emeritus of the weekly paper. Presentations to Mr. Hale were made by James B. Lamb, general manager of the paper, and Farmer Tissington, the editor.

US Wallops Swedish Star

By GAYLE TALBOT.

MELBOURNE, Australia, Dec. 15 (AP).—America's Davis Cuppers put the finishing touches on their one-sided walloping of Sweden in the interzone final Friday as Ted Schroeder and Tony Trabert repeated their singles victories of opening day.

Trabert wrapped up the USA's fourth straight triumph at the expense of Lennart Bergelin, 6-1, 10-8, 6-4, after which Schroeder polished off Sven Davidsson, 6-2, 6-2, 6-1 to complete a whitewash job.

Bergelin, after dogging it for the first two days, finally produced some real tennis against Trabert, but it was too little and much too late. The second set of his encounter with Tony was the high point of the matches which supplied ardent Australian fans with all too few thrills.

Another surprising crowd of approximately 7,000 braved a chilling wind to watch Friday's matches which meant nothing except to fix the final score officially at 5-0.

Bergelin insisted upon playing out his string, apparently in hopes of making amends for his strange performances the first two days. For brief spurts in the second and third sets he showed the Aussies the brand of tennis of which he is capable. In one stretch in second set he broke Traber's service three straight times with really magnificent tennis.

But he refused to sustain the effort and towards the end he again was refusing to move off a dime to make returns and every time he lost a point he would rub his supposedly sore shoulder in a big way.

Indianapolis Caps Swamp Mohawks 7-1

CINCINNATI, O., Dec. 15 (AP) —Indianapolis Capitals, last place dwellers in the western division of the American Hockey League, pinned a 7-1 defeat on the slump-ridden Cincinnati Mohawks Friday night, as only 758 fans showed up to watch the game because of snow and slush-covered streets. Defenceman Lloyd Durham scored three goals for the Caps on long shots. The defeat was the sixth in a row for Cincinnati and the Mohawks never were in the running after the Caps got three first period tallies. Two of them were by Bert Hirschfeld, a former Mohawk.

Enio Sclisizzi and Lou Jankowski also scored for Indianapolis. Jackie McLeod notched Cincinnati's lone tally.

Chip Ice Off Calendar At Fairbanks, Decide It's Mighty Near Time For Ice Bowl Game

FAIRBANKS, Alaska, Dec. 15 (AP).—They chipped the ice off the calendar here today, squinted closely and decided it was mighty nigh time to schedule the world's coldest football bowl game for Dec. 31 again—weather permitting.

The ice bowl contestants will be the same ones that survived two previous jousts with the weather —the University of Alaska and Ladd Air Force Base. Both are the farthest north of their respective types on the North American continent.

The rules drawn up for this year's joust provide, however, that "There must be at least four inches of snow on the gridiron and the temperature cannot be lower than 20 below zero." (There's 15 inches of snow now and it doesn't melt very rapidly here in the wintertime. But it sometimes gets as low as 60 below and that may stop the tilt.)

Neither team ever has scored from a ground play during the three year history of the contest. But the college boys outsmarted the flyers last year—they kicked a field goal for the only score ever made.

Yes, there are spectators. They suffer as much as the players.

KNOCKED OUT—Dado Marino slumps to the canvas on the fourth of six knockdowns scored by Yoshio Shirai at the Honolulu Stadium. The Japanese stopped the home-grown Filipino world fly-weight champion in the seventh round of a non-title fight. The American, Jimmy Slade, walks away, leaving Don Cockell, British light-heavyweight champion, on his knees in a corner, blood streaming from the mouth. The referee intervened in the fourth frame.

Flautist Of Warsaw

Flour milling is integrated with the greatest of all cultures—agriculture (with its cyclical kindred, siloiculture, horticulture and animal husbandry). It has been well pointed out by Mr. Jorian Jenks that "the agri-cultural relationship is, like all other vital relationships, two-way. The cultivator is himself cultivated—i.e. influenced creatively by the terrain which he cultivates. That is why the preservation of rural beauty and not only wild (i.e. uncultivated) beauty is so essential a part of social policy; it is indispensible to human well-being."

Among the world's "musts" none is more compelling than the processing of cereals. For upon it depends in large measure the maintenance not only of the organic cycle of cultivation but of cultivators—or, in short, the perpetuation of cultures of all kinds. True culture always is directed positively toward a definite objective value. It does not exist in a vacuum.

Culture will not be chained to a parish pump. History written in the Toonerville idiom will not help us to see or understand the nature of Peterborough county's contributions to the life and work of a continent.

In the large-scale floor map of the new City Hall the Indian river is conspicuous by its absence, a charitable view would be that the city map-makers are pre-occupied by great matters of state which are bounded by Armour's Hill and Smithtown Hill. Perhaps they have suffered a memory-lapse and are forgetful that the city did not create itself in a vacuum; that, like Antaeus, it has been and is dependent for the renewal of its strength upon a rich and varied County environment which has not been niggardly in providing nourishment. We may be reminded of the humble example of Toronto, which has been called "Hogtown" and which is not beloved of thousands of people living in its environs, who object to being devoured rather cannibalistically by the highly centralized Megalopolis.

Glancing back at the cultural nexus which has linked Peterborough's Indian and Otonabee rivers with the waters of California and with Iowa's Cedar river, we shall not perhaps overstrain poetic license if we ask ourselves if the cultural bread that was cast upon our Kawartha waters has not returned abundantly after many days, with the establishment on the Trent of the Quaker Oats plant, the greatest cereal mill in the British Empire.

Christmas Spirit Takes Over In Court

ORILLIA, Dec. 15—(CP)—That Christmas spirit took over in court Friday.

George Lawrence of Severn Bridge, Ont., was convicted of causing a crash which damaged a car belonging to Jack Hewitt of Toronto, to the extent of $100. He was fined $5 and costs, a total of $27.50.

Lawrence scraped up all but $5 and when he was unable to pay the total, he was told the alternative was a 10-day jail term.

At this point Christmas took over and Mr. Hewitt contributed the $5.

"I just couldn't stand by and see the guy go to jail," he said. "Not right at Christmas-time like this."

Gavilan Scores Stunning TKO Over Cartier

NEW YORK, Dec. 15 (AP) — Cuban Kid Gavilan plans to follow up Friday night's technical knockout win over Walter Cartier with a Miami defence of his welter title against Bobby Dykes.

The tentative date of the Miami match is late January or the first week in February.

As for Charles Humez of France the European champ, Gavilan said "I will fight him. I will fight anybody."

Augel Lopez, Gavilan's manager, claimed he had no word from the National Boxing Association about forcing the keed to sign for a defence within 10 days. Humez might come next, if anything goes wrong with the Dykes match.

Also in line for Gavilan is a non-title date with Randy Turpin, the former middleweight champ from England. Turpin is coming to New York in February.

The busy Gavilan also wants to fight Rocky Graziano, another ex-middleweight king.

Braved Weather

Some 6,253 fans braved snow and rain, paying $23,637 to see the non-title match between Gavilan and Cartier, a heavy punching middleweight from New York's Greenwich Village.

Trailing on the cards of two officials Gavilan staged a blazing rally to win on a technical knockout over bloot-spattered Cartier in 1:31 of the 10th round at Madison Square Garden.

Referee Ruby Goldstein had it 6-2-1 and judge Billy Heafy 5-3-1, both for Cartier, and judge Charley Shortell scored it 5-4 for Gavilan going into the tenth. The Associated Press card had it even 4-4-1.

Stunned and badly hurt from three smashing rights and two uppercuts, Cartier sprawled in mid-ring when referee Goldstein stopped it without bothering to count.

The third, eighth, ninth and tenth were the best rounds of the interesting match. Cartier concentrated on the body, Gavilan on the head. This time the head punches paid off.

Strike Under Way

TORONTO, Dec. 15 — (CP) — A strike of 300 employees of the Canada Cycle and Motor Co. Ltd. started Friday night at the suburban Weston plant. The walkout, called to enforce demands for a seven-cent-an-hour wage increase recommended by a conciliation board, was called by the plant local of the United Auto Workers (CIO-CCL). The basic rate was not announced.

Who Should Clear Snow From Bridges?

Who is responsible for cleaning the snow off the sidewalk on the Buckhorn bridge?

The townships of Harvey and Smith maintain that as the county not only built the sidewalk on the bridge but also sand and snowplow the road in winter they could also look after the sidewalk.

Reeve Ross Harrison, Smith, and Charles Flynn, Harvey, on Thursday put forward this view at the county council. But the majority of county councillors felt differently.

"The sidewalk was built for the ratpayers of Harvey and Smith," said Reeve James Humphries, Asphodel, "they're the ones who are using it."

Reeve Harrison argued that county workmen already snowplow and sand the bridge.

"Why couldn't they throw a few shovelfuls of sand on the walk?" he asked.

Boy Nearly Drowned

Reeve Flynn agreed. He said that a young boy nearly drowned last winter when he fell off the brigade; and he was only saved by the rescue bid of Sam Wood, postmaster, who jumped into the icy water.

There is a low railing and the snow builds up in the centre making the footing precarious, said Mr. Flynn.

Several reeves chimed in to say that the county doesn't clean sidewalks on bridges in Lakefield, Westwood, or any place else in the county.

The final vote was that the county assume no responsibility for the maintenance and upkeep of the sidewalk across the bridge. Opposed were Reeves W. E. Griffith, Harrison and Deputy Reeve Gordon Fitzgerald of Smith.

BREAD FOR GREECE—Almost 100,000 potential loaves of bread left Port Colborne, Ont., this week for Greece in one of two shipments designed to relieve the food shortage in that country. One of the freight cars was decked out with the emblem of the Unitarian Service committee, sponsors of the crusade. In front of the car are seen, left to right: C. V. Kester, branch manager of traffic at the Maple Leaf Milling Co. plant, Port Colborne; M. R. Robinson, assistant manager and H. H. Knoll, mayor of Port Colborne. The car contains 714 140-pound bags of Canadian hard-wheat flour. Another car will leave the mill shortly.

PC Quebec Members Split On Use Of Word Dominion

OTTAWA, Dec. 15 — (CP). — The Progressive Conservative Party's two members from Quebec Friday split with other members of their party and supported a government move to liminate the word "Dominion" from the Federal Election Act.

In a 2¼-hour debate, at times heated, Leon Balcer (PC-Trois Rivieres) and Henri Courtemanche (PS-Labelle) congratulated the government on its plans to eliminate the word "Dominion" from Canadian legislation.

Their views were diametrically opposed to those of other Progressive Conservatives, including E. D. Fulton (Kamloops), J. M. Macdonnell (Toronto Greenwood), Howard Green (Vancouver Quadra), C. W. Hodgson (Victoria), W. Chester S. McClure (Queens), and Julian Ferguson (Simcoe North).

Postmaster - General Rinfret said the split indicated that the Progressive Conservative Party had one policy for Quebec and another for the rest of Canada.

54-Clause Bill

The debate centred on the first of a 54-clause Bill making a series of technical amendments to the Elections Act. The first changed the title from Dominion Elections Act to Canada Elections Act.

The Bill was given third reading and adopted "on division"—without a formal vote. It now goes to the Senate.

Mr. Fulton, a lawyer from Kamloops, BC, launched the discussion on the proposal to eliminate the word Dominion from the Elections Act. He described the proposal as "stupid and absurd."

Mr. Hodgson said the people of Canada were attached to the word Dominion and did not want to see it eliminated. He was sure he could win an election on the issue. He described as "nonsense" bills introduced to eliminate the word Dominion, to provide for a new Canadian flag, and for a National Anthem. Such measures would only cause disunity.

Mr. Courtemanche said he had great respect for the British Empire, but it was time Canada did away with colonial ties. It was as Canadians and not as colonials that the people of this country had consented to great sacrifices during the two world wars.

Mr. Balcer said dictionaries defined Dominion as meaning something that was subject to a sovereign, obedience, servitude, slavery and submission. Mr. Balcer said he believed members would agree that such terms did not apply to Canada.

Mr. Fulton said the English-speaking people do not feel that the word Dominion means subordination to anyone. He was sorry Mr. Balcer had not consulted dictionaries which described Dominions as sovereign, autonomous states having a common link with the Crown.

H. A. Hosking (L-Wellington South) said the people of his riding would probably agree with Mr. Fulton that the word Dominion had no connotation of subservience. However, if elimination of the word would help to bring Canada's two great races closer together he would vote for it.

Mr. Ferguson said an end should be put to the concerted attack on historical connections with Britain and France.

Store Owners Tired Of Police

NIAGARA FALLS, NY, Dec. 15 (AP)—"We have had the local police department living at our cigar store," four men wrote the collector of internal revenue Friday. They returned their $50 gambling tax stamps and asked for a refund.

"We have almost felt like taking down the cigar store sign and putting up 'Police Station No. 3' in its place," said Anthony Guarino, James Palmieri, Louis Battaglia and Frank Rotelli.

Their letter was released by District Attorney Jack E. Gellman, who said the men had given him a copy.

"We have not been in this (bookie) business at all this year, but we thought that in the future we might take an occasional bet," they wrote.

If the men wanted their money back they will have to file a claim on the proper government form and establish that they bought the stamps in error and never had any occasion to use them, authorities said.

City To Purchase Blower To Remove Snow

A one-man blower for removal of snow from sidewalks will by purchased by the city.

City Engineeer Chalmers estimates the cost at $1,320, f.o.b. Montreal, with sales tax included.

"This machine is in the nature of an experiment as far as the board of works and City Engineer Chalmers are concerned," said Ald. Gillespie. "It has been tried in many other cities, and we thought Mr. Chalmers should give it a trial here and see what it does."

For some years the streets department has been encountering increasing difficulty in the letting seasonal contracts for the removal of snow from sidewalks. Councils have been urging mechanization of this service to the public.

Ald. Gillespie said there was a considerable job to be done by the proposed machine in clearing the sidewalks fronting city property such as city hall block, Confederation Square, the old city hall block, and so on.

Ald. T. D. Miller suggested at a meeting early this week that it might be advisable to see one or more types of this sidewalk blower in operation before selecting for purchase.

"I'm agreeable, although I don't think it is necessary," Ald. Gillespie replied. "My information is that these blowers are in use in many cities, so there is nothin experimental about it, except in use by our own department."

"It might be too late getting here if we wait for a demonstration," Ald H. T. Rehill said, suggesting that the weather might not be considerate.

The discussion ended on a note of trusting City Engineer Chalmers to satisfy himself about the efficiency of the blower, and, if he thought it necessary, in demonstration.

May's Leader In Attendance

An increase of 26 pupils for a total of 4,580 for the month of November was reported to the Board of Education by K. S. Wightman superintendent. Children, whose parents moved into the city during November totalled 51, while there were 32 whose parents left the city.

May's school with an average of 95.14 per cent headed the list of 10 schools during the month. Then came King Edward 94.07, Queen Mary 93.91, Grove 93.64, Prince of Wales 93.44, King George 92.87, Queen Alexandra 92.83, Parkhill 92.01, Confederation 91.32 and Central 89.56.

The nurses reported 1,059 classroom inspections, 124 inspections in nurse's office, 377 vision tests, 311 hearing tests, 151 home visits, 41 cases of chicken pox reported to MOH, 25 children treated while at school and 20 exclusions ordered.

Dr. S. J. Graham reported on results of the dental survey at Kin Edward and Confederation schools. He found 67.7 per cent of children needing treatment at King Edward and 68.2 at Confederation. Only 307 of the 940 pupils were not suffering some defects.

Nepheline Aids Road Upkeep

Thousands of dollars have been spent by American Nepheline Ltd. on the Stony Lake road, Reeve Norman Wilson, Burleigh-Anstruther township, has informed county council.

Mr. Wilson said he had often heard criticism that the heavy ore-laden trucks tore up the road. But when he looked at it recently he was surprised to find the road—running between the nepheline mine and Lakefield—in exceptionally good condition.

Jack Kean, county engineer and road superintendent, said that before the spring breakup he was approached by company officials who volunteered to help keep the road in good shape.

Melville Crowe, a former Dummer road superintendent, was hired by the company to look after the job. Pit run gravel was used to patch up the travelled surface and an expensive grader was bought by the company.

During the summer the company grader went over it it least once a week.

Mr. Wilson said the company's expenditure on the road was "a great relief to the ratepayers of Peterborough county."

Christmas Party Of Buckhorn W I

BUCKHORN, Dec. 15 (ENS)—The Buckhorn WI met in the hall on Tuesday with a splendid attendance. The meeting took the form of a Christmas party and the hall was beautifully decorated for the occasion.

Plans were made for the giving of fruit baskets and cards to the sick, aged and shut-ins.

The roll call was answered by a Christmas card and verse of scripture.

Mrs. McPhee was convenor for the evening.

Several Christmas carols were sung by the group and Miss Sandra Moore sang a solo.

A dialogue "The Spirit of Jane Bannington" was presented by a number of the ladies.

The guest speaker, Kenneth Stuart based his remarks on the subject "The Shepherds found Jesus". Gifts were exchanged from a beautifully decorated tree. Lunch was served by the hostess, Mrs. Ross and her assistants.

Gas Price War Ends

LONDON, Ont., Dec. 15 (CP)—London's gas price war appears to be over. Motorists, who have been buying branded gasoline for the past three months for as low as 32 cents a gallon, now will be paying a flat 40½ and 42½ cents a gallon. However, some stations selling unbranded gasoline are selling at 36 cents a gallon.

Faces Murder Charge

NIAGARA FALLS, Ont., Dec. 15 (CP)—Police said Friday night that 60-year-old Chris Kovich, in hospital here under heavy guard and with two bullet wounds in his chest, will be charged with murder and attempted suicide. Police said that Kovich today shot his 35-year-old wife, Violet, to death and then turned the gun on himself as his two stepdaughters watched in horror.

A TURKEY BEE—Farmer Eugene Constantin of St. Augustin, Que., stands before several thousand dollars worth of Christmas dinners. To add to his happiness the tedious job of plucking the big turkeys was done free by 42 residents of the Portneuf county village near Quebec city. While thee volunteers plucked the 500 birds in a nine-hour stretch, Constantin saw to it they had plenty to eat. The custom of helping the farmer is an old one in this district and provides a pleasant get-together.

Flaming Airliner Hits Riverbank 56 Aboard Killed

ELIZABETH, NJ, Dec. 17. (AP)—A flaming Florida-bound airliner—its pilot battling to the end—missed a midtown crash by yards Sunday, then smashed into a riverbank fringed with buildings. All 56 persons aboard perished. It was the second-worst United States commercial airline disaster, topped only by the death of 58 persons June 24, 1950, in the Lake Michigan crash of a New York-to-Minneapolis plane. Onlookers called it a miracle that hundreds didn't die as the two-engined plane rattled windows in its death plunge. Terrified, screaming children fled its path.

It crashed in the only fairly-open space for a mile around. Even then it clipped a vacant home and smashed an unused water pumping station, slightly injuring one man.

"I kind of think he hit the spot intentionally to save us," a resident said of the pilot, Albert C. Lyons of Miami.

Commend Pilot

Another spectator parking lot operator, J. P. Ward, added: "The pilot ought to have a place in heaven for trying to save it."

The non-scheduled C-46 plane took off from nearby Newark Airport at 3:02 pm EST, headed for Tampa and Miami, with 48 adult passengers, four children, a three-man crew and a stewardess. It crashed seven minutes later, three miles away.

It was the first crash in 22 months of a non-scheduled airliner—one that takes off on an irregular schedule. The plane was operated by Miami Airline, Inc., in operation since March, 1946. Its five planes have flown more than 100,000,000 passenger miles.

The ill-fated plane seemed to be in trouble even before it cleared the ground. Its right engine was smoking badly.

State and Federal officials began an immediate probe.

A few weeks ago, residents of Elizabeth threatened to block Newark Airport runways with their bodies to end take-offs over their homes. As a result, the Port of New York Authority—which operates Newark Airport—undertook to build a new runway pointing to the sea instead of Newark and Elizabeth.

Besides Lyons, the plane carried two co-pilots, J. R. Mason and Edward Lily, and stewardess Doris Helms, all of Miami.

No Canadians

Most of the passengers were from New Jersey and New York. No Canadians were listed.

Robert Collins watched the plane take off carrying his mother, Bertha 55, his sister Mrs. Ann Connors 21, and his two nephews, one two years old and one seven months. He said afterwards:

"The right engine was smoking badly on the take-off and it took the whole length of the field before it rose about 50 feet."

Reds Report Capture Of Two Islands

SEOUL, Dec. 17 (AP). — The North Korean Red radio tonight said Communist troops Sunday recaptured two Yellow Sea islands off the west coast of Korea.

A communique broadcast from Pyongyang, the Red capital, said Communist troops killed, wounded or captured 174 UN soldiers in the amphibious operation.

There was no confirmation from UN sources.

The broadcast said the islands are Cho, off the Chinnampo peninsula, and Yak, near the Ongjin peninsula.

The Reds retook three other islands off northwest Korea about two weeks ago. The UN command confirmed that.

The Red radio said that in recapturing Cho and Yak "our troops freed more than 1,000 civilians taken by the puppet troops (South Koreans) from the coast and who had been living miserably under surveillance of the enemy."

No Confirmation

The North Korean broadcast added "Our air force today shot down four of enemy planes which attacked the western and eastern coasts of North Korea." The UN made no confirmation.

American F-86 Sabre yets damaged two Communist MIG-15 jets in a 25-minute battle high over Sinanju in northwest Korea today.

Twenty swift Sabres tangled with 10 MIGs in one of the few battles of the war in which F-86s have outnumbered the MIGs.

Fifth Air Force headquarters said all of the American planes returned safely.

On the battle front, the United States Eighth Army reported not a single American was killed in a 24-hour period ended Sunday evening. It was the first "deathless day" since last August.

Fifth Air Force fighter bombers struck at Communist rail Yunku. Most of the fifth's jet fighter-interceptors stayed home because of the overcast.

The air force was busy Sunday. Some 925 sorties were flown. Although Russian-built MIG-15s were sighted there were no major dog-fights.

Alexander Slides Down Fire Pole

OTTAWA, Dec. 17 (CP).—Viscount Alexander Governor-General, Saturday fulfilled a long-standing ambition—to slide down a fireman's brass pole.

It happened at No. 4 fire station, where he opened an exhibition of Christmas toys made by the Ottawa Firefighters' Association.

As he was leaving the station, Viscount Alexander spotted the brass pole on the second floor, used by firemen to reach the main floor in a hurry.

"I have always wanted to go down one of those things," he confided to Fire Chief Gray Burnett.

The chief showed the Governor-General how to grip the pole between elbow and body, how to curl a leg around it and to control speed of the descent.

To the astonishment of spectators on the main floor the Governor-General arrived among them—via the brass pole.

Accept War Prevention But Can't Decide Price

PARIS, Dec. 17 (AP) — The 12 members of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization have agreed on what is necessary to prevent a war in Europe but are still undecided on how much each one should pay to bring it about.

Except for "haggling over the precise wording," the organization's temporary committee reached agreement today on the content of a 10-page summary of rearmament aims for 1952.

Spokesmen said the summary will be in two sections, dealing with economic and military matters. It is to be published Tuesday. The rest will remain secret.

It sets the firm military target for next year that has been asked by Gen. Eisenhower, supreme allied commander in Europe. This has been variously reported at 30 or 40 combat-ready divisions in the field.

Brazil Train Derailed Say 40 People Killed

RIO DE JANEIRO, Dec. 17 — (Reuters).—Forty persons were reported killed and many injured today when five cars of a passenger train were derailed and overturned near Fortaleza.

Thirty-four bodies were removed from the wreckage by early afternoon.

Cause of the accident was not immediately known.

Soviet Bloc Has New Arms Plan

Suggest Third Cut In Forces Of Big 5 Countries

PARIS, Dec. 17. (AP)—The Soviet bloc today submitted a new disarmament resolution to the United Nations' political committee. It would hand the whole problem to a proposed new disarmament commission.

The resolution would in effect supplant both an earlier Russian plan and a previously-submitted Western proposal.

The United States already has said it opposes setting up a commission without strict instructions on its working methods.

Stefan Wierblowski, of Poland, introduced the new resolution.

Foreign Minister Andrei Y. Vishinsky of Russia told the committee he had been indisposed for the last few days and that was why he had not been taking part in the debates on disarmament.

Doesn't Explain

Vishinsky did not explain the nature of his illness.

Committee chairman Finn Moe of Norway said Vishinsky had wanted to speak today, but had notified him that he did not feel well enough.

Moe therefore cancelled the committee's scheduled afternoon session to allow Vishinsky to speak Tuesday morning.

Moe said he hoped for a vote on the American-French-British disarmament resolution Tuesday afternoon.

The political committee has been in disagreement over the east and west rearmament proposals for weeks.

UK Freighter Sends Out SOS

NEW YORK, Dec. 17 —(AP)—The 6,006-ton British freighter Chiswick radioed today that she was taking water in her engine room about 600 miles east southeast of Cape Race, Nfld.

The Coast Guard cutter Castle Rock, returning to Boston for Christmas, reversed her course and rushed to the aid of the freighter. She was due to reach her about 3 pm EST.

The Castle Rock reported that winds ranged between 55 and 80 miles an hour and waves reached 40 feet in height.

The Chiswick was bound from Wabana, Nfld., to Liverpool, England with a load of iron ore. She was built in 1943 and is managed by Watts, Watts and Company of London.

The Castle Rock had been on a month-long weather patrol in mid-Atlantic.

Lay Cards On Table

Tell Russia Its Own Acts Force Middle East Pact

WASHINGTON, Dec. 17 (AP) — The United States, Britain, France and Turkey are reported to have agreed to tell Russia in plain language thrt it is responsible for the efforts of free countries to form a new military command in the Middle East.

Russia protested to the four powers several weeks ago that the proposed command is an aggressive agency threatening Soviet security.

Since then there have been exchanges of views among the capitals of the four countries sponsoring the Middle-East Command, and notes have been prepared for delivery to the Soviet foreign office. Announcement of the action is expected within a day or so.

Diplomatic informants said the four powers will emphasize that the command is a voluntary organization, and that once created it will be co-operative in nature.

The Russians are also being told that it is international Communism's record of conduct in the Midle East—against Turkey and Greece particularly—that has created the circumstances in which other nations now find it desirable to unify their defence efforts.

It was learned that actual progress in organization of the command has been slow for many weeks and probably will continue to be so for several months.

The four powers have not been able to agree in detail on the particular kind of organization which should be created or exactly what areas it should cover.

It was learned that the Turks, contrary to original American planning, have insisted that they should in some respects come under Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower's command of North Atlantic Treaty forces in Western Europe when they become members of the Atlantic alliance.

Greece and Turkey were voted into the organization in September, but will not actually become members until the Atlantic Council's decision has been ratified by all 12 present members.

Negotiations have been complicated also by reported disagreement between Ankara and London over whether a British or a Turkish general should head the Middle-East structure when formed.

TRIPS REDS—Maurice Boyzcum, 19, of Montreal, Canada, above, quit the Boy Scouts when he was 15 to join the Communist Party as an undercover agent. Maurice, a detective's son, is credited with helping authorities to cripple Canada's Red movement.

Woman Saves 3 Children In Trenton Fire

TRENTON, Dec. 17.—The cries of a seven-year-old boy and the courage of his mother Saturday saved three children from possible death in the smoke-filled living room of a burning house on Front St. here.

Bobby Lucas who lives at 35 John St., saw smoke pouring from a downstairs window of the home of Mrs. H. Foshay, just around the corner, and summoned his mother. Mrs. Harry Lucas ran to the blazing house, entered the living room and found the Foshay children almost overcome by smoke.

She rushed Bill, 6, and Bernard 4, on to the street, and returned to grab Jenny, 14 months, from a burning couch where she had been lying. Mrs. Lucas had not noticed the infant at first, and when she reached her flames had begun to singe her hair. As a result of Mrs. Lucas' quick action, none of the children was seriously hurt.

Started Near Sofa

Of unknown origin, the fire is believed to have started near the sofa and spread to the curtains in the Foshay's living room. It was first noticed by Edgar Mould, who has an office nearby, and he called for the fire department.

The reels were delayed by traffic however, and firemen believed the children would have been trapped in a matter of minutes if Mrs. Lucas had not acted so quickly. Mrs. Foshay was out of the house at the time.

Although no estimate of damage has yet been set, the interior of the house and much of its contents were badly burned.

After the fire was brought under control, a small kitten, badly scorched, ran out from under the couch.

Weatherman Predicts "Slightly Warmer"

TORONTO, Dec. 17 (CP)—The weatherman today predicted warmer weather Tuesday—well, five degrees warmer, anyway — for most parts of Southern and Central Ontario.

But he said there will be "continuous" snow beginning some time Tuesday afternoon. He declined to guess how many inches—or feet—would fall before the day was out.

Owen Sound reported three feet of snow during the weekend. Kingston credited itself with being the coldest spot in Southern Ontario with a temperature of 21 degrees below zero early Sunday.

Headed Overseas

OTTAWA, Dec. 17. (CP)—Canada's second RCAF squadron to go overseas as part of North Atlantic Treaty Organization commitments, No. 441 of St. Hubert, Que., will leave in February, the Air Force anounced today. No. 441, known as the Silver Fox Squadron, will join No. 410 Cougar Squadron at the RCAF's new fighter wing at North Luffenham, Eng.

Try Limited Freeing Of Sterling

Bank of England Must Approve Exchange Dealings

LONDON, Dec. 17. (AP) — The British government embarked today on a controlled test to see whether the pound sterling will rise or fall within a strictly limited price-fluctuation range.

The Bank of England announced the spot cash price of the pound, still officially pegged at $2.80, will be allowed to bounce as much as two cents either way on a limited "free" foreign exchange market that opened this morning.

Such dealings on a fixed-fee basis has been a monopoly of the state-owned Bank of England since September, 1939.

The foreign exchange transaction may be carried on only by or on behalf of individuals and business firms which have Bank of England approval to spend dollars for such things as necessary imports.

This rules out speculative operations, a feature of the pre-war free exchange market.

Reasonable Limits

Pound - dollar dealings for future delivery of the currency purchased also will be permitted within what the Bank of England regards as reasonable limits.

The bank said spot cash pound would be permitted for the time being to range in value from 10.56 to 10.72 Dutch gilders and from 972 to 988 French francs, in addition to their dollar limits of $2.78 to $2.82.

There is no physical foreign exchange market in Britain. It consists of the foreign exchange departments of more than 100 banks and brokerage houses plus five firms of foreign exchange brokers. They "make" the market by exchange bid and asked prices on a network of interlocking telephone lines.

There was no immediate indication of how the pound was faring in these private transactions.

If the pound shows a serious weakening or a sharp rise in value on a supply-and-demand basis, the Bank of England will step into the market and buy or sell to keep the quotation in line.

War Historian Dies At Nassau

NASSAU, Bahamas, Dec. 17 — (CP).—Hilary Aiden St. Saunders, 53, author and war historian, died here Sunday night.

He wrote a number of novels and historical works, including "The Battle of Britain."

A leading Second World War historian, Saunders wrote five official war diaries, the sales of which totalled 12,000,000 copies.

On the Secretariat of the League of Nations for 17 years, he joined British naval intelligence at the outbreak of the Second World War. He was in France at the time of the German breakthrough and fled to England with his wife and staff.

Joining the Air Ministry in December, 1940, he was assigned to help write communiques and it was upon these that his "Battle of Britain" was based. He wrote it in six weeks.

After that came "Bomber Command," published in October, 1941; "Coastal Command," in 1943; "Air-Sea Rescue" and "Bomber Command Continues."

In 1923, needing money with which to get married, he wrote with a friend, John Palmer, a story called "The Seven Sleepers," largely about Field Marshal Von-hindenburg. This was followed by "The Little Whit Hag" and then with "The Hidden Kingdom."

The stories were written under the pseudonym of Francis Beeding and were so successful that they were followed by a series of more than 30 such books.

Saunders' first wife, whom he married in 1924 and by whom had two children, died in 1937. He married for the second time in 1940.

Arcade Collapses

MEXICO CITY, Dec. 17 (AP)—An ancient stone arcade in suburban Texcoco collapsed on a market-day crowd Sunday, killing eight children and a woman. Twenty-five others were hurt.

BUSY WEEKEND—Warkworth firemen had a busy weekend with two fires where three people were injured, eight left homeless and damage amounted to $30,000. An explosion caused the havoc (above) in the garage of Gordon McCubbin. Firemen fought the flames for several hours, assisted by the Hastings fire department, to keep the blaze from spreading. The ice-coated building is all that remains. —(W. W. Reid Photo)

Court Dismisses Appeal Of Saskatchewan Premier

OTTAWA, Dec. 17. (CP)—The Supreme Court of Canada today dismissed the appeal of Premier Douglas of Saskatchewan and upheld a lower court judgment ordering a new trial in the $100,000 slander and libel action launched against him by Walter Tucker, the province's Liberal leader. The unanimous decision of the Supreme court, which can be appealed to the Imperial Privy Council, was on a case which developed out of the Saskatchewan 1948 provincial election campaign.

Mr. Tucker, a Rosthern, Sask., lawyer, charged that certain statements concerning his business activities, made by the premier during the campaign, were libellous and slanderous.

When a trial judge dismissed his suit for damages, the Liberal leader took the case to the Saskatchewan Court of Appeal which ordered a new trial.

Mr. Douglas appealed to the Supreme Court, claiming that the appeal court erred in directing a new trial, and that the charges against him should be wiped out.

Speech at Meeting

Evidence introduced by Mr. Tucker was that during the campaign Mr. Douglas, Provincial CCF party leader, stated at a public meeting that Mr. Tucker was facing a charge of fraud on which a presiding judge "very conveniently adjourned hearing until after the provincial election."

The statement by Mr. Douglas, published in the Saskatoon Star-Phoenix, dealt with the negotiation of land sales by a company of which Mr. Tucker then was a member.

Mr. Tucker claimed that his "character, credit and reputation" as a lawyer and election candidate had been injured by the utterance of the words:

"The presiding judge very conveniently adjourned hearings until after the provincial election."

Mine Victims Twice Mascot Recovering

ON THE WESTERN FRONT, Korea, Dec. 17 (Reuters).—The Canadian Brigade on this bleak peak-top battleline today issued a special sick report on their mascot "Major"—a dog who was twice blown up by a land mine but still lives to wag his tail.

WO. A. E. Pritchard of Kingston, Ont., said "The entire area around our camp is strewn with mines and Major keeps wandering into them."

The first time Major walked on to a landmine and blew it up he limped back to the mess hall with only a slight leg injury. He was less lucky the second time—a mine paralyzed his hindquarters.

Today's statement proudly announces Major's complete recovery and says he now is "as normal as any other canine."

Town Battles $100,000 Blaze

THESSALON, Dec. 17—(CP)—Volunteer firemen assisted by the Sault Ste. Marie fire department today halted a fire that threatened an entire business block of this Northern Ontario town of 1,500.

Three buildings were destroyed, loss was estimated at $100,000, one family was left homeless and four Great Dane dogs were killed.

The fire, which started in a restaurant at 6 am, was brought under control shortly after 10 o'clock. Flames leaped 50 feet into the sub-zero air as ice-coated firemen battled the fire.

Destroyed were the restaurant, an unoccupied building, and a pet shop in which four Great Danes died in their pens. Mrs. Omere Daoust, owner of the pet shop, carried a budgie and led five other dogs to safety.

Restaurant-owner Mark Ansara estimated his loss at $15,000.

Firemen, ice-armored from water that froze in the sub-zero air almost as soon as it left the hoses, struggled to confine the flames, whipped by a strong wind.

Expect Eden Make Offer Break Egyptian Deadlock

LONDON, Dec. 17 (Reuters).—Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden of Britain will meet Salah El Din Pasha, Egyptian Foreign Minister, in Paris Tuesday to try to break the deadlocked Anglo-Egyptian dispute in the Suez Canal zone.

A foreign office spokesman announced the meeting here today and observers predict, Eden will make a constructive move toward resolving the crisis which followed cancellation by Egypt of the Anglo-Egyptian treaty of 1936.

He arrived in Paris this morning with Prime Minister Churchill of Britain for two days of talks with the French government.

It is believed Eden will indicate Britain's willingness to reopen negotiations to set up a new arrangement in place of the 1936 treaty which Egypt abrogated last October. But he is expected to stress that renewed negotiations must be accompanied by an end to terrorism and threats by Egyptian extremists in the Suez Canal zone.

Sir Ralph Stevenson, British Ambassador in Cairo, Sunday handed Egypt a strong note accusing Egyptian police of murdering four British officers and two soldiers in Ismailia, Canal Zone terror town, last month.

In Cairo today the independent Egyptian newspaper, Al Ahram, suggested France might act as mediator in the Anglo-Egyptian dispute.

At Ismailia, meanwhile, terrorists Sunday night took pot shots at a houseboat on nearby Lake Timsah used by Air Marshal Sir John Baker, commander-in-chief of the British Middle East Air Force.

RAF sentries returned fire and the shooting stopped. There were no casualties.

Explosion In Garage Keeps Firefighters On Job For Hours

WARKWORTH, Dec. 17. — (ENS)—Two fires that broke out within 12 hours of each other caused a weekend toll in the Warkworth district of three persons injured and $30,000 property damage.

Gordon McCubbin was badly burned about the face and hands Saturday night when gasoline exploded as he worked on a car. Flames destroyed his commercial garage, and badly damaged his upstairs apartment and two cars.

Early Sunday morning—while the Warkworth pumper was still frozen from working on the McCubbin fire—fire broke out at the Percy township farm home of Thomas Rogers, a mile west of the village.

Mr. Rogers, who was working out at the barn, heard one of his three young sons shout that the house was on fire. Unable to get into the burning kitchen, he smashed a window at the front of the house, climbed in and groped through the smoke-filled building and found five-months-old Joseph nearly suffocated in his baby carriage.

Gets Out Of House

Mr. Rogers threw a coat over the baby and ran out of the house, choking from the smoke and nearly overcome with the heat. While reaching for the baby he burned his hands on the metal framework of the carriage.

The baby was taken to Civic Hospital and treated for first and second degree burns on the head, face and right arm. His condition today is satisfactory, hospital authorities say.

As a result of the two fires eight people are homeless. They have had to take temporary shelter with relatives or friends.

Explosion At Garage

Gasoline fumes that reached the fire in a wood stove started the first fire, about 10.30 pm Saturday.

Mr. McCubbin was using an air pressure hose to clear the gas line

No Progress In Truce Talks

MUNSAN, Korea, Dec 17 (AP) —Truce negotiators haggled over prisoner exchange and armistice supervision again today. A United Nations' spokesman said results were "absolutely negative."

"No progress," said the UN communique.

Only ten days remain before the provisional cease-fire line across Korea expires.

Brig-Gen. William P. Nuckols, UN spokesman, said the Communists have not asked for an extension beyond the Dec. 27 deadline. Neither have the Allies. Both groups have agreed to meet again Tuesday at 11 am (9 pm EST on Monday.)

An Allied radio broadcast from Tokyo Monday night said acceptance of Red demands for blanket exchange of war prisoners might sentence some allied soldiers "to life in Communist slave labor camps."

French Academy Pays Tribute To Mr. King

PARIS, Dec 17 (CP).—Tribute was paid today to the late W. L. Mackenzie King, Canadian Prime Minister, by the French Academy of Moral and Political Sciences.

Academy Secretary Francois Buisson eulogized before the Academy on King, one of the 12 members in its foreign section.

"The story of his life is inseparable from the story of Canada and his growing glory reflects the increasing importance of his country among the great world powers," Buisson said.

Membership in the academy is one of France's highest honors. King's seat in the foreign section has not yet been filled although Gen. George Vanier, Canada's Ambassador to France, was recently elected to fill one of the places. He succeeded the late Maurice Maeterlinck, Belgian author.

Two Die In Apartment Fire

STREETSVILLE, Ont., Dec. 17. (CP) —Wilfred Amos, 30, and his wife, Rita, 28, were burned to death early Sunday, minutes after they had saved their five-year-old son, Peter from their blazing apartment home. Eleven other residents escaped in night attire into five-below-zero weather after being awakened by two youths who noticed flames shooting from the top windows of the three-storey apartment building in the community about 20 miles northwest of Toronto. The building was gutted and damage was estimated at $60,000. Mrs. Amos handed her son to her mother, Mrs. Danilo Thomas, who lived in the same building. Mrs. Thomas went outside, thinking the Amos's were following. It was not until an hour later that it was realized they were still inside.

Firemen from three brigades fought the fire for six hours, hampered by low water pressure and freezing cold.

Here Three Years

Amos was a linotype operator employed in West Toronto. He and his wife came from England three years ago.

Jack Evans and Orville Griffiths, of Streetsville, noticed flames shooting from third-floor windows shortly after midnight They raced up and down stairs in the building awakening the sleeping occupants.

Cause of the fire is unknown The body of Mrs. Amos was found in an uncollapsed section of the third floor and her husband's body was discovered in the rubble of the second floor.

Canadians Spend Weekend Shivering In Cold Wave

By The Canadian Press

Winter holds all Canada in an icy grip. Record low temperatures have been reported from every corner of the country, just 11 days after unseasonable balmy breezes shattered record highs, a Canadian Press survey shows. In Ontario, Sunday temperatures hovered near 10 above all along the lower lakes and near 10 below in northern sections. Biting winds drifted the eight to 10 inches of snow which fell Friday, the first real blizzard of the season.

William Elder, 29, of Edmonton, was frozen to death in 20-below-zero weather. He collapsed after walking 14 miles toward the Northern Alberta town of Lac La Biche after his car had stalled.

Snow fell Sunday night along the Pacific coast. Telegraph Creek, BC hit 25 below zero while Snag, in the Yukon, reported 48 below and Saskatoon 25 below zero.

Blizzard At Montreal

A blizzard struck an unprepared Montreal Saturday, covering the district with about 10 inches of snow.

Traffic was snarled for hours, firemen were at their busiest and police handled hundreds of accidents.

The mercury dropped to near zero.

Bad flying weather Sunday cancelled an RCAF air defence command training exercise in the city.

On the Great Lakes, navigation closed as the cold struck. The S.S. Hagarty was the last ship to clear the Lakehead and lock through the Sault Ste. Marie canal.

Maritime regions reported heavy snow, high winds and sub-zero temperatures. Saint John, NB, reported eight inches and Fredericton 10.

Throughout Eastern Canada some trains ran more than an hour late due to drifting snow clogging switches.

The Weather

Sunny and a little milder today and Tuesday. Winds southwest 15. Low tonight and high Tuesday at Killaloe 5 below and 10 above.

The Pearl and the Price

Most people know the parable of the "pearl of great price," and the man who sold all that he had to buy it (Matt. 1346).

Have you ever asked yourself what it meant?

The "price" is our surrender of the afflictive human thinking causing our troubles. How to give up these human fears, how to grasp and find freedom would indeed be "the pearl."

The way of this liberating understanding is explained fully in the Christian Science text-book, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy. Whoever will put its statements to the test will find this great Science of Christianity to be demonstrable.

Science and Health may be read or obtained at all Christian Science Reading Rooms The coupon is also for your use.

Disease Strikes Poultry In US

OTTAWA, Dec. 17—(CP)—The Agriculture Department today reports that some poultry flocks in Nova Scotia which recently were vaccinated against Newcastle disease have developed a form of the disease.

In a statement, the department said its health of animals division is carrying on laboratory work "to determine the true nature of the problem."

"While outbreaks of the disease should be considered serious in the individual flocks affected, the situation as a whole is not considered alarming," it added.

The statement urged poultry owners to take precautions against the spread of the disease by not allowing visitors on poultry premises and by not adding new birds to the flock unless they come from sources known to be free of the disease.

Grove School Boys Hold Carol Service

The Grove School, Lakefield, held its annual carol service late Sunday afternoon and the school chapel was thronged for it. The school attended in full force and voice, and many parents and guests from the village, Peterborough and distant centres came to take part in the service and hear the school and choir.

More than fifteen carols and hymns were sung, and interspersing these were nine lessons on the Christmas theme. The headmaster, G. Winder Smith, read the first lesson and boys of the school, from prefects to junior formers took most of the others. The Magnificat, sung by the school choir, was Stanford's in B Flat. Edgar Moore, chaplain of the school, read the prayers.

The mass of sound which filled the chapel during carol singing was impressive. Choir and school sang with enthusiasm, fine rhythm and good familiarity with difficult and lesser known carols. Christopher Gledhill directed the music and played the organ.

Train Derailment Blocks Main Line

HORNEPAYNE, Dec. 17—(CP) —The Canadian National Railways main line from Winnipeg to North Bay, was blocked Sunday when 18 cars of an eastbound freight train jumped the tracks at nearby White Otter. A broken rail is said to have caused the accident.

The freight was carrying 30 loaded cars and one empty when a broken rail sent the 18 cars off the track. Railway officials said it would take 15 to 18 hours to clear the track, and through trains were being rerouted through Hearst and Oba. Of the 18 cars that went off the track 16 were badly damaged. No one was injured in the accident, which happened at 8:20 Sunday morning.

Unmarried Mother Held For Stealing

HAMILTON, Dec. 17—(CP)— Pearl Catharine Toulouse, 19-year-old unmarried mother from Windsor, today pleaded guilty to charges of stealing money and jewellery valued at approximately $1,500 from Hamilton boarding houses.

She said she had gone to Hamilton to be with her boy friend, who was to provide a home for her and their baby.

Evidence showed that the woman lived in two boarding houses here and stole money and jewellery belonging to the landladies and boarders.

She was remanded until Friday when the boy friend is to be present in court.

Obituary

A. FRASER MOFFATT

KEENE, Dec. 17 — The death occurred in an Ottawa hospital on Sunday of A. Fraser Moffatt after a lengthy illness. Mr. Moffatt was born in Nova Scotia 42 years ago, the son of Andrew and Ruby Fraser, and has been treasurer of the Ottawa Civic Hospital for the last three years.

There survive his wife, Mary Nelson, of Keene, two sons, Don and Teddy, and one daughter, Sue. Also one sister, Mrs. Mary Terry, of Aneroid, Saskatchewan.

The body is at the A. E. Veitch and Son funeral home, 453 Parkdale Ave., Ottawa, for service on Tuesday at 9.30 am, thence to the United Church, Keene, for service at 3 pm Tuesday, with burial in Keene cemetery. The Rev. H .B. Herrington, of Keene United Church, will officiate.

UN Warns Reds Kaesong Road Will Be Attacked

MUNSAN, Korea, Dec. 17 (AP) —The United Nations' command today warned the Communists that improperly-identified vehicles on the Pyongyang-Kaesong road will be attacked by UN planes starting Tuesday.

The highway from the North Korean capital—Pyongyang — to Kaesong, the Reds' advance truce talks base, has been restricted by agreement to Communist official vehicles carrying cerise-colored panels.

Brig.-Gen. William P. Nuckols, UN spokesman, told Communist liaison officers that 18 to 20 unidentified vehicles a day have been spotted moving down the main Red supply route.

Up to now the road has been guaranteed freedom from an air attack for two convoys daily.

Communist truce vehicles themselves will remain free from attack, Nuckols told reporters

Road Watched

The warning was made in a meeting of liaison officers, Nuckols said. The road has been under constant watch for two weeks.

"This trickle of supplies," Nuckols said, "has been overlooked but the warning was issued to avoid an unpleasantness."

The UN agreed that six vehicles a day moving down the road from Pyongyang would be allowed, provided the vehicles are properly identified.

"The Comunists were merely advised of this action," Nuckols said, as it had already been in the province of the Fifth Air Force to attack vehicles not properly marked.

There were no hog prices established.

Lambs sold steady at $32.25 for good ewes and wethers with bucks selling at $1 discount. Common to medium light sheep brought $10-$15.

MONTREAL LIVESTOCK

MONTREAL, Dec. 17—(CP)— Light receipts moved slowly today on the Montreal livestock markets, and prices were steady.

Receipts were 641 cattle, 566 calves, 540 sheep and lambs and 525 hogs.

Light cattle offerings, consisting mostly of cows, moved slowly.

Flaming Airliner

MORE ABOUT—

The pilot seemed to realize his trouble and turned the plane around to go back to Newark. But its plume of black smoke mushroomed into ghastly vivid orange flames above the crowded business heart of Elizabeth.

The plane seemed to explode in the air and a wing dropped off.

The remnants of the plane tumbled in a blaze of junk into the Elizabeth River at the bottom of a 25-foot, trash-clogged ravine.

Severe 20-degree cold froze hoses as firemen played water on the wreckage.

Only the tail of the plane remained partially intact.

Corpses were laboriously edged up the icy, slippery sides of the ravine as daylight gave way to darkness.

Ambulances and a bus moved them to an Elizabeth morgue.

Find Prices Mixed On Toronto Exchange

TORONTO, Dec. 17 (CP)—Irregular support today held early afternoon stock market prices mixed and trendless.

Industrials made little headway. Refining oils drew moderate support to form the market's strongest section. Retail stores weakened. Steels dipped sharply.

Activity slowed abruptly after a brief opening flurry. Penny golds drew interest and a scattered list of lower-priced western oils showed large turnovers.

Falconbridge and Hudson Bay slipped fractions among leaders while International Nickel edged upward. Pend Oreille, Labrador and Steep Rock dipped sharply. East Sullivan, Golden Manitou, Sherritt-Gordon and United Asbestos posted advances ranging to about 15 cents.

In western oils, Calvan Consolidated, Central Explorers, Devon-Leduc, Pan Western, Redpic and Sapphire strengthened while Anglo-Canadian, Central-Leduc, Model Oil, North Canadian, General Petroleum and Western Leaseholds weakened.

Senior golds pushed upwards. Giant Yellowknife, Malartic, McIntyre, Sigma, Teck Hughes and Wright-Hargreaves climbed moderately.

The few sales were not enough to establish a market.

The few vealers offered brought steady prices, with good quality at 38-39 and common and medium 30-37. Grassers were steady at 24-29 with some yearlings at 21-22.

Early sales of lambs were made at 31-32 and common 25-30. Sheep ranged from 12-20 according to quality.

Hog prices were not established.

BUFFALO LIVESTOCK

BUFFALO, NY, Dec. 17 (AP) —Cattle 700; good dairy type cows, 22.00-23.50; cutters, 19.50-21.00; fat yellow cows, 15.00-21.00; canners, 15.00-18.50; good dairy type heifers for slaughter, 25.00-27.00; common heifers, 22.00-24.00. Sausage bulls, 25.50-29.50.

Calves 100; choice calves 42.00-43.00; good calves, 40.00-41.00; mediums, 37.00-39.00; culls, 32.00-35.00; bobs, 23.00-32.00.

Hogs 1,400; handyweight rail hogs, 20.00-20.50. Rail butchers, 19.00-20.00. Good to choice 175-250 lb. nearby handyweight hogs, 17.00-20.00; sows 13.00-15.50.

Sheep and lambs 100; choice to prime ewe and wether lambs, 32.00; choice, 31.50; medium and good, 28.00-29.00; feeder type, 26.00-27.00; choice handyweight sheep, 14.00.

PIONEER PLANT

The livestock insect laboratory at Lethbridge, Alta., was the first of its kind in Canada.

Pair Found In Car In Serious Condition

KINGSTON, Dec. 17—(CP)— Lena Peters, 17, of Gibson's Hill, and Merrill Hamilton, 20, of Verona, were in "very serious condition" in hospital today after they were discovered Sunday in a carbon monoxide-filled car parked near Verona, about 20 miles northwest of here.

They were found by the Rev. Thomas Richardson, of Verona, who took them to hospital after he failed to revive them.

It is believed they had been parked on the side of the highway for at least 12 hours. Neighbors reported seeing the old model car about 10.30 pm Saturday.

on a car owned by George Grills, Percy township. Mr. Grills' car was parked inside the garage, beside a second car, owned by Mr. McCubbin.

The gas tank of Mr. Grills' car suddenly burst and gasoline fumes began to seep through the garage. When the fumes came to the wood fire burning in one corner of the garage they ignited.

There was an explosion and Mr. McCubbin, still bent over the engine of the Grills' car, was enveloped in flame.

Suffers Burns

His hat and clothes were singed and he received burns on the face and hands. Medical treatment was given by Dr. S. B. Brintnell, Warkworth. And until other accommodations can be arranged Mr. McCubbin and his wife, Dorothy, are living at the doctor's home.

A daughter Ruth, 14, is staying at the home of a school chum in the village.

A careful estimate has not yet been made of the loss, but it is tentatively set at $25,000.

The garage was gutted and just how many tools and other equipment can be salvaged is not yet known. The whole interior is caked with ice.

Both cars were pulled out of the garage, but not in time. The Grills' car is a total loss and Mr. McCubbin's car is also badly damaged.

Upstairs, the apartment is badly damaged. The whole building may have to be rebuilt.

Thawed Out

Clothing and furnishings that escaped the flames were covered with a thick layer of ice. Sunday morning neighbors took the family's belongings to the Legion hall where they could be thawed out and dried.

The Warkworth fire brigade laid three lines from the Warkworth pond in an effort to stem the blaze. From time to time firemen, covered with ice as they worked in the sub-zero temperature, would go into a nearby store to get warm and thaw out their frozen clothing.

Hastings Sends Help

The Hastings fire brigade was called but did not arrive until nearly midnight. They joined forces with the Warkworth brigade and volunteers to see that the flames did not spread.

They remained on the job until 5 am Sunday.

Less than six hours later the second fire was reported at the farm home of Thomas Rogers, a mile west of the village. The pumper was frozen and could not be used.

There has been no explanation of what started the fire at the Rogers' home.

Mr. Rogers was away at the barn doing his morning chores and Mrs. Rogers was also away from the house, feeding a flock of geese. The three children—Gary, 4; John, 2; and Joseph, five months —were left inside.

Child Sounds Alarm

Mrs. Rogers told neighbors that she had only left them a few minutes when young Gary came running out of the house shouting: "Mummy, Mummy, the house is on fire."

Gary was followed by John.

The father heard the alarm and ran to the kitchen door to get the baby. He was forced back by thick smoke and leaping flames.

Next he ran to the front of the house, broke a window and climbed in. He wasn't sure where the baby's carriage was and he couldn't see clearly because of the swirling smoke.

"I heard a bit of a 'squawk'," he said. "That drew my attention to him."

Almost Suffocated

The baby was lying in his cradle almost suffocated. The heat was so intense that Mr. Rogers burnt his hands on the metal framework of the carriage as he reached in to lift the baby out.

He threw a coat over the baby to shield it from the smoke and heat and then he raced out of the house. Once outside he handed it to his wife and she went to the home of a neighbor, Cecil Wartman.

Mrs. Rogers turned in the alarm at the Wartman home. Later she and her husband accompanied the baby to hospital. They were driven into Peterborough by another neighbor, John Weatherson.

Lose Everything

All the furniture, clothing and other possession of the family were lost in the fire. They only have left the clothes they were wearing when forced to leave the house.

Neighbors formed a bucket brigade and water was constantly poured on a nearby garage and tool shed to prevent them from catching fire as well. A tractor and car were rolled out of the garage as a precaution.

Loss to the Rogers family is estimated at $7,000—half of it insured.

Until other arrangements can be made they are staying at the farm home of John Rogers, Mr. Rogers' father, who lives half a miles west of the village.

Mr. Rogers was recently operated on for appendicitis and he had only just resumed doing the chores at the farm.

250 Children See Yule Puppet Show

The first presentation of the Christmas puppet show sponsored by the Public Library was held Saturday at the branch library with approximately 250 youngsters present.

The show included two Christmas plays, The Night Before Christmas, and Three Wishes, as well as individual numbers by puppet singers and dancers.

The voices behind the puppets for Saturday's show were Miss Lillian Wesley, boys' and girls' department librarian, and Robert Howden.

The puppets were made by Mrs. J. R. Henderson assisted by Mrs. Peter Tuck, both of the branch library.

During this week there will be several performances of this puppet show at various city organizations' Christmas activities.

The Polish delegation had mapped out its course in hints during the weekend. It revived the persistent Soviet demands for a UN Assembly declaration for immediate prohibition of atomic weapons and a one-third cut in armed forces by Britain, France, the US, Russia and China.

The Western Big Three insist that controlled disarmament by stages and an eventual ban on atomic weapons is the only way to proceed.

Study Changes

Meanwhile the political committee voted to take up Soviet charges that the US is supporting anti-Kremlin elements in Soviet-controlled areas as the next item on its agenda.

"The charge is as spurious as it is false," US delegate Philip C. Jessup told the committee.

The charges are based on Soviet claims that the US Mutual Security Act adopted by Congress last October appropriated $100,000,000 to aid and arm Red traitors on Soviet territory.

US Deputy Sheriff Held In Shooting

DETRIT, Dec. 17 — (CP) — John L. Ryan, 53, allegedly shot and wounded his wife and killed her male companion when he found them together at his wife's home Sunday night.

Ryan, a deputy sheriff and a justice of the peace and an ex-convict, sobbed his confession to police while his wife Eva, 38, lay on an operating table and her companion, Conrad King, 36, lay dead with five bullet wounds.

He said he shot the two because "they were trying to take my children from me." There are four Ryan children, aged from 14 to 21. Ryan and his wife had been living separately for a year.

Street Runs Blood

MEXICO CITY, Dec. 17 (AP) —A riot broke out in Mexico City's night-life district Sunday night. It was so bad that police sanded the bloody street when it was over. Twenty persons were knocked out by flying bottles. Police said it started when a policeman upbraided a Mexican on leave from the United States Army. There were no arrests.

US Jets Have Margin Of 10 To 1 In Victories

WASHINGTON, Dec. 17 (AP) —The US air force said today the F-86 Sabre jet has a margin of 10 to 1 in victories over the Communist MIG-15 in Korea.

Noting that today is the anniversary of the Sabre jet's first combat use, an air force spokesman said the Far East command reported that through Dec. 14 the fourth fighter wing destroyed 130 MIGS, probably destroyed 20 and damaged 143.

The air force officer said only 14 Sabre jets were lost.

In addition the fourth wing is credited with bagging 11 Communist planes of other types — eight TU-2 twin-engine jet bombers and three LA-9 fighters.

Life Imprisonment

PUSAN, Korea, Dec. 17. (Reuters)—A South Korean military court at Taegu Sunday sentenced two officers to life imprisonment and another to three years for their part in a massacre of alleged Communist sympathizers in February. A South Korean battalion commander ordered 187 villagers to be executed after being tried on charges of collaborating with Communist guerrilias.

Commons Faces Stormy Session On Resale Bill

OTTAWA, Dec. 17 (CP)—The government, running into a series of political storms in this lingering fall session of parliament, will face another big blow in the Commons today as it proceeds with its plans to ban resale price maintenance.

The Progressive Conservative opposition, through its tactics in committee hearing of the legislation, has made it clear the measure is in for a rough legislative ride.

Saturday night, as the House rose from its first weekend sitting of the session, the government announced its plans to proceed today with the legislation, which prohibits the practice of manufacturers in setting the retail price at which their products can be sold.

The Progressive Conservatives say they will accept the bill only with an accompanying prohibition or "loss leader" selling.

More Trouble

The government ran into another Commons uprising Saturday over its proposal to dispense with the calling of tenders for the construction of public works in times of emergency.

The three opposition parties united in a drive against the legislation, contending it would throw the protection of the tender system "out the window," and Works Minister Fournier indicated he may be willing to compromise on the bill.

"I have been thinking over what was said by the opposition and perhaps we may amend it to meet their wishes in part anyway," he told the chamber.

The chamber adopted four other bills dealing with guarantees for loans to needy prairie farmers; the purchase of equipment by Canadian National Railways; the streamlining of the financial administration of the government and the salaries of the Civil Service Commission.

The three opposition leaders joined in hammering the government proposal on public works' tenders.

Lose Protection

George Drew, Progressive Conservative leader, contended the legislation would "tear away completely" the protection afforded by the tender system. It already had moved in that direction by setting up the St. Lawrence seaway authority, empowered to spend millions, without providing that tenders need be called for construction of the project.

M. J. Coldwell, CCF leader, warned there will be regrets later if the House approves the legislation.

Solon Low, Social Credit leader, said the bill throws "out the window" the protection provided for the taxpayer in the tender system. The House would be "derelict" in its duty if it adopted the legislation.

John Diefenbaker (PC—Lake Centre) said the government's move was a "retrograde, dangerous step" that would place the public administration of the country "at the mercy of the friends of the government."

Offer New Course For Able Seamen

LONDON, Ont., Dec. 17 (CP)— A new course qualifying ordinary seamen as able seamen will be started for the first time in an inland naval reserve division at HMCS Prevost after the New Year, Lieut. H. J. Russell, staff officer, said today.

Two other courses for new entries and a refresher course for veterans will be started at the same time. The courses coincided with a recruiting drive by the navy inteded to double strength here, Lieut. Russell said.

The new course is a quartermaster's. With a two week summer cruise, it will allow an ordinary seaman to qualify as able seaman.

Churchill, Eden Visit France For Conference

LONDON, Dec. 17 (Reuters)—Prime Minister Winston Churchill set out Sunday night for France to convince the government that he has not sold the idea of a united Europe down the river.

The night ferry train from London was held up at Sevenoaks, Kent, to pick up the Prime Minister whose Westerham country home is only a few miles away.

Churchill and Foreign Secretary Eden are due in Paris this morning. In their talks with Premier Pleven and Foreign Minister Schuman, they will undoubtedly exchange views on matters which will be raised when Churchill visits Washington next month. Many of the same subjects might also come in their later visit to Ottawa.

Federation Big Topic

European federalism will loom large because Continental Europe has seen its hopes dashed after thinking that Churchill's October election victory would help bring Britain into the proposed United States of Europe.

Churchill is expected to tell the French government that he will not undermine French efforts to create a federated European defence community. However, he will reiterate that Britain will not take part in Pleven's European army, at present the subject of negotiations among France, Italy, Western Germany, Belgium, the Netherlands and Luxembourg.

Another topic in Paris—and for Washington next month—will be Korea. Churchill and Pleven will talk over how a political settlement could be negotiated if the Panmunjom armistice talks lead to a cease-fire.

Marmora Youth Heads Class At RCAF School

MARMORA, Dec. 17 — (ENS)—AC2 Donald Earl McNutt, son of Mr. and Mrs. Isaac McNutt of Marmora graduated recently as honor student at the RCAF Radar and Communication School, Clinton, Ontario.

AC2 McNutt is an armament system technician, stood first in his class and obtained a "pass with credit" mark of 79.9 per cent. He joined the RCAF in March of this year. At the graduation the Commanding Officer commended him very highly on the excellent standing he has achieved on his course.

2½ Tons Food, $1,400 Collected By Optimists

Through donations by telephone calls and by admission to the annual Optimist club hamper show at the Brock St. arena, the club this year collected two-and-a-half tons of food and $1400.

President John Pierce, today when announcing the totals, said the results were "gratifying" and wished to thank everyone who took part, the donors and the artists who took part in the three-hour program.

He especially thanked Miss Toronto of 1951, Miss Ruth Carrier and Toronto radio announcer, Wally Crouter formerly of CHEX, for donating their time.

Equalled Last Year

The foodstuffs and money from Sunday's show equalled last year's proceeds, "which is just as well, for the need is much greater than it has been for some years", added Mr. Pierce. Everything has been turned over to welfare agencies for distribution to needy Peterborough families for a happy Christmas day.

Mayor Max J. Swanston opened the show by introducing Miss Toronto who appealed for public support and helped with the reception of food at the door. She signed more than 100 autographs during the show.

A bouquet of flowers, presented to Miss Carrier, were distributed later by her to some children at the Civic hospital.

Once again the huge Christmas cake, donated by the Canada Bread Company, was the highlight of the afternoon. For two hours people called in contribution bids for the cake and just before the final minute it was won by a donation of $200 by Donald McGillis. The cake brought in over $350 and was later delivered to Mr. McGillis by Miss Toronto. It will be distributed later by the club.

"The boys of the club have put a lot of time and energy into this show", said Mr. Pierce, "and in spite of some early misgivings can rightfully feel proud of its results."

Anyone who still wants to make a contribution to the fund can leave it at the Imperial Bank on George St. Boy Scouts and Rovers working with members of the Commercial Travellers Association helped out by collecting money from the people who phoned in their contributions.

LUXURIOUS HOTEL-LIKE BARRACKS have been opened for men of leading seamen rate and below at HMCS Stadacona in Halifax. The block, able to accommodate 800 seamen with four men to a cabin in peacetime—and double that number in wartime—has wet and dry canteens, billiard room, reading room and lounge, laundries and drying rooms, and a cafeteria that can feed 584 persons at a sitting. Bruce Post Dies, Operated Tourist Resort

HAVELOCK, Dec. 17 (ENS). — The news of the sudden death of Bruce Post, 58, early Saturday morning came as a shock to the residents of the village, many of whom had met him during Friday and he appeared in his usual health.

Mr. Post suffered a heart attack about midnight on Friday and passed away in the early hours of Saturday morning. A native of Oak Lake, he operated a summer resort there and was widely known, especially to the tourists from USA, who visited this district. He was a mechanic by trade.

A son of Frederick Post of Oak Lake, and the late Mrs. Post, formerly Melissa Whitney, Mr. Post moved to Havelock from Oak Lake 15 years ago, but continued to operate his summer resort there. He is an adherent of Havelock United Church and a member of the Havelock-Belmont Branch No. 38 of the Canadian Legion, being a veteran of World War I. He enlisted with the 8th Canadian Mounted Rifles and transferred to the 4th Battalion of the same unit overseas.

Surviving besides his father, who is 86, are his widow, formerly Laura Whitney, one daughter Betty of Havelock, two sisters, Mrs. Gordon McClure (Beatrice), of Lindsay; Mrs. Albert Selkirk (Irene), of Peterborough; three brothers, Isaac and Maxwell of Oak Lake and Henry of Markham.

A military funeral was held on Monday afternoon under auspices of the Havelock-Belmont Branch No. 389 of the Canadian Legion. The service in the Legion hall was conducted by the Rev. R. D. Duncanson of Knox Presbyterian church, the Legion padre, and the Rev. R. G. Newman of Havelock United Church. Burial was in Maple Grove cemetery.

Millard Says Press Confusing Public

HAILEYBURY, Dec. 17 (CP)—C. H. Millard, national director of the United Steelworkers of America (CIO-CCL) said Sunday night that the press of Canada has a great responsibility which it is not discharging, and is confusing the public regarding the role of unions.

He spoke at a banquet here at the concusion of a three-day educational institute conducted by the union. More than 100 union members from Northern Ontario attended.

He criticized full-page advertisements reporting views of bank presidents and stating that greater production is needed.

"In London (Ont.) 600 persons have been laid off at plant producing electric refrigeration units, and at the same time, 102,000 units are imported from the United States," he said. "I suppose everybody in Canada must have a refrigerator, or it doesn't look as if increased production is the solu-

Dorothy Dix Dies At 90 Spent Life On Love Column

NEW ORLEANS, Dec. 17 (AP)—Dorothy Dix, known to millions of newspaper readers as a conductor of a heartbreak column, died Sunday.

Miss Dix, in private life Mrs. Elizabeth Meriweather Gilmer, had suffered a stroke about 2½ years ago.

Reference books listed her age as 81, but associates said she was actually 90 when she died. She was a native of Montgomery County, Tenn.

Funeral services are planned for Tuesday.

During the half century that her syndicated column was published, her humor and understanding drew the confidence of men and women from all corners of the globe.

"People tell me things," she once said, "that you would think they wouldn't even tell to God."

Had Hard Life

Behind the cheerful exterior was a career torn by misfortune. She married at 18. Her husband, George O. Gilmer, was incurably stricken two years after their marriage and for 35 years, until his death, she nursed him and carried on her writings. There were no children.

She entered newspaper work through a coincidence. Shortly after her husband became ill, she suffered a breakdown and was taken by her family to Bay St. Louis, Miss. Her next-door neighbor was to be Mrs Eliza Jane Nicholson, owner and editor of the old New Orleans Picayune.

One day Mrs. Gilmer showed Mrs. Nicholson a story she had written about an incident on the family plantation. Mrs. Nicholson bought the story and launched Mrs. Gilmer on a journalistic career, which included coverage of sensational murder stories. Meanwhile the column, Dorothy Dix Talks, was started.

Loved It

"I lived newspapers, I ate newspapers, I dreamed newspapers," she told biographers, "and I daresay I shall go on doing this until I die, for when you are born with the thirst for printer's ink, there is no cure for it until death writes '30' at the bottom of your life work."

She conducted the Dorothy Dix column until shortly before she became ill, when others carried on for her. Associates said her will provides that after her death the column is not to appear under her name. The future of the column has not been determined.

DOROTHY DIX DIES—Writer of an advice column to the lovelorn for many years, Dorothy Dix died over the weekend after a long illness. She was 90 years old.

A Beam On The Utilities

The coloured lights which the Utilities Commission have strung across the down-town streets are charming. The strings have been carefully suspended in uniform curves; the colours are not garish and higgledy-piggledy but limited to alternate reds and greens on each string. The effect is graceful as well as cheerful. We compliment the Utilities and their workers on their good taste in thus so pleasantly adorning the streets for the two festivals ahead. It is a delight to come out into the street and under the fantasy of these lights glowing in the clear clean wintry night. The town is beaming and we have pleasure in reflecting the beam to the Utilities Commission and its management.

This is the first Christmas season since the war, if our memory serves correctly, that we have not had black-outs, dim-outs, or at least stern injunctions to save hydro power. Until this year it was either illegal or seemed sinful to have full shop-window lighting and outdoor ornaments like lighted Christmas trees and twinkling street banners. True, the chairman of the Hydro Electric Power Commission made a mild appeal last month not to waste power, but as Christmas comes directly upon us, the cheerful glow has not been spattered by raucous admonitions against lighting our darkness. This is a measure of the success of the great Hydro effort to provide more power.

In our editorial last Friday on milk prices we said that the price of milk has gone up 210 per cent since the end of the war. The statement should have been: the price of milk is now 210 per cent. of the 1945 price. The increase is 110 per cent., i.e. eleven cents. In the spring of 1945 milk sold at 10 cents a quart. It is now 21 cents. As we remarked in the editorial the retail price of milk was subsidized. The subsidy was two cents a quart, paid to the processing dairies. There was also a subsidy to dairy farmers which amounted to about two cents. When the subsidy was removed after V.E. day, the retail price went up immediately to twelve cents. Our point is still that householders who in 1945 paid ten cents a bottle now must pay 21 cents, which is 210 per cent. of the price they paid in 1945.

A Charter Of Canadian Freedom

Whereas the delegates of His Majesty's Government in the United Kingdom, the Dominion of Canada, the Commonwealth of Australia, the Dominion of New Zealand, the Union of South Africa, the Irish Free State and Newfoundland, at Imperial Conference holden at Westminster in the years of our Lord nineteen hundred and twenty-six and nineteen hundred and thirty did concur in making the declarations and resolutions . . .

Twenty years ago last week the Statute of Westminster was passed. It was the final great British document in a noble series which chartered the freedom of the Canadian people. When he signed Magna Carta, 1215, the Great Charter of Liberties, the King recognized the rights of his subjects. In Bill of Rights, 1689, William and Mary accepted their thrones from the Lords and Commons, thereby establishing a constitutional monarchy. By the Mayflower Compact of 1620 and the Ordinance of Virginia, 1621, the people of the two colonies set up representative government of their own, thus laying the basis of colonial self-government. Lord Durham's Report on the Affairs of British North America, 1839, declares responsible self-government as a right of the colony of Canada, with the Governor subject to the will of the Canadian Parliament. The British North America Act, 1867, established Canada as a nation. The Statute of Westminster, 1931, constitutionally declared the British Commonwealth to be an equal partnership of self-determining Dominions.

The Statute passed by the British Parliament followed the Imperial Conference of 1926 and 1930. In the Great War the Dominions shared the burden of the struggle. The recognition of their equality of status with Great Britain came when the Dominions became members of the League of Nations. At the 1926 Conference the "position and mutual relation" of the Dominions and the United Kingdom was defined: "They are autonomous Communities within the British Empire, equal in status, in no way subordinate one to another in any respect of their domestic or external affairs, though united by common allegiance to the Crown, and freely associated as members of the British Commonwealth of Nations." The Statute of Westminster, enacted in 1931, gave formal and detailed expression of this status of Canada and the other Dominions. It completed the achievement of Britain and the British people in securing personal liberty and political freedom under the British flag; it was the crowning development in the greatest and most enduring Empire that history has ever known.

The Statute of Westminster seems to emphasize the negative character of the Commonwealth relationships; a dropping of all legal and tangible bonds. The dependent colonies have become independent nations. But behind the negations of the Statute is a positive force. As the Committee of the 1926 Imperial Conference reported:

"No account, however accurate, of the negative relations in which Great Britain and the Dominions stand to each other can do more than express a portion of the truth. The British Empire is not founded upon negations. It depends essentially, if not formally, on positive ideals. Free institutions are its life-blood. Free co-operation is its instrument. Peace, security and progress are among its objects . . . And, though every Dominion is now, and must always remain, the sole judge of the nature and extent of its co-operation, no common cause will, in our opinion, be thereby imperilled."

Only eight years after the Statute of Westminster was passed, this opinion was fully justified when the Dominions, of their own free will, made immediate common cause with the Mother Country, in the war which threatened her and the world.

Santa Claus And The U.S. Civil Service

The widening "influence" scandals in the United States have inspired a new regulation governing acceptance of gifts by civil servants which should seriously handicap Santa Claus. This regulation, according to Douglas Larsen, Washington correspondent for NEA and this newspaper, says that no Christmas gift may be accepted by a Government employee unless clearances have been secured from two inter-departmental committees, in triplicate, countersigned by four Cabinet members, and stamped by the chaplain of the Senate. This Mr. Larsen relates, has led to a number of silly and embarrassing situations.

One firm doing a lot of business with the Government has been accustomed to send memorandum pads, with the firm name printed on them, to Government officials. It did so this year—and the pads have been going back to the company, some accompanied by explanatory letters. Another company had its calendars returned, so fearful are some officials. And an Army procurement officer is reported to be worried, seriously, as to whether he should accept a gift from his wife; she is a stenographer for a firm which has some defence contracts.

That may sound absurd, but apparently it isn't as far as the Government employees are concerned. The Defence Production Administration interprets the order even more drastically, it is reported. All gift-wrapped parcels sent to employees of that agency through the official mails will be confiscated and turned over to charity. This raised the question of what to do with any whisky that might be received, since it wouldn't be quite the thing for the Government to be supplying the needy with intoxicating beverages. So the White House has been asked for a ruling.

Procurement officers are most affected by the order. They may not now accept a dinner or a taxi ride from a representative of a contracting firm; they must ascertain their share of the cheque and make sure it is paid. To top it all—although we are a bit inclined to suspect exaggeration for effect—is the report about the procurement officer who lives in Washington, next door to a former fraternity brother who represents a defence contractor. The two are good friends, but the procurement officer has had to warn his wife about a common neighbourly practice—she must stop borrowing things from the wife of the contractor's representative for fear of Congressional investigation.

The "influence" scandals are admittedly serious. However, if the above reports are accurate, there is nothing half-hearted about the measures to prevent recurrence in future.

Musical Notes

by PETER PIPER

THE syllabus of the sixth annual Kiwanis music festival to be held in Peterborough is just out, and copies may be had from the secretary, Mrs. A. D. Valsey, at 392 Brock Street. It had been hoped to get out the syllabus earlier, but as the Festival is not being held until the third week in May next year there is ample time for would-be competitors to get started on the study of the set pieces.

A major cause of the disappointing number of entries last year was, in my opinion, the late appearance of the syllabus, and it is gratifying to note that the organizers of the coming festival have taken energetic steps to get the syllabus out early, though not quite as early as they had planned. Nevertheless nobody can claim shortness of notice as an excuse for not entering. I sincerely hope that a much larger number of competitors will be forthcoming than last May. It is simply a question of the continued existence of the musical festival in this city. These enterprises are pretty costly affairs, and if they are not supported adequately by the public the financial loss can be considerable.

THE Kiwanis and other service clubs exist largely for the purpose of sponsoring worth-while enterprises that lie outside the general scope of official bodies such as the municipality. They have for the past five years sponsored the music festival, as they felt that it was a worth-while object and one that would benefit the community. Although the Kiwanis is, I am told, composed in general of the more prosperous section of the city, they cannot obviously take regular large financial losses in this undertaking without wondering to themselves whether it might not be better from most points of view to support some other worthy cause in the city (and they are numberless). They do not expect to make the festival into a profit-making concern; that would run counter to their idea of providing service; but lack of public support must inevitably lead them to doubt whether their efforts are being expended in the best direction.

It is therefore up to the musical public to support the festival by entering the classes of the competition, by attending the sessions, especially the evening sessions and by encouraging others to participate. I feel that the music teachers can help particularly by entering more of their pupils, not just their star performers, if they wish the festival to continue, and no music teacher in his or her senses could doubt its great value in stimulating higher standards of performance.

* * *

AND now a few words about the syllabus itself. The general lay-out is much the same as last year, though in almost every section the number of classes had been increased. Also two entirely new sections have been added—Modern Drama and Shakespearian Drama, and prizes for these are being awarded by the Peterborough Examiner. Thus together with the verse speaking and public speaking there will be a certain amount of an intentionally non-musical nature.

As regards the selection of the test pieces, Mr. Rothwell has once again been called in (last year it was made by Dr. Healey Willan). Now it is virtually impossible for any single person to have an extensive knowledge of the whole repertoire of published pieces for almost every possible combination of voices and instruments of various grades of difficulty; the selector must needs rely to a great extent on the advice of experts in various fields. Nevertheless the ultimate decision rests with him, and it is his responsibility what goes into the syllabus. So far I have heard no remarks, favourable or otherwise, from local musicians concerning the choice. On the whole it appears to be sound, but timid.

I FEEL that more use could be made in the junior classes of easy classics. J. S. Bach left behind a vast quantity of easy music for the musical training of his vast family, and others wrote a good deal of music specifically designed for their pupils. It is true that some of this ground is covered in section 16 of the syllabus for young pianists, but what of the violinists, vocalists, etc.? Another drawback to my mind is the complete absence of anything composed in a musical idiom more "advanced" than Rachmaninoff. Even the Conservatory syllabus gives us Bartok and Prokofieff in the earlier grades, and contemporary composers as a whole have shown marked interest in writing music of moderate difficulty for the young. Even Ravel and Debussy, now considered almost "old masters" are completely shunned, likewise Delius.

There is nothing by any modern American composer of any repute (unless we include under that designation Oscar Hammerstein II), and Canadian composers are cold-shouldered. Vaughan Williams is represented by two songs, one of which is quite unrepresentative of his mature style. I do not wish to appear hyper-critical, but it is time that contemporary composers were adequately represented.

ONE of the strangest facts in the history of music is the neglect that befell the compositions of J. S. Bach for about ninety years after his death in 1750. Not that they were well known in his lifetime, though his fame had reached the ears of the King of Prussia. He was famed chiefly as an organist and learned composer, though his fame was confined chiefly to Germany. Outside Germany his youngest son Johann Christian, the "London Bach", so called because he had settled in London, was far better known in his time than Johann Sebastian. The reasons for this neglect are many, but the main reason is that even during his lifetime Bach was writing in a style that was considered outmoded. A new style, the "gallant" style, had sprung up.

This new style was the antithesis of Bach's florid and involuted counterpoint; it was light, airy and trivial. A good deal of Bach's priceless compositions was lost for ever during this period. Nevertheless it is not quite true to say that his works were completely forgotten until Mendelssohn undertook his great work of resurrection.

Fortunately it was still possible at that time to procure copies of the Forty-eight Preludes and Fugues, and a few chosen spirits found them a mine of inspiration. Attwood, organist of St. Paul's Cathedral, London, and Mozart's favourite pupil, remembered that this volume was always lying open on the master's pinaforte. Not content with simply playing them he copied out several of the fugues in open score in his own hand.

He found an enthusiastic co-worshipper of Bach in a certain Baron von Swieten, who possessed an extensive library of works by Bach and Handel. On a visit to Leipsig a performance of Bach's eight-part motet "Singet dem Herrn" made an indelible impression on him, and his later style shows the influence of the Leipsig Cantor unmistakably. Beethoven, too, estimated Bach's music very highly, putting him third in order of preference. If he had known more than the miserably small amount of Bach's works which was then available he might have estimated him still higher.

All Right, Let the Music Begin

Literature and Law

from an address by Joseph Sedgwick, K.C., reported in "Obiter Dicta"

EVEN those of you who intend to be solicitors only will find a good English style and a working knowledge of our literature no bad possessions. At the very worst, the letters that you write will be a little more readable, and thus somewhat more likely to be read and to impress their message. But as to those of you who intend to do counsel work, wholly or partly, I may say to you with assurance that the informed, the civilized, the literate mind, will be a priceless possession, an unfailing comfort, and a great help to you even in your most narrowly legal arguments. I hope you have all read the life of Marshall Hall—and presuming that you have done so—you will recall that that peerless advocate was a great believer in the apt quotation, and used the Bible, and Shakespeare—and of course others—often and with telling effect.

Unless one flatters oneself by thinking that out of your own head you can do better, it is well to have in your legal armoury some old and tried quotations, if nothing more. And I think it no bad thing to know where they come from. A learned leader of our bar, who shall be charitably nameless, told me recently of the impression that he had made on one of our trial judges by quoting to him, as my friend said, "those lovely words of Shakespeare's—

"and saying she would ne'er consent—consented."

He wouldn't believe me when I said that they were not Shakespeare's, but Byron's; not, as he thought, from Romeo and Juliet, but of course from Don Juan. However, apparently the judge, whoever he was, was no better informed.

The original, which you will find, if you are curious, in the first Canto, is better than my friend's garbled version:

"A little still she strove, and much repented
And whispering 'I will ne'er consent—consented."

It sums up seduction in a couplet.

I have been longer than I had intended, and may have tried your patience. I have mentioned a number of names, favourites of mine; I have said not a word about that great man whose life, as Boswell wrote it, was a bedside book of mine for many years, and to which I still turn with pleasure and profit. He was not, of course, a lawyer (though Boswell was) but he had a vigorous and inquiring mind and interested himself in law as he did in almost everything. At one time he proposed trying to qualify for the Bar—and as was customary with him, sought Divine guidance. At that time he wrote his lovely prayer for lawyers, which I commend to you and with which I close:—

"Almighty God, the giver of wisdom, without whose help resolutions are vain, without whose blessing study is ineffectual; enable me, if it be thy will, to attain such knowledge as may qualify me to direct the doubtful and instruct the ignorant; to prevent wrongs and terminate contentions; and grant that I may use that knowledge which I shall attain, to thy glory and my own salvation, for Jesus Christ's sake, Amen."

Mysticism of Former Prime Minister

Claims that Rt. Hon. W. L. Mackenzie King was a "convinced and practicing spiritualist" for more than 25 years are being put forth by some and denied by others. It is stated he didn't accept spiritualism as a religion (he was a devout Presbyterian) but rather as a fact.

There is no doubt he occasionally consulted mediums. But, if he did, it was a personal matter and there is no evidence he allowed himself to be influenced by spiritualists in the pursuance of his policies as leader of the Liberal Party and of the Government. These policies were based upon principles he had long held, and upon the practical application of these principles to problems as they arose.

Mr. King, of course, was a mystic. He had a firm belief in the association of the here and the hereafter. He believed those dead exercised an influence on the living and in his case, this certainly was true, indirectly if not directly. Until the time of his death, the influence of his own mother, of Sir Wilfrid Laurier and others who had helped shaped his beliefs, was strong and evident upon his thinking.

In his latter years, this mysticism increased and we do know of at least one instance where he claimed to have "spoken to" former President Franklin D. Roosevelt, some time after Mr. Roosevelt's death.

Mr. King was a most unusual statesman in so many ways. His was a complex character very difficult to understand. He was a man of great faith, and this had much to do with his conviction that what he believed in was right, and that his policies were correct. His mysticism was one of the attributes which frequently baffled those closely associated with him.

Bible Message

(From the Authorized Version)

In the beginning was the Word, and the Word was with God, and the Word was God. All things were made by him; and without him was not any thing made that was made. (John, 1: 1, 3.)

* * *

And the earth was without form, and void; and darkness was upon the face of the deep. And the Spirit of God moved upon the face of the waters.

And God said, Let there be light: and there was light. And God saw the light, that it was good; and God divided the light from the darkness. And God called the light Day, and the darkness he called Night. And the evening and the morning were the first day. (Gen. 1: 2-5.)

* * *

By the word of the Lord were the heavens made; and all the host of them by the breath of his mouth.

Let all the earth fear the Lord: let all the inhabitants of the world stand in awe of him. For he spake, and it was done; he commanded, and it stood fast. (Ps. 33: 6, 8, 9.)

'I Don't Spend Me Money'

(Montreal Gazette)

"There's no bad beer; some beer is better than other, that's all." This has long been a traditional belief in British pubs and it expresses, in its own humble way, the Briton's love of individuality, his love of personal choice, the basis of personal freedom. It means that he can spend his evenings in the pub where he considers the beer is "better than others".

The Labour Government posed a serious threat to this freedom of choice. In the "new towns" it was building, it proposed that the taverns be state-operated. In the first "new towns" built along the Scottish border, the state did operate the taverns and it was generally feared this control would gradually be extended over the whole country.

At the thought of government invasion of their private "clubs," millions of Britishers found their mild-and-bitter bitterer.

Now the Home Secretary has announced that the Labour legislation establishing the state tavern control will be wiped out.

There will be many a sigh of relief at that news. His privacy in "The Drum and Fife" assured, the Old Sweat can return to his hobby of advising the young recruits "Thrift! That's the thing you 'as to practize in the Army, me bucko. Thrift. Look at me. I don't spend me money. I buys beer wiv it."

Basic English

(Manchester Guardian)

The latest translation put out by the Basic English Publishing Company (for the Orthological Institute) is of H. G. Wells's "The Time Machine". Wells had a vocabulary, says the translator, Mr. Kenneth Robinson, of perhaps 30,000 words; basic English has 850, so the reader of the basic version must not think that he is getting the same thing. Mr. Robinson says that "the sense of the words is kept, but they are clothed in simpler dress."

Here "simple" must often mean "clumsy", and it is by no means always certain that the "sense" has in fact been kept. In the second sentence of the opening chapter of the book Wells says of the Time Traveller (the "Time Machine Man" in basic) that he was "animated". In basic this has to be rendered as "it was clear that he was deeply interested in what he was saing." Now that is not at all the same thing as "animated".

ADENAUER'S VISIT

Believe Dead Fiancee Back Reincarnated As Pet Dog

By KEN BOTWRIGHT

LONDON, Dec. 17 (Reuters)—Before Bob Smith's fiancee died of a sudden illness, she vowed that someday she'd come back to him, "in a different form—but you will know me."

That was 15 years ago. Now Smith, happily married man in his middle 30s, said he believes that his dead sweetheart, Doris, has kept her promise and returned to him—reincarnated in his handsome Alsation bitch, Rita.

"I have been reluctant to come to this conclusion," Smith explained. "But I have thought about it for a long time and can come to no other conclusion."

Smith had been going with Doris three weeks when she was suddenly stricken with the mysterious illness. As he sat by her bedside, she promised:

Promised To Return

"I will come back to you Bob It will be in 15 or more years time. I will be in a different form, but you will know me."

After she died, Bob married Several years ago, a friend showed him a litter of Alsatian pups. One black female ran towards him.

"Something told me I should buy it," recalled Smith. "So I did."

Even when she was a few weeks old, Rita showed an exclusive affection for him. She insisted on a "kiss," when Smith arrived home.

But what really convinced Smith that Rita was the reincarnation of his lost love was this:

Just recently the dog began leading him to the secluded waks and quiet corners of a London park where he had once courted Doris.

"There's the evidence," said Smith. "What else can I believe?"

DENIES TAX CLIQUE—Charles Oliphant, resigned chief counsel of the Internal Revenue Bureau, testifies at the tax hearing in Washington. He denied that he was a member of a reported "clique" of officials taking part in tax shakedowns, or that he ever heard of such a clique.

Equipment Damaged

WINDSOR, Dec. 17 (CP) — Ford of Canada production employees will probably not be back at work for at lesat a week, company officials said Sunday night. They said that the 12-day wildcat strike which ended Friday night had caused "considerable" damage to plant equipment and the plant will probably not be able to resume even partial production for at least a week. Full production might take three weeks.

HOME FOR CHRISTMAS — Under a bright sun and clear sky, the big 9,000-ton cruiser, HMCS Ontario, came home to Esquimalt after a three-and-a-half month, 13,000 mile Fall training cruise to ports on Canada's east coast. A large crowd of excited and happy wives, children, sweethearts and friends lined the jetty at HMCS Naden where the flagship of the Pacific Coast Fleet came alongside at 11 a.m. Commanded by Captain E. P. Tisdall, of Victoria, B.C. the ship took part in the recent Royal Tour of Canada when she carried Their Royal Highnesses Princess Elizabeth and Prince Philip between Sydney, N.S., Charlottetown, P.E.I., and St. John's, Nfld.

Stockyard Hall Chosen For Conventions

By RUSSELL LANE

CHICAGO, Dec. 17(AP)—The Republicans and the Democrats will nominate their candidates for president of the United States next year in the Chicago stock yards.

The convention hall—the International Ampitheatre—is owned and operated by the Union Stock Yard and Transit Company, and forms part of the eastern border of the stock yards area. The pens and packing plants are one-quarter to one-half mile to the west whence come the prevailing winds.

Plenty of hogs, sheep and cattle, not to mention horses, have occupied the arena floor where delegates will sit.

It has been the site of bronc riding and steer roping in rodeos, of boxing and wrestling matches, auto and horse shows and animal auctions.

Floor Changed

For the conventions, the tanbark footing for the animal bluebloods of the annual international live stock exposition will give way to a well-washed cement floor.

William Wood Prince, 37-year-old president of the stock yard firm which operates the building, says there will be arena seats for approximately 14,000 delegates and spectators when the Republican convention opens July 7, and when the Democrats show up July 21.

The seating capacity compares with about 17,000 in the Chicago Stadium, most recent former site of Chicago national conventions.

Between now and convention time, the nation's telecasters expect to erect an extensive block of studios in the big side halls. The more than 50,000,000 potential TV audience will get a better idea of what's happening than the average delegate.

Vicious Time Bomb Operates Within Some Human Beings

By ALTON L. BLAKESLEE.

MINNEAPOLIS, Dec. 17 (AP) A vicious time bomb of human heredity has been uncovered in a study of two brothers.

The bomb dooms people to a fatal nerve disease. It also drives them to be extra fertile, to produce more children, many of them headed for the same fate.

The time bomb is a gene, or unit of heredity. It causes Huntington's chorea, a chronic disease of uncontrollable shaking movements. It also affects the mind. It doesn't hit until middle age.

The story was traced by Dr Sheldon C. Reed and J. D Palm of the Dight Institute for Human Genetics at the University of Minnesota.

It starts with two young boys who came to Minnesota in 1834.

Brother A carried the gene, later died of the disease. Brother B was free of the gene Each had 10 children.

Since then, A has had 787 descendants, with 716 still living. Nineteen have had or have the disease, and 101 more are expected to get it. From one man, a total of 120 persons affected.

Brother B had only 186 descendants, 167 still living. None had chorea, none will get it.

Strikes Hard

The disease hits families hard. The sick person can't work. Usually the victim dies of exhaustion; often he spends his last few years in an institution.

One reason for the higher fertility in affected families may be social and economic, the scientists said. Living standards are lowered. Children tend to choose mates from families of about the same economic level.

There seems to be some inborn reason for the higher fertility, Dr. Reed and Palm said.

There is a possibility that potential cases of the disease can be detected by brain-wave studies before people reach productive age. Then they could be told of the danger, so they could decide whether they wish to have children.

Heavy Drinking Preceded Korean Shooting

SEOUL, Dec. 17 — (CP). — A Canadian Army psychiatrist testified Sunday that a man with the behavior history of John Murray Steeves might "explode" if excessively intoxicated.

Major Robert Robitaille of Vancouver was testifying at the trial of Steeves, Moncton and Regina soldier charged with the murder of a South Korean civilian last September 17.

Major Robitaille told a court-martial trying Steeves that the Royal Canadian Engineers sapper had a first-grade official rating for stability.

"He was fit for service in the job he was assigned," he said.

He added, however: "Even with my sketchy knowledge of Steeves' mild instability — a trend of repressed hostility present since childhood though controlled most of the time—it could be that alcohol caused a loss of control, allowing all this to come to the surface . . . and it exploded."

Witnesses Sunday told of heavy drinking in camp on September 16. The shooting in which the Korean was killed took place in the village of Hwang Bang, southwest of Yonchon. Steeves is alleged to have fired bursts from a Sten-gun into a home there, fatally wounding Shin Yong Dok, 41, and wounding two other Koreans.

Sapper H. S. Betts, Saint John, NB, said Sunday he heard no disturbance on the night of September 16 because "things just did not register."

Sapper K. A. W. Thibaudeau, Moncton, NB, testified that all the occupants of Steeves' tent were drinking hard that night, and he wound up under close arrest.

Cpl. J. Meehan, Hamilton, said that from his bed at midnight he detailed Steeves for guard duty from 3 to 6 am on September 17, and that the accused "behaved like a man who has been drinking but isn't drunk."

He said that when he took Steeves into the divisional guard room on the morning of September 17 the accused walked all right, spoke in a mumbled voice, "but acted kinda funny."

The guard room commander testified on November 15 that Steeves was dead drunk 'on his arrival.

Saturday's hearing was a day of contradiction after contradiction in evidence given by Canadian, British, American nd Korean witnesses. Interpreters were changed and all Korean evidence was reread by Lee Jung Ok, the Patricias' chief interpreter.

Chrysler Union Plans Meet With Company

WINDSOR, Dec. 17—(CP)—A mass membership meeting of Chrysler Corporation of Canada employees Sunday empowered a committee to meet today with company officials, union spokesmen said Sunday.

They said they had agreed with Chrysler officials that matters discussed at Sunday's meeting — attended by 1,500 members of Local 195, United Automobile Workers of America (CIO-CCL) —will be kept secret until after today's meeting.

Last Sunday, Chrysler workers rejected a company offer of a 14-cent-an-hour wage increase on a basic rate of $1.43. The union was empowered to call a meeting to discuss strike action.

Local 195 has been asking retroactive wage increases totalling 20 cents an hour.

Big Smuggling Haul

COATICOOK, Que., Dec. 17 (CP)—RCMP arrested Henri Vaillancourt of Baldwin's Mill, Que., Saturday, and impounded a truck which was carrying almost 1,000,000 United States cigarettes. RCMP officials said this was undoubtedly the biggest seizure ever made in Canada. They said Vaillancourt would be arraigned in court at Sherbrooke today on a charge of being in possession of the 970,000 cigarettes.

Vote For Union

VANCOUVER, Dec. 17 (CP) — More than 1,000 civic workers have voted support for the left-wing Vancouver Civic Employees' Union as their bargaining agent. Only 196 voted against the union. Result of the vote was announced by union officials Saturday. The union was thrown out of the Trades and Labor Congress of Canada on charges of Communist activities.

Want Holiday Changed

TORONTO, Dec. 17 (CP)—Because many Toronto firms have decided to close Monday, Dec. 24, as part of their Christmas holiday, the Board of Trade during the weekend petitioned Mayor Hiram McCallum not to declare Dec. 26, Boxing Day, a holiday. It said only a few firms, mostly retail and wholesale ones, want to observe Boxing Day.

Ratify Settlement

BUFFALO, NY, Dec. 17 (AP)—More than 2,200 union members Sunday night ratified settlement terms for a 12-week-old strike at the motor division plant of the Westinghouse Electric Corp. The terms were agreed upon Thursday in Washington by representatives of the company and local 1581 of the International Union of Electrical Workers (CIO).

Lord Perth Dies, Guided League 14 Years

ROGATE, England, Dec. 17 — (Reuters). — Lord Perth, 75, first Secretary-General of the League of Nations, who steered the world organization through 14 difficult years, died at his Hampshire home here Saturday night.

As Sir Eric Drummond, he served on the British delegation negotiating the 1919 Versailles Treaty, ending the First World War. He sufficiently impressed the French Premier George Clemenceau for him to propose the "quiet Scot" as Secretary-General of the League. For 14 years Perth's administrative ability and diplomacy kept the League together. Tall and powerfully built, he needed all the suavity and tact that an old-style English education could impart to do his work. He resigned in 1933, though the League Council pressed him to remain in charge. For six years he was British Ambassador in Italy.

Unhappy Episode

An unhappy episode as chief of Foreign Office propaganda followed. The critics said he knew nothing about the job, and the Church of England protested that he was too closely bound to the Papacy. Lord Perth was converted to Catholicism at the age of 27.

In 1946 Lord Perth became the leader of the Liberal Party in the House of Lords.

Descendant of a Hungarian family which settled in Scotland late in the 13th century, he was over 60 when he succeeded to the Earldom of Perth in 1937.

With it he assumed a host of ancient titles, including that of hereditary Thane of Lennox.

Oldest of them was that of Cargill, dating back to 1488. He was also Baron Maderty, Lord Drummond of Rickertoun and Castlemaine.

In 1904, Lord Perth married the Honoroble Angela Constable-Maxwell, younger daughter of Lord Herries, who survives him. They had one son and three daughters.

Heir to the title is the son, Viscount Strathallan 44.

Mrs. H. S. Bassler Dies

NEW YORK, Dec. 17 (CP) — Mrs. Harriette Seeley Bassler, president of the Canadian Women's Club of New York during the Second World War, died Friday night. She was 61. Born in Renfrew, Ont., she was a graduate of the Queen's Hospital school in Kingston, and in 1916 came to New York. A year later she married Dr. Anthony Bassler, a well-known specialist in internal diseases.

Chinese Santas Visit Pats Leave Cards and Presents

By WILLIAM BOSS.

WEST SECTOR, KOREA, Dec. 17 (CP).—Santa Claus visited part of the Korean front Sunday. He even came Chinese style.

The Chinese got into the act early in the morning. They slipped through Canadian lines in pre-dawn darkness, lugging bundles of Christmas cards and stockings filled with trinkets, such as plastic cigaret holders, embroidered handkerchiefs and lighters.

The enemy dropped the gifts near the Canadian outpost and fled.

The cards were well printed with holly leaves and bells.

An inscription on each card said: "Greetings from Chinese People's Volunteers, Korea, 1951."

Later in the day some members of the 25th Brigade, Princess Patricia's Canadian Light Infantry were given time out for a Christmas party, with officers acting as waiters.

The party was given for 175 men, representing all units, who are slated for routine duty Dec. 25. White-jacketed officers, headed by Maj.-Gen. James Cassels, commander of the Commonwealth division, and Brig. John Rockingham, leader of the 25th Brigade, served the regular turkey dinner with all the trimmings.

Cassels told the men: "Your battles made me prouder than ever to have you under my command and I wish you the best New Year."

SPORTS SHOW WINDOW

By CEC PERDUE, Sports Editor

Kingston and Petes resume their keen senior "B" rivalary at 8.30 tonight in Civic Arena. In their clash last Friday in the Limestone City, the Petes eked out a 4-3 verdict on Ted Collins' late marker from Freddy Garvey. It couldn't have been much closer, and another tight fit will probably result here this gloaming. Summary of the Friday fray had the Petes' scorers listed as Eagles. We didn't handle it, but will readily agree that none of the Petes wishes to be known as an Eagle, anymore than an Eagle cares to be termed a Petes' player! Anyway, fans can look for a dandy senior puck duel when the K's clash with Jim Ellis' outfit this p.m.

* * * * * *

It's never any soft touch to yank out a victory in Kingston. Not only is there the long trip and the hostile crowd, as well as a home team trying to impress home fans, but there's that acre of ice in the fine Community Centre of that city. Yet the Petes earned the Friday fray with sound hockey. When they elected to play it cozily, the Kingstons had a tough, tough time beating a way to Ray Harding's doorstep, where no "Welcome" mat awaited them. When the Petes needed a goal they fought through to get it. So now they're tied atop the heap with Belleville Hawks and hoping to mark another victory tonight against trying times ahead.

* * * * * *

But They'll Be Back

Eagles presently trail the pack though not by far. They dropped a 7-3 decision on Quinte ice Friday but it was much closer than you'd figure from the score. The Hawks clinched the verdict in a sizzling third period as Eagles—shy several regulars and suffering from penalties—faded somewhat. It was the best game seen so far this season in Bella Villa. Injuries have hampered Ned Vitarelli's pack lately, but they'll come along again. Too many good players on that club to write it off because of a minor slump in the first part of the schedule. The group is well-balanced and every game is a real battle. These senior "B" tilts are well worthy of bigger crowds

Same goes for our junior Oddfellows. They haven't been winning games lately, but they're dishing up dandy hockey of an exciting brand in a stiff race. Lindsay Kin are plenty potent again this season, and showed it in winning here 6-3 Friday, but remember what happened when the IOOF-ers faced 'em with the chips down last playoff time. The Godfrey gang will be there or thereabouts the rest of the schedule, and they've a chance to prove their fighting ability in a home game Wednesday. Plenty of right promising material wearing the three-linked sweaters, and rival clubs are well aware of that fact this semester.

Along The Lake Front

Lakeshore intermediate hockey schedule will have to be redrafted with the withdrawal of Lakefield. No word received at this writing on Cobourg's decision to stay in or step out. Port Hope writer thinks the Cobourg officials should go ahead and make the best of the OHA ruling on protested players and stick with the loop. But some of the Cobourgites have been leaning toward a Trent Valley League entry. Lindsay yanked out an overtime 5-4 win at home over Port Hope the other night to keep intact their victory streak on Scugog ice. Bill Douglas of the Ports drew a match misconduct in the second after he and Sliver Donoghue had swapped punches to earn majors.

Saturday p.m. in the "Y", Gord McIntyre's Marines were clicking on all cage cylinders as they smeared Picton Athletics 95-29 for their third Eastern League hoop win in a row. Ted Payne tossed 33 points through the wire to top the victors' offensive. Bill Huntley made his basketball debut with Gord's gang and looked okay. A year ago, the Marines had another scoring spree to count 133 points against the Port Hopers. In girls' play Friday at the YW, Neill's turned in a free-wheeling effort to rack up 75 points 'against the Lindsay lasses, whilst the local LOBA squad defeated Nurses by a 49-12 tally. Haven't the dope yet on hoop play this weekend.

Blewett TVL Coach For Lakefield

The northern group of the Trent Valley Hockey League this winter will comprise Marmora, Norwood, Havelock, Hastings, Stirling and Lakefield. A double schedule opens Jan. 2, and the winners of the northern and southern group later meeting for the league title. Coach Joe Blewett of Lakefield is calling an open practice for Tuesday at 7:30 pm in the Lakefield Arena, and he invites Peterborough, Lakefield and district players to try out for places.

"The league this season permits us to use Peterborough players, even though they have been signed to OHA certificates, provided they can get their OHA club release by Jan. 1," Blewett said today, adding that he will not be playing, but will stick to coaching the club. Lakefield recently withdrew from the OHA Lakeshore grouping but kept its slate of officers.

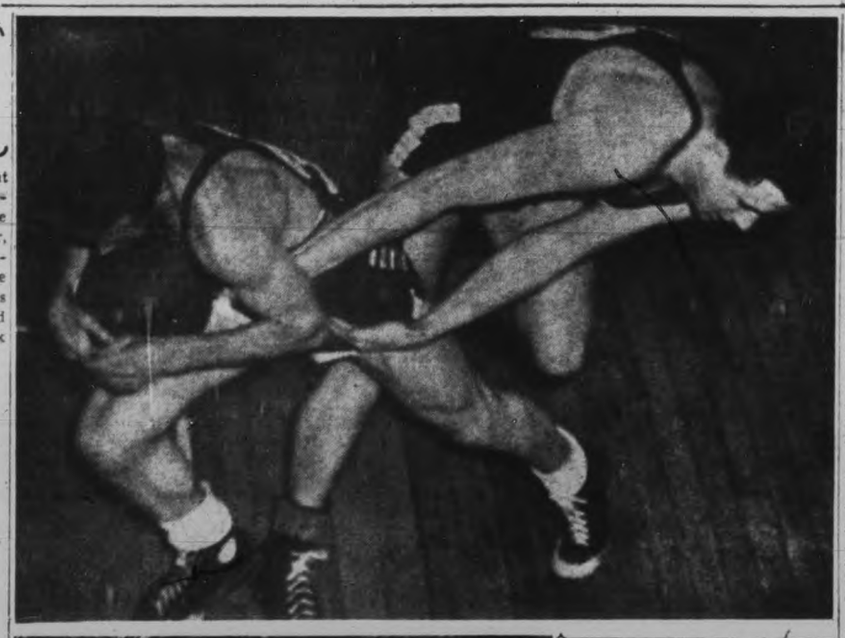
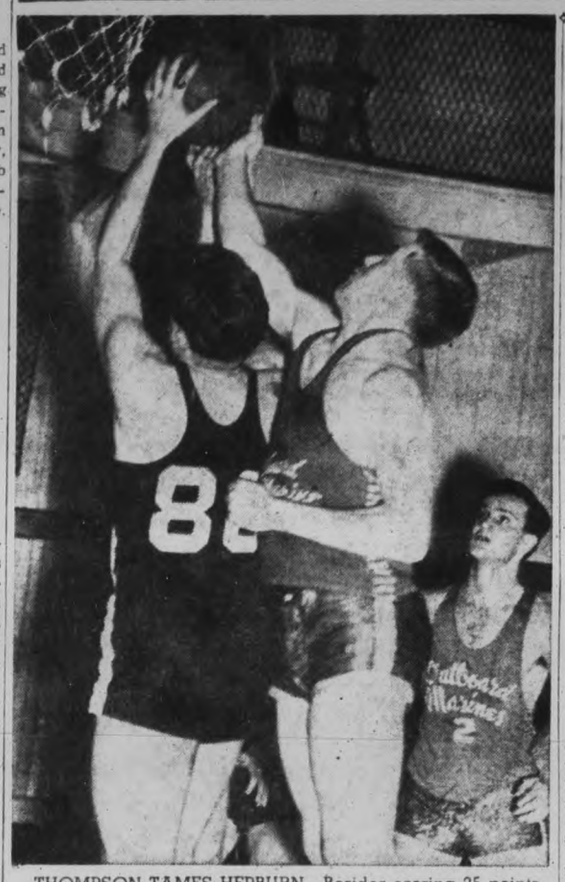
Melbourne Wants Olympic Games

MELBOURNE, Dec. 17 (AP).—Barring a world upheaval, this city fully intends to play host to the 1956 Olympic games.



There's doubt elsewhere that the queen city of Victoria of 1,000,000 persons can digest the huge international spectacle. But there is none here.



Problems facing the organizers are tremendous. They haven't yet even decided definitely on a stadium.

The organizers realize that the task of housing the great influx of visitors will overtax the city's limited facilities, but they are confident they'll be ready when the bell rings.

A committee already is studying the problem of providing facilities for the hundreds of writers, broadcasters and photographers who are expected.

It looks as if the heart of the 1956 spectacle will be the Melbourne cricket grounds which has packed in a 96,000 crowd. Tentative plans call for an increase of its capacity to 125,000.

Gord McIntyre's Marines had a handful of basketball fans on pins and needles Saturday night when they neared an all-time scoring record for the Peterborough district. But they fell short by 38 points, walloping the Picton Athletics 95-29 for their third straight Eastern Ontario League win. In attempting to reach the former record, the Marines were trying to smash their record set last year against Port Hope in the Lakeshore League. Then the cagers dropped through for 133 points against some 20-odd for Port Hope.

In the cage games in Peterborough over the weekend the winning teams racked up 219 points. Besides the Marines' 95 the Neills' lasses scored 75 against Lindsay Friday night while the LOBA girls team attacked the Nurses cagers with a 49-12 drubbing.

A's On The Run

Weak sisters in the four-team Eastern Ontario League the Athletics appeared fairly strong as they practiced before game time. But within minutes the Marines had them on the run and they never stopped running until the final whistle.

Even then the Marines have been known to play better. During the first half they missed numerous chances for their well-known fast break and were slightly off in the shooting department. The few baskets Picton collected in the first quarter came on intercepted passes.

But during the second half the Marines couldn't miss; everything they did turned into baskets.

Outstanding on the floor was Harold Grafstein former PCVS star. The stockily-built guard outjumped Athletics throughout on rebounds to start breaks up the floor. Inside Picton's defensive zone Grafstein had a field day, fed by Neil Thompson and Ted Payne for neat 10-foot, one-hand shots for 16 points.

But Ted Payne led the scoring, his now customary position in any intermediate game. Last year he averaged 18 points a game and this year has increased the average for his three games to 25.6.

A Great Effort

Saturday night was his top performance as he ran wild, particularly in the third quarter and he chalked up 33 points on 15 field baskets and three foul shots.

Neil Thompson hit his stride also Saturday. The former PCVS star forward matched Payne throughout the game with his most outstanding performance with Marines, working in close around the basket for 11 field baskets and three foul shots for 25 points.

The game produced 36 personal fouls, 24 against Picton and 12 against the Marines, as referee Joe Stewart and Dick Burrows clamped down. Bill Trimm of the Marines, Chalmers and Cornelius of Picton, all left with five fouls in the final quarter.

The Athletics grumbled at the referees throughout the game and were rewarded when three technical foul shots called against them. Each shot was for disputing calls, the Athletics yelling from the players' bench.

Grafstein with his one-handed shots sent Marines up in the first quarter 22-9. Payne and Huntley of Orfuns football fame and making his first cage appearance, led the attack in the second which ended at 43-18.

Picton tried to check the full-length of the floor in the second half but only left themselves open for the Marines specialty, the fast break by Payne and Thompson. The Marines whipped in 25 points in the third quarter and finished off with 27 in the last.

Lineups:

Marines (95)—Trimm 10, Payne 33, Thompson 25, Ceresino 3, McPherson 4, Grafstein 16, Huntley 4.

Picton (29)—Cole 2, B. Colliver, R. Colliver 4, Chalmers 4, Hepburn, Cornelius 2, Motilow 5, Henderson 12.

Bears Win 4-3 In Overtime

By The Canadian Press

Hershey Bears remained atop the American Hockey League's eastern division Sunday with their sixth straight victory over the Caps at Indianapolis. The Bears won 4-3 in overtime on Sam Pettio's goal.

Cincinnati Mohawks reversed things, breaking a six-game losing streak by defeating Cleveland Barons 3-1.

In other Sunday games, Providence Reds downed St. Louis Flyers 4-3, while Pittsburgh Hornets, pacing the western division, won 2-1 over Buffalo Bisons.

Saturday games saw Providence and Cleveland play to a 1-1 tie, while St. Louis defeated Syracuse 6-2 and Hershey outscored Pittsburgh 5-2.

Here And There In Sports

Port Arthur Bruins of the Thunder Bay Junior Hockey League have puhchased the release of rightwinger Dave Whalen from Barrie Flyers of the Ontario Hockey Association Junior A series.

Flyers' coach Hap Emms said Saturday he granted the release because Whalen, born in Port Arthur, preferred to play with the Bruins.

Defenceman Frankie Mathers, with Pittsburgh Hornets of the American Hockey League since joining the Toronto Maple Leaf organization four years ago, has been called up to aid the parent Leafs. He replaces Tim Horton who rejoined the Pittsburgh club.

St. Hyacinthe, Que., has been selected as the spot where the 26-mile marathon for the Canadian championship will be run off next May, it was learned Sunday night. Gerard Cote, St. Hyacinthe policeman who won the Boston marathon several times before, said the trial will also decide Canada's entries in the 1952 world Olympics.

At New York, Stan Musial of the St. Louis Cardinals, and Phil Rizzuto of the New York Yankees Sunday were awarded the Jack Singer awards for sportsmanship. Each received a trophy and a $1,000 war bond. The awards are made annually to the player voted as having shown the best sportsmanship during the preceding major league season. The award honors the memory of the late Jack Singer, International News Service sports writer and war correspondent killed during the Second World War.

Robert K. Christenberry, chairman of the New York Athletic Commission, said Sunday at New York the commission is studying several of the exclusive service contracts by which the International Boxing Club binds ring champions to fight for it. James D. Norris, president of the IBC, said he has given the commission copies of such contracts and "we are happy to co-operate."

America's golfing ambassadors lined their pockets with Havana gold in the 72-hole invitation tournament which ended here yesterday. Jimmy Demaret of Ojai, Calif., grabbed the biggest purse, $1,500, after shooting a final round three-under-par 69 for a winning total of 275. He finished a stroke ahead of Bob Toski of Northampton, Mass., who had a final round 68 for second money of $1,100.

Tillsonburg Trojans broke even in two exhibition games during the weekend. At Hamilton Saturday they beat McMaster University Marauders 91-72 but yesterday in Toronto, Toronto Tribells squeezed out a 61-60 decision.

Musial Receives 2nd Silver Bat As Top Hitter

ST. LOUIS, Dec. 17 (AP). — Stan (The Man) Musial has a new silver bat for his trophy case.

The 30-year-old St. Louis Cardinal outfielder won the National League batting crown for 1951 — the second consecutive year he's been the top hitter in the senior circuit.

No one else has managed to win the crown two years running since Rogers (Rajah) Hornsby made a habit of it with the Cardinals from 1920 through 1925.

Silver bats are awarded annually to the champions.

Official National League batting statistics released Sunday show Musial atop the list with a .355 average. His lifetime batting average of .347 is the highest in the majors.

Only Seven Winners

Only seven National Leaguers have won the crown in two successive years with Dan Brouthers of Buffalo first turning the trick in 1882-83.

The 1951 championship is the fifth award won by Musial. The other four were won in 1943 (.357), 1946 (.365), 1948 (.367) and 1950 (.346.)

Musial added something else that might prove interesting to National League pitchers — he plans to keep swinging for the base hit rather than the home run.

Musial also was fourth in the runs-batted-in race with 108 and connected for 32 home runs while "swinging for the base hit."

Curling News

By HERB MARTIN

It is expected that a number of curlers from the Keene Curling Club will pay our club a friendly visit next Friday evening.

Only three more entries are needed for the Examiner Trophy bonspiel.

G. Clark's rink in Group 4 is the only undefeated schedule rink so far.

There will be no curling Wednesday and Thursday evenings of this week. The ice will be occupied with figure skaters.

The winning skips on Saturday afternoon were H. Baptie, F. Paterson, J. Brown and W. Switzer, and in the evening Dr. M. McCartney and L. Reynolds.

Today's thought: Did you ever notice that a "knocker" is always on the outside?

Cost Saskatchewan $250,000 Field Team

REGINA, Dec. 17 (CP). — It cost the Saskatchewan Roughriders nearly $250,000 to field their western Canada football championship team this season.

At the club's annual meeting Sunday the financial statement showed expenditures of $232,609; revenue of $244,680 and a profit of $12,071. Aedded to a 1950 surplus of $24,299, the profit gave the club a bank account of $36,370.

Expenditures were practically double those of 1950, the previous high, when $112,709 was spent. Revenue last year was $123,015.

Red Wings Score Twin Win As Leafs Divide Two Games At Weekend

By The Canadian Press

Detroit's league-leading Red Wings and Montreal Canadiens continued their National Hockey League winning ways during the weekend, each coming up two convincing victories. Saturday, the Wings blanked Chicago Black Hawks 3-0 in Detroit while the Habs defeated Boston Bruins 3-1 in Montreal. Sunday, the Detroiters edged the last-place Rangers 3-1 in New York while Canadiens made it 4-2 over the Bruins in Boston. In the other scheduled games, Toronto Maple Leafs clipped Rangers 4-1 in Toronto Saturday and then bowed 4-3 to the Black Hawks Sunday in Chicago.

The Wings' double win moved them eight points out in front of the second-place Leafs. Montreal's two victories boosted them into a third-place tie with Boston.

Terry Sawchuk shalked up his sixth shutout of the season when the Wings blanked Chicago on Saturday. Alex Delvecchio, Sid Abel and Marty Javelich shared the Detroit scoring.

Get Goals

Sunday night, Metro Prystai tallied twice in the Red Wings' 3-1 New York win. Marty Pavelich scored the other goal for the Detroiters who haven't lost a game on the road this season.

Paul Ronty spoiled what appeared to be Sawchuk's second straight shutout for the Rangers' only goal of the game at 17:20 of the final period.

Butch Bouchard, Bernie Geoffrion and Paul Meger scored for Montreal Saturday. Dave Creighton's second-period tally saved the Bruins from being shut out.

Rookie Dick Gamble notched two goals in the Canadiens' Sunday win at Boston. Geoffrion tallied the opener and Meger shot the last one into an empty net when goalie Jim Henry was pulled out for six forwards. Creighton and Dunc Fisher scored the Boston goals.

Gains Assist

Dickie Moore gained an assist Sunday night for his first NHL victory. Ted Kennedy and Bob Solinger scored the other Toronto goals while Don Raleigh notched New York's lone marker.

Toronto blew a 3-0 lead in Chicago Sunday after Cal Gardner, Tod Sloan and Harry Watson had countered for them in the opening period.

Hawks tied it on goals by Jimmy McFadden, Harry Taylor and Bill Gadsby during the middle session. Bill Mosienko scored the winner at 6:54 of the final stanza.

Muskies Edge Port Hope 5-4

LINDSAY, Dec. 17.—On a gift goal Lindsay Muskies extended their unbeaten home record by eking out a 5-4 overtime win over Port Hope Redmen in a Lakeshore Intermediate "A" Hockey League game before 812 fans.

Defenceman Murray [illegible] got credit for the winning goal as it was clear the Port into their own cage after 64 seconds of the extra period. The Redmen forced overtime play when Coach Doug Free notchedt he equalizer with 1 second remaining. The league leaders spotted the visitors a goal by Bud Downey and came back to lead 2-1 in the first on a pair of markers by Stu Hicks.

Ken Medhurst fired the only goal of the rugged second period, which saw players and fans mix it freely around the penalty box. A minor and misconduct was handed to Muskies' Mark O'Donoghue and the major match misconduct to Bill Douglas. Bill Harker's and Orlie Crawford's third period goals were matched by scores by Harris McKeen and Free.

Two Young Players Named For Honors

NEW YORK, Dec. 17 (AP) — Tony Trabert, 21, and Maureen Connolly, 17, of San Diego, Calif., head the tentative United States tennis rankings for 1951—among the youngest players in history named for the honors.

The men's and Women's lists were submitted during the weekend by the ranking committees. They must be approved by the US Lawn Tennis Association at its general meeting next month.

Trabert, former Cincinnati athlete now on leave from the navy, was rated over Philadelphia's Vic Seixas and also over Dick Savitt of Orange, NJ, ranked second and third respectively.

The three have been named to the US Davis Cup team which will challenge for the trophy Dec. 26.

Ted Schroeder of La Crescenta, Calif., also on the team, was rated seventh.

BULL'S EYE—An artificial eye, made of plastic and believed to be the largest ever made, is the pride of this prize bull owned by F. F. McIntosh of Spencer, W. Va. Inset compares the artificial bull's eye with one for a human being. Pupil is 10 times larger, and overall eye is three times greater. Purpose of the artificial eye is to improve the bull's appearance for fairs and shows.

Labor Demands Equal Share In Running German Industry

By BRACK CURRY

BONN, Dec. 17 (AP)—Germany's industrial barons and the powerful labor unions are squaring off for a finish fight over the "cold socialization" of the rich Ruhr valley.

Labor is demanding for workers an equal share in the management of all key industries.

Industrial leaders call this "socialism in disguise" and are marshalling their forces to stop it.

Workers in the big coal, steel and iron companies in the Ruhr already have won an equal voice with management in running the plants.

They call this "mitbestimmungsrecht" which means "the right of co-determination".

Co-determination puts on the board of directors of a company five labor and five management representatives. The 11th man is selected by these 10.

Revolutionary Principle

It's a revolutionary principle which German labor hopes workers in other countries will try to emulate. Labor leaders in the Ruhr claim unions in many other west European countries are keenly interested in this experiment.

Now the West German Trade Union Federation, which claims 6,000,000 members, is preparing drives to extend co-determination throughout the economy.

The federation's aggressive new chieftain, Christian Fette, has marked the chemical industry as its first target. This will be followed by rail and river transportation.

Political observers see little chance that German industry can head off extension of this doctrine after labor's thumping victory in the coal and steel industries.

Supported It

When the measure came before parliament last April, the country's biggest and bitterest political rivals—the Christian Democrats and the Socialists—united temporarily to support it.

Labor leaders make plain that they consider co-determination more important than higher wages or shorter hours. They say heavy industry helped clamp the Nazi dictatorship on Germany. Now labor, they say, must make sure that the Ruhr barons either keep out of politics or co-operate with the new democratic government in Bonn.

Teachers Plan Strike

SYDNEY, NS, Dec. 17 (CP) — The Cape Breton Rural and Village Teachers' Association served notice during the weekend it is in favor of a strike to start Jan. 7 unless "substantial" salary increases are forthcoming. H. H. Wetmore, president of the association which is part of the Nova Scotia Teachers' Union, called for a general meeting of Cape Breton's 1,000 teachers next Thursday to discuss the strike proposal.

Liberals Try Again

LONDON, Dec. 17 (Reuters) — Undaunted by two successful shattering defeats, the British Liberal party announced Sunday night it will try its luck again. The party is widely regarded as the mere shadow of a once-powerful organization. The Liberals said Sunday night they will contest as many seats as possible at the next election, whenever it comes.

Near Collision

AMARILLO, Tex., Dec. 17 (AP) —A big airliner loaded with 56 passengers made an emergency landing safely here last night but narrowly avoided a collision with a speeding train. The TWA Constellation landed in a field less than half a mile north of Amarillo air terminal. The nose of the big ship stopped a scant 50 feet from the railroad track. About two minutes later a speeding freight train whizzed by.

Tried To Halt Wreck

L'ANSE, Mich., Dec. 17 (AP)—Brakeman John Chapman, 45, heroically stuck to his post in a futile atempt to prevent the wreck of a runaway freight train. He died Sunday of his injuries. The fireman, James B. Bennett, 40, was killed and two other crewmen were injured in the spectacular wreck which occurred near this Lake Superior city Friday night.

BREAK THE LAXATIVE HABIT THIS PROVEN WAY

If you take laxatives regularly, here is how you can stop! This proven plan helps you establish your natural powers of regularity, controlled tests prove.

Stop taking whatever you now take. Instead, every night for one week take two Carter's Little Liver Pills. Second week—one each night. Third week—one every other night. Then nothing! Every day drink eight glasses of water; set a definite time for regularity. This plan was proven in scientifically controlled tests.

How can a laxative break the laxative habit? Because Carter's unblock the lower digestive tract and from then on let it make use of its own natural powers. Further, Carter's contain no habit forming drugs. Break the laxative habit with Carter's . . . be regular naturally.

Get mild, gentle Carter's Little Liver Pills at any drug store. Only 35c. You'll be grateful the rest of your life.

The Peterborough County TB Association have received $3,792.-24 to date on the 1951 Christmas seal campaign

BIRTHDAY GREETING

Friends of G. A. Gillespie, secretary-manager of Peterborough Exhibition, were greeting him today with "Happy birthday to you."

MINSTREL OF YULE

Bing is back on the main street, caroller of a White Christmas. You hear him in the jukes, but he may be out in the open before the week ends.

SLIM MARKET

Saturday market down George St. was a frigid session. Few farmers braved the weather with its rather vigorous wind. Buyers were just as scarce.

A BOX FULL

The east letter box at the CPR station was packed above the slot at midnight Sunday. You could hardly insert another letter and feel certain it would stay.

FILMS FOR FIREMEN

With the approval of the city council, Fire Chief George Smith is obtaining films from the local Film Board for use in enlarging the training of the members of his department.

FUR CAPS

City policeman were just as impressed as everyone else by the cold. Today they donned their fur hats and long overcoats. They don't put on that heavy winter gear until they really have to.

BOY INJURED

David Turner Vyse, seven-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Vyse of Beaverton is in critical condition in Orillia hospital. The boy was seriously injured Saturday when he was struck at Atherley.

TEN CALLS BY FIRE DEPT.

The city fire department was kept busy answering calls over the weekend but in no case was there any serious damage. Ten calls were sent into the fire hall. They included chimney fires, overheated oil burners, false alarms and a frozen sprinkler valve at the Canadian Canoe Co.

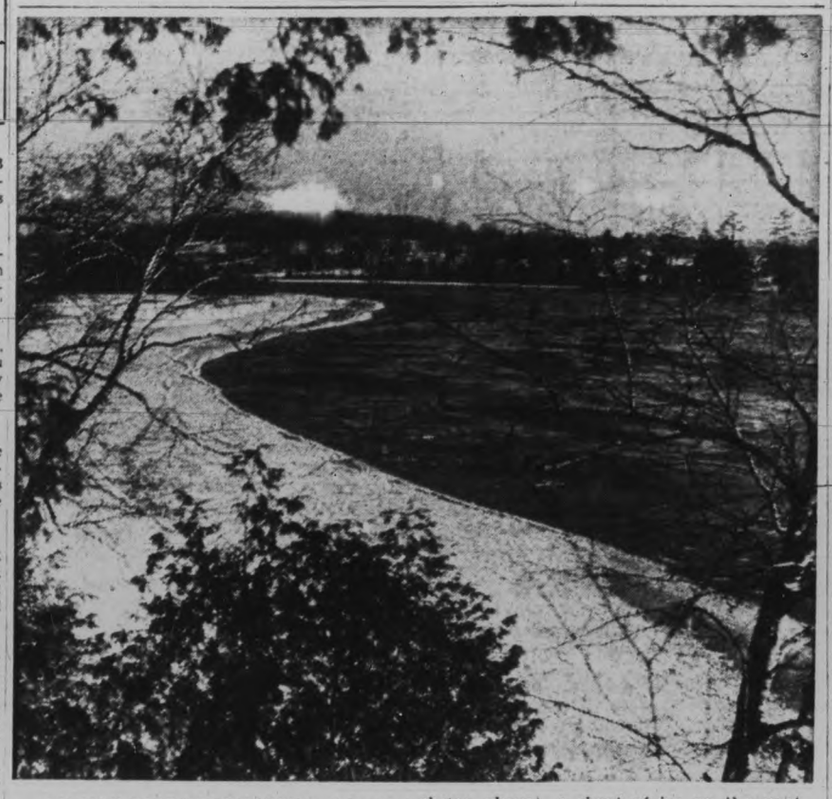
SLOW MOTION

Such was the tide of traffic Saturday afternoon that Herb Stinson took twenty minutes to drive on Charlotte St., from Aylmer to George. The market hall clock was facing him all the time. He turned into Charlotte, instead of avoiding it, to make a call on George St. in the block south of the Grand Hotel.

GOOD CONDITION

All four men injured in the accident in Janetville Friday night that proved fatal for Lloyd Strong, RR 2 Bethany, were reported in good condition today by Lindsay hospital officials. The most serious injury suffered by any of the four men, Neal McNeil, Jack Hannah, Ray Stinson and Wilson Staples, all of Bethany, was shock. Their car crashed into the rear of a truck in a blinding snowstorm.

APPROVING ACCOUNTS



For the rest of the year, city council accounts will be paid on the certificate of Ald. T. D. Miller as chairman of the finance committee, with the certifying signatures of chairmen of committees concerned. The list of these accounts will be presented at the next regular meeting of the council, probably the first of the new year.

CHECK REDHOT PIPES

The Smith Township fire brigade made a run to the farm-home of Charles Lee, three miles north of Peterborough, shortly before 1 am Sunday. Stovepipes began to get redhot at the Lee home and a call was put in to the fire brigade. The firemen stood by for a couple of hours and then went home when the danger was past.

WINDOW UNVEILED

A beautiful stained glass window depicting the resurrection scene and in memory of Cecilia Josephone Eakins was unveiled in St. Paul's Presbyterian church on Sunday morning. William Moorehead unveiled the window. It was presented to the congregation, on behalf of Miss Lena Eakins, the donor, by O. M. Steer and received by the minister, the Rev. C. G. Boyd.

Highways Dept. Spends $45,000 On County Roads

This year $45,000 was spent by the department of highways and public works on development roads in Peterborough county.

This was the figure given by Ewart Marston, district engineer, when he addressed county council at the December session.

Since 1947, when the development road scheme began, the department has spent $357,700 on these projects in the county.

(Under the development road scheme the department temporarily takes over a road from a municipality, improves, it, and then hands it back for the municipality to maintain.)

Work has started on the 20-mile Church-line road in Galway township. And it will continue next year.

Mr. Marston said the department hoped to finished two other development roads "in the near future." They are the 7-mile Clear Lake road (now finished but for the last mile), and the 29-mile road between Havelock and Lasswade.

Mr. Marston, in reply to a specific query from Reeve James Gifford, Ennismore, said he thought the Havelock-Lasswade road could be finished this year.

No Decision

Mr. Marston also said the department had not yet come to any decision on who is responsible for the upkeep of the Lakefield bridge.

The rule of thumb for picking a road to develop is the "intensity of traffic and service to the public", he said.

For some time Reeve Ross Harrison has been trying to get the department to take over the centre line of Smith. There are eight gravel pits on the four-and-a-half mile stretch running north and south between the 3rd and 8th concessions of Smith.

Large gravel trucks pound along the narrow road making it both dangerous to drive on and difficult to repair, Reeve Harrison contends. For this reason he wants the department to take it over.

Mr. Marston said he could give no official answer at the time but he thought the middle line of Smith serves more commercial and local traffic than some of the other roads in the township.

Underground Atom Blast May Change Battle Tactics

WASHINGTON, Dec. 17. (AP)—Military scientists expect the recent experimental underground atomic explosion in Nevada to have far-reaching effect on both battlefield tactics and strategic bombing. The research information obtained in the Nov. 29 test explosion presumably will be used for development of a dual-purpose nuclear weapon for use in blasting out subterranean strongholds on a war front or destroying underground factories or military headquarters in an epemy homeland.

The armed forces already have said there are at least two obvious methods for delivering such a weapon: Through use of an atomic warhead either on a conventional deep-penetration bomb dropped from high altitude, or on a guided missile, fired in high trajectory to produce deep penetration of the earth.

Advance Knowledge

From perliminary tests conducted at a Utah proving ground in which standard TNT explosives were used, the military had some idea of results to expect from the Nevada atomic test.

Thus they had reason to believe, even before they detonated the atomic charge in Nevada, that several militarily useful features would be produced. Among them was the area of primary blast destruction, the crater caused by the explosion; cracks in the earth which, radiating out from the crater, would damage or destroy underground or surface structures not actually at the point of impact; shock transmitted through the earth to destroy or damage structures, equipment within structures, or both.

But another factor could not be determined until an actual atomic explosion was tested. How much radioactivity would be left by an underground explosion and how long it would stay around?

This could be an advantage in the bombing of an underground factory, denying the area or its equipment to enemy use for some time. But it could be a disadvantage in a battlefield, where friendly forces might want to move into the area quickly.

City Cars Tangle On Icy Streets

Two cars collided at Otonabee St. and Armour Rd. shortly after noon Sunday, resulting in considerable damage to both cars.

William Peters, 25 Ware St., was driving east on Otonabee St., and as he was making a left hand turn on to Armour Rd. Stanley Pajak, of Britannia Heights, who was following Peter's, attempted to pass, and skidded into the side of Peters' car.

Shortly before 10 o'clock, two cars collided at Hunter and Water streets, resulting in an estimated $60 damage to the two vehicles.

Elmer Finney, 56 Morrow St., was driving east on Hunter St. As he was driving through the intersection at Water St., his car was in collision with a car travelling north on Water St., driven by Ralph Preston, R.R. 3 Lakefield.

Constable William G. Scott investigated.

Hits Parked Car

Driving south on Reid St., Sunday morning, F. W. Horton, 368 Brock St., struck a parked car in attempting to avoid a collision with a car which made a right hand turn to go north on Reid St., just as he was approaching the intersection of Reid and Hunter streets.

The car, owned by Frank Kuicack, 6 Dumble Ave., was parked on the west side of Reid St.

Both cars were damaged slightly.

Lakefield Voters Out In Numbers

Voting in Lakefield at noon today was described as "about average" by Village Clerk Harry Hill. At poll 1, 39 votes had been cast, and at poll 2, 29.

Lakefield electors are choosing only a reeve today. W. C. Grant, reeve since 1946, is running against Elwood Northey, a former councillor.

Two seats unfilled on Village Council and one vacant on the Public School Board will be filled at a second nomination meeting December 20.

Voting started at 11 am today and will close at 7 pm.

Suggestion Boxes To Go Up At City Hall

Three of the city's ballot boxes are to be converted into receptacles for suggestions from the civic employees union.

The idea was put forward by members of the negotiating committee in the conviction that the boxes would be used by employees of the board of works, parks and sanitation departments. It was felt that from time to time men would have useful suggestions for the benefit of the city.

"What about awards?" Ald. T. D. Miller asked at the recent meeting of the council.

"I don't think the committee went into that," Mayor Swanston said, "but it is something the council or broad of works might consider early in the new year."

The boxes are to be prominently places in the headquarters of the departments, and placarded to invite employees to deposit suggestions. Boxes are to be opened every three or four weeks by City Clerk Outram.

Woff Hunters Out Uncover No Tracks

Cold weather, working shifts at one or two factories and industrial Christmas parties on Saturday put a crimp in the Peterborough Fish and Game Protective Association wolf hunt. About a dozen hunters attended.

They hunted north of the Douro Church in the Long swamp on both east and west sides of the concession road. Huntmaster Norman Bradley said that they made no starts nor did they see any fresh tracks. The party returned to the city at noon. The club plans another drive in about a month's time.

Commencing the first Wednesday night in January, rifle shooting will get under way at the Armouries butts. It is open to all members and their sons.

13 Below Freezes Pipes, Cars

Garagemen, Plumbers To The Rescue During Weekend

Shivering its way to 13 below zero early Sunday morning, the thermometer marked the coldest point of the present cold snap.

Motorists didn't welcome the chilly weekend. City garages reported today that tow trucks were busy over the weekend ministering to the needs of cars with frozen gas lines, radiators and dead batteries.

Pipes Frozen

Some householders woke up Sunday morning to find pipes frozen solid. This morning, one plumber said he was getting calls every five minutes and that today was the worst of the weekend.

Most other plumbers said they had only a few calls; some reported none at all.

Just before midnight Saturday night, the mercury had skittered down to 10 below, after a low of three degrees below Friday night. The low Sunday night was three above zero.

Temperature at 9 am today was seven above.

Prospects for tomorrow are slightly more cheerful. It is to be a little milder, but snow is expected.

Kids' Parties Kept Santa Busy Saturday

Santa Claus is a few pounds lighter today after a steady round of Christmas parties Saturday.

Besides the Sunday school parties and others, old St. Nicholas was kept in a spin when he visited and gave presents to more than 5,000 children at industrial parties. There were no less than six parties on Friday and Saturday.

The largest was the CGE's annual rush in the collegiate auditorium which was filled five times by more than 800 children each time. After movies and other entertainment, out came Santa Claus. By the fifth party at 4:30 pm old Nick was pretty tired.

The entertainment at the CGE party gave Santa Clause a chance to visit briefly at three other parties, the Peterborough Canoe Company's at the YMCA, the Peterborough Lock Company at the Legion Hall, the Quaker Oats at Queen Mary School. In those three more than 1,000 children attended.

Evening Party

But after the CGE's final party, Santa Claus, ready for a weekend's sleep, had one more visit, that to the Dominion Woollens and Worsted Company's party at Queen Mary school in the evening. There he greeted about 300 children and gave each a present, especially to the guests, the children of St. Vincent's orphanage and the children's shelter.

The whirl of industrial parties started for Santa Claus on Friday night when he attended the DeLaval party at the collegiate.

Tonight, after a day's rest, Santa Claus begins again his pre-Christmas visits at the collegiate, the Outborad Marine and Manufacturing Company's party, and at the Western Clock Company, the veterans' association party.

Highlights of the Outboard Marine party, besides Santa's visit, will be the presentation of six watches to employees with 15-years' service.

Kitchen Door Forced $10 Stolen From Home

Returning home at midnight Sunday, Mr. and Mrs. Frank D. Kirby, 612A Armour Rd., found the kitchen door of their home ajar with snow drifting in on the floor.

An examination revealed that the door had apparently been forcibly entered and $10 in small change, and a pearl stick pin were missing.

Two other small banks containing silver and $80 in bills were not touched.

However, the weather did more damage than the unwelcome visitors.

The water pipes were frozen up and a number of house plants were also frozen.

Police were called and Constable Wilfred Perry and Acting Police Sergeant Harold Mesley investigated. Further investigations are being carried out by Detective Sergeants Bud Clarke and John Stevenson.

"AUNT KITTY" REYNOLDS DIED SUNDAY night in Civic hospital, after spending six years there. The (above) picture was taken two years ago, four years after one leg was amputated. Mrs. Christina Reynolds was one of the most cheerful patients the hospital ever had. Her only son, Calvin, is ill in St. Joseph's hospital. Mrs. Reynolds came originally from Bethany, where she spent most of her life.

Hospitalized For Six Years, 'Aunt Kitty' Dies, Aged 97

A patient in Peterborough Civic hospital for the past six years, Mrs. Christina Reynolds, 97, died there Sunday night. Nine years ago, Mrs. Reynolds suffered a broken hip, later underwent a leg amputation and she has been in hospital since 1945. She was known to her friends and the hospital staff as "Aunt Kitty."

Only surviving member of the family, her son Calvin, is in St. Joseph's hospital.

Always in the best of spirits, Mrs. Reynolds would tell visitors: "There's lots worse off than I am. I've got a good comfortable bed to sleep in and a dandy wheel chair to run around in. What better could I want.

"People do too much grumbling. That's why they get old before their time."

Bethany Born

Born in Bethany, Mrs. Reynolds was formerly Katharine Smith, daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Smith. In early life she was a tailoress in Cavan.

After her marriage to John Robert Reynolds, she and her husband farmed in Cavan township and both were active members of Bethany Methodist Chursh.

After the death of her husband, she and her son continued on the family farm for several years, in 1921 purchasing a farm south of Bethany, where her son still lives.

Active in church work, she was a teacher in Sunday school, a member of the Women's Association, and a life member of the Women's Missionary Society of Bethany United Church.

Funeral arrangements are unknow as yet.

Minister At Mark St. Rev. R. Richards Dies

First United Church minister at Mark St., the Rev. Raymond T Richards, 64 died suddenly at his London Ont. home Saturday night.

Mr. Richards was minister at Mark St. from 1925 to 1927. Church union was in 1925.

For the last two years he was superintendent of home missions in southern Ontario and before that, minister of Centennial United church. Born in Codrington, Ont., he served congregations in Cavan, Port Perry, Napanee, Thomasburg and Castleton as well as Peterborough.

Before church union, Mark St. was a Methodist church.

Just Like The Movies

LINDSAY, Dec. 17.—A train stopped the law in Lindsay Sunday night.

"It was just like the movies," Police Chief Art Webster said today.

The chief explained that he was chasing a hit-and-run driver in the police cruiser and was gaining when the pursuit approached a rail crossing. The fleeing driver, who had struck another car on Lindsay's main street, crossed in front of an approaching train and the chief had to brake to a skidding stop.

Lights Stove, House Burns

BANCROFT, Dec. 17 (ENS) — In a few minutes a flash fire burned to the ground the frame house of Hugh MacMillan, Dungannon township, near Detlor as a result of one of the children lighting the family stove with an unknown liquid late Friday afternoon.

The parents were shopping in Bancroft and when the daughter returned from High School she decided to warm up the house. All the family's possessions were lost in the fire.

Annabelle MacMillan, 15, is now being treated for severe burns in Bancroft district Red Cross hospital. Firemen who arrived too late to save anything said that the unknown liquid probably was gasoline.

Health Plan Stalled Says Morgan

Not Enough Room In City Hall For Amalgamation

Amalagamation of the health services of the board of education with the board of health has been blocked, temporarily at least.

Members of the health committee of the board of education consider the present facilities available to Dr. R. A. Kelly, MOH, inadequate.

"The city have deprived him of space to let him proceed," said Dr. Russell Morgan, chairman of the committee. He added that the whole question of amalgamation must be held in abeyance.

Trustees previously said they would not consider amalgamation unless health services offered by the board of health were as good or better than are now existing.

Own Doctors

The board of education now has its own dentist and doctor.

Dr Kelly proposed that these services be taken over by the board of health—the first step toward a centralized county health unit.

Several meetings have taken place and Dr. Kelly was to have drawn up a comprehensive brief, detailing how the board of health would look after the dental and medical health of the school-children in city public schools.

At that time the board was quartered in the Turner house, east of the city hall. Later the board transferred to their new quarters in the city hall and Dr. Morgan and the health committee consider the new quarters too small to take on this extra work.

Canadian Dollar Still Strong After 25-Year Fluctuations

By FORBES RHUDE
Canadian Press Business Editor

Canadians are inclined to value their dollar in terms of the American dollar.

That is, if it takes $1.02, or $1.10 or $1.20 Canadian to buy $1 American, they think their currency is worth that much less than American currency. And if, as has occurred in the past, it takes only 96 cents Canadian to buy $1 American, they may think their currency is worth that much more than the American.

Several volumes of the matter might still leave the question in debate—but some economists say it is confusing that we have the same name for our money as has the United States. They think that if we called our monetary unit "sheaves" or "shoats" or some such, we wouldn't worry so much about how it was quoted in terms of the American dollar.

To illustrate the matter, the pound sterling is valued at $2.80 in terms of the American dollar, but that doesn't mean that the pound is a stronger currency.

Run Close Together

But after we have said all we may as well recognize that in some manner we have acquired a unit of currency which through the years has run close in value to the American unit using the same name.

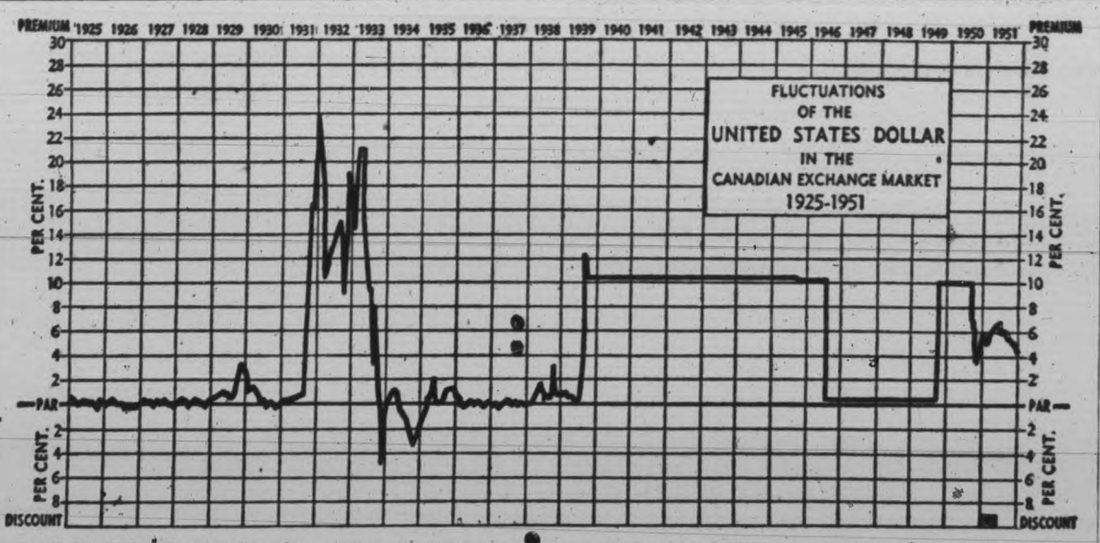
Recently our dollar has been running within two or three cents of the American — the strongest it has been in a long time.

It is perhaps the more impressive in that this year we have a trade deficit—buying more from other countries than we are selling to them. Still our dollar goes up, and perhaps the chief reason is that Americans have faith in our future and are investing their money here.

The ups and downs of our dollar the last 26 years is a picture of our times.

In the boom '20s it stayed close to the American. The early depression years sent it into a deep decline, so that in late 1931 it was worth nearly 25 cents less. That picture reversed itself as the US ran into a financial crisis and in late 1933 our dollar was worth about five cents more than the American.

From then until the outbreak of war, Canadian and American dollars stayed close together most of the time. War sent the Canadian dollar into a steep decline which was stopped by the government putting it at a controlled price of 90 cents US. In mid-1946 it was put back at a controlled par and then returned to a 10 per cent discount in September, 1949.



Allowed To Go Free

In October last year the Canadian dollar was allowed to go virtually free and it immediately jumped to around 95 cents US. its 1950 high point was Nov., 8 when it took $1.03 5-16 to buy $1 American.

Again, this past November, it made a seasonal advance, coincident with the grain movement and other factors, but instead of dropping back as it did last year, it has continued into higher ground.

On Friday the government freed the dollar from the few restraints which had remained on it, a move which coincides with a slight freeing of restrictions on trading in the pound sterling.

Whatever fluctuations take place in the Canadian dollar in trading of the coming weeks, there is no doubt that it has established itself as a strong currency in the world.

DOLLAR VALUES—The Canadian dollar, which has been quoted within two or three cents of the value of the American dollar recently, has had its ups and downs in the last quarter century. This graph, made from one kept by the Canadian Bank of Commerce, shows the value of the American dollar in terms of the Canadian, which is the way dollar quotations are made in Canada. It shows, for instance, that in 1931 it took as much as $1.24 Canadian to buy $1 American, and that at one time in 1933 it took less than 96 cents Canadian to buy $1 American. The graph is based on the average monthly quotation since the beginning of 1925 and up to the end of November this year.

Ask RCAF Airmen Leave Families In Canada, UK Homes Scarce

OTTAWA, Dec. 17 — (CP) — Air Force headquarters said Sunday that airmen stationed in the United Kingdom have been urged not to arrange for their families to join them until suitable housing has been located.

Officials said they regretted the situation at the RCAF station at North Luffenham, where 40 Canadian families live in a trailer camp on bleak grasslands.

They recalled that when 421 Squadron went to the United Kingdom last January for a year nobody was allowed to take their families at public expense. The squadron was stationed at Odiham and airmen were told it would not be possible to provide married quarters at the station. The squadron since has returned to Canada.

Canadian personnel at North Luffenham are divided into two groups— wing headquarters and three individual squadrons, one of which already has arrived.

The Air Force added in commenting on the housing problem:

"Wing personnel, single or married, have been transferred for a two-year period. Squadron personnel have been posted or transferred on the basis of single personnel being sent for a two-year period and married personnel for a one-year period.

Knew Limitations

"It was decided to pay for the transportation to the United Kingdom of as many married wing personnel as there were married quarters available. This was because it was known that the supply of married quarters was limited, and that the housing situation in the surrounding agricultural countryside was not good.

"It was not desired to encourage other married personnel to take their families over because of the housing situation. Preference in allotting available married quarters was given to wing personnel because they were sent to the United Kingdom for a longer period than squadron personnel.

"The current situation was foreseen, but it was not feasible to arange for construction of additional married quarters. The RCAF co-operated splendidly in providing us with a station containing modern married quarters, but like most such points, either in the United Kingdom or elsewhere, there are not enough for everyone."

Pension Plan Leading Measure Of Fall Session

By D'ARCY O'DONNELL

Ottawa, Dec. 17 (CP) — The fifth session of Canada's 21st parliament, called primarily to provide pensions of $40 a month to Canadians 70 and over, dealt with a wide variety of other topics.

Almost from the time the special fall session opened Oct. 9 priority was given to government business. No time was devoted to the study of bills sponsored by private members, but they were given full opportunity to express their grievances during a long-drawn out debate on the address in reply to the speech from the throne.

The pension legislation, completing a revision of the old-age security program, provided for federal pensions to all 70 and over, regardless of means, if they have lived in Canada for at least 20 years. Payments will start in January and are expected to go to some 700,00 Canadians.

Three Tax Changes

Three tax changes were made to finance the $400,000,000 program.

Finance Minister Abbott announced a two-per-cent increase in both the tax on personal incomes and on corporate profits. But a ceiling of $60 a year was placed on the amount a person will contribute to the pension fund through personal income tax. Two per cent of the 10-per-cent sales tax was earmarked for the pension fund.

At the five-month spring session, the government was authorized to share on a 50-50 basis with the provinces the cost of $40-a-month pensions to the needy between 65 and 69. The payments will start as soon as agreements are concluded with the provinces. An estimated 145,000 Canadians will qualify for the pensions, to be financed out of general revenues.

Replace Legislation

The new acts will replace legislation under which pensions of $40 a month were paid to persons 70 and over who had lived in Canada for at least 20 years and who could prove their need for a pension. The federal government paid 75 per cent of the cost and the provinces the remainder.

High on the list of important measures at the fall session was one authorizing establishment of a crown agency to construct the St. Lawrence seaway with or without United States co-operation. An agreement was concluded with Ontario for the development of power resources on the international rapids section of the river.

No one expressed outright opposition to construction of the seaway, but several opposition members urged that simultaneously with the projects steps to be taken to develop the resources of the Maritime and prairie provinces.

Three bills providing for equalization of freight rates across Canada were endorsed. The legislation was recommended by a Royal commission on transportation.

Adopt Suggestion

A recommendation by the Massey Commission on Arts and Sciences that thhe publicly-owned CBC be partly financed by parliamentary grants was adopted. The legislation provided for grants of $6,250,000 a year for five years.

In the military field, the Commons approved the dispatch of an army brigade to serve under Gen. Eisenhower in Europe and the maintenance of a brigade with the United Nations forces in Korea.

Several motions of non-confidence in the government were moved by opposition parties during the debate on the speech from the throne.

The main Progressive Conservative motion called for "adequate steps" to combat inflation and deal effectively with the high cost of living. It was defeated by a vote of 102 to 39.

In another motion, the CCF called for price controls and subsidies to equalize the sacrifices which the people are asked to make at this time. It was defeated 160 to 19.

The Social Credit party criticized the government in another motion for failing to increase war veterans' allowances, paid to burnt-out veterans prematurely aged by war service. It was defeated 145 to 55.

TTC Union Tries Re-open Talks

TORONTO, Dec. 17 — (CP) — Union officials will try today to reopen negotiations with the Toronto Transportation Commission in a wage dispute that has brought the threat of a street-car and bus strike.

A membership meeting of the Street Railwaymen's Union (AFL) Sunday voted 1,884 to 78 to reject a company offer of a five-cent-an-hour increase based on a conciliation board report, as well as a TTC proposal that the dispute be taken to arbitration.

The meeting empowered the union's executive board to call for a strike vote if it deemed one necessary.

Spokesmen said the union could call a legal strike Thursday.

Observers believed, however, that it probably will try to keep on negotiating beyond that date if there is any hope of settlement.

J. O. Robertson, union business manager, said that, if the attempt to reopen negotiations fails, a decision on whether to call for the strike vote will be made.

The union, which represents 4,768 of the TTC and its subsidiary Gray Coach Lines, seeks a wage increase of 15 cents an hour. Some 2,000 union members attended the meeting which rejected the conciliation board report.

Save $150,000,000

EDMONTON, Dec. 17 (CP) — Alberta's oil production this year saved Canada an estimated $150,000,000 in foreign exchange, provincial government officials said Sunday. They added that since 1948 Canadian oil development has saved Canada $350,000,000 which otherwise would have been paid out of the country for imported crude.

Goes Berserk

MONTREAL, Dec. 17 (CP) — Police said Sunday a 62-year-old man attempted to kill his wife with a hammer and then sought to end his own life by slashing his wrists. Police are guarding the hospital room of George Joslin, while his 60-year-old wife was being treated in the same hospital for a skull fracture. Both were reported in satisfactory condition.

Charged With Theft

NORTH BAY, Dec. 17 (CP) — Albert Reid, a 35-year-old Edmonton man has been charged with the theft of a $34,000 Edmonton moving van carrying several thousand dollars worth of furniture. Reid hitch-hiked a ride from Port Arthur to here in the van and allegedly stole the truck Friday night when the driver left it with the motor running. Police spotted the big truck near Mount Forest, 40 miles south of Owen Sound Saturday, and arrested Reid.

Last Ship Passes Through Sault Canal

By the Canadian Press

The Lake ship Hagarty, commanded by Captain R. Belcher, had the cold distinction of being the last ship to slip through the Sault Ste. Marie canal before winter closed down navigation.

Saturday the Hagarty was also the last ship out of Port Arthur before that port closed at midnight for the season. The Canadian side of the Sault canals closed down at the same time and the Hagarty went through the United States locks.

The last of Owen Sound's winter fleet of 12 ships were safely berthed Saturday afternoon. At Port Colborne the largest winter fleet in years was expected, many of the ships acting as winter grain storage.

Toronto harbor still was open and expected to handle some shipping until Christmas. Sunday's closing at the lakehead was the latest in 10 years.

Still Man Of Great Mystery Stalin To Be 72 Friday

MOSCOW, Dec. 17.—Next Friday, Dec. 21, is Josef Vissarionovitch Stalin's 72nd birthday. There will be much ado in the Soviet press, but likely little that will shed light on the mystery, past and present, of the 5 foot 5 Georgian who has struck fear into the hearts of more human beings than any man in history.

Only a month ago Pravda and Izvestia finished publishing the names of organizations which sent 70th birthday tributes—two years ago. That was a decade birthday. It is the Soviet habit to make much of the 50th, 60th and 70th birthdays of Moscow big shots. But Stalin's 70th birthday celebration was one that will be remembered as one of the most fantastic in history.

As his 72nd birthday nears the best estimate from scraps of information is that Stalin is feeling none too well. Those in position to know say he puffs a great deal now at the slightest exertion, and may have some sort of heart ailment.

He made several public appearances in the past year, all extremely fleeting.

Reach Extremes

Last May Day's festivities indicates the extremes the cult of Stalin has reached.

Planes droned overhead, spelling out in formation "Slava Stalinu" (Glory to Stalin). Column after column in the press praised him as the great leader and master.

On previous birthdays, towns and cities were named for Stalin. Gleaming white statues of him were sent to satellite capitals and Soviet towns. Trainloads of gifts chugged into Moscow. Workers were ordered to work extra hours without pay, in Stalin's honor.

East German children, in the Christmas season, were asked to pray not to Jesus Christ, but to Stalin.

But behind the stone walls of the Kremlin, Stalin sits alone, the most heavily guarded man in the world. Nobody is allowed within yards of it. Any who loiter there are scooped up and questioned.

Stalin must come and go in secret, apparently in fear of his life. When he leaves the Kremlin to go to his Black Sea villa, police clear the road for miles in advance.

He makes no appearance atop Lenin's tomb until Red Square has been cleared for several hundred yards. Only picked troops march in the holiday parades, and these have no ammunition in the guns they carry. Stalin darts in, takes the salute, stands briefly and darts out again, never within gunshot of any but the most trusted.

Stalin's pictures and statues are everywhere. The idealized pictures do not show the pockmarks left by a disease in his youth, nor do they show the puffed eyes and drawn face.

Born In Hovel

This is the man who was born in a hovel in Gori, Georgia, in 1879. His father, cobbler Vissarion Djugashvili, sprang from chattel slaves. His mother was devout Yekaterina Gheladze, who called him Soso (Little Joe) and marked him for the Russian Orthodox priesthood.

This is the man who fled a seminary to become a revolutionist, was in and out of Tsarist jails countless times, exiled many other times, brushed with death frequently. He was a devoted follower of Vladimir Ilyitch Ulyanov, called Lenin. Lenin called Stalin the "magnificent Georgian," but warned against his conniving and arrogance.

This is Stalin (it means steel), who clawed his way to the top by intrigue and deceit, who killed off the old Bolsheviks, spilled blood in purge after purge, unleashed famine and bloodshed on peasants who did not bend at once to his will.

Friday, Stalin turns 72. He is an old man now.

The Christmas bell has started to toll for turkeys.

All across Canada, a Canadian Press survey showed today, supply is as good or better than last year, prices are generally the same and the annual exodus from the farms to the roasting oven will soon be under way.

In British Columbia raising turkeys is big business, worth some $37,000,000 annually. When the Christmas market opened, BC growers had some 4,500,00 birds ready for shipment to retail outlets.

Prices generally were up five cents a pound from last year in BC with retailers asking 70 cents a pound for birds under 18 pounds.

Turkeys are plentiful in Alberta with prices about the same as last year. The Edmonton marketing board said "bronze breasted" turkeys are in good supply.

More birds are available this year than last in Saskatchewan—the supply up as high as 15 per cent in heavy turkeys 18 pounds and over. However, demand is greatest in the 12-to-14-pound class. Prices for heavier birds are up five cent while those for smaller birds are about unchanged. Retailers are asking 65 to 70 cents a pound.

No Change

In Manitoba, prices are generally the same as last year, in some cases up a cent. Supply is equal to 1950 while chicken supplies are up.

Grade A special birds are selling at 47-48 cents a pound for birds under 18 pounds while birds over 18 are selling at 41-43. Grade A birds under 18 pounds cost 46-47 cents while heavier grade A birds are selling at 40-42.

In Ontario, prices are estimated at 68 cents for toms and 75 cents a pound for hens.

Agriculture department officials said the supply would be about the same at last Christmas. The preferred family turkey in Ontario runs from 12 to 16 pounds.

Other fowl are in good supply in the province. Some Australian rabbits have been imported to sell at 45 cents a pound.

In Quebec, production of turkeys reached a record this year with 692,993 birds compared with 516,136 in 1950. Some 100,000 younger birds were shipped to Western provinces some months ago. The rest of the supply will be for consumption within the province.

Prices are slightly higher than last year, ranging from 69 to 75 cents a pound. Domestic goose and duck production dropped this year.

New Brunswick prices remain about the same, 90 cents or slightly lower for grade A drawn. Choicest weights are the 10-12 pound birds.

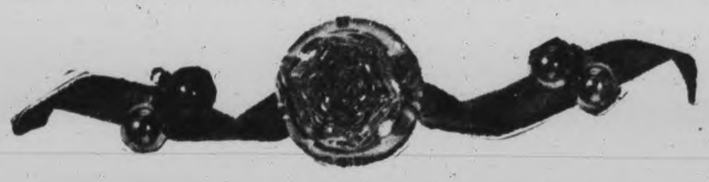
Production in Nova Scotia has risen 50 per cent in the last few years. Prices this year are 75 cents a pound or slightly higher— about the same as last year.

Hail Abolition Of Canadian Dollar Control

NEW YORK, Dec. 17—(CP)—The New York Times today hails Canada's abolition of foreign exchange control as "a remarkable and justified indication of (Canada's) confidence in its economy and money."

The Times says editorially that the steadiness of the Canadian dollar during the last year "had earlier given similar testimony of that country's economic strength."

"Canada is now in the throes of major industrialization; its enormous wealth of diverse minerals is steadily becoming more apparent and attracting ever-greater investment, both domestic and foreign, for development," the editorial says.



"Though Canada still imports more than she exports in terms of goods, the capital inflow during the past year has more than offset the trade deficit . . .

"Foreigners will be able to freely exchange Canadian holdings for dollars or other currencies. This greater freedom will not be lost on potential foreign investors, and would quickly rebound to that courageous country's benefit," The Times says.

Canada last Friday abruptly ended 12 years of controls over foreign exchange, joining the United States and Switzerland in complete freedom of money exchange.

YMCA Friday Club Christmas Party

The Friday Night Club of the YMCA held their annual Christmas party last Friday evening when members had their wives and lady friends as guests.

Club president, Don Whittaker, presided. The banquet room of the YMCA was appropriately decorated by club members for the Christmas season.

Following a delicious turkey dinner, a hearty sing song was directed by Mr. Charlie Forsythe, YMCA general secretary. Tap dancers Judy Bell and June Jones gave very fine performances under the direction of Mrs. Marion Laird.

Jim Abraham and Jack Schepper each favored with several piano selections.

The speaker of the evening was Mr. J. Londerville of Peterborough Normal School. Mr. Londerville's topic was "What is Christmas?" He gave the answer to this question in three parts: 1, Christmas is Christ; 2, Christmas is Santa Claus; 3, Christmas is Home.

The speaker was introduced by Fred Huffman and a vote of thanks was given by Charlie Bain.

Remainder of the evening was spent dancing and winners of the spot dances were Lois Jamieson, Mary Parker, Mrs. Ron Watson, Don Hartshorn, Mel Chambers and Bill King.

Regina Girls Tops Grain Show

REGINA — (CP)—The girls showed up the boys at the Regina Junior Grain Club's Achievement Day show this year.

Glenda Jones, 17, and Ada Lou Jones, 14, captured top honors in plot growing, grain judging and the agricultural problems competition. The two sisters had the highest total scores, and as winners of the contest will represent the Regina club in provincial competition at the University of Saskatchewan next spring.

Glenda and Ada Lou are the daughters of Morgan Jones, who farms on the northern outskirts of Regina. Glenda is secretary of the grain club, whose members are boys and girls from 12 to 21 years old.

Harris-Brisbin

A quiet wedding was solemnized at the United Church parsonage, Camborne, at 4 o'clock, Saturday afternoon, when Jean Agnes, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harry L. Brisbin, Coldsprings, became the bride of Kenneth Arthur Harris, son of Mr. and Mrs. Melville Harris of Gore's Landing. The Rev. P. C. Brown officiated at the double ring ceremony.

The bride was becomingly dressed in intermission tricotine crepe with rhinestone trim and wore Kelly green accessories. Her corsage was of yellow 'mums. She was attended by her sister, Mrs. Jack Clapperton, who wore a dress of navy taffeta with navy accessories and a corsage of pink 'mums.

The groom was attended by his brother, Mr. Victor Harris of Gore's Landing.

The wedding dinner was held at the Lakeview House, Cobourg, for the immediate family. At the reception the bride's mother wore a dress of black crepe with black accessories. The groom's mother wore navy crepe with wine accessories, and both wore corsages of pink carnations.

Later the bride and groom left for a trip to points east. They will live at Gore's Landing.

PRINCESS ELIZABETH and the Duke of Edinburgh stand in the lobby of London's Coliseum during the intermission of the "midnight matinee" held on behalf of the National Playing Fields Association of which the Duke is president. British and American stage and screen stars took part in the show.

Women Gain In Public Life Four Elected Mayor In 1951

By KAY REX
Canadian Press Staff Writer

Canada's capital had its first woman mayor in 1951 and the year also saw housewives from coast to coast dig in for a thrifty war against high prices.

On the lighter side—Marjory Alma Kelly, 23-year-old tobacco farmer's daughter of Courtland, Ont., was named Miss Canada of the year; a couple of prominent bachelors were blamed for the lack of women in the country's political life.

Mrs. Evelyn Tufts, Halifax reporter in the parliamentary press gallery at Ottawa, said the late Rt. Hon. W. L. Mackenzie King and the late Viscount Bennett were responsible for the lack.

"They never had a chance to get acquainted with women and they didn't appreciate them," she said while visiting in Calgary. "But we may do a lot better from now on."

Prediction True

Six months later, in October, her prediction appeared to be coming true. Mayor Grenville Goodwin, of Ottawa, died, and Controller Charlotte Whitton was chosen to fill his unexpired term of office, the first woman mayor in the state's history. By the end of the year she was sharing the same limelight with three others, all from Ontario.

Mrs. Marjorie Hamilton was re-elected mayor of Barrie, and Mrs. Bernadette Smith became the first woman mayor of Woodstock. Mrs. Grace Burk McFarland was elected first woman mayor of Leamington.

To complete the picture—Mrs. Ann Shipley, the perennial reeve of Ontario's Teck Township which includes Kirkland Lake, was re-elected for yet another term.

Fight Inflation

Housewives in the thousands took a hand in the battle against the high cost of living through the powerful national council of women which in the autumn launched a "thrift campaign."

Women were told to pinch pennies and hence beat the cost of living. The plan was endorsed by the 13,000-member Canadian Association of Consumers which subsequently urged the government to call a national conference of industry, trade, labor, agriculture and consumer representatives. Object of the conference: to clarify each group's responsibility in the country's battle against inflation.

Another organization, the Imperial Order Daughters of the Empire, took Queen Mary's carpet on a Canada-wide tour, collecting $120,000 for dollar-hungry Britain. The carpet was turned over to the people of Canada, Princess Elizabeth making the formal representation in the capital during the Royal tour.

Receive Recognition

Individually, several women received recognition in and outside Canada, and, in February, the dean of women politicians, Mrs. George Black, celebrated her 85th birthday.

The robust veteran of the Klondike gold rush of 1898 said in an interview at her home in Whitehorse, Y.T., that her election to the House of Commons in 1935 was one of the things which stood out in her 53 years in the Yukon.

She represented the northern constituency for the Conservatives, retiring before the 1940 election.

During the year at least three women played prominent roles in the United Nations.

At Paris Meeting

The only woman in the Canadian delegation at the U.N. general assembly in Paris was Mrs. R. J. Marshall of Agincourt, Ont. Past president of the national council of women, Mrs. Marshall spoke for Canada in the U.N. social committee which studies such problems as human rights.

Mrs. Adelaide Sinclair, executive assistant to Canada's deputy welfare minister at Ottawa, was re-elected chairman of the U.N. children's fund of which she has been a member for the last five years.

The one to roam farthest afield, Dr. Margaret Hocken, a Canadian economist, headed for Iraq where she has been appointed by the U.N. education, scientific and cultural organization to work on a land-settlement program.

In the sports world Canada proudly hailed Marlene Stewart of Fonthill, Ont., as the golfing wonder of the year. Seventeen-year-old Marlene won the Canadian Open championship in August, and a few days later she took the Canadian Closed title.

In the literary field Germaine Guevremont, gifted Montreal writer, won the governor-general's award for the best fiction of 1950 with her novel of French-Canadian farm life, "The Outlander."

A Toronto woman, Marjorie Wilkins Campbell, author of "The Saskatchewan," a book in the "Rivers of America" series, won in the creative non-fiction class.

SS Party Held At St. Paul's

The second of three Sunday school parties planned to entertain some 350 pupils of St. Paul's Church at the Christmas season was held in the auditorium Friday evening for Junfors and Intermediates.

Christmas recordings provided a musical background during the supper hour when the following teachers and assistants served: Mrs. R. McAdam, Mrs. C. G. Law, Mrs. P. S. Hawthorne, Mrs. Philip Greenley, Mrs. W. Smillie, Mrs. L. Mercer, Mrs. G. Anderton, Mrs. Leighton Ross, Mrs. Eric Eason, Miss Mary Nesbitt, Miss Dorothy Walker, Miss Helen Warner, and Miss Marjorie Nesbitt.

Films shown for the children were Christmas Carols, Christmas Night and Present for Santa, Bert Ross being the projectionist. Three playlets were presented by Miss Dorothy Walker's class, More to Give Mother, A Christmas Proposal and Night Before Christmas. Taking part were Barbara Mann, Judith Parks, Mary Lou Davidson, Marjorie Cuffe, Margaret Dalgleish, Jean Ann Green, Wendy Bruce, Lorraine Middleton, Lynn Anderton, Laferne Mitchell, Sheila Greenly, Donna Rooke, Patsy Morrow, and Elaine Grant with Joan Gillespie Jane Houghton and Beverley McDougall as the stage crew. Recitations were given by Margaret Hawthorne, Betty Houghton and Shirley Graves and a vocal duet by Norma Simpson and Phyllis Tolton.

A one-act Christmas drama introduced by Bert Ross, director, titled "They That Sat in Darkness," was by some members of the Young Adult Bible Class. Time of the play was the anniversary of Christ's birth in the year of his crucifixion. The cast of characters included Ann Davidson, Lee Barry, Roy McFadyen, Sandra Dalgleish and Judith Parks.

Mr. Jim Davidson was chairman for the program which concluded with the presentation of gifts by the Rev. C. G. Bold.

"White gifts" this year are New Testaments to be brought with the contributions of the children and sent to Mr. Allan Ryoch, one of the Presbyterian missionaries in British Guiana.

Party for the primary department, children six to nine years, will be held Wednesday, commencing at five o'clock.

Woman Leader In Affairs Of Marmora

MARMORA, Dec. 17 (ENS). -- The funeral service of Mrs. Cora A. Bleecker was held in St. Paul's Anglican Church on Friday afternoon, with Canon J. M. Brownlie officiating. Burial took place in the family plot in Marmora Protestant Cemetery.

The pallbearers were D. E. Bell, G. Murray, E. D. O'Connor, V. M. Lynch, W. D. Lavender and J. L. Shannon

The death of Mrs. Bleecker, which occurred on Wednesday evening, removes one of the oldest residents of the village. Born in the township of Clarke 87 years ago, as Cora Alice Powers, she came to Marmora in 1884 as a teacher at its Public school, which later became the residence now occupied by Mr. and Mrs. Frank Sweet. Later she was married to Charles A. Bleecker, member of a pioneer family of this district, son of George W. Bleecker, one of its earliest storekeepers. Mrs. Bleecker throughout the years put her talents to good use. Not only was she a member of St. Paul's Ladies' Guild, but a charter and later life member of the Marmora Women's Institute. She was also a former district officer of the organization. She served terms on Marmora Public and High School Boards, and was an officer of Marmora Public Library.

For some years she was of great assistance to Marmora Agricultural Society as one of the directors of ladies' work in connection with the annual fair.

With her helpfulness in the various organizations to which she belonged, she combined a friendliness which won for her a place of high respect in this village. She is survived by two sons, Roy of Portland, Oregon, and Howard of Toronto. She is also survived by one sister, Mrs. Maxfield Sheppard of Windsor.

Chances Slim For Fleeing Soviet Union

MONTREAL (CP)—Elinor Lipper, an attractive brunette who spent 11 years in Russian prison camps, in an interview here told reporters some of her experiences behind the Iron Curtain. A native of Switzerland, she said she found that citizens of Soviet Russia have "almost no chance of escaping" their country.

"The West is receiving between 20,000 and 30,000 refugees each month from Soviet satellite states but there's only a one to a million chance for any Soviet citizen to come over."

Miss Lipper, visiting Canada and the United States under the auspices of the International Rescue Committee, a group which seeks to help refugees from Iron Curtain countries, was a prisoner for eight years in Siberia and three years in other Russian prisons.

Arrested By Soviet

She said she went to Russia as a member of a Communist youth organization. She was arrested shortly afterwards and sent to prison. She was released in 1948 and made her way across the Soviet Union back to Switzerland where she now lives.

Miss Lipper said prisoners in Siberian slave-labor camps never discuss the possibility of escape because no such possibility exists.

"We in the slave camps were no different from Russians who were living freely in various areas. Nobody anywhere talks of leaving."

Miss Lipper, who looks much younger than her 39 years, was once liberated from a camp in the Russian zone of Germany by American troops.

Youngsters Pack Library For Big Opening

BARRHEAD, Alta. (CP). — Opening of a new library is usually a cut-and-dried affair, but the youngsters really whooped it up in this small community north of Edmonton.

More than 1,300 students and many parents attended the official opening of the second regional library in Alberta. The contention was that the opening was most important to young people, and it was the young people who turned out in force.

Twenty - six school buses brought them to the modern Barrhead school. It was a school holiday in the district and the boys and girls made the most of the opportunity.

They swarmed through the corridors, inspected the art exhibits displayed by various districts, had their fill of hot dogs and soft drinks and heard speeches by Government officials. It was topped off by a program of basketball, boxing, tumbling, movies and dancing.

The library, in a section of its own in the new Barrhead school, serves a wide area. Persons who attended the opening bought library memberships at $1 each, and the money will be used to expand the original stock of books.

What's Right?

You refuse a date with a boy for a certain night, giving the excuse that you are busy and later a boy in the same crowd that you would like to go out with asks you for a date for that same evening.

WRONG: Accept the date.

RIGHT: Don't accept that date, since the boy who asked you first will undoubtedly hear the whole story.

Annual Dinner Dance Held By CGE Wire and Cable Club

At a very nicely arranged Christmas party 140 members of the CGE Wire and Cable Club and their guests spent a thoroughly pleasant evening Saturday in the Empress Kawartha Room. After a delicious turkey dinner they enjoyed dancing and bar refreshments.

This annual dinner dance is the highlight of the Club's activities which include gifts to members on occasion of weddings or leaving the plant or at times of illness, etc. A fund for this purpose is set up by monthly membership fees and the fund also provides 26 prizes which were drawn for at the party with all members eligible. It happened that the main prize a large turkey, was won by an absentee.

Special guests were Mr. Ian McRae, assistant to the vice-president of Canadian General Electric Company, and Mrs. McRae, the Peterborough Works manager, Mr. J. E. Girven and Mrs. Girven, the manager of the Wiring Materials Division, Mr. C. S. Leary and Mrs. Leary of Toronto, and the manager of the Wire and Cable Section, Mr. F. W. Barnhouse and Mrs. Barnhouse, also of Toronto.

Manager of the Wire and Cable Division Mr. R. S. Hull and Mrs. Hull were also seated at the head table. Mr. Hull welcomed the guests and spoke to the division employees with regard to plans for the coming year and gave a forecast of full employment. Mr. Leary confirmed his remarks and promised as many orders as can be filled. Mr. Hull also congratulated Mr. Girven on his appointment to works manager following Mr. McRae's move to the Toronto executive this fall. Mr. Girven began his career with CGE in the wire and cable division. Brief addresses fitting to the season were made by Mr. Girven and Mr. McRae.

Club president and chairman Mr. Basil Phelan announced the winners of the prizes from tickets drawn by Mr. Girven. A $10 door prize for the evening was won by Mrs. H. Rylott.

The club prizes were the turkey, won by Mr. C. Stewart; chickens won by Miss M. Thompson, Mel Hamilton, F. Watson, F. Trotter, and G. Meraw. Cigarettes were won by A. Jolley, Miss Edith Walker, Don Craig, Joan Lynch, M. Meeks, Jim Conway, Jack Latchford, B. Grainger, A. Corner, F. Nolan and Eric Grier, and chocolates went to Miss Alberta Whan, Miss J. Wilson, A. Thompson, Don Endicott, S. Attard, Cliff Chapman, A. Feeley, Ed Ayrheart and Ross Durant.

Attractive Christmas decorations on the tables, the seating arrangements and the purchasing and wrapping of the prizes was looked after by Miss Joan Reynolds and Miss Agnes Murphy. Music for the dancing was by the orchestra of a club member, Jim Byrne. The program included two square dances each with as many sets as space allowed. A "Paul Jones" dance ended in a chain march led by the musicians. Prizes were given the winners of two lucky spot dances.

The other guests at the party were:

Miss Edith Walker and Mr. Grant Burns, Miss Agnes Murphy and Mr. Ty Martin, Miss Eva Moffatt and Mr. Don Sanders, Miss Muriel Hall and Mr. W. Cunningham, Miss Dorothy Grier and Mr. W. Brown, Miss Shirley Minicola and Mr. J. Maloney, Miss J. Blodgett and Mr. R. Conners Miss Phil Heath and Mr. D. Hobbins Miss Eileen Shaughnessy and Mr. P. Overburdened Wife Finds Her Lot Nothing But Chores

DEAR MISS DIX: Is it a working wife's duty and responsibility to supply all the furniture for a home for her husband and stepson? Is she supposed to pay back bills, accumulated before her marriage? Must she do without things herself to buy clothes for her husband and stepson? Must she provide the spending money for her husband for gambling and drinking, while he raises the roof if she spends $3.00 of her own earnings for a lamp? Is it her job to do all the household chores, including care of the furnace, cleaning of cellar and yard, besides the regular housework of washing ironing, and sewing?

Dorothy Dix

Is she supposed to raise her husband's boy alone (his father has no control over him)? The boy has a mean, ugly disposition, is spoiled and defiant. Must have his own way in everything. Must the wife—as a mother—tolerate the boy's tantrums, lying, dirty habits, nasty speech and faultfinding? Is it her duty to put up with all this at home and go to work too?

My husband says yes; I don't agree. I think he was looking for a good thing; he wants a home but none of the expense involved; a mother for his boy but no responsibility. And I'm tired of it.
HEARTSICK.

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: I should think you would be tired of it; to continue the questioning trend, "Have you a backbone or not?" You are very definitely being used as a soft touch and whether you continue in that role or not is up to you. Your husband and his son sound like a couple of first-class heels, and I can't see what you get out of your marriage at all.

Your Job Impossible

You can scarcely be expected to discipline a boy who has been as thoroughly ruined as your stepson. To be expected to handle such an impossible job besides going out to earn the family's comforts and luxuries is too much. Adding on the impossible task of catering to a husband lacking all concept of consideration or cooperation makes your whole situation one that only an archangel could handle.

It is impossible to change two men of such undesirable and fixed habits, so you must be the one to change. Stop being a doormat. Either be a wage earner or a homemaker; in this case don't try to be both. Let hubby work for his own drinking and gambling money; spend your earnings for your own comfort—and better put some away for the rainy day that looms just around the corner.

To salvage any peace or happiness from this almost hopeless marital wreck requires the utmost firmness on your part. You must decide exactly what your physical or emotional capacities are; don't go beyond them. Make a definite statement of what you expect your husband and stepson to do in maintaining the home: if they fail to cooperate, lessen your own efforts. Give up your job, if necessary, but don't let the men put all the burden of maintaining the home on your shoulders. Remember, nothing will accomplish a change except firmness and resolute determination.

DEAR DOROTHY DIX: I am 20 years old and planning to become engaged to a boy three months younger than I. We want to be married next summer, but our problem is that he is of a different nationality and insists that at the wedding both his family and mine should be dressed as he wishes (in evening clothes). My family thinks it silly to wear them. Also, at the reception he wants his style of cooking, and my family disagrees on that because they don't like it. This is leading to constant arguments every time we bring up the subject of the wedding. B.M.

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: It is customary for the bride and her family to set the pattern for a wedding and the reception, with, of course, as much consideration for the wishes of the groom's family as can be accorded. When differences as varied as those existing in your case occur, it is practically impossible to compromise. Since your family is paying for the entire affair, they should be the ones to decide what food is to be served, and what the wedding party should wear. Naturally, guests will come attired as they wish, but your people should wear what they wish.

DEAR MISS DIX: My mother and father have told me I could follow your advice on this problem. I am 17 and very much in love with a boy of 21. We have gone together for a year, are engaged and plan to get married soon. Do you think we are too young?
DOROTHY JEAN.

ANSWER: Yes, I do think you are both too young to marry. If you follow my advice, you'll wait at least a year before going ahead with the wedding plans. Of course, there are other things to consider which you have not mentioned. Can your fiancee support you, for instance? These considerations are important, you know, but in any event, wait the year.

MARY MOORE SAYS:

Cover Entire Skin Surface When Roasting Half Turkey

Lee S.'s quetion was: "How to cook half a 30-lb. turkey? I would like to wrap it in aluminum foil, but don't know whether that's possible or whether the stuffing can be put in at the beginning. How many minutes per pound cooking time do you allow?"

This is such a timely question I want Lee S. to know I am grateful to her for reminding me of this half-a-turkey trick.

The big bugbear is danger of drying out the bird—the half-bird. From experience I have decided that a half turkey must be covered for roasting and your aluminum foil idea, Lee, is splendid.

To Roast A Half Turkey

Pile the stuffing in a neat mound in centre of large sheet of aluminium foil, the shape of the mound of dressing being roughly that of the hollow in the half turkey.

STUFFING: One quart toasted ½-inch bread dice (toast them quickly under hot broiler or in hot oven OR toast bread in slices in the toaster and cut into dice after toasting), chopped giblets cooked and chopped if any, 3 tablespoons finely chopped onion, ½ cup finely chopped celery and ½ cup any of the following: blanched almonds, cooked French chestnuts, oysters chopped, or sauteed mushrooms. Add also 1 tablespoons chopped parsley, 1½ teaspoons salt, ⅛ teaspoon pepper, ½ teaspoon poultry seasoning, about ¾ cup broth or milk, plus butter you care to spare but not more than ½ cup. Saute all of the vegetables in butter until they are transparent but not one bit brown. Add to all remaining ingredients. No egg is necessary unless you want to add one beaten one to bind this together better. Lower the washed and dried and salted turkey over the stuffing. Now cover the entire skin surface with a moistened cloth dipped in cooking oil or melted shortening but pretty well wrung out. Roast until three-quarters done at 300 deg. Fahr. for about 3½ hours. Test for tenderness at end of 3¼ hours, by pressing thigh between thumb and forefinger. If it is soft and the joint moves easily and doesn't spring back to position the turkey it tender. If not give it at least another half hour, then test it again. It does not require basting or turning if it is on a large sheet of foil and skin surface is completely covered with oiled cloth. Lift the turkey to the platter on the foil to keep the dressing intact.

UNSIGNED QUESTION: "I make a cherry and nut layer cake and the cherries and nuts seem to sink to the bottom. I've creamed them with the shortening and sugar but still they sink. Any suggestions?"

ANSWER: Fruits sink because batter is not dense enough. You will notice that fruit cake such as Christmas cakes have very little batter and almost no liquid and fruits stay in suspension.

The following recipe combines my answer to you request with my hankering to give you a simple fruit cake. I call it our—

Company Pound Cake

One and three-quarters cups sifted cake flour, 2 teaspoons baking powder, ¼ teaspoon salt, ½ cup shortening preferably butter, ¾ cup sugar, 5 unbeaten egg whites, ½ cup finely cut glace cherries, 1 cup blanched almonds (or ¼ cup cherries, ½ cup almonds, ½ cup each citron peel and light seedless raisins), ¾ cup shredded cocoanut (optional), ½ teaspoon almond extract, ½ teaspoon vanilla. Sift flour, measure, sift with baking powder and salt and sift 3 times. Cream butter adding sugar gradually while creaming; beat in egg whites 1 at a time. Add fruits, and nuts and flavorings. Sprinkle dry ingredients over and mix in well. Bake in loaf pan, greased and paper-lined, and greased again. Slow oven of 275 deg. or 300, 1¼ to 1½ hours. Keeps well.

Families Join Party Held By Eastern Star

HAVELOCK, Dec. 17 (ENS) — A Christmas party was held by the members of Prosperity Chapter No. 63, Order of Eastern Star, following their regular chapter meeting on Thursday evening when members of their families and friends joined in their festivities.

A lighted Christmas tree added a cheery note to the Yuletide decorations throughout the rooms.

Lorne Hornsby officiated at the draw for a Christmas cake won by Mrs. George Hubbel and a quantity of eggs which went to Mrs. A. Robinson.

A sing-song of Christmas carols with Mrs. W. Goadsby as accompanist was an enjoyable part of the program. Other items were a reading by Mrs. W. Nobes Sr., two vocal solos by Mrs. Goadsby and a monologue by Mrs. W. Smith.

An exchange of gifts and dancing completed the program. Lunch was served at the close of the festivities, a three-tier Christmas cake being provided for this part of the program.

Millbrook News

Teddy Buck, son of Mr. and Mrs. Percy Buck, who celebrated his seventh birthday recently, entertained his young friends at a party on Saturday. His sister, Fay, who will be four in a few days, also had friends in the same day. Teddy's guests were: Roger Armstrong, Glenn Fallis, Bernard Ingham and Tommy Kennedy. Reggie Sloan was invited but was unable to attend. Fay's guests included: Rita Kennedy, Georgina Kennedy, Ada Olan, Irene Olan, Gayle Olan and Dianne Olan. Merrilea and Lenore Buckham were invited, but were unable to attend.

Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Kennedy returned Thursday from a motor trip to the west coast.

Miss Victoria Kent was the weekend guest of her aunt. Miss Ellen Kent, and her father, H. V. Kent.

3—Marriages

COOMBES-FAIR—On December 17, 1951, in Peterborough by Rev. E. W. Rowland, Lillian Fair to Gordon Coombes.

5—Deaths

MOFFATT, A. Fraser—At the Ottawa Civic Hospital on Sunday, December 16, 1951, after a lengthy illness, dear husband of Mary Nelson, formerly of Keene, loving father of Don, Teddy and Sue and brother of Mrs. Mary Terry of Aneroid, Saskatchewan. Body resting at A. E. Veitch and Son Funeral Home, 453 Parkdale Ave., Ottawa, for service on Tuesday at 9:30 a.m. thence to Keene United Church for service at 3:00 p.m. with burial in Keene Cemetery.

6—In Memoriam

DIXON—In loving memory of a dear husband and father, George Dixon, who passed away Dec. 17, 1950 at his home.
A cheerful smile, a heart of gold,
He was the dearest husband and father the world could ever know.
A helping hand to all he knew,
He was so kind, so generous, so true.
On earth he did his noble best,
Grant him, Jesus, heavenly rest.
—Lovingly remembered by his wife, Mary and family.

FIELD—In loving memory of my dear husband, William R. Field, Dec. 16, 1950.
A noble heart conscious of duty well and nobly done.
Hath passed away with the setting of the sun.
—Ever remembered by his wife, Annie Field.

HIERONS—In loving memory of a dear husband and father, G. John Hierons, who passed away one year ago today, Dec. 17, 1950.
We often sit and think of you when we are alone,
For memory is the only friend that grief can call its own.
Like ivy on the withered oak, when all other things decay,
Our love for you will still keep green and never fade away.
—Ever remembered by his wife, daughter and son-in-law, Kay and Tom.

HUGHES—In loving memory of my dear husband, Robert Hughes, who passed away Dec. 17, 1950.
Memory drifts to scenes long past,
Time rolls on but memory last,
Sunshine passes, shadows fall,
Love's remembrance outlast all.
—Ever remembered by wife Ethel.

7—Cards of Thanks

I wish to thank attending doctors and nurses, Rev. McCormack of St. James', relatives and friends for cards, fruit, flowers and gifts during my stay in Civic Hospital.—Mrs. H. Daleman.

Mrs. Gordon Fox takes this opportunity of thanking all the friends and neighbours for their many kindnesses in sending cards, letters, flowers and delicacies and expressions of sympathy during the loss of a dear husband, and especially Dr. and Mrs. Campbell and Rev and Mrs. Cole. — Mrs. Gordon Fox, R.R. 2, Hastings, Ont.

Troops Give Colonel Party

WITH THE CANADIANS IN KOREA, Dec. 17 (CP) — Lt.-Col. J. A. Dextraze of Montreal left for Japan by air today and Lt.-Col. Gaston Valle of Quebec assumed command of the Royal 22nd, French-Canadian regiment.

At a reception Sunday for Col. Dextraze, whose home is in Montreal, the 25th Brigade poked fun at charges made in Ottawa by P. E. Gagnon, Independent member of the House of Commons for Chicoutimi, and at the colonel's own predilection for stout barbed wire entanglements to guard his regiment's positions.

In the Commons Nov. 15, Mr. Gagnon said French-Canadian soldiers in Korea are forced to serve in the most exposed positions and given the most unpleasant fatigue duties.

At the reception a Van Doo, stretched on a table at the far end of headquarters, manned a Brengun beneath a sign reading "most exposed position," and Capt. Robert Berube and Lieut. Paul Brown of Montreal joined waiters, wearing white jackets bearing signs reading "Royal 22nd Regiment Officers Menial Fatigues."

For the colonel, a signpost outside the marquee advertised the "Jadex barbed wire corporation" with a caricature of Col. Dextraze smoking a monster cigar.

Korea Soldier Writes Coldsprings Parents

COLDSPRINGS, Dec. 17 (ENS) —Mr. and Mrs. George Jacobson, Coldsprings, received welcome news recently, from their son Pte. Paul Jacobson, with the 2nd Battalion, RCR's, in Korea. He wrote saying his wounds were only slight, and he was back in the line again. Pte. Jacobson was wounded November 3, but since his injuries were slight he did not realize an official telegram would be sent his mother, and did not wish to alarm her by describing his incident. When informed his mother knew of the wounding, Pte. Jacobson immediately wrote describing the happening and reassuring her of the light nature of his injuries.

Fire In Barn Kills 35 Cattle, 27 Pigs

LINDSAY, Dec. 17.—Fire destroyed the barn of Douglas McEacher, near Woodville, Saturday night.

Loss included 35 head of cattle, three horses and 27 pigs, the season's grain and mows of hay and straw.

The McEacherns didn't notice the flames until a Woodville telephone operator called their home to inquire about a fire illuminating the sky. Mr. McEachern looked out and saw his barn in flames.

Neighbors and fire-fighting equipment from Woodville were unable to save the barn or contents.

Canada Keeps Control Over Nazi General

OTTAWA, Dec. 17 (CP) — Prime Minister St. Laurent reiterated today in the Commons that Canada retains complete jurisdiction over Kurt Meyer, Nazi General sentenced to life imprisonment for responsibility in the killing of Canadian prisoners in the last war.

No change had been made in Meyer's status other than to transfer him from Dorchester, NB, to a prison in Germany, Meyer remained under Canadian jurisdiction, except in matters pertaining to the actual operation of the German prison.

Mr. St. Laurent made the statement after George Drew, Progressive Conservative leader, said the Canadian people should be told whether the government plans to free Meyer.

Douses Beacon

EDMONTON (CP) — A flare at a district oil refinery burning 24 hours a day, visible for miles around, will soon be restricted to "occasional" burning. The waste gases feeding the flames will be put to practical use.

Alfred David Cross Dies In Bobcaygeon

The funeral for Alfred David Cross, Bobcaygeon, was held at the Nisbett Funeral Home. The Rev. G. Ball of the Anglican Church conducted the service.

Mr. Cross was lockmaster in Bobcaygeon from 1933 to 1945. In 1947 he received the Imperial Service Medal from His Majesty the King in recognition of his meritorious service.

He was a veteran of the First World War and a chartered member of Branch 67 of the Canadian Legion. He was a member of the Anglican Church.

The funeral was semi-military, with Jack Quarrie, former president of Branch 67 conducting part of the service. "Last Post" was sounded and many Legion representatives from Lindsay and Bobcaygeon were present.

The pallbearers were Carl Adams, William Hunter, Ted Shea, Jack Hale, Ed Thibadeau, and Bruce Kennedy. Burial was in Bobcaygeon Cemetery.

Gas Fumes Put 3 In Hospital

WINDSOR, Dec. 17 (CP) — Three persons were sent to hospital during the weekend as the result of gas fumes escaping from overworked heating plants.

None of the three is in serious condition although only the prompt arrival of rescuers prevented tragedy.

In nearby Ruthven, Mr. and Angus MacCharles, both in their seventies, were rescued by a brother-in-law after both collapsed from gas fumes leaking from a furnace.

Henry Munch, 32, was overcome by gas fumes from a faulty gas heater.

Boy Scout News

The new district commissioner, Dr. G. R. Langley, met with the district scouters on the evening of Dec. 13, in the St. Luke's Guild room.

He announced that the Scout Association had approved his plan for dividing the district into four section to allow closer liaison between the groups, the association and the commissioner. The association has already appointed its representatives for the section as follows:

Sec. 1: All Saints, St. John's, Sacred Heart—A. Morris; Sec. 2: St. Luke's, Knox, Murray St., St. Andrew's—Mr. McGavin; Sec. 3: Trinity, St. Paul's, Parkhill, St. George's, Salvation Army—A. Malby; Sec. 4: St. Alban's, Mark St., George St., Knights of Columbus—Mr. E. Edmundson.

A district commissioner will be appointed in the near future for each section. These ADC's will be concerned with all three branches of scouting, cubs, scouts and rovers and will work in cooperation with the association representatives in keeping in close contact with the groups and counselling and assisting them in every way possible.

Dr. Langley also announced that the association had agreed to hold a special paper drive, probably Jan. 8, the proceeds of which will be devoted exclusively to the provision of more complete uniforms.

It was decided that commissioners' roundtable discussions would be held on the third Wednesday of every other month, starting Jan. 16.

Lt. Ed. Mastronardi Wins Military Cross

WEST SECTOR, Korea, Dec. 17 (CP)—Brig. J. M. Rockingham, commander of Canada's 25th Brigade, announced today the immediate award of the Military Cross to Lieut. Ed Mastronardi of Toronto, 2nd Battalion, Royal Canadian Regiment.

On the night of Nov. 2 Lieut. Mastronardi's platoon outpost withstood four attacks by an enemy battalion, withdrew temporarily and recaptured the outpost at daybreak.

The citation accompanying the award said the platoon's success "probably halted an attack that might have engaged the brigade and the commonwealth division."

Award Diplomas At Millbrook Commencement

MILLBROOK, Dec. 17 (ENS)—There was a good crowd in Millbrook town hall for the annual commencement exercises of Millbrook High School and on Friday night the hall was filled to capacity with many standing.

Margaret Aiken, winner of the Howard Shield and of the Durham County School Board prize for proficiency in Grade 13, was valedictorian. She reviewed the years she had spent in Millbrook High School and paid tribute to the members of the staff who had inspired her by the personal interest each had taken in her.

She expressed the hope that she would be worthy of the confidence they placed in her. Margaret is this year attending Peterborough Normal School. Recently she won the Durham county junior farmers' public speaking award.

On Thursday night, Sports Day awards were given. The Canadian Legion cups for the senior girl and senior boy champion were presented to Margaret Guthrie and Alan Wright by Walter Challice, Legion president. The Business Men's cups for the intermediate girl and boy champions went to Dorothy Hutchinson and Bob Palmer and were presented by Alex Gilbert. The president of the Lions' Club, Percy Hamilton, made the presentation of the Lions Club cups to Shirley Bredin and George Chapman, junior girl and boy champions. Athletic crests presented by H. V. Kent went to Alan Wright, George Chapman, Shirley Bredin, Margaret Guthrie, Arnold Brackenridge and Allan Olan.

Presentation of the Mirror-Reporter Trophy for proficiency in Grade 9 was made by Mrs. B. B. Dawson to Margaret MacKay and to Victor Rowe who were tied. The special music award for the highest marks in the written music examination donated by Homer Ouelette was presented to Vilda Brown by Miss Helen Black, the principal.

Those receiving intermdiate certificates were: Larry Argue, Leona Ball, Vaneta Chapman, Helen Fallis, Ruth Fallis, Jean Hubbard, Millicent Hudson, Marie Claire Husser and Yvonne Richards. Mrs. Bruce Ingham made the presentation.

On Thursday night, Dr. J. W. Wright acted as chairman, and on Friday night, Dr. M. E. Hobbs was chairman.

Mrs. J. W. Wright presented the W. R. Howard Shield to Margaret Aiken. Dr. Hobbs gave the following School Board proficiency awards; a cheque in each case to Margaret MacKay, Victor Rowe for Grade 9; to Larry Argue and Marie-Claire Husser for Grade 10; to Fred Weatherill for Grade 11; to Mae Hubbeard for Grade 12; and to Margaret Aiken for Grade 13.

The presentation of the Norman Allen award to a Grade 12 boy for good citizenship and general proficiency was made to Orlo Challice by Louis H. Winslaw.

Those receiving graduation diplomas presented by Dick Hutchinson were: Arnold Brackenridge, Dennis Challice, Orlo Challice, Mae Hubbeard, Doris Hutchinson, Marilyn Palmer and Robert Thomoson.

The school choruses, "Santa Lucia," "Anchors Away," "Come to the Fair," and "Silent Night," which had been trained by James Gay, were conducted by him on Thursday night, and in his absence Friday by Homer Ouellette.

The principal spoke briefly each night and on Friday introduced the other members of the staff: Miss Rita De Guire, Bruce Ingham and Harry Williams. R. G. McCallion, who teaches shop work was unable to be present. The Highland Fling and the Danish Schotische were directed by the teacher of girls' physical education, Miss De Guire. Those taking part in Highland Fling were the three girl athletic champions, Margaret Guthrie, Dorothy Hutchison and Shirley Bredin, in the Schottische, Anne Dawson, Leona Ball, Glenna Hall, Frances Dawson, Alice Hawkins, Marlon Kennedy, Adrienne Northey, Allynne MacPherson, Lena-Marie Lowery, Joan Sanders, Carolyn Harkness and Marlene Richards.

The one act comedy "Exclusive Model" told the story of two young couples about to go out for an evening, when each lady found the other wearing the exact replica of the hat she had been assured, when she bought it earlier in the day, was the only one of its kind. The situation is further complicated when the Swedish maid also appears in an identical hat. The husbands who dested the hats anyway are delighted when each wife decides to return hers. The part of the young couples were taken by Nancy Richards and Allan Thompson and by Margaret Guthrie and Larry Arnie. The Swedish maid was played by Mary Eagleson. The play was directed by Miss Black.

The second play Merrill Denison's "Brothers in Arms," was directed by Harry Williams, who also played the role of the busy executive stranded in the wilds not far from Kaladar when an important business deal was coming up, whose impatience could not hurry the leisurely natives. Margaret MacKay played the part of his wife and Donald Kent and Jack Guthrie were the frontiersmen. Make-up man for both plays was Percy Hamilton. G. T. MacPherson lent the furniture used.

Beverley Patton acted as accompanist for the choruses and dances throughout all performances and played piano solos in the intervals between numbers.

Following Commencement Exercises on Friday night Mrs. G. MacKay invited students taking part and the teaching staff to her home for a party. Games were played and after refreshments the rest of the evening was spent in dancing. Mrs. MacKay was assisted in serving by her mother, Mrs. Bett, and by Miss Ellen Kent and Mrs. B. B. Dawson. Paul Sanders was in charge of games.

Turkey, Duck Prizes At Mount Pleasant

MOUNT PLEASANT, Dec. 17 (ENS)—Mrs. W. H. Lowes of Mount Pleasant won the 15 pound turkey at the euchre and draw held in the WI hall at Mount Pleasant under the auspices of the Women's Institute on Friday evening.

Mrs. N. White, 199 Reid St., Peterborough, won the duck and A. Dewan, Omemee, won the chicken. Kenneth Tully drew the tickets.

High score prizes for euchre were won by Mrs. George Martin and Jim Armstrong. Gary Carr (playing as a lady), and Ted Cumming won low score prizes. Keith Morden won the lucky spot prize. Mrs. Delbert Armstrong won the prize for selling most tickets—150 tickets.

Proceeds of the draw and euchre were $137.30.

The committee in charge was: Mrs. Ira Lowe, Mrs. Aubrey Bland, Mrs. Stanley Tully and Mrs. Harry Baker.

Joseph P. Howran

The funeral for Joseph Patrick Howran, Bridgenorth, who died Friday was held today from the Duffus funeral home to St. Peter's Cathedral, where requiem mass was said by the Rev. John J. Hickey.

Pallbearers were Frank Young, John Young, Daniel Crough, Allan Clysdale, John Herrington, Joseph Sullivan. Burial was in St. Martin's cemetery, Ennismore, and graveside prayers were said by the Rev. P. J. Lynch.

Christmas Spirit

OSHAWA, Dec. 17 — (CP) — When Mrs. Clifford Black lost all the family's money Saturday, she thought they were in for a bleak Christmas. But she did not count upon Oshawa generosity. One hundred dollars in cash, a bag of potatoes, a Christmas tree and toys were donated by citizens.

HOSPITALS know Aluminum is friendly to food

Hospitals must be careful about their kitchens. Cooking utensils must meet the highest hygienic standards in food preparation. That's why hospitals use so many aluminum utensils. Aluminum is ideal in contact with food. And this food-friendly metal helps prepare meals more easily because it heats so quickly and evenly. Millions of Canadian housewives enjoy these "aluminum advantages", too. They cook better, cook more easily and protect the flavour and quality of their food with aluminum utensils.

ALUMINUM
the metal of many uses
SERVES THE DOCTOR, TOO!

- Aluminum caps are used on blood plasma bottles.
- Aluminum capsules are used to protect serums.
- Aluminum jells are used in treating ulcers.

IN THE FOOD INDUSTRY, ALSO, aluminum continues its good job of protecting purity and quality. Chocolate bars, tea, butter, margarine and many other foodstuffs are wrapped in aluminum foil.

IN THE DAIRY INDUSTRY milk pails and many parts of modern milking machines are made of aluminum. And when you see a bottle of milk with a gleaming aluminum foil top, you can be sure of purity well protected.

Can't Remember Shooting Soldier Says

SEOUL, Dec. 17 —(CP)— A Canadian soldier charged with murder said today he could not remember anything connected with the offence he is alleged to have committed.

John Murray Steeves of Moncton NB, and Regina, charged before a court martial with the murder of a South Korean civilian during a shooting spree last Sept. 17, testified that his "blackout" began during the afternoon of Sept. 16 when a work party consumed a quantity of gin.

Steeves said:

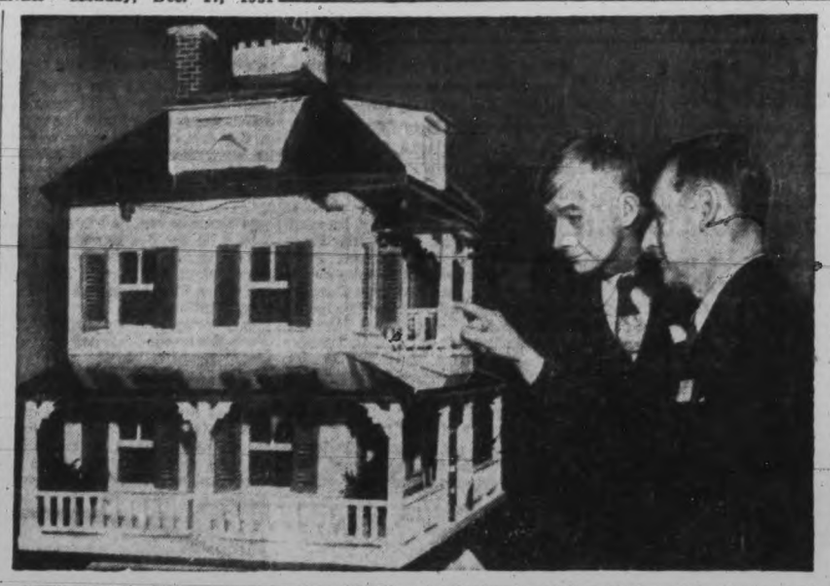
"The next thing I remember is drinking coffee or tea in this building next morning but I don't know how I got here."

He said he admired the Koreans and the five working under him "did more work than 20 Canadians would do."

Steeves, a sapper in the Royal Canadian Engineers, was described by SSM W. B. Cochrane, Chilliwack, BC, as "one of the best elements of No. 3 troop in my squadron."

Good Example

Cochrane said he served with Steeves for four years ending in 1945. They joined as sappers together. When he became an NCO "I thanked God for Sapper Steeves."



The accused was amenable to discipline and was the biggest man in the troop. Others followed his lead.

"During the entire war Steeves was never before his CO for punishment," said Cochrane.

Sprs. E. H. Colter, Vancouver, and O. K. Lemay, Prince George, BC, testified to seeing Steeves at 9 p.m. Sept. 16 sleeping in an unoccupied house in Hwang Bang, southwest of Yonchon, where the shooting occurred. The sappers had gone there "to have a party so we couldn't bother anybody."

Capt. J. K. Besley, Toronto, said that after questioning Steeves at 5 a.m. Sept. 17, he concluded that the accused was drunk.

The court then adjourned to permit the prosecutor and defence counsel to prepare their addresses.

BEES HOME—There are more than 25,000 bees in this little house. J. S. Montambeault, who seems to have his finger close to danger, built the house for two-day convention of the Professional Association of Beekeepers of the Province of Quebec in Montreal. With him is Louis Bosse, president of the association.

Marlie Regain One-Game Lead Slap Down Teepees In 7-1 Win

By The Canadian Press.

Toronto's front-running Marlboros regained their one-game lead in the classy Ontario Hockey Association Junior A circuit on Sunday as they slammed eighth-place St. Cathrines Teepees 7-1 in the second game of a double-header in Toronto.

Saturday night Guelph Biltmores had clipped sixth-place Waterloo Hurricanes 8-4 to move into a temporary tie for top spot in the 10-team loop.

Toronto's St. Michaels downed trailing Windsor Spitfires 7-3 in the opener of the Sunday twin bill, holding third spot by two points over fourth-place Galt Black Hawks who drubbed Hapless Windsor 7-2 in a wild Saturday night game at Galt. A post-game free-for-all ended with Windsor's Johnny Lumley in jail.

Bill Harrington registered a well-earned shutout in the other Saturday junior clash as his Kitchener Greenshirts held fifth place with a 3-0 win over Oshawa Generals. Ninth place Oshawa has won only four games in 26 scheduled outings.

In Second Place

In OHA Senior A play, Kitchener-Waterloo Dutchmen moved into second place in the six-team standings when they romped to an easy 8-1 win over Sarnia Sailors while Owen Sound Mercurys climbed back into a fourth-place tie with Sarnia when they downed league-leading Stratford Indians 7-4. Both games were Saturday night.

In the only Senior OHA tussle, Hamilton Tigers and Brantford Redmen battled to a 3-3 tie in Hamilton.

Up north, Sault Ste. Marie Greyhounds strengthened their Northern Ontario Hockey Association Senior A lead with a 6-5 win over last-place North Bay Black Hawks in a Saturday night tilt. Sudbury Wolves tightened their grip on second slot with a 12-7 decision over Sudbury Miners.

Toronto Marlboros spread their goals across the board in Sunday's 7-1 win over St. Catharines. Parker MacDonald, Eddie Reid, Eric Nesterenko, John Lumsden, Ed McElroy, Danny Poland and Louis Bendo notched the counters. Chuck Marshall tallied the Teepees' lone goal.

Flashy forward Eddie Plata led St. Michael's on Sunday with three big goals. Murray Costello, Paul Sabourin, Mike Jacobi and Bob Schiller scored the others. Johnny Lumley figured in all three of Windsor's markers. He banged in the first and assisted on tallies by Johnny Muckler and Wimpy Roberts.

Other Scorers

Ron Murphy and Bill McCreery countered two each for Guelph at Waterloo. Chuck Henderson, Ken Laufman, Dean Prentice and Ray Ross added the others. Jack Armstrong's two goals accounted for half of the Hurricanes' markers, Ken MacNeil and Hec McIntosh getting the others.

The rough and ready Black Hawk-Spitfire clash at Galt saw a free-for-all break out when Windsor's Johnny Lumley charged John Sleaver into the boards as the final whistle went. He battled players, referees and police. The gendarmes had to carry him off to the lock-up before he saw the error of his ways.

In all, there were 20 penalties during the game. Windsor got 18 of them, four going to Lumley, recently acquired from Toronto Marlboros.

John Sleaver scored three of Galt's goals while Tony Poeta, Pete Conacher, Mike Buchanan and Jim McBurney came through with singletons. Lumley and Bill Robertson tallied for the losers.

Duke Edmundson scored twice and Joe Ingoldsby banged in a singleton in Kitchener's 3-0 win over Oshawa.

Bill Mitchell led Kitchener-Waterloo Dutchmen against Sarnia with two goals. Others went to Harvey Jacklin, Doug Verity, Jim Pernfuss, Scotty Mair, Maurice Leveque and Bobby Schnurr. Bill Cotterill saved the Sailors from a shutout.

New Cold Wave Heads For Western US Area

CHICAGO, Dec. 17 (AP)—Winter today had new terrors on the way, timed to hit the United States behind the great blanket of frigid air that has covered it east of the Rock Mountains since Friday.

hTe weather bureau in Chicago today said a storm centre is developing east of the Rockies. Moving in behind it will be a new great cold wave from Canada, already touching northern Montana.

There will be only scattered areas of moderation of the weather that has taken at least 117 lives since Friday.

Lowest readings this morning—23 degrees below zero—were recorded at Bismarck, ND, and Rumford, Me.

As Chicagoans fought a record 12-below freeze Sunday an estimated 150 fires forced 550 persons out of their homes.

New York's 9.5 degrees above Monday morning was a record for the season.

11 Fatalities Reported Over Weekend

By The Canadian Press

During the weekend that saw this winter's worst storm so far, 11 persons were killed in Eastern Canada, seven in traffic accidents.

A Canadian Press survey early today showed seven persons were killed in Ontario, three in Quebec and one in New Brunswick. Besides the traffic accidents, fire killed two persons; gas fumes, one; and drowning, one.

In Ontario, two persons died in a fire that swept through an apartment building at Streetsville. Dead are Mr. and Mrs. Wilfred Amos, 30 and 28, who came to Canada from England three years ago.

Rene Lapierre, 19, and Kay Elizabeth Ray, 18, both of Mille Roches, were killed near Cornwall when the automobile in which they were riding crashed into the rear of another vehicle. Near Toronto, James Fudlott, 26, driving a snow clearance truck, was killed when it was struck by a train.

James Earley, 39, a Hydro worker at Niagara Falls, was killed when gas fumes filled his apartment. George Alexander Bayne, 76, died at Orillia as a result of injuries suffered in a car accident Dec. 13.

In Quebec Province, Policeman Raoul Giroux was killed when struck by a bus while investigating an automobile accident near Montreal. Mrs. Arthur Vinet, 45, mother of 15 children, was killed by a station wagon at St. Benoit Labre, 25 miles south of Montreal.

George Miller, 38, of North Bay, is believed to have been drowned in Lake Kipawa in Quebec, 80 miles northeast of North Bay. Only his hat has been found.

In New Brunswick, Ralph W. McCracken, 11, was killed by a car near his home while he was taking advantage of the first snowfall to go sleigh-riding.

$1,000,000 Damage From Fires Across Canada During Weekend

By The Canadian Press.

Four persons died, several injured and many were left homeless in fires across Canada during the week-end that coincided with an early-winter cold snap. Monetary losses totalled close to $1,000,000.

Ten families were left homeless near Moncton, NB., when a converted air force barracks was destroyed at East Dieppe. The fire was one of three in the village in the early-morning hours as temperatures dipped well below zero. A school and a theatre were the other buildings destroyed. Loss in the three fires was placed at $100,000.

Fire early today in the Northern Ontario town of Thessalon destroyed three buildings in the business section of the town of 1,500 population and for a time threatened to wipe out an entire block. Loss was estimated at $60,000. Four dogs were the only casualties.

Heaviest damage was the $500,000 loss in ablaze that gutted the Halifax Processing, Packing and Storage Plant of Burns Fisheries, Limited.

Loss was estimated at from $100,000 to $150,0000 to stocks in the wholesale storage warehouse of Northern Distributing and Warehousing Company in Saskatoon. In addition, owners placed damage to the building at between $10,000 and $20,000.

About as stubborn was an $80,000 Toronto fire that was battled for eigth hours in a near zero temperature in a three-storey brick building occupied by four firms.

Die in Blaze.

About 20 miles northwest of Toronto, Wilfred Amos, 30, and his 28-year-old wife, Rita, died in their blazing apartment at Streesville. Eleven other occupants of the building escaped.

B. Leslie, a British Columbia logger, was burned to death in a fire in a west-end apartment in Vancouver.

Also in Vancouver, Gordon Robinson, nine months, was fatally burned when a hot-plate set fire to his crib cover.

Fires in Montreal gutted a Waterfront storage shed owned by Canada Steamship Lines, drove a score of lodgers from living quarters over a restaurant and made two other families, in a building housing six flats, homeless.

A tobacco barn fire near Tillsonburg, caused damage placed at between $25,000 and $30,000. A $15,0000 blaze destroyed a hockey stick factory 10 miles east of Cornwall.

At Trenton, Bobby Lucas, 7, saw smoke pouring from a downstairs window of the home of a neighbor, Mrs. H. Foshay. He called his mother, Mrs. Harry Lucas, who ignored smoke and flames to rescue three Foshay children aged 14 months to six years.

Overcome By Smoke.

A small child was overcome by smoke Sunday when fire destroyed the farm house of John Rodgers, near Warkworth in Eastern Ontario. The baby suffered minor burns before being rescued by Mr. Rodgers.

Gordon McCubbin, also of the Warkworth district, was burned about the face, head and hands in a fire and explosions that occurred as he worked on a plugged gas line in an automobile at his service station.

A Sunday morning blaze in a store owned by John Lemmon, mcahine agent at Odessa, destroyed the frame store and threatened to spread to other buildings in the village. Firemen worked in 25-below-zero temperature.

Thirty-five cattle, 27 pigs and three horses were killed in a fire that levelled the large barn of Douglas McEachren in the Lindsay area. Also lost were the season's grain and mows of hay and straw.

Overheated stovepipes were blamed for a blaze that swept the farm house of Mr. and Mrs. George Jardine near Goderich. The couple and daughter Irene escaped in night clothes.

Fire in a popcorn machine that spread to cardboard boxes sent smoke billowing into Toronto's Esquire threatre Saturday while some 200 children were watching a matinee. No one was injured.

Cold Reception

DOWAGIAC, Mich., Dec. 17 —(AP)— Baby Tidwell got a cold reception when she arrived in this world. Mrs. Ray Tidwell was being taken to the hospital Sunday when the car tipped over at a curve and Mrs. Tidwell was thrown into a snowbank. The baby was delivered right there. Evelyn Joan Tidwell— seven pounds two ounces —is doing well. So is her mother.

550 Homeless In Chicago Fires

CHICAGO, Dec. 17 (AP)—Two early morning fires in buildings less than three blocks apart Sunday forced some 550 persons to flee in 12-below-zero weather. None of the occupants was injured, but one fireman was slightly hurt.

The city had three fires in all Sunday with total damage estimated at $300,000.

About 250 persons, including 100 children, escaped safely from a blaze which razed the four-storey Club Georgia Hotel on South State St. Another fire of undetermined origin in the South Side Negro section drove 300 others into the street and caused an estimated $50,000 damage to a three-storey brick apartment three blocks from the hotel.

Another fire of undetermined origin some hours later destroyed a four-storey brick warehouse on 14th St.

Find Elimination Of Ghosts Expensive In Singapore

SINGAPORE, Dec. 17 (AP). — Ghost chasing charges have skyrocketed several hundred per cent. This is nothing to make light of in Singapore where there's hardly a home without a haunt.

Not that everybody wants to "kasi brisi" (cleanse) his house of spirits. Some ghosts watch benignly over their homes with down-right diligence and not a little warmth of efeling. It's only the clammy kind, the evil ones, the troublemakers who must be exorcised.

A good ghost will stay as long as fellow occupants mind their own business and don't irritate the haunt. What's important in these days of cost of living and shortage of housing, the ethereal guests don't take much in food or lodging—just a dusty closet for the daylight siesta required in the tropics; and a few pieces of fruit (bananas preferably) or some brown rice on certain religious days.

There are some cynics from a cold climate who don't believe in ghosts. There are other people who suggest that Moscow and Peiping steamed up the recent rash of "ruham hantu" (haunted houses) on this equatorial, British colonial isle.

Don't you believe it. There were ghosts long before there were Communists.

The charges for chasing ghosts from their unwanted haunts now range from 10 Straits dollars (about $3.20) for the mere cost of materials and expenses, to 500 Straits dollars for a real ceremony involving a half dozen or more priests and professional noise-makers. The job rarely cost more than 25 Straits dollars before the Second World War.

Ghosts must be treated with consideration. Treating them with disdain, or as if they don't exist is a fruitless, foolish attitude. They are part of one's daily life in Singapore.

NJ Plane Crash Second Worst

NEW YORK, Dec. 17—(AP)—Only one other commercial plane disaster in the United States had greater casualties than the 56 persons killed Sunday in a crash at Elizabeth, NJ.

The worst commercial plane disaster was the crash of a New York-to-Minneapolis airliner into Lake Michigan June 24, 1950. 58 died in that crash.

The third highest total killed in a single commercial crash in this country was 55, killed in an airliner that collided with a fighter plane near Washington, DC, on Nov. 1, 1949.

The world's worst commercial plane disaster brought death to 80 out of 83 persons on a plane which crashed March 12, 1950, just before it reached Cardiff, Wales. The plane was returning from Dublin with a load of soccer fans.

Communists Give UN Heads List Of 11,559 Prisoners

Million Dollar Fire Razes Warehouse With Smokes, Beer

CORNER BROOK, Nfld., Dec. 18. (CP)—A roaring waterfront fire today gutted a big warehouse loaded with cigarettes and beer and loss was estimated at $1,000,000. Fanned by a 30-mile-an-hour wind, the blaze raced through the warehouse and an office building of the A. E. Hickman Company, Limited, before firemen held it in check. For a time it threatened a nearby warehouse, the Canadian National Railways station and a machine shop and garage.

Huge banks of black smoke rolled skyward as the flames reached 2,100 rubber tires and $40,000 worth of bonded cigarettes. Also lost were 40,000 dozen bottles of beer.

Cause of the outbreak was not known.

A TEMPORARY HOLIDAY FOR PUPILS of Parkhill School, four classrooms, was the result of an estimated $5,000 fire on Monday evening. The cause was said to be from an overheated heating duct in one of the classrooms. There was no blaze but firemen working inside the smoke-filled building with strong electric torches made sufficient light through the windows for a photo from Wolsley St.—(Examiner Staff Photo)

Say Red Total Falls Short Of Allied Estimate

MUNSAN, Korea, Dec. 18. (AP)—The Communists today turned over to the United Nations a list of 11,559 prisoners, including 3,198 Americans and one Canadian. They said the list includes all prisoners of the Korean war in their hands. The UN gave the Reds a list of 132,474 Chinese and North Korean prisoners. Gen. Matthew B. Ridgway's headquarters in Tokyo said it understands the list includes Maj.-Gen. William F. Dean, lost commander of the United States 24th Division. Dean has been missing since the fall of Taejon in July, 1950.

Communist newspapermen at Panmunjom said Associated Press photographer Frank Noel was also listed.

Lists were exchanged Tuesday when Communist truce negotiators suddenly capitulated to UN demands. The prisoner sub-committee recessed until Thursday to study the lists.

Brig.-Gen. William P. Nuckols, UN spokesman, said the respective arms of the services in the US would notify the next of kin immediately the list was verified.

Breakdown of List

Of the 11,559 names, a UN command communique reported: 7,142 are South Korean, 3,198 American, 919 British, 234 Turkish, 40 Filipino, 10 French, six Australian, four South African, three Japanese and one each from Canada, Greece and the Netherlands.

The Communist lists fell far short of previous public allied estimates of 100,000 or more.

The 3,198 Americans listed as prisoners compare with approximately 12,000 Americans officially listed as missing in action. Two Canadians are listed as missing.

But a reliable source in Tokyo said there probably was "no great disparity" between the official US army estimates and the number announced by the Reds. He said that probably many of those listed as missing actually died in battle.

Hopeful Move

Sudden Communist capitulation in turning over the names of prisoners is the most hopeful break in talks since a provisional

Britain Pledges Collaboration In United Europe

PARIS, Dec. 18 (AP).—French sources said today Britain pledged collaboration with—but not physical participation in—a unified Europe.

The informants said the question of Britain's relations with the European army was not brought up in talks of Prime Minister Churchill and Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden with French Premier Rene Pleven and Foreign Minister Robert Schuman.

This development came after the two British statesmen held talks with the French leaders and Churchill also talked for more than three hours with Gen. Eisenhower, supreme commander for the North Atlantic Treaty Organization.

The informants said the British reaffirmed their previous statements that Britain would associate herself closely with the European community at all stages of its development. Today Churchill is said to have gone a step farther and used the word "collaboration" instead of "association."

Before the Conservatives regained power in England, Churchill had praised the Eurpoean army idea but later he seemed reluctant.

French official sources reported, however, that Churchill was willing to enter a diluted European army plan modelled on the wartime coalition of forces, although he would not pool British troops in the army proposed by French Premier Rene Pleven—one controlled by an authority higher than any individual nation and financed by a common military budget.

Churchill and Eden met again this morning with Pleven, and French Foreign Minister Robert Schuman. French sources said the four agreed on co-ordinating policies in the Mediterranean area, where both countries are facing rising Arab nationalism.

As for the Pleven plan army, however, Britain is pictured as withholding final judgment until completion of negotiations on a treaty draft by the six founder nations: France, Belgium, the Netherlands, Luxembourg, Italy and West Germany.

Many Accidents Across Ontario In Big Storm

By The Canadian Press

Heavy snow fell today over most of Ontario, hampering highway traffic over a wide area and causing many minor accidents.

The storm, second in four days, covered all of Southern Ontario from Lake Huron to east of the Ottawa valley and part of the north. Up to seven inches of snow fell during the night when the fall, gentle in most areas owing to light winds, continued today. A let-up was predicted by nightfall—but more snow, and colder weather, was forecast for Wednesday.

In Toronto thousands of persons were late for work as street-car and motor traffic crawled along streets buried under inches of slushy snow. Bus traffic in and out of the city was off schedule but train service was reported almost normal. Air traffic was not interrupted despite low visibility.

The provincial department of highways reported driving conditions treacherous but said all highways were open with snowplows working through the night. Visibility along rural roads was termed only "fair," with conditions poorest north and west of Toronto.

Heavy Drifting

The snow appeared heaviest on the north shore of Lake Erie with St. Thomas reporting heavy drifting. A score of automobiles were ditched between St. Thomas and Aylmer, 12 miles to the east, and many others were abandoned along the St. Thomas-London highway. The fall in that area was 10 inches, with drifts two and three feet deep.

New York Central passenger trains from the east through St. Thomas were running from a half-hour to five hours late this morning. Two feet of snow blanketed the NYC terminal in Buffalo, NY, with deeper snow reported along the railway's main line to New York City through western New York.

In Eastern Ontario, more than seven inches of snow fell in two hours this morning as the storm moved from west to east across the province.

Western Army Faces Hitches

PARIS, Dec. 18—(AP)—The 12 planners for western defence disclosed today that the western army needs many improvements—a smoother command set-up, better training, a more efficient supply system, and establishment of priorities to get the job done.

W. Averell Harriman, United States mutual security administrator who headed the 12-man investigating committe, reported a six-point plan for changes in building both the forces and the economic packing for a strong North Atlantic Treaty plan.

But details of how to carry it out—expected to be made public today—were kept buried in a confidential report.

Harriman's prepared statement made clear that Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower, top military man of NATO defences, approves and wants quick action from member governments to carry it out.

But rebellion already is stirring over the specific recommendations for some of the 12 countries to increase their contribution.

Superfort Bomber Smashes Into House

SHREVEPORT, La., Dec. 18—(AP). — A B29 Superfortress, gliding in for a landing, smashed through a one-storey residence, and crashed late Monday night. Four of its 13 crew members were killed.

Eight airmen were injured, three seriously, and another is missing.

Witnesses said the crippled craft dipped crazily to the ground, broke off an engine, then skidded 200 yards across US Highway 80 and burst into flames.

Mr. and Mrs. W. C. McDaniel were asleep when their new home was torn from its foundation. They escaped with minor injuries.

Santa Sends 850 Presents To Schumacher

SCHUMACHER, Ont., Dec. 18 (CP)—Each year for the last 35, Schumacher schools personal Santa Claus has travelled to Toronto to buy gifts for several hundred persons.

He is Frederick W. Schumacher, 82, of Columbus, O., founder of this Northern Ontario gold town and probably Canada's largest individual Santa Claus.

Three weeks ago in Toronto, the white-haired millionaire bought 850 presents, one for each student at the public and high schools here, for more than 40 teachers, and for the entire school staffs down to the janitors.

Dean of the north country's old timers, Mr. Schumacher first prospected for silver in the Cobalt region. In 1910 he arrived in the Porcupine camp.

Soon he acquired two of the most valuable claims in the history of Canadian mining, located between Hollinger Consolidated Mines and McIntyre Porcupine Mines.

Still spry and debonair, Mr. Schumacher visits town every autumn and the youngsters gather to meet him and stage a concert in his honor.

His presents will be distributed here Thursday, last day before the school Christmas holiday. In big brown cartons they arrived steadily from Dec. 1 to Dec. 10 and are stacked in the public school storeroom until they are presented Thursday.

AirForceUsesMonkeys To Test Radioactivity

SAN ANTONIO, Tex., Dec. 18 (AP) — A band of monkeys and chimpanzees is training in Texas for an air force problem in radioactivity.

The problem is whether atomic radioactivity will have effects on mental abilities, and on seeing, hearing and muscular dexterity.

The air force school of aviation medicine here wants the facts for the airmen who will fly atomic-powered planes.

The monkeys are mentally good enough to show whether radioactivity may affect brains and skills.

The monkeys' schooling will simulate three types of troops: Green, partly-trained and fully-trained. They will take varying amounts and types of radioactivity of the sort that military airmen may face.

Report Russians Building 1,000 Speedy Submarines

LONDON, Dec. 18 — (AP). — A British naval yearbook reports that Russia—believed to have no fewer than 370 submarines in service—has drafted plans to build 1,000 speedy new subs.

Jane's Fighting Ship said in a new edition issued Monday that 120 of the new craft are already under construction.

The sub fleet will include one mine-laying type with a submerged speed of 25 knots, Jane's said.

The new subs were reported being equipped with the German-developed Schnorkel breather tube, which will permit them to operate for indefinite periods without surfacing.

Jane's said data from reliable sources indicates the Soviet shipbuilding program also includes three battleships, 20 cruisers and 120 destroyers.

Again the yearbook "presented with reserve" what it termed persistent reports that the Soviet navy in recent years has been building from "one to four battleships of a new powerful type.

It said the new battleships were reported to be of 42,000 to 45,000 tons, 785 feet long, and carrying two batteries of guided missiles in addition to six to nine 16-inch guns and two dozen 5.5-inch guns of a new model.

Jane's said the ships are "said to be equipped with one of two catapult towers for firing radio-controlled aerial torpedoes, also rocket-firing apparatus and radio-controlled guns."

The yearbook said the Russians are believed to have rebuilt the former German aircraft carrier Graf Zeppelin for use as a guided missile test ship.

It said they also have resurrected a 1,350-ton British frigate, the Lark, which the Royal Navy abandoned as beyond repair after she was torpedoed on the Arctic convoy run February 17, 1944.

Britain which now has only 53 submarines, has been forced by the Russian underwater menace to concentrate on the development of submarine killer ships, Jane's said.

Fake Ballots Keeping City In Dither

PORT ARTHUR, Ont., Dec. 18 (CP)—The mystery of the fake ballots kept Port Arthur agog today.

City council, perturbed over the counterfeit mayoralty ballots found blowing about in the streets last week, decided Monday night that ballot boxes used in the Dec. 10 municipal elections should be opened and examined.

In the election of C. W. Cox, a former mayor, was elected over Mayor Fred Robinson with a majority of 113.

The confusion over the fake ballots deepened, with mayor-elect Cox saying Monday he thought the whole thing was a "gigantic hoax." However Harold Stanworth, who has printed civic election ballots here for 35 years, said Sunday night that the fakes "might possibly have been waste" used to clean the type on which the ballots were printed.

Detective O. Harti also told council that ballots made in testing the printing machine before the regular run were crumpled and thrown into a refuse box which had been placed outside the printing shop Dec. 11. The seven forms found, five of them counterfeit, also were crumpled.

But Mayor Robinson asserted that the five bogus ballots were found on the morning before the refuse box reached the street. In other comment, Alderman Russell Brown said he had found one subdivision where there were more ballots in the box than the number of persons who voted.

HITS ROYAL CAR

LONDON, Dec. 18 (AP). — A state-owned truck sideswiped a Buckingham Palace car today while it waited for the Queen and Princess Margaret, on a Christmas shopping expedition. The truck, belonging to the nationalized British road services, dented the left front fender of the Royal automobile.

Fire At Parkhill School Damages Classrooms, Blame Overheated Air Duct

An over-heated hot air duct Monday afternoon started a fire that did at least $5,000 damage to Parkhill school. One of the school's two new classrooms bore the brunt of the damage but the other three were smoked up and received some water damage. The fire was noticed at 4:45 pm when the children had gone home and the building was deserted. Flames got into the northeast corner of the southwest classroom, facing Wolsley St., and ate their way up into the ceiling of the one-storey building.

Firemen had to chop a hole in the roof and tear out most of the duct, concealed in the wall and ceiling, before they could extinguish the blaze.

Just Above Basement

A defective thermostat on the furnace caused the metal hot air duct to overheat. The fire started just above basement level in the east wall.

Damage was mostly in the southeast classroom.

Today the children in all four classrooms are having a holiday while workmen from the board of education clean up the mess and make the rooms fit for lessons again. Two of the rooms will be able to accommodate pupils Wednesday.

Sounded Alarm

The fire was discovered by Harry Adlam, 38, a trucker who lives at 508 Wolsely St., a few doors west of the school. Mr. Adlam was driving by on his way home for supper when he noticed smoke billowing from the eaves of the long, southeast classroom.

He turned in the alarm and a few minutes later the part-time janitor also arrived on the scene.

It is believed that the rectangular air duct became almost red hot and started a smouldering fire in the east wall. Flames then spread along the route of the duct, across the ceiling of the classroom.

Firemen ripped out the metal duct and prevented the fire from getting across the hallway into the west classroom.

The walls and chalkboards were smudged with the soot from the fire; part of the acoustic ceiling, as well as the hot air duct, was torn away; and the hardwood

Iranians Begin To Cast Votes

TEHRAN, Dec. 18 — (AP) — National elections began today in Iran amid high political tensions that have touched off repeated bloody riots and death threats in recent weeks.

Premier Mohammed Mossadegh and his Nationalist followers were confident of winning on Mossadegh's reputation as a national hero who defied foreign 'enemies' and took over the British-owned Anglo-Iranian Oil Company.

Voting is for the 136 seats in the Majlis (lower house of parliament). They select premier. Mossadegh himself is not an election candidate. Under the constitution, he could not be premier or hold other office if he were a member of the Majlis.

Sault Flood Said Easing

SAULT STE. MARIE, Dec. 18 —(CP). — Flood waters receded today after reaching the highest point ever recorded here.

The ice jam in the lower St. Mary's River blamed for the flood broke up late Monday night and started to move downstream. As it cleared away the flood waters began to draw back from the inundated streets, parks, and docks near the river.

Damage is expected to be heavy.

The McLean Sand and Gravel Company was submerged, the Imperial Oil dock and other waterfront buildings were flooded, and water nearly reached the 80 power turbines of the Electrical Carbide Company.

Several families were driven from their homes when flooded furnaces left them without heat.

Efforts to close off the flood waters upstream were hampered by ice blocking open the gates of the power dam that serves both United States and Canadian Saults.

2 Children Die In House Fire

DUNDAS, Dec. 18 — (CP). — Two children were burned fatally last night in a fire which destroyed their frame home five miles north of here.

Their mother, Mrs. George Phillip, was burned and cut about the wrists in efforts to save six-months-old Linda and three-year-old George.

The baby was burned to death in her crib. The boy died in Hamilton hospital early today.

The house was gutted by the time the fire department arrived.

Mr. Phillips was working at the time.

US Steelworkers Give Strike Ultimatum

PITTSBURGH, Dec. 18 (AP) — Strike ultimatum by the United Steelworkers of America (CIO) put up to the government today the next move to stave off an economically-crippling national steel strike New Year's day.

Philip Murray, president of the million-member union, says a strike is unavoidable unless the industry grants a 15-cent hourly pay boost and other concessions.

Hanging in the balance is the country's price and wage ceiling structure.

Government sources say present wage ceilings would permit an increase of only eight to nine cents an hour.

Soldier Guilty Of Manslaughter Jailed 15 Years

SEOUL, Dec. 19 (CP).— Spr. Murray Steeves, charged with the murder of a South Korean civilian, today was convicted of manslaughter and was sentenced to 15 years' imprisonment.

The findings of a court martial are subject to review and Steeves, of Moncton and Regina, is entitled to appeal to a Canadian court martial board, a civilian authority.

After the arguments of the prosecutor and defence counsel, the judge advocate, Maj. J. Loranger, Ottawa, in summing up advised the court:

"If you find that he was so drunk as to be incapable of forming the intent necessary to convict him of the offence of murder, then you may find him not guilty of murder and convict him of manslaughter."

Steeves was charged following the death of a Korean named Shin Yong Dok in a Sten-gun shooting in the village of Hwang Bang, southwest of Yongchon, last Sept. 17. It was alleged that, while intoxicated, he entered the village ostensibly to look for a watch he had lost and fired bursts from a Sten-gun. Two other Koreans were wounded in the shooting.

There's No Santa Claus Aussie Children Told

SYDNEY, Australia, Dec. 18—(CP).—The Australian Broadcasting Corporation today told its young listeners there is no Santa Claus.

The statement, on a children's program heard throughout the country, brought a deluge of telephone protests from parents.

Miss Jean Wyndham, advisor for the program, refused to back down. She said the idea was only to tell children what kindergarten teachers have been telling them all along in an attempt to clear their minds of puzzlement over the army of department store Santas.

Turks Repel 2 Red Attacks

SEOUL, Korea, Dec. 18 (AP)—Elements of the Turkish brigade in the United Nations command threw back two 30-minute Communist probing attacks on the central Korean front south of Pyonggang Monday night and early today.

A US Eighth Army communique added that several patrol contacts developed along the remainder of the central front early Tuesday—one a six-hour engagement with two Red platoons southwest of Kumsong.

The communique added that no significant enemy contact was reported from the eastern and western fronts in the 12-hour period ended at noon Tuesday (10 pm Monday EST).

There was no report of air action Tuesday.

Conserve Electricity

An appeal went out from the Ontario Hydro Commission this afternoon to the citizens of Ontario especially those between the Ottawa river and Windsor to conserve electricity. There is a distinct shortage of power especially between 4:30 pm and 6:00 o'clock The Examiner was told and citizens of Peterborough are asked to conserve in electricity as much as possible during these hours.

Sorry For Folks Back Home

Troops Would Send Smokes Aid Canadians

By BILL BOSS

WITH THE CANADIANS IN KOREA, Dec. 18 (CP)—Canadian troops in Korea, loaded down with free American cigarettes, are talking of starting a "parcels from Korea" movement to help out the tax-slappy folks at home.

Sketchy reports of discussians in Canada about their comfort, and the contents of letters and parcels from home led to the facetious suggestion.

The fact is the troops are well provided for in everything they need in the way of smokes, food and clothing, and suggestions otherwise amuse them. Lack of amenities such as pleasant leave centres is a more serious matter.

Chocolate bars? They've given away so many from their daily free ration that even the Korean children are beginning to shy away from them.

Cigarettes? They can't smoke all the free America fags they get and if they prefer Canadian or British they can get them at 13 and 15 cents a package. (Toronto price 42, Montreal 36.)

Well Looked After

Socks? Every man has at least two pairs, which is as much as most soldiers can take care of. There is no scarcity of them.

The Canadians, in fact, are the best looked-after troops in the theatre.

They are in the position of playing both ends against the middle, quite legitimately drawing on either United States or British supply lines, or both, as they see fit.

They are the only troops in 1st British Commonwealth Division draving American rations. With those rations come every week free parcels containing shaving cream, tooth paste, soap, laces, combs, razor blades etc.

Units also operate canteens, and besides drawing on the lavish supplies the United States army makes available for its own canteens, they buy from the British "NAAFI."—navy, army and air force institutes.

Sell Anything

The result is that unit canteens are like miniature department stores selling anything from razor blades to portable radios and cameras. One canteen has a monthly turn-over of $14,000, which, at the ridiculously cheap tax-free prices, represents a considerable volume in sales.

Cold drinks are available and beer is sold to the men at a rate of one bottle a day—Japanese or British according to taste.

In the rear echelons motion pictures are presented every other night.

Yes, war isn't so tough in some ways, thanks to the luck of the draw. The bigegst beef in brigade headquarters is the lack of a certain Scotch liquor. With five other types of liqueur, two of cognac, other spirits and assorted wines available, officers moan that every brand of the Scotch liqueur is reserved for full colonels!

Ottawa Continues Floor Prices For Eggs, Bacon

OTTAWA, Dec. 18. (CP)—Continuance in 1952 of government floor prices for eggs and bacon was announced to the Commons Monday by Agriculture Minister Gardiner. He said the government will continue to buy any eggs offered at the year-end at 38 cents a dozen for Grade "A" delivered in Montreal and bacon wiltshire sides at $32.50 a hundredweight. Mr. Gardiner made his announcement as the Chamber considered legislation, later adopted, to establish an agricultural products board to handle government bulk purchasing of farm products.

He said the board, already in existence by virtue of emergency powers, will not operate on a day-to-day basis of buying and selling. Rather, it will be available to buy farm produce if, for example, the government needs them to fill a bulk contract for a foreign government.

Opposition members used the legislation as the basis for campaign urging the government to establish parity prices for farm products or at least raise existing floor prices.

Formal Division

This drive led to a formal division as the Chamber voted 97 to 38 in suport of Speaker Ross Macdonald when he ruled out of order a CCF amendment demanding that the goverment boost the floor prices.

Dealing with floor prices, Mr. Gardiner said the government has had no pork products offered to it at the support price since market prices are above that level.

Under its egg-support program, it offers to buy any Grade "A" eggs remaining in storage at Montreal at the year-end. No one had offered eggs to the government at that price.

The board would not have the right to requisition farm products or make farmers deliver to it.

H. O. White (PC, Middlesex East), expressing his opposition to bulk buying by governments, said the farmers had come to the conclusion the government had decided it could ride "roughshod" over Canadian agriculture.

L. E. Cardiff (PC, Huron North) said the board would not be much use if agriculture was not represented on it.

House Debates Hot Issue On Resale Price

OTTAWA, Dec. 18—(CP)—The Commons opened debate Monday on one of the hottest issues of this fall session—the government's proposal to ban resale price maintenance.

Justice Minister Garson introduced the legislation as a means to help the small consumer and the Progressive Conservative party promptly proposed that it be killed on the grounds it would destroy the small business man.

E. D. Fulton (PC, Kamloops) contending the bill would help the government's "friends in the field of big business," proposed its consideration be deferred for six months—a parliamentary device for killing legislation.

The bill, up for second reading, would prohibit resale price maintenance—the business practice by which manufacturers set the price at which retailers will sell their merchandise. Generally, the producer can force the retailer to maintain the fixed price by refusing to supply goods.

A formal division developed when Speaker Ross Macdonald ruled out of order a CCF amendment calling for higher floor prices for farm products. The ruling was upheld 97 to 38.

Mr. Garson buttressed his argument against resale price maintenance with three main points:

1. Prices are higher with price maintenance than they would be without it.

2. Price maintenance is spreading and helps to promote price-fixing combines.

3. Elimination of price maintenance would not drive the small retailer out of business. He would get protection from predatory price-cutting — underselling below cost to kill competition—from laws already in effect.

He said the position of the "thousands of little fellows" — the consumers—had to be considered. They could not be expected to tolerate for long a practice which allowed the manufacturer to set the retail price of his goods.

Largely unorganized and unprotected, they were asking why the government which did not control prices, allowed a "private control" of prices by manufacturers.

As for the retailer, the practice eliminated his competition, tended to destroy his independence and make him a mere "automat" for the manufacturer. Knowing that his competitor was governed by price maintenance, he stopped worrying about price competition, costs and selling prices.

As for the manufacturer, he tended to seek to buy the goodwill of the retailer by providing bigger and better price margins—"and the consumer foots the bill."

British Tanks Fire On Egyptian Terrorists

ISMALIA, Egypt, Dec. 18 (AP)—Four big British Centurion tanks today exchanged fire before dawn with Egyptian terrorists blamed for killing one man and wounding three British military policemen here Monday night.

No British casualties were reported in today's fighting.

The tanks and armored vehicles sped into the city to retrieve a jeep abandoned by the military police after it was ambushed by sniping and bombing near the Ismailia police headquarters.

The city has been one of the bloodiest trouble spots in the Suez Canal Zone dispute since mid-October.

The victims were brought out by a second jeep that escaped the firing.

Stock Market Prices Go Slightly Higher

TORONTO, Dec. 18 (CP). — Slowly strengthening mid-session support today pushed early afternoon stock market prices slightly higher.

Refining oils, manufacturing companies and miscellaneous industrials formed the market's strongest sections while liquors and banks drew firm support. Utilities, constructions, steels, textiles and retail stores held gains and losses in balance but papers and foods weakened.

Industrials changed hands slowly while a broad list of penny golds drew speculative interest. A few lower-priced western oils and base metals showed sporadic activity. Volume for the first three hours was 1,082,000 shares.

Base metals made little headway. Consolidated Smelters and Waite Amulet slipped fractions while Falconbridge and International Nickel strengthened.

Western oils traded irregularly. Canadian Atlantic, Home Oil, Selburn, Western Homestead and Calmont strengthened but Calvan Consolidated, Consolidated Cordasun, Okalta and Trans Empire weakened.

Senior golds posted seven gains against one loss. Changes were small. Junior producers were mixed while prospects dipped and holding companies turned upward.

Canadian Ace Flying Mercy Missions

MONTREAL, Dec. 18 (CP) — A Canadian air ace of the Second World War is carrying on his heroic deeds in peacetime, but now he flies more precious cargo —ailing people.

Group Capt. Leonard J. Birchall, the St. Catharines "saviour of Ceylon," Monday completed another successful mercy flight from Canada's Arctic wastelands, bringing a sick missionary back to civilization and proper medical aid.

The flight was another of many such missions since his appointment in July, 1950, as officer commanding the Goose Bay, Labrador, RCAF station, but it proved to be more eventful than some of the others.

Nearly Crashes

His ski-equipped Dakota aircraft landed with a dead starboard motor and nearly crashed through thin ice covering a lake near the Izuyizik mission at the northwestern tip of Quebec. Huskies were used to pull the craft to safety and it took off Sunday after repairs were made.

The flight started last Friday and ended Monday night when the plane landed at Dorval airport carrying Brother Andre Chauvel of Fasseau Blond, Que., a Roman Catholic missionary suffering from hernia. He returned to civilization after 11 years among the Canadian Eskimos.

Birchall was dubbed Ceylon's saviour in 1942 when he spotted the Japanese navy heading for Ceylon in a surprise attack. He was shot down and remained in a Japanese prisoner-of-war camp until the end of hostilities.

In April, 1949, he was awarded the Distinguished Flying Cross and the Order of the British Empire for his heroic action.

Blizzard Hits Border Town

WATERTOWN, NY, Dec. 18 (AP).—A blizzard swept in from Lake Ontario Monday, dumped more than three feet of snow on Watertown and virtually isolated the city.

The snow, driven by 35 to 40 mile an hour winds, blanketed an area within a 25-mile radius of Watertown. All road travel in the area came to a halt.

Air travel also was at a standstill. The New York Central Railroad said it would operate passenger runs from Watertown to Syracuse, but all trains were hours late.

Drifts in the city reached a height of six feet. They piled even higher in the country.

A similar less severe local snow storm hit the Buffalo area. About five inches had fallen in the city by evening and more than two feet in the southern suburbs.

flooring was drenched with water from the firemen's hoses.

Textbooks, piled in a cupboard in the southeast corner of the room, were ruined and decorations were covered by soot or ashes.

Water Damage Heavy

Though firemen used tarpaulins to protect the furnishings from water, water damage was heavy. At least two of the classrooms will have to be completely redecorated.

Excited children in the Parkhill school district gathered outside to watch the firemen battle the blaze. Many of them were in unusually high spirits as they not only enjoyed the spectacle but also anticipated a holiday.

The two rooms suffering the worst damage were opened the first of January 1950.

The reported listing of the 52-year-old Dean among the prisoners climaxes a long series of reports that the highest-ranking American listed as missing in action in Korea, was wounded, killed or taken prisoner.

A reliable source in Tokyo indicated that the Red list of Commonwealth prisoners tallied closely with the British list of men missing in action. This source said "a little more than 1,000" men are listed as missing in action.

Soviet Bloc Loses Round On Disarmament

PARIS, Dec. 18 (AP). — The Soviet bloc lost the first round today in the disarmament debate with the west, but a final decision on rival east-west plans will not be taken until Wednesday.

The UN General Assembly's political committee wound up debate on the disarmament issue after hearing Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Vishinsky assail western proposals as "wishy-washy" and meaningless.

Vishinsky urged the committee to accept a Polish resolution which would set up a new disarmament commission with "blank check" authority to decide its own way of bringing about disarmament.

Poland's Stefan Wierblowski asked the committee to vote on his country's proposal before taking up the western resolution. The committee voted against the move.

Reject Request

The committee also rejected—29 to five with 24 abstentions — a request by Vishinsky that he be allowed to explain his vote after the ballot on each paragraph of the big-three resolution.

Vishinsky made clear Russia would take part in the disarmament commission to which both sides have agreed.

Earlier, Vishinsky told the committee that Britain, France, and the United States tried to persuade the world they had submitted a truly revised plan. But "searching scrutiny fails to bring out any serious changes," he said.

The Western Big Three followed up the deadlock in 10 days of secret Big-Four disarmament talks with revisions they thought would meet some Russian objections.

No Major Concessions

None of the concessions concerned major issues and the West stuck to its demand for creation of a tamper-proof system of inspection and control before agreeing to ban the atomic bomb.

Russia has consistently demanded an immediate ban on atomic weapons. In secret sessions the four powers had agreed to recommend setting up of a 12-country disarmament commission—the 11 Security Council members and Canada—to renewal talks on ending the world arms race.

That plan would have combined the present UN commissions on atomic arms and conventional weapons.

The Communist bloc countered Monday with a proposal presented by Poland for the new commission to scrap five years of work and start over—a plan the West agreed to reject.

Sunday School Holds Christmas Party

MARMORA, Dec. 18—(ENS)—St. Andrew's United Church Sunday School held its annual Christmas party in the church hall on Friday evening with a large attendance of children and parents.

Following supper served by the Women's Association the superintendent, E. C. Prentice, presided at an entertainment in which each class contributed a number.

Santa Claus arrived to get in on the party as gifts were passed out from the Christmas tree. He also assisted with the distribution of bags of candy as the party broke up.

Teacher Leaving Bancroft Staff

BANCROFT, Dec. 18—(ENS)—Members of the staff of Bancroft public school had a going-away party for one of their number, Miss Theda Anderson, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Twa, Sherbourne St., on Friday evening. After a term of three years' teaching in the local school, Miss Anderson is temporarily leaving the teaching profession in order to complete the work for a university degree.

After an evening of cards and assorted games the hostess, Mrs. Twa, on behalf of the staff, presented Miss Anderson with a rhinestone necklace.

Northey Elected Reeve Of Lakefield

LAKEFIELD, Dec. 18 (ENS)—Elwood Northey is the Reeve-elect of Lakefield. He defeated 1951 Reeve William C. Grant on Monday by 101 votes.

Mr. Northey's total was 342, Mr. Grant's 241.

For Mr. Grant, it was the second political defeat in a month. In the November 22 provincial election, he was third man in a field of three candidates for Peterborough County.

Village Clerk Harry Hill said that 59.4 per cent of those eligible to vote cast their ballots. It is believed by some that confusion over the election date, caused by the need for a second nomination meeting for Council and the Public School Board, resulted in the light vote.

Second Meeting

The second nomination meeting will be held Thursday, and, if necessary, the second election will be December 27.

Mr. Grant was first acclaimed Reeve of Lakefield in 1946, and has not faced an election there since. Mr. Northey has been a member of the Public School Board since 1925.

There was no really strenuous campaigning. Literature was passed around by both sides and last Friday night Mr. Grant held the sole meeting of the campaign.

A ratepayers' meeting December 10 was not largely attended, and of the two candidates only Mr. Grant was present.

The second nomination meeting to be held Thursday, will be for two vacancies on the Council and one on the Public School Board. Of the 1951 Council, only J. Lester Fraser and Kenneth Morris accepted nominations at the first nomination meeting. Both were acclaimed.

Refused to Stand

Two 1951 councillors, Kenneth Jakins and Arthur Kingdon, refused to stand this year.

The vote by polls was as follows:

	Poll 1	Poll 2
Northey	167	175
Grant	120	121

Daley Enters TTC Dispute

TORONTO, Dec. 18 (CP).—The Ontario government has moved into Toronto's transportation dispute in an effort to end the threat of a streetcar and bus tie-up at the height of the Christmas shopping season.

Affected would be more than 1,000,000 residents of the metropolitan area of Canada's second largest city.

Labor Minister Charles Daley called a meeting in his office at 10 am Wednesday of representatives of the Toronto Transportation Commission and the Street Railwaymen's Union (AFL-TLC).

Before the minister acted the union began preparations for a strike vote among the 4,700 TTC employees. The vote would be by secret ballot.

Mr. Daley's intervention was in the form of a telegram to TTC general manager H. C. Patten. It said he took a "very serious view of the situation because of the fact that this is an essential public utility and all parties must realize their responsibility to the public."

Sale Of TB Seals Said Disappointing

The Peterborough County TB Association reported today that the sale of Christmas seals has been disappointing.

Charles Elliott, first vice-president said that the total collected to date is $510 less than that collected last year.

"It's even more serious than these figures reveal" Mr. Elliott explained. "We are planning a mass survey of the city and county in 1952 which will cost approximately $10,000.

"This survey along with our regular projects of referred clinics and help to patients in sanatoria is going to put us seriously in the red unless our Christmas seal campaign is more successful."

Grants Judgment Against Murderer

WELLAND, Dec. 18 (CP). — Mr. Justice John L. Wilson in Ontario Supreme Court today granted judgment for $1,700 and costs against Lloyd Robert Wyse of Golden Lake, Renfrew county, sentenced to be hanged for murder.

The action was brought by Andrew G. Simons, Niagara Falls garage operator, for recovery of $1,700 paid to Wyse April 13, 1951, for a stolen automobile, the property of Lloyd Barber, for whose murder Wyse was convicted.

The action was tried in the absence of the defendant who was not available. His Lordship denied a motion for adjournment "in view of the unusual circumstances."

An appeal against the murder conviction is scheduled to be heard by the Supreme Court of Canada Wednesday.

Man Left With Bill Charged In Court

An attempt by Ronald Gravelle, RR 6, Peterborough, and his brother-in-law to get a free meal at a George St. restaurant Monday landed Gravelle in jail.

The brother-in-law ran away, leaving Gravelle to take the blame, crown attorney John A. Bradshaw said when Gravelle pleaded guilty to a vagrancy charge in police court today.

He was fined $10 and $2.50 costs or ten days in jail by Magistrate W. R. Philp.

Bonarlaw WA Meets

BONARLAW, Dec. 18 (ENS).—The WA of St. Mark's Church, Bonarlaw, met Thursday at the home of Mrs. W. J. Barlow with an attendance of 17 members. The president, Mrs. Everett Heath, presided. Canon J. M. Brownlie opened the meeting with prayer. Mrs. George Mumby read the scripture lesson. The treasurer's report showed a bank balance of $226.20. The WA are happy to have a prayer partner in the person of the Rev. Douglas Fuller of Walpole Island.

It was moved that the WA send $10 to the Bible Society. Mrs. Brownlie read a Christmas story.

Santa's Parade In Campbellford Said Best Ever

CAMPBELLFORD, Dec. 18 (ENS).—"Bigger and better than ever," was the way observers described this year's Santa Claus parade in this town. Although the crowd was not as large as usual, due to the zero temperatures, the enthusiasm of the children and adults watching the parade was warm.

About 100 costumes were imported from Toronto for the affair, and a number of other costumes were made locally. Almost 200 persons, on 31 decorated floats, took part in the parade, which took close to a half hour to pass.

Extra police were on hand to help direct traffic. District Sergeant Stanley Palmateer and PC McKenzie of the OPP in Peterborough, as well as Chief Wesley Hall of Havelock, Chief George H. Hardy and Constable W. E. Cargin of Campbellford and OPP Constables Donald Erskine and George Rose of Campbellford.

Chairman of the parade committee, Fred M. Rutherford, rode in a police cruiser at the head of the procession. He was kept informed of the progress of the parade through a short wave radio hook-up, consisting of "walkie-talkies" at the front and rear of the procession.

The parade was sponsored by the Campbellford Chamber of Commerce and local service clubs and church organizations, as well as businessmen of the town, entered decorated floats.

Santa and his assistants road on a float at the rear of the procession, laughing and waving to children, and apparently enjoying the spectacle as much as the kiddies to whom he tossed hundreds of bags of candies. At times the youngsters crowded around the float in such numbers that the driver had no choice but to stop, for fear of running over several of them.

The Havelock Kiltie Band was in attendance and played throughout the route of march. In the evening, several of the floats that had been in the Campbellford parade journeyed to Havelock to participate in a similar parade there. This was a sort of goodwill appearance, in return for the services of the Havelock band in the Campbellford parade.

Fined On Liquor Count

Charged with consuming liquor in a place other than his residence last July, Fergus McMahon, 40, of 453 Mark St., pleaded guilty in police court Monday.

He was fined $10 and $2.50 costs or ten days on the charge.

On Saturday, McMahon pleaded guilty to a drunk charge and was fined $10 and $2.50 costs or ten days.

McMahon elected to serve the jail sentence on both counts and Magistrate W. R. Philp ruled that due to the time between the two offences, the sentences are to run consecutively.

Cobourg Rotary Buys Iceless Oxygen Tent

COBOURG, Dec. 18 (ENS). — The Rotary Club of Cobourg has ordered an iceless oxygen machine with tent for the Cobourg General Hospital. This type of machine goes into action much more rapidly than the older type.

The club is also sponsoring a children's ward for pediatric work in the hospital, and it will be known as the sick children's ward. The new ward will handle up to ten young patients.

IODE Sponsors Theatre Party

CAMPBELLFORD, Dec. 18—(ENS) — The Bemersyde Chapter, IODE, held a theatre concert in the Aron Theatre here on Sunday evening with a good crowd in attendance. The Campbellford Citizens' Band played at the beginning and end of the program and the patrons enjoyed a good deal of local talent throughout.

Mrs (Dr.) F. de F. Free sang two selections, Marion Smith and Muriel Heagle gave two vocal duets; the Campbellford High School glee club under the direction of Miss Irene Stephen, sang a Scottish number and a Christmas carol. A community singsong led by George Nicholls was enjoyed. Mrs. George Nicholls and daughter Anne also played two piano duets.

Mrs. A. K. Loucks gave a short address on the functions of the IODE and their financial contribution to community and world-wide service throughout the past year. This revealed that the organization had sent several food parcels to Britain, they have sponsored a Polish war orphan fund, contributed to the support of the local Citizens' Band, and the Memorial Hospital as well as contributing to the IODE educational program. This program's main function is to aid the families of veterans.

The Rev. A. E. Toombs spoke briefly on the world-wide application of the Biblical text, "God so loved the world that He gave His only begotten Son, that whosoever believeth in Him shall not perish, but shall have everlasting life."

Mrs. F. G. DeCarrol was chairman for the evening. The IODE hopes to continue these theatre concerts every three or four weeks throughout the winter months.

2 Monoxide Victims In Serious Condition

KINGSTON, Dec. 18—(CP)—Two young persons found unconscious in a parked car Sunday morning were still in serious condition in hospital here today, suffering the effects of carbon monoxide poisoning.

Hospital officials said Lena Peters, 17, of Gibson's Hill, was still unconscious. Merrill Hamilton, 20, of Verona, was semi-conscious.

The young couple were found in the old-model car, its motor still running, by the Rev. Thomas Richardson, of Verona. Mr. Richardson, after failing to revive them, brought them to hospital.

Amazing Recovery

NEW KENSINGTON, Pa., Dec. 18 (AP)—A 36-year-old miner who police ordered removed to the morgue after finding him frozen in a parked auto sat up in his hospital bed Monday night. Michael A. Varshine of nearby Springdale, Pa., was saved from the trip to the morgue when his faint breath began forming vapor in the zero weather Monday. He was reported to be suffering from frostbite over much of his body. Hospital officials said he is expected to recover.

From Saturday noon until this morning 38 bags were received for examination. Customs clerks, Leff to Right, K. E. Clysdale, W. E. Crough and W. J. Blair are having a busy time emptying piles of mail bags. They expect their Christmas rush will last until about Dec. 24. —Examiner Staff Photo

Rooster, Eggs Beer Stolen

COBOURG, Dec. 18—(ENS)—Three dozen eggs, two dozen pints of beer, one rooster were the ingredients in a theft charge against Howard Naves of Cobourg heard in police court yesterday morning. Magistrate R. B. Baxter fined him $25 and costs.

Saturday night Joe Bailey of Grafton reported that eggs, the beer and a rooster (alive) were stolen from his truck. Later Acting Chief H. Pearse and Constable Homer Seale, parked on King St., arrested Naves. The beer they found in his home but the eggs, some of them broken, and the rooster, still alive, were found in a snow bank.

Would Change Voting System

OTTAWA, Dec. 18 — (CP) — Senator John T. Haig, Progressive Conservative leader, said on Monday Canada should adopt the single transferable voting system by which an elector marks all candidates on the ballot paper in the order of choice.

Speaking during consideration of a measure to amend the Dominion Elections Act, Senator Haig said the single transferable vote had been in operation in Manitoba for yeras. It provided a better type of candidate, because political parties where the system operated knew a candidate had a much better chance if he appealed not only to his own followers, but to followers of other parties.

Senator Gray Turgeon (L-British Columbia) said the single transferable vote would not be worth anything unless voting for alternate candidates were made compulsory.

Senator Arthur Roebuck (L-Ontario) agreed with Senator Haig and said the Federal Elections structure should also include a limit on election expenses and some form of compulsory voting. The money spent on election campaigns in Canada, were reaching "outrageous" proportions.

Death Toll Now 53 In Brazilian Crash

RIO DE JANEIRO, Brazil, Dec. 18 (Reuters)—The death toll in Monday's passenger train derailment near Fortaleza, Ceara, rose to 55 today.

Nearly 200 were injured, 50 seriously.

The accident is said to be the worst railroad disaster in the history of the Brazilian state of Ceara, which lacked medical facilities capable of coping with an emergency of this nature.

Amputations were made by carpeters' tools amid the wreckage of five cars of the passenger train which overturned.

DVA Paid Thomson $345,617 For Work

OTTAWA, Dec. 18 — (CP). — The Veterans' Department had paid W. C. Thomson, Ontario Liberal Leader, $345,617 from April 1, 1944, to date for legal work, it was shown Monday in a Common return tabled for George Hees (PC-Toronto Broadview).

The total included $252,760 for services, $92,722 in disbursements and $134 expenses.

The payments were for abstracts of title, loan applications and other transactions involving assistance to veterans.

Can't Afford Fine

"It's getting near Christmas and I can't afford to pay the fine now. I can right after Christmas and I'd like an adjournment," said John P. Perrow, 591 Downie St., when he appeared in police court Monday on a charge of causing a public disturbance.

"That's not a very good excuse," Magistrate W. R. Philp replied, and said the case should go on.

Perrow pleaded guilty and paid the fine of $10 and $2.50 coss.

Accident Victim, 33, Buried At Pontypool

BETHANY, Dec. 18 (ENS). — Funeral service for Lloyd Strong, 33, of RR 2, Bethany, was held Monday at his brother's home near Pontypool.

Mr. Strong was killed instantly Friday night in a traffic accident on Highway 35 at the Janetville corner. Four other men were injured.

The Rev. J. McComb of Pontypool officiated at the service, held at the home of Gordon Strong, RR 2, Pontypool. Burial was in Ballyduff Cemetery.

Pallbearers were Gordon Finney, Ed Rose, Oswald Mitchell, Percy Beggs, Verdun Lathangue and Ray Challice. Flower-bearers were Mansell Finney, Lloyd Clarke, Cecil Jennings, Ross Kerr, Earl Lathangue, Edgar Beer, Allan Beer and Porter Mitchell.

Two Cars Collide

Minor damage to both vehicles resulted when a truck driven by Ronald T. Heasdale, RR 3 Peterborough, and a car driven by Thomas Williams, 305 Aberdeen Ave., collided at Donegal St. and Parkhill Rd., Monday morning.

Approximately $20 damage resulted to Teasdale's truck which was going south on Donegal St. Damage to the Williams car which was proceeding east on Parkhill Rd., was estimated at $55.

Constable William G. Scott investigated.

Mrs. C. Reynolds

BETHANY, Dec. 18. (ENS). — Funeral service for Mrs. Christina Reynolds, 97, who died in hospital Sunday night, will be held Wednesday at 2 pm at Bethany United Church. The Rev. James Hampson will officiate and burial will be in Graham's Cemetery, Bethany.

Court Upholds Norway In Row

THE HAGUE, The Netherlands, Dec. 18 (AP) — The International Court of Justice today upheld Norway in her dispute with Britain over fishery rights.

A 10-to-2 decision declared the method used by Norway to mark exclusive fishing zones off her coast line was not contrary to international law as Britain had contended.

The decision concluded two years of litigation in the court, which culminated a 25-year controversy on whether British trawlers could operate in waters reserved by Norway for her own fishermen.

British trawler captains have been arrested and fined in the disputed area.

Polish Boy Wins Cup

COBOURG, Dec. 18 (ENS). — Joseph Godawa, Polish boy who won the Ravensdale cup this fall as the best all-around boy in the Cobourg Collegiate Institute, was presented with a pen last night by James Redmond, chairman of the Separate School Board, at the annual Christmas concert. Godawa attended St. Michael's Separate School here.

US Deficit Problem

OTTAWA, Dec. 18 — (CP) — Canada's foreign trade is undergoing tremendous expansion, but the big problem of countering the deficit in trade with the United States still remains. Her adverse balance in trade with the US during October totalled $27,400,000 — bringing the 10-month deficit for 1951 to $457,200,000—the highest since the dollar problem days of 1947—a Bureau of Statistics report showed Monday.

Citizens Organize To Promote Industry In Town

CAMPBELLFORD, Dec. 18—(ENS). — A group of Campbellford citizens have organized the Campbellford Citizens' Association, after a round-table discussion held at Edgewater Park Pavilion. The aim of the association is to promote industrial expansion in the town, and to generally better conditions in all spheres of municipal life.

After much discussion on industrial expansion and civic administration, it was decided to elect officers and standing committees.

Membership in the newly formed organization is open to all citizens who are interested in better civic administration in the fields of welfare, education and recreation.

H. S. Staples was elected president of the association. Vice-presidents were W. C. Tatham, George Palliser, T. E. Hall, and Donald W. Erskine. Secretary-treasurer is Wesley Sweet.

The following standing committees were elected: Committee on Industrial Expansion, W. C. Tatham chairman, Dave Ness, Percy White, Norm Seward, Earl Godden committee members.

Committee on Civic Administration: Chairman George Palliser, W. Rutherford, V. Lockwood.

Committee on Recreational Activities: Chairman Donald Erskine, Charles Wickens, Bruce Grills, and W. Holmes.

Committee on Public Relations: Chairman T. E. Hall, Mrs. W. C. Tatham, and Mr. Douglas Nicholas, as committee members.

All standing committees appointed have the power to add to their numbers, and the power to operate in their own particular field in the best interests of the citizens of Campbellford.

Cobourg Plant Holds Party For Youngsters

COBOURG, Dec. 18 (ENS). — Approximately 175 delighted children attended the annual CGE employees' Christmas party Saturday which was sponsored by the Social and Athletic Association. Prior to the arrival of Santa Claus the parents and children saw several films of appropriate subjects.

Although several employees have been laid off since their children were registered as eligible to receive presents at the party, they were still invited to the event.

Clowns, music, sing-song and the films, kept the youngsters interested until Santa arrived with much fanfare. He shook hands with every child in the collegiate auditorium, where the party was held, and then handed out presents to the youngsters.

Truck, Car Collide On Curve, None Hurt

CAMPBELLFORD, Dec. 18 — (ENS)—No one was injured, but considerable damage was caused on Friday evening, when a truck and a car collided on the boundary road between Percy and Seymour townships about three miles south of Campbellford.

Clayton Stephens, 28, of RR 5, Campbellford, was travelling south and rounding a curve with his half-ton truck when an auto driven by 73-year-old William Hedger of RR 1, Campbellford came around the curve in the opposite direction. Neither driver apparently saw the other until it was too late. The truck struck the left side of the car causing about $175 damage, while the truck received damage to the extent of about $50. Does Reserve Extend Into Rice Lake?

COBOURG, Dec. 18 (ENS). — The question of whether or not Indian Reserve land extends out into Rice Lake, stalled the hearing of a charge against Willis Smoke and Louis Grey, Alnwick township, of killing fish out of season. They were remanded until January 18.

Game overseer Vic Harris testified that on December 6 while patrolling Rice Lake he came upon a canoe in the act of being beached with Smoke and Grey as occupants. He seized 19 pickerel which were still wet and bloody, along with a thermos bottle, spear and a pair of overalls. The fish weighed 78 pounds.

Defence counsel J. C. M. German raised the point of immunity to game laws of Indians operating on reserve land and the question of whether the reserve extended out into the water. On this point court adjourned pending further enquiry.

Involving a break-in of cottages at Presqu'ile Point, William Palmer of Brighton was remanded out of custody until called upon. Richard and Gordon Lott, age 17 and 19 of Manvers township were remanded out of custody until January 19 on charges of theft of a water pump in November. Pending their appearance next month, the accused, who are first offenders, are to look for a job.

Pleading guilty to theft of cigarettes from a vending machine, Ralph Post and Russell McGregor of Brighton were remanded out of custody until January 9.

Foreign Exchange Controls Dropped

The removal of controls on foreign exchange does more than free the ordinary Canadian tripper to the United States from embarrassing shortages of U.S. dollars, or the annoyance of having to apply for permits to get them. It is perhaps the most important financial move the Government has made since the war. Not even the tight restrictions put on Canadian imports from the United States during the critical dollar shortage of 1947 were as important. That was a continuance of an old policy. The action last Saturday was a change in policy; a reversion to pre-war methods.

* * *

The abrupt ending of twelve years of foreign exchange control means both that the Government's financial experts believe Canada's economy is very sound; and that this country is pointing the way to freer world trade. It is an end in Canada to the financial manipulation on a national scale invented by Dr. Schacht to make Nazi Germany's rearmament economically possible. As foreign exchange controls served Germany, so they were made to serve other national policies. They were absolutely essential to Canada's war-time effort. However, as nation after nation adopted foreign exchange controls, international trade became a puppet; it ceased to exist in any free sense.

* * *

It is expected that the dropping of the controls will ease the flow of trade not only with the United States, but also with sterling countries. It is hoped that Canada's move foreshadows similar action by other Western nations, and that western world trade will get financially the freedom which the Geneva Trade Agreements have provided for in lowered tariff schedules.

A Wager With Death

A good deal of attention has been called by the press to the transfer to his heir of a million pounds by the Duke of Marlborough; it is still perfectly legal in England for a man to give money to his son, and if he lives for five years after the gift, no succession duties can be charged on it. The Duke's gift is, in a sense, a wager with death; if he lives for five more years (and he is only 54 now) he wins his bet and the Government loses a very large piece of swag. We hope the Duke wins his bet.

Few people are sympathetic toward the beleaguered rich of England at present, but we think that such aristocrats as the Duke of Marlborough are deserving of a kindly thought. He is something more than merely a rich man; he is the head of a great family (of which Winston Churchill is a junior member) and the upholder of a great name; it is understandable that he does not want to see the name of Marlborough low. He owns a huge palace—Blenheim Palace—which was given to an ancestor of his who did great service to Britain at Blenheim and elsewhere; it was the gift of the nation, and unless the Duke can maintain it the nation will undoubtedly take it back again and use it for a Civil Servant's rest home, or a cyclist's shelter. No man likes to lose his home. By giving what we presume is the greater part of his fortune to his heir while he is still living, the Duke is doing what most of us spend our days in doing—keep the home fires burning.

Many hard things are said against inherited wealth, but it is a plain fact of history that families which have enjoyed a measure of ease for several generations have contributed very greatly to the roster of able statesmen, scholars and artists. The Churchill family has done well by England, and means to go on doing so as long as it is allowed. Meanwhile it is preserving the sinews of that continued service.

Chess In The Park

The city of New York is soon to have a pleasant pavilion in Central Park, for the use of people who want to play chess. Apparently there are a good many people, principally old men of limited means, who play chess in the park on the benches there; a philanthropist who prefers to remain unknown has given the necessary $38,000 to the Park Association to build a suitable shelter for them; it will be an octagonal brick building with a slate roof, and in the picture we have seen it looks very pleasant indeed.

Even so far away from New York as this it makes us happy to think that somebody has cared for the chess players, for it is a game which we deeply admire. Chess is a very big game—a game capable of engrossing the whole of a man's leisure and of absorbing the most unlikely elements of his personality. There are men who play chess as they might make war, with careful and elaborate tactical schemes; very fine players they are, some of them, and the novice and the uncertain player has no chance against them. There are romantic chess players, too, who seem to play by dash and intuition; they also can be very good, and are always interesting to watch. But the best players of all seem to be those who play chess as a philosopher lives, accommodating themselves to each turn of the game, while maintaining certain principles to which they are devoted; the great masters of chess usually belong in this category.

Chess is not especially a game for the old, though old men are often fond of it. Some of the great players have revealed their quality before they were twenty. But perhaps the old men who play in Central Park do not seek to be great players; they seek only to pass the time in the most absorbing and difficult of all table games. Henceforth they will do so in greater comfort.

Crusade Against Sin

The Quebec correspondent for Time magazine notes that Premier Duplessis has begun to clean Montreal. Five night clubs and saloons have lost their licences recently, for selling liquor after two a.m. This is, apparently, not a "shakedown" for "protection" payments, but a tidying up of his political backyard. The thoroughness is indicated by an order that all bars in Quebec must shut at ten p.m. on New Year's Eve. This is drastic: in French-Canada New Year's is a more expansive festival than Christmas.

It seems that coming events have cast their shadow before . . . the chief one being the necessity of holding an election next year. Premier Duplessis cannot have helped noticing that his Government party, which occupies all but a handful of the seats, got a Gallup poll grunt showing his strength to be 43 per cent., against the Liberals' 48 per cent. And the Roman Catholic church has indicated that it wants reform in the morals of Montreal. So Premier Duplessis has begun a campaign against sin. He has taken the licences of five night spots—five of thousands of places licensed to sell beer and spirits,-and put a ten o'clock curfew on New Year's Eve bars. We seem to remember that a similar drastic timetable was pronounced last year, and that it did not curb the merry-making in and out of the bars. Montreal and the Quebec Government have these bouts of moral reform periodically, but the zeal for them soon fades.

Rush-Hour Swill

A Royal Commission has been set up in Sydney by the Government of New South Wales to investigate what is called "the rush-hour swill." New South Wales has a law which forces bars to close for the night at six p.m. As a result, factory and office workers wanting a nip make a wild dash to the local. They line up ten or twelve deep at the bars after five p.m., one report tells us, and make a ferocious effort to pour down as much as they can before closing time. This one-hour swill, grave legislators say, is leading to drunkenness, for the stuff is taken on an empty stomach.

The situation is getting worse, for beer consumption (including the rush-hour swill) has risen to a peak of 19¾ gallons a person a year. The New South Wales legislation is perhaps even worse than Ontario's beer-parlour rules where customers are required by law to sit down and to indulge in neither music, games nor food. All they must do is drink—sitting down. Only when they rise to go out an hour or two later do their legs tell them that really they might have consumed more than was good for their stance.

The New South Wales Royal Commission will investigate the whole range of liquor production, distribution and consumption. The Chairman, Mr. Justice Maxwell, toured drinking spots recently during a one-week adjournment of the inquiry, to find out for himself what the conditions are. "No description, however disgusting, could do justice to it," he said.

NOTES AND COMMENT

A research chemist says that the alcohol in most drinks is not sufficient to sterilize the glass. Is this supposed to be a scientific fact, or just a criticism of his friends' hospitality?

In 1888 Sir Wilfrid Laurier declared that Canada had enjoyed "legislative independence absolute" for fifty years. A pity Sir Wilfrid isn't here to talk to some of his successors, who are afraid that the word "Dominion" makes colonials of them.

The St. Catharine's Standard writing of Senate reform, suggests that Miss Agnes Macphail be given a seat in the upper house. An alternative is that Miss Macphail just stay at home studying elementary economics, a subject which her governmental duties have prevented her from attacking until now.

Melville's 100 Year Old White Whale

by GORDON ROPER

Dr. Gordon Roper, formerly of Peterborough, is now a member of the English faculty of Trinity College, University of Toronto, and a widely known authority on Herman Melville.

ONE hundred years ago, in his home in the Berkshire mountains, Herman Melville finished and launched his greatest book, Moby-Dick, or The White Whale. Today, in North America, in Britain, and on the Continent, many readers hold it to be one of the greatest imaginative creations of the last century. This Fall its centenary has been celebrated in popular and learned journals, in books, on the radio, in University lectures, and in conferences of scholarly and lay readers. Yet when it appeared one hundred years ago, relatively few readers read it. Most of those who did read it then, or in the following seventy years, would have been incredulous if anyone then had forecast its present reputation.

ONE of the reasons why response failed in the 19th Century was that Moby-Dick was not the kind of book which the public wanted from Melville. Five years before Moby-Dick, Melville leaped into public fame overnight with his first book, Typee. Typee (1846) and its sequel, Omoo (1847), gave the reading public something they wanted, and something no other writer provided. They established a new myth, a myth of a South Seas Eden which caught the Western imagination, and which since has been enhanced by painters, writers, stage and screen.

Melville's instantaneous success led him to try to make his living by writing—a courageous decision then, or now. But by Chapter 33 of Mardi, a sequel to Omoo, he had decided to write what pleased him, not the public, and the rest of Mardi became a vast mixture of allegory and Swiftian and Rabelaisian satire. It puzzled and distressed many in his audience. Redburn (1849) and White-Jacket (1850) revealed his increasing artistry and his deepening comprehension of life, but, although both did fairly well, neither met the romantic expectations of his audience. Thus when Melville published his Moby-Dick on 18 October, 1851, in London (in 3 volumes, as The Whale), and in November in New York (as Moby-Dick, or The White Whale), he had lost part of his audience, while many of those who remained only admired him for his descriptive power and forceful realism.

A few contemporary reviewers of Moby-Dick were indignantly angry; they attacked the book as a mad mixture of disordered narrative, unpleasant realism, excessive erudition, rhapsody run wild. However, most reviewers saw good and bad in it. They recognized its tremendous force, its honest realism, its masses of interesting information, its high drama, and the moments of intense poetry; they failed to see these as fused elements which produced a profound and moving tragedy both on the particular and universal level. Only a few caught glimpses of Melville's intention and his achievement.

SUCH response from the reviewers is not surprising, for Moby-Dick was not only unlike Melville's popular Typee and Omoo, it also was quite unlike any fiction by any other contemporary writer. It seems clear now that Melville began it as a book like Redburn and White-Jacket. But as he wrote, his imagination caught flame; he was compelled to rewrite, and finally created what he knew would "fail" with his public. He knew that he had dramatized symbolically the relationship of Man, Nature, and God; he knew that the book was strange in form, disturbing in intensity, out-of-bounds in its speculation. As he wrote to his friend Nathaniel Hawthorne (to whom fittingly the book is dedicated): "Appreciation! Recognition! Is love appreciated? Why, ever since Adam, who has got to the meaning of his great allegory—the world? When we pygmies must be content to have our paper allegories but ill comprehended. A sense of unspeakable security is in me this moment, on account of your having understood the book. I have written a wicked book, and feel spotless as the lamb."

Before he withdrew from writing prose in 1857, Melville wrote three more long books and a number of brilliant short stories, but they too failed to make a lasting mark on the public; until his death in 1891 he was remembered by readers as the man who had lived romantically among the cannibals. One of the first efforts to focus attention on Moby-Dick was made by the Canadian professor Archibald MacMechan in an article in the Queen's Quarterly (October, 1899), entitled "The Best Sea Story Ever Written". After the First Great War others came to see that it was not only a great sea story but that it was akin to the mighty Greek and Shakespearian tragedies, expressed in its own unique and entirely appropriate way.

TODAY Moby-Dick is one of the most widely studied and discussed fictions written in English. In spite of this, there is neither easy nor final answer to the question: What is Moby-Dick about? However, certain conclusions are common. Moby-Dick's greatness lies primarily in Melville's artistic success in expressing a mighty theme—or, better, a symphony of these—in symbolic, dramatic form. The structure itself is a great metaphor—the voyage humanity makes in quest of awareness and fulfilment. The central conflict in the book is in particular between Captain Ahab and Moby Dick, in general between Man and the Universe; call it the conflict "between good and evil" if you wish, although that was too simple an answer for Melville. Certain themes dominate the action. The first theme is announced in Ishmael, who finds himself compelled to flee from the safe haven of every-day life ashore. A second dominant theme appears when Ishmael, in his speech for a whaling ship, hears a sermon from the famous whaling-preacher, Father Mapple, which extols the duty and joy of the proud Man to humble himself only before his God. A third theme is introduced when Ishmael meets Queequeg, a noble Polynesian harpooner, and they join their lots. They find the ship Pequod, and sail from Nantucket on an ominous Christmas Day. The fourth dominant theme emerges several days later when the strange Captain Ahab appear from below. It becomes apparent that the Pequod is bound on an implacable hunt for one great white whale that in the past has "crowded" Ahab. Ahab reveals his quest and binds his crew in a wild consecration scene (Chapter 36). Although Moby Dick seems different things to Ahab at different times, at this moment he personifies for Ahab the inscrutable malice of the universe against the god-like man.

Melville now slowly and skilfully builds the centre of his book in a multi-levelled fashion. The development of Ahab's compulsion is presented in intense scenes. Finally, after Chapter 98, Melville closes the action in; Ahab strips and is stripped for action. Just before raising Moby Dick, Ahab has his moment of highest humanity and deepest vision (Chapter 132). His humanities urge him homeward, but necessity and fate press him on. Moby Dick is found; a three day chase culminates in the Pequod's and in Ahab's end. But the tragedy of Ahab—so like Lucifer's and Prometheus's in many ways — is framed by the redemption through man's love of his fellow man of one lone survivor, Ishmael. An isolated orphan at the beginning of the book, Ishmael now finds himself an orphan among a world of orphans at the end.

THIS sketch of the structure and the themes necessarily must ignore much that gives force, richness, and profundity to the book. A great deal of the richness and profundity comes from Melville's symbolic mode of seeing and of conveying experience. Much comes from Melville's insight into "depth psychology" in presenting his characters. Some comes from the tall-tale humour which illuminates the primness of many passages. Above all is the Shakespearean force and richness that comes from Melville's mastery over words, images, and cadences.

◇ ◇ ◇

A NATION cannot live imaginatively without its myths. We have the classical myths: they are meaningful, but they still are translations; as yet we have few native myths. In this centenary year, in celebrating the emergence of Melville's Moby-Dick, we also may be celebrating the emergence of a great native myth.

A Note on Melville Scholarship

The past five years has seen the publication of an extraordinary number of excellent studies of Moby-Dick. In 1947 Willard Thorp edited what is still the most useful edition of Moby-Dick (Oxford). Charles Olsen in his Call Me Ishmael (1947) showed how the impact of Shakespeare on Melville helped form Moby-Dick. Three recent biographies of Melville, each called Herman Melville, studied the book from different viewpoints: Geoffrey Stone's study was from a Catholic viewpoint; Richard Chase's made a symbolic reading in order to probe into Melville's personality; Newton Arvin's analyzed Moby-Dick on four levels of meaning. Howard Vincent presented an exhaustive study of its making and meaning in his The Trying-Out of Moby-Dick (1949). In 1950 M. O. Percival made a Kierkegaardian analysis in his A Reading of Moby-Dick. Within the past two months two new studies have appeared: Leon Howard's new biography, the fullest interpretative biography to date, includes new materials; Jay Leyda's fine The Melville Log has pooled all known facts about Melville in two volumes, without interpretation. Now the reader may read all that is known about Melville as he wrote Moby-Dick, and may piece together for himself the biography of the book. Finally, before this Christmas, the publisher of the scholarly Complete Works of Herman Melville, (to be in 14 volumes) has promised to add a two-volume edition of Moby-Dick to the 3 volumes already published in that set.

THE BEST KNOWN PORTRAIT of Herman Melville is the one reproduced above. It was painted by J. O. Eaton in New York, May 1870, when Melville was fifty.

Railway Subsidies Paid

(MONTREAL STAR)

AS the Senate continues to study the freight rates legislation now before it, it might be invited to study too another aspect of the railway problem which has its direct bearing on the attempt to remove injustices by the "equalization" of rates. This is the pattern of subsidies already being paid.

The Maritimes Freight Rates Act gives a rebate on Maritime rates of 20 per cent. It has been in force since 1927 and has cost a total of $92,026,000.

Subsidies are paid on shipments of coarse grain from the Prairies to eastern farmers. These have been in force since 1941 and have so far cost $161,740,000.

Subsidies are also paid on shipments of Alberta coal to Ontario. These have been in force since 1932 and have cost a total of $16,030,000.

There are also the Crows Nest Pass rates on grain effective since 1897. No figure of cost has been given. Controversy surrounds them. But the C.P.R. in its presentation to the recent Royal Commission estimates that they present a "deficiency" of "between $13,769,000 and $16,947,000 a year" and evidence suggested that most of the deficiency is made up by other prairie shippers.

Nothing need be said about the subsidies paid the Canadian National in meeting its deficits. This is old-esthalished government policy, and if we want to maintain railway competition, they must be paid.

But the idea of "equalizing" rates is to overcome the natural handicaps suffered by the Maritime and Prairie regions. The subsidies do not, in these circumstances, hang together. The Maritime Freight Rates Act and the Crows Nest Pass rates are indeed subsidies to Maritimes and the Prairies. But the coarse grain subsidies and the Alberta coal subsidies are substantial handouts to Central Canada which enjoys the benefits of competition by truck and water.

In addition to this, so far as the present legislation goes, the Government has, at the request of the Maritimes, excluded that area from its equalization plan. The Maritimes don't want it. It is also in trouble with British Columbia and Manitoba, neither of which like the apparently greater benefits which the proposed steps to equalization give Saskatchewan and Alberta. "Everything," as Sean O'Casey once wrote, "is in a state of chassis."

The prediction may be ventured that the Government is unlikely to get any good will from its present well-intentioned effort to remove inequalities. It may be prophesied also that the shippers themselves, whose hopes run so high, are not going to be pleased with the results. And it is certain that the railways themselves are going to have their difficulties increased.

If those difficulties are such that railway revenues go down, we are going to harm great national assets which deserve better treatment from Government than they are getting.

Letters To The Editor

QUESTION ON BUTTERMILK

Sir: I would appreciate a reply through your "Letters to the Editor column" from the dairy companies.

Would they kindly explain why buttermilk has been raised 3 cents per quart and whole milk only 2 cents?

Is buttermilk considered to be of more food value or what, and also why wasn't it listed on the new price notice given to each customer?

Thank you for the privilege of having this printed in your valuable paper. (Buttermilk is now 17 cents per quart.)

CURIOUS.

COMPLAINS OF LONG WORKING HOURS

Sir: It was with some amusement that I perused the essay written by a very Simple Simon recently.

Having eked out my pittance for several years in one of the noble institutions commonly known as a bank, permit me to be the first if not the last to enlighten this individual of his misconceptions regarding banking conditions.

During an average week a bank employee works 8½ hours per day and on Saturday will find his work completed at approximately 1 p.m.—a total of 47 hours a week—about 6 hours longer than the average working week of the employees in any of our factories.

To compete with working conditions provided elsewhere, it has become apparent that the move by the banks to close on Saturdays is merely an ultimatum to a very distressing problem—that of keeping sufficient staff to render a satisfactory service to the public.

If and when the Saturday closing for banks becomes reality I am certain that any problems ensuing from such a step can be dealt with at no expense either to the bank or to the interests of the public.

SIMPLER SIMON.

Bible Message

(From the Authorized Version)

And Elijah came unto all the people, and said, How long halt ye between two opinions? if the Lord be God, follow him: but if Baal, then follow him. And the people answered him not a word. Then said Elijah unto the people, I, even I only, remain a prophet of the Lord; but Baal's prophets are four hundred and fifty men. Let them therefore give us two bullocks; and let them choose one bullock for themselves, and cut it in pieces, and lay it on wood, and put no fire under: and I will dress the other bullock, and lay it on wood, and put no fire under: and call ye on the name of your gods, and I will call on the name of the Lord: and the God that answereth by fire, let him be God. And all the people answered and said, It is well spoken.

And they took the bullock which was given them, and they dressed it, and called on the name of Baal from morning even until noon, saying, O Baal, hear us. But there was no voice, nor any that answered. And they leaped upon the altar which was made.

And it came to pass, when midday was past, and they prophesied until the time of the offering of the evening sacrifice, that there was neither voice, nor any to answer, nor any that regarded.

And Elijah said unto all the people, Come near unto me. And all the people came near unto him. And he repaired the altar of the Lord that was broken down. And he put the wood in order, and cut the bullock in pieces, and laid him on the wood, and said, Fill four barrels with water, and pour it on the burnt sacrifice, and on the wood. And it came to pass at the time of the offering of the evening sacrifice, that Elijah the prophet came near, and said, Lord God of Abraham, Isaac, and of Israel, let it be known this day that thou art God in Israel, and that I am thy servant, and that I have done all these things at thy word.

Then the fire of the Lord fell, and consumed the burnt sacrifice, and the wood, and the stones, and the dust, and licked up the water that was in the trench. And when all the people saw it, they fell on their faces: and they said, The Lord, he is the God; the Lord, he is the God. (I Kings 18: 21-24, 26, 29, 30, 36, 38, 39.)

Suspended Sentences

(Edmonton Journal)

The seriousness of the young offender problem in Edmonton was underlined in the police court, when, of the 16 accused persons before the court, 10 were between the ages of 17 and 19. Such a proportion is most unusual, of course, but that it should ever be possible is disturbing.

A somewhat more cheerful note, however, was struck by Magistrate Main in imposing suspended sentences on some of these offenders.

His disclosed that out of 42 persons under 18 who had received suspended sentences in his court in the last 15 months, there have been only four "repeaters".

50,000 Evade Insurance

(Vancouver Province)

Health and Welfare Minister Turnbull announces that there are still 50,000 British Columbians not registered for hospital insurance. Half of these are in the category of "not able to pay", but the remaining 25,000 are deliberately dodging hospital insurance premiums.

This figure may be a little high because the Federal census shows BC's population is lower than that estimated by BCHIS, but it is an astonishing figure.

Obviously the prime task of the hospital insurance administration is to devise ways and means of catching up with these thousands of evaders.

THE YOUNG MELVILLE, as he was at the age of twenty-eight, is seen above in this portrait by Asa W. Twitchell. It was painted four years before the appearance of Moby Dick.

No Night Life For Queen Mary

LONDON, Dec. 18—(Reuters)—Queen Mary, 84-year-old mother of the King, has been advised by her doctors not to undertake any evening engagements, it was announced Monday.

The announcement added that this advice is "purely a precaution" and the Queen Mother is in good health. She has recovered from a recent cold.

To the cast of the traditional Christmas season pantomine Aladdin at the Casino Theatre, the announcement brought disappointment; Queen Mary, they were told, would be unable to attend tonight's preview as planned.

In daylight, however, the regal figure of Queen Mary will be seen as usual—driving along the treeline Mall to Buckingham Palace and patronizing art and homecraft exhibitions in Central London. Monday she attended an exhibition of miniature costume figures at the International Faculty of Arts.

Friday she plans to leave London to spend Christmas with the King and Queen and other members of the Royal family at Sandringham, in East England.

Sails For Drydock

SARNIA, Dec. 18 (CP) — The giant Imperial Leduc sailed under her own power for a Toledo, O., drydock Monday as one of three victims of explosions that ripped the ship's tanks a week ago, lay in critical condition at St. Joseph's Hospital here. Michael Harris, 30, of Sarnia, who had been conducting vapor tests on the Leduc when she exploded at the Imperiol Oil dock here, was reported in "very poor condition."

3 Die In Fire

CHURCHILL, Man., Dec. 18 (CP)—Alfred Anderson and his two children were burned to death Saturday night when fire destroyed their home at mile 314 on the Hudson Bay Railway in northern Manitoba. Anderson, a laborer, had taken his wife to safety, then returned into the burning house to rescue the children. He perished with them in his arms.

Apartment Blaze

WINNIPEG, Dec. 18 (CP) — A three-alarm fire roared through an apartment block in Winineg's north end Monday night destroying two stores and six suites above. It was first believed a Chinese couple living in one of the suites may have been trapped inside the burning building, but firemen said that to their knowledge everyone escaped safely.

Narrow Escape

MANIWAKI, Que., Dec. 18 (CP) —Four persons escaped death at Gilmour Lake, 55 miles north of this Gatineau district town, when the truck in which they were being taken to hospital crashed through the ice. The accident occurred on Saturday when the truck, driven by Lambert Bellaire, 27, of this town, 80 miles north of Ottawa, was attempting a short cut across the lake.

Seismologist Retires

OTTAWA, Dec. 18—(CP)—Mr Quake has retired. Dr. E. A. Hodgson, 69, chief seismologist and assistant Dominion astronomer, has left his post, 37 years after he first trudged up the hill to the Dominion observatory in Ottawa. Dr. Hodgson will live in retirement at Port Perry, Ont.

CNR Official Dies

MONTREAL, Dec. 18 (CP) — Frank J. Stock, traffic manager of the foreign freight department Canadian National Railways, died at his home Monday following a short illness. He served in the freight traffic department in Toronto, Montreal, London, North Bay and Ottawa.

Letters Bring $86.90

LONDON, Dec. 18 (Reuters)—Seven letters written by the late George Bernard Shaw today sold for $86.90 at Sotheby's famous auction rooms in London's west end.

Don't Approve Being Hurried

OTTAWA, Dec. 18—(CP)—The Senate, during a busy day, again voiced complaints about the lopsided schedule they follow.

Senator Thomas Crerar (L, Manitoba) said the Senate, with little to do early in the session, now finds itself flooded with work. If the government's scheduled adjournment this week was to be followed, there would be no time for proper study of the legislation.

"We are getting to the position where we're merely rubber stamps," he said.

Senator Arthur Roebuck (L, Ontario) echoed similar criticism and said the Senate had the remedy in its own hands.

"No one can force this Chamber to rise. If there is not sufficient time to consider the legislation now, we can adjourn and come back after Christmas. The Senate has a serious duty to give the legislation proper study."

The Upper Chamber then gave final passage to the government's St. Lawrence Seaway legislation and approved seven other measures in principle and sent them to a committee for further study.

Likely To Draft Young Canadians In US

WASHINGTON, Dec. 18—(AP)—Draft-age aliens who have been working in the United States since last summer now are subject to induction in the US Armed Forces, selective service said Monday.

A spokesman said the situation applies particularly to many Canadians—principally in the Detroit area—who live in Canada, but cross the border daily to work in the United States.

Selective service amendments adopted last June 19, however, made aliens who are permanent residents liable for service, and required that they register with a draft board within six months.

Selective service said Canadians working in the US are considered permanent residents of this country even though they continue to live in their Canadian homes.

Caught By Police

ST. MARYS, Ont., Dec. 18 (CP) —Howard Kramer, 21, of Woodstock, who police said escaped from Brampton reformatory a month ago, was arrested Monday night. He was serving a sentence for car theft when he escaped. Police said they recaptured him after a house was entered and a sum of money stolen.

Will Burn Candles

VIENNA, Dec. 18 (Reuters) — The Austrian League For the United Nations Monday asked all Austrians to put a candle in their window at 7 pm on Christmas Eve to demonstrate for peace. The candles would be in memory of the victims of all wars, of those who had not yet returned from the last war.

Museum Gets Piano

SALZBURG, Germany, Dec. 18 (Reuters) — "Silent Night" will be played at Christmas for the last time on the organ on which its composer, Josef Mohr, an Austrian teacher, played it nearly 150 years ago. The organ, in the little church of Wagrain, near here, will probably be taken to Salzburg provincial museum.

Denied Rehearing

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 18 (AP) —The court of appeals Monday denied Mrs. Iva Toguri D'Aquino a rehearing of her appeal of conviction for treason for broadcasting as "Tokyo Rose" during the Second World War. Mrs. D'Aquino, 35, is serving a 10-year sentence.

Assistant MOH

TORONTO, Dec. 18 (CP)—City council Monday night appointed Dr. A. R. J. Boyd, of Kingston, to the post of assistant medical officer of health for Toronto at a salary of $8,500. Boyd now is MOH at Kingston.

Petes Smear Kingston 15-4 In Front of Next of Kin To Grab Onto the Top Rung

Smearing Kingston 15-4 here last night before few hundred fans, the Petes climbed into undisputed possession of first place in the Central Ontario senior "B" OHA grouping. They spotted the visitors two early goals but lead 4-2 in the first frame and piled up a 10-3 margin to take into the one-sided third chukker. Play was fairly fast and quite clean, the visitors drawing three of the five penalties. Kingston struck hard for a short space to start each period but faded soon under the Petes' drive.

Though minus Catlin and Wagar, the visitors never looked in the hunt as the Ellis' outfit turned in a sparkling effort, and Kingston one of their poorer showings. The only spot of excitement came late in the third heat when Bender and a fan tangled briefly by the boards in a corner, and Bender was given a misconduct for it.

Mason Led

Curly Mason led the Petes in points with six, aiding on five goals, followed closely by Arn Dugan with four goals and an assist in another neat showing. Freddy Garvey and Don Floyd were also potent to figure in on four goals each, as Jake Wade, Earl Leonard and Chum Fryia were others who fattened their batting averages with three scoring points each. Two apiece went to Gus Leonard and Ted Collins, singles being marked for Junior West and Drake Jopling. Goalie Ray Harding turned in a good chore, but wasn't too busy.

Don Murray led the losers in a hustling display in a losing cause by tallying two goals and helping on another. Bud Ohlke got a marker and aided on one, single points going to George McGregor, Aitken, White and Stewart. Goalie Dougall made some good saves but looked shell-shocked before it was over.

The Petes Drove

The pattern of play was similar in each stanza. Kingston drove hard at the start and play was fairly fast, even and clean. Then, the Petes would take over and drive in repeatedly to hem in the visitors and fashion plays in the enemy zone, flinging much rubber at Dougall. Kingston scored once, by Murray, on a breakaway, but another time—when Mason was off on a penalty—the Petes tallied twice. The two smartest goals were by Mason and Dugan on a return pass in the first frame, and by Wade from Mason on another return pass out in the third heat. It was a methodical victory for the homesters and the zero temperature, small crowd and one-sided score didn't add up to hockey excitement. The teams:

Kingston—Goal, Dougall; defence, Stewart and Bender; centre, Murray; wings, Ohlke and Aitken; alternates, Tinkess, McGregor, White, Dunn, Goodfellow, Sweetman and Williamson.

Petes — Goal, Harding; defence, Wade and Horton; centre, Dugan; wings, Fryia and Mason; alternates, G. Leonard, West, Mortimer, Jopling, E. Leonard, Collins, Garvey and Floyd.

Referee, J. Crombie; linesman, H. Payne.

Petes—Wade (Mason)	15:08
Petes—Dugan (Mason, Fryia)	16:47

Penalty—Bender.

IN ON SIX — Curly Mason dropped his lacrosse stick this fall to pick up a hockey weapon for the Petes and he's doing alright at this wintry job. Last night he was in on six goals to lead the Petes a decisive 15-4 win over Kingston here.

P of W Gets Victory

Jim Sutherland scored four goals to give Prince of Wales a 4-3 School Hockey League win yesterday over Queen Mary. It was a fine fray at the arena. An assist apiece went to Huffman, Tripp, Boyce and Bowen. For the losers J. Dafoe had a goal and an assist, Reynolds and Atkinson a goal each, and Morgan an assist. Teams:

Queen Mary: Milne, J. Dafoe, Reynolds, Hutton, Robbin, Perritt, Lincoln, G. Dafoe, Morgan, Atkinson, Stewart.

Prince of Wales: Trotter, Aulbrook, Huffman, Nice, Tripp, Sutherland, Carl, Boyce, Faulkner, Bowen, Park, Peel.

Referee: A. Olmstead.

Curling News

By HERB MARTIN

Today we set aside our current curling news, and instead dedicate a few lines to those who are unable to be with us at this festive season owing to ill health.

Just a friendly thought—
Friendships casts a gleam of comfort
Far and deep into the gloom,
Like the lamplight in the window
Of a warm inviting room.
Keep the lovely lamps of friendship
Burning with a steady glow,
It will gladden, cheer and bless
In ways that you will never know.
Darkness falls on every roadway
Every day must have its night,
But they never walk alone
Who walk in friendship's kindly light.

Hockey Brass Unhappy At Nesterenko's Diet

TORONTO, Dec. 18 (CP). — Yogurt, grapes and apples—that's hockey player Eric Nesterenko's diet for energy, much to the unhappiness of Toronto's hockey brass.

The youthful right winger of Toronto Marlboros Ontario Hockey Association Junior A club being groomed for the jump to Toronto Maple Leafs, became a yogurt-grape-apple convert as a track man under coach Lloyd Percival. Underweight for hockey, he again took up the Percival-prescribed diet.

His weight went up, but not enough to convince Marlboro and Leaf officials that it was because of the new diet.

The brass objects that while the diet may be fine for a track man, it's no good for a hockey player with three tough games a week.

Eskimo Gate Receipts Total $280,822

EDMONTON, Dec. 18 (AP). — Edmonton Eskimos of the Western Provincial Football Conference today reputed gate receipts of $280,822 in the 1951 season.

A record $272,636 as paid out, leaving a profit of $8,186. Eskimos now have more than $36,000 in the bank—accumulated profits from two previous years.

This year players received $129,434 in salaries against $50,000 in 1949, and $80,000 in 1950.

EPL Opens Shortly

The East Peterborough Hockey League will open play on Dec. 28 with Lakefield at Warsaw, and St. Peter's at Keene. These four teams, along with either Millbrook or Bailieboro, comprise the loop for this season. Warsaw won out last season. Keene will be an Otonabee combined club. St. Peter's were given permission to enter the rural circuit for the first time. The schedule will be drawn up shortly.

SPORTS SHOW WINDOW

By CEC. PERDUE, Sports Editor

As the liveliest suburb of Greater Peterborough, we're glad to see Lakefield back in puck action. Though the club withdrew from the OHA lakeshore setup, players and folks in the village to the north of us will enjoy good hockey this snappy semester in the large Trent Valley League, ye ancient district puck circuit. It's divided into northern and southern groups, top teams later meeting for loop honors. There'll be lots of stirring struggles come January in Marmora, Stirling, Norwood, Hastings, Havelock and Lakefield, and with many Peterborough players involved here and there. Double schedule opens Jan. 2.

* * * * * *

An open TVL workout in the Lakefield rink at 7.30 tonight, with an invitation extended to Peterborough puckists not on OHA teams. Or if they can get a club release from OHA competition by Jan. 1, they're still eligible for TVL play. That will take care of Honey Tompkins and other capable puckists not performing for Eagles, Petes or the Oddfellows. The Lakefield coach this season, in a non-playing capacity, is Joe Blewett. A fine fellow and one of the better city and district senior "B" stars of fairly recent years, the speedy Joe would have been a real pro prospect had he not taken time out to help win a war. He knows his hockey. (A good tenor, too, on those long hockey hauls!).

* * * * * *

Vics And Triple Links

Kingston Vics tangle with the local Oddfellows at 8.30 here tomorrow eve. An OHA junior "B" joust which should attract many puck fans to Civic Arena. Last local showing of the Godfrey gang ere Christmas. Now, the IOOF-ers are plenty peeved at losing a lot of close decision lately and they're rarin' to go against the Vics and pull out a home victory to keep in the hot group race. Folks are sure to see a sizzling scrap as these husky youngsters dish up sustained speed and rugged action every time out. Just wish we had a bit of that energy they burn up every game. Golly! But we can't quite make the junior age limit anymore.

* * * * * *

Hawklets of Belleville were hotter than certain hinges last gloaming on their own big pond to dunk the Oddfellows 12-2. The Links were short four regulars, Roy Armstrong, Jack Kimball, Kevin Heffernan and Dick McCracken. Rest of the crew labored lustily but in a losing cause, as the Quinte crowd came up with some dashing hockey in every period. Twist scored from Bigford in the third, and Stewart then tallied from Robinson, for the only visiting counters. They fought right to the finish to earn plaudits from a slim gathering, their two goals in the third showing they didn't curl up under heavy shelling. IOOF-ers are at the bottom of the pile and finding the road rocky enough in this junior "B" race.

* * * * * *

And Many Stayed Away

About 150 men and women, and a dozen or two kids, braved the nippy weather—or had enough left over from Christmas shopping—to take in the senior "B" puck joust last eve at the southend arena. And they saw a pretty one-sided tilt, a 15-4 win for Petes o'er Kingston. Seldom have we seen the K's look so off. But it happens that the Ellis men were in good form, too so that made for the easy home victory. It put Petes alone on the top rung for the time being, though Wednesday could see some changes again. However, the Petes really rolled last p.m. and there was nothing to it after the first 10 minutes. Mason, Dugan, Garvey, Floyd, Wade, Fryia and Earl Leonard were all hefty snipers. Apart from the players, the only one warm down there was the goal judge lighting the lamp back of the Kingston cage.

Many a turkey must be viewing this coming weekend with some apprehension, but not The Turkey. Meaning veteran Turk Broda, former ace goalie with Maple Leafs. His club and friends are staging a "Broda Night" on Saturday at the Gardens in Toronto, and the fat man will receive a raft of gifts. Including a car, furniture, silverware, dishes, cash, etc. Yeah, Santa Claus is coming early for the Turk, always a popular guy. We don't begrudge him the honor and the loot, though it always struck us as a bit funny to see a flock of fans—average one earning maybe $3,500 a year—busting their necks to donate to some $12,000 athletic Star. Or a $100,000 beauty like DiMaggio or Williams.

Here And There In Sports

By The Canadian Press

Star rookie wingman Fred Hucul has been lost indefinitely because of a mysterious muscular disease affecting both legs, Chicago Black Hawks disclosed Monday.

Hucul, 20, from Eston, Sask., was one of the brighter National Hockey League prospects until the disease began to slow him three weeks ago.

A Black Hawk spokesman likened the ailment to "permanent charley horse."

Hucul has been advised that only rest will cure him.

Norman Hayes' young Boston Negro, made effective use of a left jab and speedier footwork to gain a split decision over Robert Villemain of France in a bruising 10-round feature boxing bout Monday night at the Boston Garden. Hayes weighed 163, a pound less than the former European middleweight titlist.

Johnny Greco, 150, Montreal veteran, stopped Alfred Lagrutta, 144½, of Milan, Italy, in 57 seconds of the third round with a right to the body.

At Edmonton, manager Al Anderson of Edmonton Eskimos of the Western Interprovincial Football Union said Monday night that the club expects quarterback Lindy Berry to return to Edmonton in January. Commenting on a Winnipeg report that Berry has enlisted in the United States army, Anderson said his information is that Berry obtained a deferment until next September.

At Miami, Fla., Charlie Burr, the 17-year-old freckle-faced jockey from Arkansas City, Kas., who has clinched the 1951 National riding title, notched his 296th winner of the year aboard Otto Blank's Deflation in the featured sixth event at Tropical Park Monday. Deflation paid $29.90, $9.40 and $4.10.

Rain, of all things, forced a basketball game at Sault Ste. Marie to be called at the end of the first half. The roof of the Sault technical school gymnasium began to leak badly from heavy snow. So much water poured on the floor that play became dangerous. Sault Ste. Marie Wildcats, leading Rogers City, Mich., 27-19 at halftime, were awarded the game.

Tommy Henrich is following his former Yankee teammate, Joe DiMaggio, into the television field. Henrich, a Yankee coach last season, has been signed to a long-term contract as a TV sportscaster by WJZ-TV, a New York station, it was announced Monday at New York. DiMaggio recently signed with the Yankees to do pre-game and post-game TV programs.

At Quebec, Dernando Gagnon, Canadian bantamweight champion, Monday night knocked out Joe Torres of Puerto Rico at 1:30 of the first round in a scheduled 10-round main event. Gagnon, at 117, gave away a half-pound to the former Puerto Rican bantamweight titleholder.

At St. Louis, Terry Moore, veteran of the St. Louis Cardinal organization, Monday became the first coach to be approved by new manager Eddie Stanky. The one-time great centrefielder with the Cards, Moore signed a one-year contract with owner Fred Saigh today.

At New York, Jack Dempsey Monday announced plans for an international new talent heavyweight tournament for novices. A series of regional champions will be crowned in three-round fights with 10 ounce gloves. The eventual winner will receive $25,000.

At Windsor, University of Western Ontario trimmed Assumption College Purple Raiders 68-45, in a college basketball game here Monday night.

Western, sparked by Bill Pataky, piled up a 17-3 early lead and had an easy time the rest of the way.

Quinte Junior Hawks Win Over a Shorthanded IOOF; Kingston Here Wednesday

Lloyd Doran's junior Hawks defeated a short-handed Oddfellow squad Monday night in Belleville to the tune of 12-2, before a small crowd who braved the cold to see the usually keen rivals perform. Due to illness, injury and unavoidable circumstances, the Peterborough club made the trip minus four regulars: hard-hitting Roy Armstrong and Jack Kimball, defencemen, as well as Kevin Heffernan and Dick McCracken, two speedy forwards.

Oddfellows hope to be at full strength however, when they meet Kingston at Civic Arena on Wednesday night.

Belleville took an early three-goal lead in the fast first period as play opened on hard ice and Bill Strahan, Hec Lalonde and Brown scored before three minutes had elapsed; two of these came with Links a man short. Play steadied down thereafter and no further scoring resulted as a fairly even frame came to a finish. Hawks served five penalties and played their usual rugged style in the opener and were strong defensively.

Had An Edge

Hawks held an edge in a rather ragged second stanza of play and led by Hec Lalonde, who fired three tallies, added five in all to their total, while Links were unable to dent Barclay's armor; thouh coach Godfrey juggled his lines frequently to find a payoff combination.

The final frame proved best of all from every standpoint, as Oddfellows came through with a thrilling finish, scored twice on neat goals by Bill Twist and Stewart and drew plaudits for a fine finish in a losing cause. Hawks registered four but play was fairly close. Starring for Belleville were Lalonde with four goals and an assist, Strahan with three markers and Jacklin a like number of assists as this line garnered an aggregate of 11 points; also Barclay who made many fine saves. The entire team looked well in a one-sided struggle. For Oddfellows the work of the entire team was praiseworthy, under the circumstances.

IOOF—Goal, Batley; defence, Clapper, Bigford; centre, Robinson; wings, Ferguson, Buckton; alts, Twist, Coyle, Stewart, Sullivan, Floyd, R. Wilson.

Belleville—Goal, Barclay; defence, B. Wilson, Green; centre, Lalonde; wings, Jacklin, Strahan; alts, Gilmour, DeGray, Carey, Houle, Therrien, Mason, Brown, Munroe.

Kennedy of Maple Leafs Takes Scoring Spotlight

MONTREAL, Dec. 18. (CP)—The National Hockey League spotlight shines this week on Toronto's Red Kennedy. The Leaf forward has racked up 11 goals and assisted on 18 others for a total of 29 points, one more than team-mate Sid Smith. His 11 goals are four off the pace set by Montreal's Maurice Richard and his 18 assists are two short of the present mark of 20, held by Canadiens' Elmer Lach.

Smith's 12-16 mark is two more than Lach's six goals and 20 assists. Then comes Richard with 15 goals and 10 assists for 25 points, one more than Don Raleigh of New York Rangers who has eight goals and 16 assists.

Gordie Howe of Detroit has 11 goals and a similar number of assists for 22 points.

Only Four Losses

The Wings still hold sway in the standings with only four losses. They have 41 points, eight more than Toronto and 15 up on Canadiens and Boston 26 points.

Goalkeepers Terry Sawchuk of the Wings has the best goals-against average, 1.64. Al Rollins of Toronto is next with 2.00.

Gus Kyle of Boston is the most penalized player with 61 minutes.

Toronto is the most penalized club with 286 minutes followed by Canadiens with 279 and Detroit 254.

Stoddard Keeps Scoring Lead

NEW YORK, Dec. 18 (CP). — Jack Stoddard, 25-year-old winger with Providence Reds, held the American Hockey League scoring leadership for the third week in a row, official figures showed today.

Through games of Sunday Stoddard, a native of Stoney Creek, Ont., playing his fifth season of pro hockey with Providence had 16 goals and 23 assists for 39 points.

Teammate Ray Powell was second with 38 points followed by Real Chevrefils of Hershey Bears with 37. Three players were tied for fourth, each with 32 points. They were Ab Demarco of Buffalo, last season's scoring champion, George Armstrong of Pittsburgh and Cliff Simpson of St. Louis.

In the goal-scoring department the leader was Armstrong with 18. Buddy O'Connor, ex-New York Ranger now with Cincinnati and Frank Mathers were tied for the most assists, 25.

Pete Durham of Indianapolis, led in penalties with 103.

Gil Mayer of Pittsburgh and Gordie Henry of Hershey were one-two in the goal-tending battle. Mayer had an average of 2.50 on 70 goals allowed in 28 games. Henry permitted 68 goals in 27 games for an average of 2.52.

Have 2 Groups In Trent Loop

BATAWA, Dec. 18.—Eleven and possibly 12 teams will take to the ice at the start of the New Year when the Trent Valley Hockey League commences another season of play.

Definite starters include Belleville, Trenton, Wellington, RCAF Station, Trenton, Frankford, Stirling, Marmora, Norwood, Havelock, Lakefield and Hastings.

The league is once again split into northern and southern divisions, Stirling, Marmora, Norwood, Havelock, Lakefield and Hastings will form the northern group with Belleville, RCAF Station, Trenton, Wellington, Frankford, Trenton, rounding out the southern group.

The top four teams in each division will enter the playoffs with each division declaring its own champion, before the winners clash for the league championship and the Thomas Bata memorial trophy. The championship was won last year by Peterborough Brintons, who downed the Trenton Taximen in the league finals.

To be eligible to perform with teams in the league, a player must be released by any OHA club he may have signed with this year and take part in no OHA games after Jan. 1, 1952.

Each division will play a double schedule within itself with games taking place on Mondays, Wednesdays and Fridays. The league plans to open on Wednesday, Jan. 2.

Turk Broda Night To Be Held Saturday

TORONTO, Dec. 18 (CP).—It's Turk Broda night this Saturday and it looks like an early Christmas for the roly-poly Toronto goaltender.

Gifts and donations for the pudgy Maple Leaf sub-goalie, his wife Betty and their three daughters have been piling up the last month.

With Boston Bruins providing the opposition for the Maple Leafs in the scheduled National Hockey League game, the presentations have been set for the intermission between the second and third periods.

The biggest gift will be a car.

Cobourg Comets Decide Stay In Lakeshore Group

COBOURG, Dec. 18.—Players of the Cobourg Comets hockey team Monday night rejected a proposal that they join the Trent Valley League and voted to remain in the OHA Intermediate "A" Lakeshore group.

Jack Skitch, club secretary, declared that the five-year-old OHA setup offered more security than a berth in the Trent Valley League.

The departure of players Coon Medhurst and Bun Flesch and the subsequent loss of four straight games had forced the Comets to consider withdrawing from the Lakeshore group. The Trent Valley League extended its application deadline while awaiting the result of Monday night's player meeting.

The players' decision undoubtedly will be well received by the other members of the Lakeshore group, who had been apprehensive about the loss of one of the group's three entries, Lindsay and Port Hope being the others.

May Get Concessions

Frank Buckland, Peterborough, convener for this OH district, said there was some hope that the OHA would make concessions to Cobourg to allow the Comets to sign more players. Possibly players from Trenton, where there is no OHA team, would be adequate.

Other than the security in the OHA, the players felt that the better publicity and better rinks were important factors.

Tom Casey, high scoring forward from Peterborough, will not join the Comets, despite word to this effect floating around town over the weekend. Casey was being negotiated with but the arrangements fell through and Casey will not be here.

It is possible that an Orono star may join the team soon but this cannot be done under present regulations, despite the fact the youngster worked out here at the start of the practice season.

McCormack Returns

MONTREAL, Dec. 18 (CP). — John (Goose) McCormack moved back to the National Hockey League Monday on an emergency call from Montreal Canadiens to replace the injured Kenny Mosdell. McCormack was sent to Buffalo Bisons of the American Hockey League several weeks ago for conditioning.

Chester Nichols Best Pitcher In 1951 League

NEW YORK, Dec. 18 (AP). — Chester Nichols, a 20-year-old rookie, was the National League's most effective pitcher in 1951 with an earned-run average of .288.

Official figures released today show that the Pawtucket, RI, youngster who saves them up for Boston Braves allowed 61 runs —only 50 of which were earned— in 156 innings. Chet completed 12 of 19 starts and fashioned three shutouts. He won 11 and lost eight.

Nichols shared the pitching spotlight with Elwin (Preacher) Roe, veteran Brooklyn southpaw, whose spectacular 22-3 mark gave him the highest won-and-lost percentage, .880.

Three hurlers were under the 3.00 earned-run average. Sal Maglie of New York Giants placed second with 2.93 and Warren Spahn, crafty Braves' southpaw, was third with 2.98.

Places Second

The 34-year-old Maglie placed second on a won-and-lost basis with a 23-6 record to tie teammate Jansen for the most victories. Jansen's 23-11 was fourth best. Third place went to Don Newcombe, big Brooklyn right-hander who won 20 and lost nine.

There were seven 20-game winners, the highest since 1923. The list included Maglie, Jansen, Roe, Spahn (22-14), Robin Roberts of the Phils (21-15), Newcombe and Murry Dickson, who notched a 20-16 record for the seventh-place Pittsburgh Pirates.

Cliff Chambers, 29-year-old lefthander traded by Pittsburgh to St. Louis in mid-season, pitched the only no-hitter, a 3-0 victory for the Pirates over the Braves May 6.

BC Development Makes Big Strides

By DAVE McINTOSH

VANCOUVER, Dec. 18 (CP)—"Staggering" is the word for British Columbia development.

Finance Minister Herbert Anscomb used that word the other day in saying that gross production in BC—now a good deal more than $1,000,000,000 a year—will eventually outstrip Ontario's and Quebec's.

The minister went on to say: "We are in a position today that BC's resources are in such demand that if a depression came elsewhere, it couldn't apply here because of the demand for those resources."

Big developments came thick and fast in 1951.

Aluminum Company of Canada started its $550,000,000 project in the northern wilderness. First step was construction of a diversion tunnel to carry the Nechako river around the site where a power dam will be built.

The dam, when completed, will back up lakes and rivers against the eastern face of the coast range. Work has started on a tunnel through the mountains which will build up a powerhead for a hydro-electric plant. Transmission lines will carry the power 50 miles over the mountains to Tidewater, where the aluminum plant will be built.

It will be another three years before aluminum production starts.

Huge Power Plant

Consolidated Mining and Smelting Company at Trail started preliminary work on a $30,000,000 hydro-electric plant on the Pend D'Oreille river, 12 miles from Trail.

Brought into production this year were a $35,000,000 cellulose plant near Prince Rupert, a $19,000,000 sulphate mill near Nanaimo on Vancouver Island.

Still under construction is a $40,000,000 newsprint mill at Duncan Bay on Vancouver Island. This month the two companies building the mill announced a new $21,000,000 pulp plant is planned for the same area. Another $11,000,000 is being spent for newsprint plant expansion at Powell River.

Other Wells Drilled

On Nov. 1, the first oil was discovered in BC, near Fort St. John in the Peace River district. Other wells are being drilled.

A few weeks later, Premier Byron Johnson said Trans-Mountain Oil Pipe Line Company, subject to approval of the Board of Transport Commissioners, will build a 693-mile pipe line from Edmonton to Vancouver. It will cost $82,000,000 and be completed by the end of 1953.

Vancouver refineries are planning to increase plant capacities.

Besides the dam, Consolidated started spending $35, 000,000 for plant expansion as the world demand for base metals and chemicals increased. The company, biggest lead-zinc-chemicals producer in the world, appeared ready to start a basic steel industry in BC.

Railway Extension

Extension of the Pacific Great Eastern Railway to Prince George continued. The work is expected to be completed by next spring. At the same time, the new Hart Highway connecting Prince George with the Peace river district was almost ready to take traffic.

Cellulose Company of BC, builders of the Prince Rupert plant, were reported about to start a $75,000,000 pulp project in the interior Kootenays.

Twelve new base metals mills are being built and old mines were re-opened during the year.

Preliminary estimates show that all records were smashed in the four basic industries—forestry, mining, agriculture and fishing.

Forest production last year was worth $468,000,000. This year the figure will be around $525,000,000. Total value of the four industries will approach $935,000,000 compared to $821,745,000 in 1950.

Also up were construction contracts, electric power consumption, gasoline consumption, salaries and wages, car loadings, bank clearings and retail sales.

Millions of dollars were thrown into the harnessing of water power by Alcan, BC Electric Company, Consolidated and the BC Power Commission.

MAIN STREET TOPICS

WRESTLING CANCELLED

Owing to stormy weather conditions, tonight's wrestling card at the Brock has been cancelled.

CITY'S OWN TREE

For its first Christmas, the city hall will have a tall evergreen of its own. It is being placed at the corner of Murray and George Sts. and when complete in its festal adornment should dominate those wide open spaces from the Court House to the Collegiate.

STORES OPEN TO 9 PM

Retail stores will stay open until 9 pm Thursday, Friday and Saturday this week. They will also be open Wednesday afternoon, Monday, the day before Christmas will be a normal day for them, but they will be closed Wednesday, Boxing Day, as well as on Christmas day of course.

CHRISTMAS CAROLLER

The Department of Health staff in the city hall were visited by one lone Christmas caroller today. Neil MacPherson four-year-old son of R. M. MacPherson, sanitary inspector, serenaded the staff with Rudolph the Red Nosed Reindeer.

BAGS TWO WOLVES

Donald Sharpe, Warsaw, made $50 last week and had plenty of sport doing it. He shot two wolves in Dummer township, south of Cottesloe. He was accompanied on the hunt by Clarence Tedford, Warsaw, and was running them with dogs. The bounty on wolves is $25.

HIT IN TRAFFIC

One front fender and the grill of a car driven by A. E. Stoneburgh, 371 Armstrong Dr., were damaged Monday evening when Stoneburgh's car skidded into the rear of another car driven by Francis J. Cowan of RR 1, Orono. Constable Gerald Emmons, directing traffic at Charlotte and Reid Sts., had signalled Cowan who was driving west on Charlotte St. to stop. Stoneburg was following Cowan and was unable to stop before striking the rear of the car ahead.

SLIDES INTO TRUCK

The entire right side of a car driven by Christopher Ketchum, of Port Hope was damaged to the extent of approximately $400 when it slid into the rear of a truck driven by Elwood Grahame, 636 Union St., Monday afternoon. The truck was stopped, facing west, for the traffic light at Lansdowne and Park Sts. Ketchum told Constable Cecil Bowyer that he was unable to stop before skidding into the truck because of the ice on the street surface.

VANDALS IN WEST END

A Gilmour St. resident spent part of Monday afternoon decorating an evergreen tree in front of his house with special strings of lights for the Christmas season. When he had finished it looked a remarkably fine job. But alas he went down town and when he returned after dark many of the electric bulbs were stolen. Disgusted he took the remaining bulbs from the tree. His warning to westenders is not to try and decorate trees outside this Christmas season. Identity of the boys, it was said this morning, had been established and it is hoped that they will be men enough to return the lights.

ABOUT $5,000 DAMAGE was caused the Parkhill elementary school in the wartime housing district on Wolsley St., Monday afternoon at 4:45. It was the first of two serious fires within two hours. Children of the four-room school had a holiday today. Defective thermostat on the furnace caused the heating duct to become overheated. Most of the damage was along the ceiling (as shown in photo). The path of the fire is charted by the dotted line as the flames licked through the duct.—(Examiner Staff Photo)

Milder Weather Brings Snow, Three Inches Fall

You can have it either clear, but cold or milder, but snowing. That's your choice.

Today at noon the temperature had climbed up to 16 above zero and it seemed almost mild to citizens who Monday and for two days previously had been nipped by zero and below-zero weather.

But it was snow all morning. Weather Recorder James Harrison reported that one-and-a-half inches of snow had fallen in the 24 hours previously. From 9 am to noon another one-and-three-quarters had fallen.

Provincial Police reported that there were no accidents as a result of the snow on the highways up until press time, but falling snow had definitely slowed down traffic.

Wednesday citizens can expect clear skies again, but it is going to be colder. The lowest temperature Monday night was three above zero.

Other parts of Canada had widely different thermometer readings. In Vancouver on the west coast, the temperature was at a balmy 41 maximum.

But in White River, it skidded down to 30 below during the night and at Kapuskasing it was 35 below. Moncton and Halifax recorded minimums and maximums of 14 and 19 above.

Fire Destroys Dress Shop

Fire early Monday night gutted the Wiseman Fashion Shop, 432 George St. N., causing thousands of dollars of damage, and making two upstairs residents temporarily homeless. Nine other residents in an apartment to the south were smoked out for a while, but all were able to return by about 10 pm. Nobody was injured. William Wiseman, proprietor of the store, said he was unable to give an estimate of damage at the present time. The building is owned by Mrs. Rae Green, who lives in an apartment directly over the store, with her son, Dr. Ralph Green, a dentist.

Cause of the fire is not yet known. It is believed to have started at the rear of the store and quickly worked its way two ways—back into an office annex and forward into the main section of the store.

Thick Smoke

When firemen got there thick, black smoke was pouring out of the building and the whole interior was ablaze.

Spectators quickly assembled and jammed the west sidewalk of George St. between Brock and Hunter Sts. Most of them saw flames only a few times. The chief spectacle was clouds of smoke issuing from all three storeys of the building, temporarily eclipsing firemen from view as they stood on ladders and played water into the inside.

The alarm was turned in at 7.13 by Dr. Ralph Green. Dr. Green smelled smoke in the second-storey apartment he shares with his mother.

"I started down the stairs leading to the street and could hardly see my way," said Dr. Green "Then I found the light switch and put it on and my mother was able to see her way all right as she came down the stairs."

He ran a few stores north to the Downyflake Coffee Shop and turned in the fire alarm.

Firemen played hoses on both back and front of the store. But so thick was the smoke that they could not get through to meet each other until an hour after the alarm was turned in.

Building Threatened

At one time it looked as though the whole building would be destroyed. Firemen however prevented the flames from breaking out in the second storey where the Greens have their apartment. The third storey is empty.

Police co-operated with firemen by roping off the roadway so the spectators were kept on the west side of the street.

Two ambulances were standing by in case anybody was injured or overcome by smoke.

The only smoke casualty was Hamilton D. Hutchinson who lives in Apartment 1, 426½ George St., in the apartment immediately south of the burning store.

"At first I thought the smoke was coming from my own stove," Mr. Hutchinson said. "Then I saw it was coming through the baseboards and when I looked out of the west window: Whoosh! it was just billowing up."

Became Groggy

Mr. Hutchinson got together a few good clothes and keepsakes and took them out for safety sake. At this stage the smoke was so thick he could hardly make his way about the apartment. A couple of similar trips made him groggy and he collapsed briefly after once more coming out into the fresh air and crossing the street.

His son, Clifford Hutchinson, was also forced to leave the apartment. Both returned shortly after 10 p.m. and slept the night there.

Miss Eleanor West was forced out of her apartment. Mrs. Edith McLaren, who lives with her son in the third storey at 426½, left briefly but came back and remained there, keeping her windows open.

Mrs. McLaren was burned out of her apartment two winters ago.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Byrd and their two sons Ray and Jack, (occupying Mrs. McLaren's old apartment) were also able to remain though the smoke was bad.

The Hutchinson apartment was the most seriously damaged by smoke but all of the tenants at 426½ had some smoke damage

Shambles In Store

Chief loss will be to the Wiseman store which is today a blackened mass of tattered women's clothing, empty racks (only the metal crossbars and hangers remaining), charred wood and glass from demolished show cases.

No estimate has been placed on the loss to the Greens. It will be confined to heavy smoke and water damage. Water was poured into all three storeys.

Fire walls helped prevent the fire from spreading north or south. Ingram Shoe Repair, to the south, received some smoke and water damage.

To the north, Rogow's Ladies' Wear, also received heavy smoke damage. Joseph Rogow, proprietor, said he probably had about $6,000 worth of stock but he couldn't say what his loss will be.

Smashed Fence Driver Charged

After the car he was driving went out of control at George and Antrim streets Monday night and sent two garbage cans flying, bounced over the curb and smashed into a wooden fence, John J. Finn, 647 George St., was charged with speeding and careless driving.

In police court today, Crown Attorney John A. Bradshaw asked that both charges be adjourned without Finn entering a plea, until December 20.

Two cars, one driven by Finn, passed Constable Donald Mackay as he was driving north on George St., about 11:30 pm.

At Antrim St., the car Finn was driving went into a spin, turned around, straightened out, then went over the west curb and ended up against a wooden fence owned by Edward Reid, 709 George St.

Finn was taken to the police station by Constable William A. Scott and Acting Patrol Sergeant Gordon Trennum and later released to appear in court today and face the two charges.

Rush Of Mail Worse Than Ever

Out-Going Letters 12 Hours Behind Letter Boxes Jammed

The Peterborough Christmas mail rush was described as "worse than ever" today by postmaster, Harry White, as the post office handled 180,000 cards and letters on Monday and more are expected to be handled today.

The mail is being rushed through as fast as possible and so far the incoming mail has been kept up-to-date, cleaned up promptly, but the out-going mail is about 12 hours behind.

Today at 11:30 am more than 150,000 cards and letters waited to be sorted and stamped. The street letter boxes were jammed full well before the pickup hours and extra trips were made to keep the boxes clear.

The stamp situation is becoming serious but more have been ordered to fill demand. This year the office ordered 500,000 two-cent stamps; this pile has been whittled down to 100,000 today.

Long Lineups

The long lineups at stamp wickets, extras opened again this year to handle the rush, discouraged a number of people buying stamps at the regular office. These people turned to the sub-offices who are selling out rapidly. Now customers are returning to line up at the post office.

The parcel situation is also worse than last year as 100 bags, a pile about 15 to 20 feet high, jammed the office today. Besides these out-going parcels there were the city delivery parcels at the armouries where a sub-office has been opened in the gun room.

"I thought the peak was Monday but I think today's will beat it, looking at the pileup downstairs," said Mr. White.

179,300 Peak

Monday's 179,300 cards and letters surpassed any of the peak days for the past three years and it was almost double the mail handled Sunday, 90,600.

To date in the rush the post office is more than 80,000 cards and letters ahead of last year. For the same eight-day period last year the sorters and carriers worked through 432,000 cards and letters as compared with 516,500 this year.

The workers fully expect the load to jump over the 1,000,000 before Christmas day.

To handle the mail the post office now has more than 100 extra workers, these men sorting mail, assisting carriers, working with the parcels, driving trucks and other rush jobs.

The daily totals this year for cards and letters are; Dec. 10, 23,400; Dec. 11, 24,100; Dec. 12, 27,300; Dec. 13, 43,800; Dec. 14, 60,300; Dec. 15, 87,700; Dec. 16, 90,600; Dec. 17, 179,300.

Pass Tests At Oshawa

Six skaters from the Peterborough Figure Skating Club passed silver and bronze tests at Oshawa, Sunday.

Miss Jaqueline Hopkins and Miss Joan Begley were passed in the silver dance test by judges of the Canadian Figure Skating Association. To pass this test a skater has to perform five different dances.

The bronze dance test of three dances was passed by Miss Lona Martin, Miss Gaynor Galoska, Miss Dorothy Kingston and Miss Dorothy Martin.

Nobody's Safe

Nobody's safe these days. Mr. and Mrs. Harold Mesley, 499 Murray St., left their grey car in front of the Club Aragon Saturday night. After the dance, they found a deep dent in the right front fender. Maroon paint from another car had rubbed off on the Mesley auto. Harold Mesley, of course, is an acting sergeant with the city police force.

Three Calls Keep Firemen Busy

Firemen had a rough time on Monday. They had three calls—two of them serious—in slightly more than two hours. At 4.45 p.m. they went to Park Hill school Wolseley St., where a hole had to be cut in the roof and the hot air duct ripped out before the fire was extinguished.

They returned to the fire hall and started loading hose and getting the rigs serviceable again before going to supper. At 6.37 p.m. an alarm flashed in from Eaton's, Charlotte St. So they dashed off for the second time, only to find that the trouble was a frozen sprinkler valve.

Once again they returned to the firehall to get the rigs serviceable. Some of the boys were beginning to get pretty hungry by now. It so happened they had to go a whole lot hungrier, because at 7.13 p.m. they received their third call: the outbreak at the Wiseman Fashion Shop, George St. The upshot was that Chief George Smith and some of the brigade didn't get anything to eat until after 10 p.m.

Says Jeep Still Sparton Chariot More Humane

By DOUGLAS HOW

WITH THE CANADIANS IN GERMANY, Dec. 18. (CP) — A jeep is a jeep is a jeep, as Gertrude Stein might have said, particularly after a jeep ride, and the new jeeps are just as guilty as the old ones. But they are at least jeeps with humane and heartening differences.

The new version is coming into use with the 27th Brigade and is stimulating considerable comment as well as profanely-fond recollections, particularly among that elderly element which survived the sweetness and blight of this form of transportation in the last war.

The new jeep may be said to have more distinction, more power, more gadgets, more versatility and—undoubtedly out of a guilty conscience—more comforts than its predecessor.

Essentially Same

It remains, however, essentially the same unabashed and indelicate vehicle, the same old get-up-and-go, hell-for-leather creature which defied hills, fields, crags and human denunciations to make a profound contribution to both the winning and the suffering of the Second World War.

Its improvements are both numerous and varied. Its motor purrs with enormous self-satisfaction, reminding one of a dead-end kid engaged in the arts of wilful deception. It handles better. It isn't so cramped inside. Its technical improvements are extensive.

Matter of Wonder

But, at least from the standpoint of its relationship to mankind, one wonders at the advisability of broadening the jeep's powers of atrocity to take in such features as complete imersion of its engine in water without harm and the ability to scale a 75-degree slope.

To balance these, however, are at least two advancements of the most excellent merit, as anyone will see who has bounced and cussed and half-perished, raw with wind and dust and backside callouses, across the Europe of the war years.

One is the new, rubber-cushioned seat, indeed a tender and a sympathetic heir to an egregious predecessor. The other consists of the protective and windowed sides which are buttoned on to shield the inhabitant from the elements.

Progress of this sort will be greeted by the majority without the slightest regret at signs of mellowing in the jeep's Spartan character. But not by everybody, for there still remain those who are loyal to a rugged past when neigther jeep nor man asked for or gave quarter.

Brig. Geoffrey Walsh, for instance. First thing he did when he got his new jeep was to have the new-fangled sides stripped off.

CRUISER REALLY "CRUISES"—A California Highway Patrol cruiser "draws" about 18 inches of water on a trip through San Rafael during the height of a rainstorm that battered northern California. A little more water and the police would have had to switch to boats.

Best Picture

NEW YORK, Dec. 18 (AP) — "A Place In The Sun" was chosen Monday as the best moving picture of 1951 by the National Board of Review of Motion Pictures. The board judged Jan Sterling's performance in "The Big Carnival" as the best female acting of the year and Richard Basehart's in "Fourteen Hours" as the best male acting.

Invalid Suffocates

SMITHS FALLS, Ont., Dec. 18 (CP)—Albert Hunter, a semi-invalid, was suffocated by smoke Monday night in his second-storey bedroom when fire swept through a grocery store on the ground floor of the stone building. Mrs. Hunter and her sister, Mrs. Leslie Taggart, owner of the grocery store, escaped with the help of firemen.

Boxing Day Holiday

TORONTO, Dec. 18 (CP) — City council Monday night decided to proclaim Dec. 26—Boxing Day—a civic holiday in spite of a request from the Board of Trade against it. The board said that 75 per cent of its members were closing Monday, Dec. 24, instead.

Conservation Group

TORONTO, Dec. 18 (CP) — A new organization to co-ordinate all conservation activities in Ontario was formed Sunday night and named the Conservation Council of Ontario. Frank Kortright, president of the Toronto Anglers and Hunters Association, was elected president.

BREAK THE LAXATIVE HABIT THIS PROVEN WAY

If you take laxatives regularly, here is how you can stop! This proven plan helps you establish your natural powers of regularity, controlled tests prove.

Stop taking whatever you now take. Instead, every night for one week take two Carter's Little Liver Pills. Second week—one each night. Third week—one every other night. Then nothing! Every day drink eight glasses of water; set a definite time for regularity. This plan was proven in scientifically controlled tests.

How can a laxative break the laxative habit? Because Carter's unblock the lower digestive tract and from then on let it make use of its own natural powers. Further, Carter's contain no habit forming drugs. Break the laxative habit with Carter's . . . be regular naturally.

When worry, overwork, overeating make you irregular temporarily—take Carter's temporarily. Never get the laxative habit.

Get mild, gentle Carter's Little Liver Pills at any drug store. Only 35c. You'll be grateful the rest of your life.

Major RCN Role Will Be Anti-Sub Work

OTTAWA, Dec. 18 — (CP) — Major role of the Royal Canadian Navy under the North Atlantic Treaty Organization is anti-submarine warfare, Vice-Admiral E. R. Mainguy said Monday.

The admiral, who this month took over command of the RCN and who two years ago wrote the "Mainguy Report" on the Navy's internal problems, said at a conference in the parliamentary press gallery that he, as chief of the naval staff, is "against" any RCN activity or development which does not have to do with anti-submarine work or the defence of harbors.

The admiral said in a speech that there was no reason why Canada should not become the anti-sub authority of the Allied powers.

At Monday's conference, he said Canada's naval role had been discussed at NATO conferences, and it was generally considered that Canada's main responsibility is anti-submarine work.

He also said that the navy, now about 12,000 strong, plans to expand to about 21,000, and that the pace will be geared with the production of 14 anti-submarine escort vessels.

Reviews Plans

Reviewing the navy's needs and plans for 1952, the admiral said:

1. The navy will seek to borrow submarines from either Britain or the United States and carry out exercises with anti-sub escort vessels and the carrier Magnificent and her aircraft, preferably with forces of other NATO nations and similar to exercises conducted in the Mediterranean this year.

2. More exercises will be carried out on minesweeping operations as the navy gets delivery of new minesweepers with a view to studying the most up-to-date form of port defence.

3. Shipbuilding programs started in previous years will bring fruit, with four more of the new anti-sub escort vessels being launched and the coastal minesweeper program of 14 vessels being completed. In addition, the navy's Arctic patrol vessel HMCS Labrador will be completed. Equipped with helicopters, it is the first ship of its type to be ordered by the RCN, and will be used as part of a navy plan "to know more about the north."

4. In addition, a number of small auxiliary craft are being completed, and older ships are being "modernized" in line with the anti-sub policy.

5. HMCS Quebec will be commissioned early in the New Year as Canada's second cruiser, mainly for training purposes. The other cruiser, HMCS Ontario, will continue to be used at Esquimalt, BC, and also used for training.

Quash Conviction

TORONTO, Dec. 18 — (CP) — Ontario Court of Appeals Monday quashed a conviction against Mrs. Lilly Komisarchuk, of Ottawa, for selling advance tickets, which included daily draws for automobiles, to the Central Canada Exhibition. Mrs. Komisarchuk was fined $25 Nov. 6 in the test case. The Appeal Court quashed the fine and conviction on the grounds that the Crown had failed to prove there was actually a draw or how the car awards were determined.

Canadian Farm Income To Set Record

By FORBES RHUDE
Canadian Press Business Editor

Items from here and there:

The current monthly review of the Bank of Nova Scotia says that Canadian cash farm income this year will be a record, probably at least 20 per cent above last year's estimate of $2,237,000,000.

While giving a generally-optimistic picture, the Review sees the possibilities of problems in marketing of lower grades of wheat if crops next year should be good, both in Canada and other exporting countries.

Photographic Survey Corporation, Ltd., Toronto, announces an associate company has been formed in Brazil, and that the Brazilian company will draw upon Canadian services, instruments and technicians for forestry, geology and geophysical assignments.

John M. Merriman, formerly of Brantford and Toronto, has been appointed first executive secretary of the Textile Federation of Canada, with headquarters in Montreal. The Federation was formed 13 years ago and has some 1,000 members.

Quebec Iron and Titanium Corporation and Canadian Liquid Air Company announce that they have devloped a new method of removing sulphur, "the most objectionable impurity in steelmaking." The announcement adds:

"Representing an entirely new metallurgical application, this desulphurizing technique undoubtedly will influence production procedures wherever steel is made."

Pioneer Gold Mines of British Columbia, Ltd., announces it has decided not to sell gold on the open market. It adds: "The uncertainty of the price and of the volume that could be sold at an advanced price under existing regulations, makes it advisable to sell in the usual way and accept such assistance as may be due under the Emergency Gold Mining Assistance Act."

Former Star Back On Screen After 15 Yrs.

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD, Dec. 18 (AP)—A former film star is returning to the screen after a 15-year absence, but she is no grey-haired old-timer.

The returnee is Mitzi Green, a veteran of 25 years in show business but a youthful 31.

Twenty years ago she played Becky Thatcher opposite Jackie Coogan's Tom Sawyer, and cavorted with Wheeler and Woolsey in "Girl Crazy."

Mitzi, now the mother of three children, is acting as one of the foils for Abbott and Costello in another of their far-flung epics, "Lost in Alaska."

A Little Jumpy

"Naturally, I felt a little jumpy about doing a picture after 15 years away," she remarked. "When I arrived on the set, Jean Yarbrough, the director, suggested that I run through the scene. I went through it breezily, but I thought I heard a noise like a camera running. When I got through, Jean said 'cut.' I had done my first scene and did not know it."

Since then she has been getting along swimmingly.

Mitzi, the daughter of a vaudeville team, was entertaining backstage at four. It wasn't long before she was doing her stuff onstage. She got her break in pictures in 1929, at the age of eight.

Since 1936 she has been in Broadway shows, vaudeville and night club work.

ALL THE COMFORTS—It looks like a soft life for G.I.'s of the 28th Infantry Division at their new station in Geoppingen, Germany. The Yanks, recently arrived in Europe, are seen unloading overstuffed furniture from a truck at their new permanent quarters.

Canadian Troops Receive Fine Support From Tanks

By BILL BOSS.

WITH THE CANADIANS IN KOREA, Dec. 18—(CP).—George Thwaites squinted critically along his tank's 50-calibre machine-gun.

It swung freely under his grip and as it pivotted from side to side its sights covered known Chinese positions on the hills 2,000 to 4,000 yards ahead.

It and the tank's 87-millimetre gun had accounted for plenty of Chinese in the seven months they had been fired in anger by Sgt. Thwaites of Charlton, Ont., and his crew.

The tank from a troop of the Lord Strathcona's Horse commanded by Lieut. Strathcona Macdonald of Vankleek Hill, Ont., was perched on a hilltop of the United Nations' front. It was one of "D" Troop, supporting the 1st Battalion Princess Patricia's Canadian Light Infantry dug into the forward slopes of the hill.

Thwaite's Sherman, named "Cognac," a few days earlier had accomplished the best shoot in her Korean career—a share in a known 160 Chinese dead and a whole platoon of 36 Chinese Communists attributed to her.

Do Their Best

Now the ground war had pulled to a halt and UN troops were ordered to fire only on seen enemy.

"And that, at least, we do—we shoot up every damn thing that moves," he said.

The day before they had silenced an enemy self-propelled gun that had peppered their sandbagged tank. Two days before they had killed six Chinese spotted on a ridgetop 4,000 yards away carrying ammunition.

In civilian life a gold miner in Northern Ontario and Quebec, Thwaites was an officer during the Second World War when he served with the Armored Corps and the Provost Corps. He resigned his commission to join the Korean force.

"Most people said this would be no country for tanks," he says.

"Before we arrived people did not leave the roads with their tanks. We were the first, it seems, to go into the hills with the infantry and cover them in action there.

"This isn't ideal tank country—it's first and second gear driving all the time, and if it happens to rain you just have to stay put. You've got to co-ordinate with the weather here. But we do get there, and stay there.

Summer Cinch

"I guess our real actions have been during the last two months. Last summer was a cinch, just patrolling. But since we've been in this position we've beat off three Chinese attacks. We supported the Vandoos (the 2nd Battalion Royal 22nd Regiment) when the Chinese tried to force them off the saddle between Hills 227 and 355. If the Communists had done that they'd have cut off quite a sector of this front.

"But really, they painted Korea much worse than it really was, as far as fighting is concerned.

"Yet as far as soldiering is concerned it's been much worse.

"For troops out of the line there is no distraction whatever. There are no towns to go to, there is no night life, in fact there is little difference between being up here and bunkered beside your tank and being back 'resting' in a rear area. I'd much rather be here.

"That's why most fellows say six months here are tougher than three years in Europe during the war."

Vote Recount

KENORA, Dec. 18 (CP) — A vote recount in the Kenora constituency, ordered after the Ontario provincial election, shows Albert Wren, Liberal-Labor candidate, elected by 133 votes. Figures issued yesterday by County Judge E. C. Popham gave Mr. Wren 4,776 votes, J. V. Fregeau, Progressive Conservative candidate, 4,633; and A. R. Nascough, CCF, 1,541. Mr. Wren previously held a lead of 144 votes. The recount was asked by Mr. Fregeau.

Rotary Club Entertains Wives At Christmas Party

The Peterborough Rotary Club entertained the Rotary Anns and guests at their annual Christmas party held in the Kawartha Room of the Empress Hotel Monday night. Approximately 195 enjoyed the turkey dinner and the evening's entertainment.

President Syd Black and Mrs. Black and directors of the club were seated at the head table, which was beautifully decorated in the Rotary colors of blue and gold with evergreen boughs, candles and 'mums. Mr. Black welcomed the Rotary Anns and guests and introduced all sitting at the head table.

A beautiful Christmas story, The Littlest Cherub, which had been recorded earlier by the Rev. Ivan Morgan of Murray Street Baptist Church, was presented.

Special musical entertainment was provided by Mrs. Gordon Dunlap of Cobourg, vocal soloist, who sang Prelude, All Through the Night, My Heart Is Singing, Strange Music, Vienna, City of Dreams, and Little Lord Jesus.

The Rotary music team of Stanley Northrop and Charles Allen played the following piano and organ selections, Rendez-Vous, March of the Toys, Fiddle-Faddle, Sleigh Ride, March of the Wooden Soldiers, and Santa Claus Express.

Mr. Northrop and Mr. Allen, assisted by Ward Smith, accordionist, also accompanied carol singing during the dinner.

The highlight of the evening was a puppet show, sponsored by the Public Library and presented by Mrs. J. R. Henderson and Mrs. Peter Tuck of the branch library.

The show included a Christmas play based on the well-known story, Three Wishes, which was brightened by several quips about Rotary members. The show also included puppet dancers and singers.

The evening came to a close with the entry of Santa Claus (Dr. R. A. Kelly, MOH), who gave gifts to all the ladies present. Charles Forsyth was master of ceremonies for the program.

District Points See St. Nick

MARMORA, Dec. 18 (ENS) — The annual Santa Claus parade was held Saturday afternoon for the children of Marmora and Deloro district under sponsorship of Marmora district Chamber of Commerce, Deloro Branch of International Union Mine, Mill and Smelter Workers, and Marmora Canadian Legion.

At 2 p.m. about 600 children attended a picture show at the Plaza Theatre.

As they left the theatre, they were each presented with a bag of candy by Santa Claus. About an hour earlier, children in arms numbering about 100, received a similar treat at the town hall. The event was well handled by a committee representing the three organizations responsible for it.

✧ ✧ ✧

WARKWORTH, Dec. 18, (ENS) —The Santa Claus parade under the auspices of the Warkworth Legion and the Business Men's Association was held Saturday.

Although the weather was cold a large crowd gathered at the town hall, where the Warkworth band played several Christmas selections, under the direction of their new leader, Morris Bell of Stirling.

The clowns joined in with Santa and the three little pigs, the big bad wolf, etc., in a frolic as the band played and the crowd assembled.

As four hundred children passed in line on the stage platform, Santa handed them each a bag containing candy, nuts and oranges, during which time records of Christmas music were played.

BANCROFT, Dec. 18 (ENS) — A crowd of over 4,000 people attended the Bancroft Lions Club Santa Claus parade in Bancroft on Saturday afternoon, despite a biting wind, a below-zero temperature and a miniature blizzard during the previous evening.

Three minutes before the parade swung around the corner of Station Road and Hastings Street there was just a good Saturday afternoon crowd to be seen, but hundreds of cars lined the route. Then in less time than it would take to recite the names of Santa's reindeer, from every car came from three to eight people, and from every store came children and adults by the score. As over 1,400 bags of candy were distributed, parade officials estimated that there were at least 2,800 adults in town for the event.

First, we must mention the band, as parades in Bancroft are usually bandless. It was only a three-man affair, but they played unceasingly with plenty of gusto and rhythm, and provided the necessary zip for the High School cadets who headed the procession. The bandsmen were Kenneth Bowser, trumpet and leader, Elwood Vardy, cornet, and Kenneth Parnell, drummer.

Leading the affair was the army cadet corps from North Hastings High School, under the command of Cadet Major Fred Ayers. About 50 boys, wearing regulation uniforms but without greatcoats, led by two flagbearers, marched in column of route and appeared to be unaware of the polar weather.

The majority of the floats portrayed the characters from fairyland and the nursery rhymes, but there were some entered by Bancroft fire department, the Ontario Department of Highways and many local organizations, merchants, lumbermen and tourist operators. And, of course, on the biggest and highest float was Santa Claus.

After going twice around the block bounded by Bridge, Sherbourne, Station and Hastings Streets, Santa Claus came to a platform in front of the Community Hall where he was officially welcomed by Reeve Theodore Tryon. Then with the assistance of a number of clowns, he passed bags of candles to every boy and girl.

The afternoon was completed by two free shows, one in Bancroft Theatre and another in the Community Hall. Using a shuttle system, the boys and girls were able to see both sets of pictures, as both places ran their pictures twice. During the proceedings at Bancroft Theatre a number of lucky youngsters were awarded cash "seat prizes," given by a local garage.

In charge of the afternoon parade and its added features was a committee of Bancroft Lions, headed by Jack Follis, who also was the capable master of ceremonies. Everett Schram was the chairman of the float committee. Probably frigid conditions helped for Corporal Archie Grayling of the Bancroft detachment of the OPP, aided by Constables Lloyd and Hawkins of town, Bert Howden of Apsley and Chief Creighton of the municipal police, had an exceptionally easy group to handle.

OMEMEE, Dec. 18 (ENS). — Santa Claus visited Omemee on Saturday afternoon and attended the Christmas party given in Coronation Hall by Omemee businessmen and women for the children of Omemee and district. Hundreds of boys and girls gave Santa a rousing welcome when he arrived a half hour later than scheduled.

The main feature of the program following was an amateur contest among the schools, each ungraded country school and each room in the Omemee public school being allowed to make one entry only. Entered in the contest was SS No. 1, Cavan, No. 3 Emily, No. 5 Emily, No. 8 Emily and No. 9 Ops and in Omemee rooms taught by Principal L. M. Curtis, Miss M. Rea, Miss D. Jones and Miss J. Lamb. Judges were Mrs. Margaret Rich, Mrs. S. Northey and Mrs. L. McQuade.

No. 1 Cavan won first place with "Silent Night" sung as a trio by Ann Pelling, Mary Dewan and Mary Salter, accompanied on the piano by Donna Hayes. The award was $10 for their school and $5 to be divided among the four girls. Elvin Connell took second prize, singing "Rudolph the Red-nosed Reindeer," unaccompanied. He won $6 for No. 9 Ops and $3 for himself.

Mr. Curtis' room came third with a duet by Elaine Rawlins and Verna Zufelt, accompanied by Jeanette Rich. Again the song was "Silent Night." They got $4 for their room and $2 for themselves.

Piano solos were played by Martha Courtney for SS No. 3 Emily, playing "Ballet on Skates" and Dorothy Kennedy for No. 5 playing "Away in a Manger." Ruby and Joyce Portsmith from No. 8 Emily, accompanied by their teacher Mrs. Whitehouse, made a good job of singing "She Taught Me To Yodel." "Black Sambo" sung by Miss Rea's pupils, Gerald Nelson, Darlene Nelson and Katherine Bannon, in costume, and accompanied by Miss Joan Whitmore, was much enjoyed; and "Christmas Eve Magic" was a splendid demonstration of unison reciting by Marilyn McQuade, Judy Whetong and John Green from Miss Jones' room. Miss Lamb's room was represented by little Rollin and David Richmond singing "I'm Happy" in a dialect of East Africa where they were born. They were accompanied by their father, the Rev. C. Richmond.

Each contestant in all the entries received a box of chocolates. While waiting for the judges' decision, Mr. Weir led in singing Christmas songs and carols with Miss Whitmore accompanying, and Mr. Richmond entertained with comic recitations.

Mrs. McQuade conveyed the judges' decision and the presentations were made by N. Toland.

In City 4 Months Dutch Couple Wed At St. Paul's

The marriage took olace in St. Paul's Presbyterian Church on Saturday, December 15th, of Wilhelmina Vaneck, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Pieter Vaneck of Holland, and Johannus Jacobus Overvliet, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. Overvliet, also of Holland.

Friendship of the bride and groom commenced in Holland prior to their coming to Peterborough four monts ago. Their marriage was solemnized by the Rev. Charles G. Boyd and wedding music was played by the organist, Mr. Christopher Gledhill. Christmas greens were decorating the altar.

The bride wore a dress of grey and pink silk and a black velvet hat and black accessories. Her bouquet was of pink carnations with silver and pink streamers. She was attended by her sister, Mrs. Harold J. Hood of Peterborough who chose a pink silk dress and wore a hat of black velvet and a corsage of white carnations.

Mr. Harold J. Hood was the groom's attendant.

Following a reception the bridal couple left for Toronto. Mrs. Overvliet wearing a black ensemble topped with short, black Persian lamb coat.

They will live at 172 Brock St. on their return.

Home and School Association News

PARKHILL SCHOOL

Meeting of Parkhill Home and School Association this month took the form of a Christmas party and a presentation of crests to the pupils who graduated last June to other schools. Principal Miss Cora Bailey presented the crests and certificates of graduation to the following pupils:

Jacqueline Fulton, Brian Banks, Tommy Lewis, Robert Stewart, Garry Hanster, Luella Moore, Anne Thorburn, Wilfred Day, Donnie Richardson, Paul Jones, Jack Woodgate, John Crowder, Dennis Bullied, Anne Hewie, Margaret Pearse, Lawrence Bignell, Larry Hill, Larry Robertson, Brian Porter, Dorothy Sanderson, Brian Lehigh, and Stanley Hood.

Association president Mrs. V Ferguson and Miss Bailey received the guests. The program was put on by Grade 3 pupils and consisted of recitations, singing carols, folk dances and jigs, and numbers by the rhythm band. In this grade there are three sets of twins who put on a little show of their own reciting verses.

A huge cake had been made in honor of the graduates and they enjoyed helpings served with drinks and ice cream. Mrs. I. McGowan, social convener, and her committee served lunch to the parents.

Miss Bailey was chairman for the program, which she had arranged, and she was thanked by Mrs. R. Parnell.

DOROTHY DIX

Will Skirt-Chasing Husband Ever Reform Third Wife Asks

DEAR MISS DIX: Is there any hope of a skirt-chasing husband ever reforming? I have been married six years to a man whom I love with all my heart, but he in turn loves every woman he meets and he doesn't care who knows it. He has had affairs with many women, even including some of my own girl friends. I try to be broad-minded about him, but it hurts to the point where my heart is shattered and I find going on with him is almost too hard to endure.

Dorothy Dix

I am his third wife, he divorced his first wife and left her to raise two children all alone. His second wife divorced him. I had never been married before and I hate the idea of divorce. My parents know nothing of the situation; they think the world of my husband. His parents are aged, have always treated me like a daughter and would be terribly upset if he were to be divorced for a third time. He is very intelligent, a leader in his work, and we have a nice home. We have no children, as he never wanted any. I have a good education and could take care of myself if we separate.

GRACE.

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: Your marriage was doomed to failure from the very beginning, Grace, on two counts. Your husband's previous marital record surely should have demonstrated his weakness as a husband and his reluctance to have children when you, presumably, wanted them, established a very unsound foundation for happiness.

He Won't Change

I can give you no encouragement that he will ever reform. On the contrary, his almost abnormal interest in other women offers you nothing but an unhappy future. Whether you decide to separate or not depends entirely on your own endurance. You will see these affairs repeated again and again, to your own increasing embarrassment and humiliation. If you are sufficiently attached to your husband, and complacently satisfied with your economic security, continue—with such optimism in the future as you can muster.

✧ ✧ ✧

DEAR MISS DIX: Eight years ago I was employed as private secretary to a married man with whom I fell in love. Within a short time he fell very much in love with me. He did everything he could to discourage his wife, hoping she would finally seek a divorce. As time went on our love became more intense, but his wife still refused a divorce, even knowing that he didn't love her. Although my dear one has been transferred to another city, distance hasn't saparated us, and my question is: In time do you believe his wife will give him his freedom; can she go on fooling herself that he could care for her again?

BERTHA.

ANSWER: And can you, Bertha go on much longer fooling yourself that your beloved loves you enough to leave his wife and family? This is apparently the point on which more young women can delude themselves than any other.

In a triangle, friend wife always has the upper hand, remember. If she's a clever gal, she keeps it and almost invariably the erring husband is very glad to return his heart where it belongs. I doubt very much, Bertha, if your sweetheart will ever get his divorce; a wife who has been patient for eight years won't give up easily.

✧ ✧ ✧

DEAR MISS DIX: We are two girls working in the same office and in love with the same man. He seems to like us both equally well. How can we get him to choose between us?

MARY LOU and EVELYN.

ANSWER: My, but he must be a marvelous creature to evoke such devotion in two impressionable minds. Not only can I not offer a system by which he will infallibly choose one of you, but I think he's be very foolish to try.

You are both victims of the common disease known as "office crush." Any reasonably good-looking man, particularly if he is in the executive bracket, is fair game for a feminine crush. They get so used to such adulation that it's soon taken for granted. I'm afraid that's all your terrific case of love is.

Answer to Previous Puzzle

MARY MOORE SAYS:

Last-Minute Cookies For Christmas

I can't make idle talk today. So many of you want cookie recipes that I haven't yet given you that there will be no room for my daily palaver.

This will answer Mrs. George H. P. (the cookie part of her letter), W. K. C., Mrs. C. D., and the listener in the audience who says her Filbert Cookies stick on the cookie sheet (but did not sign her name).

I think you should make shortbreads, Mrs. George H. P. because it carries so well in the mail. Wrap every individual piece in a small square of wax paper or aluminum foil. I did this and they arrived at their destination in perfect condition.

Scotch Shortbread
(with variation)

One cup butter or margarine, ½ cup confectioners' sugar, 2 cups sifted all-purpose flour, ¼ teaspoon baking powder, one-third teaspoon salt. Cream the butter well and gradually cream the sugar into it. Stir in dry ingredients which have been sifted together. Roll out on very thinly floured board to ¼ inch thickness, patting as you roll and cut for this dough has a tendency to split at the edges. Bake at 300 deg. Fahr., on ungreased cookie sheet until crisp but not at all browned. Some may be sprinkled with a mixture of cinnamon and sugar. To one-third of the dough add some ground blanched almonds or finely chopped cashews. Into these little nut cookies press a half piece of whatever nut you have used.

W. K. C. wanted shortbread too so there it is. Ginger Creams are very close to the gingerbread cookies with almond your describe.

Gingerbars Or Ginger Creams
(for W. K. C.)

Two-thirds cup good quality shortening, 1¼ cups brown sugar, 1 cup pale molasses (do not use dark blackstrap), 5½ cup flour, 1 teaspoon each soda, ginger and cinnamon, ½ teaspoon salt, ½ teaspoon cloves, 1 cup hot water OR coffee, 1 cup chopped raisins, blanched and split almonds (for top). Cream the shortening well, then beat the sugar into it and add molasses and beat well again. Sift and measure flour and sift it with the salt, soda and spices. Add the dry ingredients to the first mixture alternately with the hot water or coffee. Beat until well mixed. Add raisins. Spread dough on greased cookie sheet. Bake at 350 to 375 for about 20 minutes. When they have been in oven for 10 minutes, remove them and press half almonds at even intervals all over top. Return to oven to finish baking. Cut in oblongs when cool. If you care to, you may omit the almonds during baking time, frost the cookies with simple frosting when cold, and press half almonds into the frosting before it sets.

Plain White Cookies
(for Mrs. C. D.)

One or 1½ cups shortening best quality or butter, 1½ cups icing sugar, 2 egg yolks, 4 cups unsifted flour. Cream the shortening until light and continue creaming while you add the sugar gradually. Beat in yolks. Add the flour which has been sifted after measuring. Roll out on lightly floured board to ⅛ or ¼ inch thickness. Cut out with scalloped cutter and bake at 375 deg. Fahr.

FUNNY BUSINESS -- By Hershberger

"I told you the program was too long—he stopped playing to eat a snack!"

What's Right?

A man jumps to light a woman's cigarette.

WRONG: She goes right on talking, not breaking into her conversation to say "Thank you".

RIGHT: She says "Thank you".

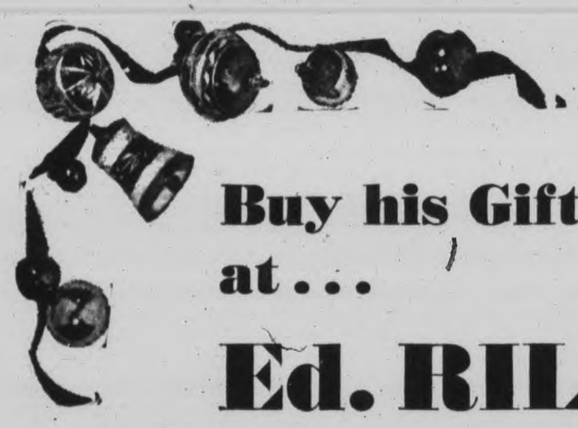
9380
WAIST 24"—28"

by Marian Martin

FABRIC-SAVER SKIRT



Sensational! Just ONE yard of 54-inch fabric for a skirt that stars all the newest fashion — yokes, hipflaps, back-fastening. Thrifty in fabrics of other widths, too. That one yard 54-inch is for any size given—waist 24, 25, 26, 28. And best yet, Pattern 9380 is simplest sewing—NO side-seams! A costume-maker in stripes or checks with a plain jacket or weskit!

This easy-to-use pattern gives perfect fit. Complete, illustrated Sew Chart shows you every step.

Kresge Bldg. Telephone 7284

MR. HANDYMAN:
On a lot near Park and Romaine, is a Six-room Brick House, getting old, but it was well built and is well preserved. A bit of time, paint and paper would give it a new lease on life and you will have 3 bright bedrooms, living room, large kitchen, dining room, and new 3-piece bath. It has a full basement with stone foundation walls, shed for storage or garage. Price $5,950. An adjoining Lot can also be bought.

RIVERSIDE HOME:
If you want a restful river-view through a picture window from a bright living-room with stone fireplace, see this modern two-year-old Semi-Bungalow; 3 rooms up, 3 rooms and bath down, full basement, on a lot with 90' frontage on suburban paved road (city bus 100 yards) and 90' on river. The large well-built garage will house your car and boats. Taxes $56.00. Price $9,800, with reasonable down payment.

Senators Amend CBC Legislation

OTTAWA, Dec. 18 — (CP) — A Senate Committee today amended the government's new legislation governing the CBC, widening the basis of appeals which private stations may take against a licence-suspension order of the CBC Board of Governors.

The amendment, proposed by Senator Arthur Roebuck (L-Ontario) but opposed by others on the grounds it would leave CBC regulations open to court challenge, was endorsed by the Senate's Banking and Commerce Committee by a vote of 8 to 5.

The appeal section amending the Canadian Broadcasting Act provided that private stations may appeal to the Exchequer Court of Canada against a licence-suspension order "on any question of law arising out of the making of such order." The amendment struck out the "questions of law" restriction leaving the ground for appeal undefined.

Senator Roebuck said questions of "fact" as well as of law would be involved in any such appeals. But Senator A. K. Hugessen (L-Quebec) warned that widening the clause could open the board's regulations to question.

A. D. Dunton, chairman of the Board of Governors, said there had never been a licence-suspension order. The clause was merely put in the legislation as a protection for the private stations.

Ask Cost-Of-Living Bonus For Ministers

TORONTO, Dec. 18 (CP)—The national committee on ministerial salaries of the United Church of Canada today appealed to lay members to give their ministers a cost-of-living bonus for 1951.

A letter signed by John M. Pritchard of Montreal, chairman of the committee, asked that ministerial salaries for 1952 be raised to a figure "commensurate with the increasing cost of living." It adds:

"In 1939 salaries were admittedly low. Since then the cost of living has almost doubled. What about the minister's salary?"

for minutes. Sour cream cookies in two week's time.

Filbert Cookies (for reader who did not sign her name)

One-half cup shortening, two-thirds cup brown sugar well packed, 1 beaten egg, 1 cup sifted all-purpose flour, ¼ teaspoon cream of tartar, one-third cup chopped filberts (or pecans). Cream shortening and sugar together well, then beat in egg. Sift the flour with the cream of tartar and add them with the nuts to the creamed mixture. Drop by teaspoonfuls onto greased cookie sheet and bake in slow oven (300 deg. Fahr.) for about 12 minutes. Remove from pan at once with spatula. These cookies will not stick to pan if you grease it before baking, and remove them from it at once after baking.

Good luck to all you cookie makers!

Nine Canadians Held By Chinese

HONG KONG, Dec. 18 — (Reuters)— Eight Canadian Roman Catholic priests and one brother have been placed under house arrest by the Chinese Communists in Suchow, near China's Yellow Sea coast in Northern Kiangsu Province.

They are members of the Canadian mission there operated by the Jesuits with headquarters in Montreal.

Names of those arrested were not immediately available.

Another Canadian victim of Communist arrests is the Rev. Euguene Lauzon, a Roman Catholic priest from Alberta. Church sources said Lauzon was arrested but they had no details.

The latest wave of arrests included American Bishop Philip Cote who was seized by Communist soldiers at morning confession in Suchow, Dec. 5. His wrists were bound and he was taken to jail, church sources said.

Church sources also reported that another American, Msgr. Adolphus Paschang, Ohio-born Bishop of Kongmoon, had again been beaten up for failing to come across with extortion money demanded by the Communists, allegedly to make good exorbitant levies he made. But his mission superiors decided not to pay, despite information that he would continue to be maltreated.

The decision not to pay was taken on instruction of Bishop Raymond A. Lane, superior-general of Maryknoll Mission, New York who said that if the money were paid "every Roman Catholic missionary in reach of the Reds would be placed in further jeopardy."

Czar's Grandson Was Laborer

TORONTO, Dec. 18 — (CP) — Gury Kulikovsky, grandson of Czar Alexander III of Russia, believes that what you know counts more than who you know in Canada.

He came to Canada with letters of recommendation to important people but he had no business experience and failed to get a job. Then he set out on his own, working at various manual labor jobs.

He was working in a construction gang when he heard about an opening in the Slavic studies department at University of Toronto.

Fluent in Russian and with a knowledge of Russian history, he applied and got the job.

Now he is working on his bachelor of arts degree at U of T preparing to take over the post.

Charge Dismissed Crown Attorney Agrees

"I am prepared to accept the accused's statement and the crown will be satisfied if the charge is dismissed," said Crown Attorney John A. Bradshaw in police court Monday.

Magistrate W. R. Philp agreed and dismissed a charge of careless driving against Henry Hall, 376 Holloway Dr.

Hall testified his foot slipped off the brake pedal, as he tried to stop before running into the rear of a car ahead which stopped suddenly.

The accident occurred just outside the city limits on Highway 28, the afternoon of November 17.

Hall was following a car driven by Romauld LeBeau, RR 1, Lakefield, which was following another car, driven by Garnet Lunn, 687 Donegal St. All three cars were going north at the time.

Lunn said he pulled to the centre of the road and signalled he was about to make a left hand turn. He said there was oncoming traffic and he stopped before making the turn and was struck in the rear by LeBeau's car.

Hall was defended by Ralph O. Standish who agreed that he was quite happy at having the charge dismissed but he added "I've read a good deal of law on this matter, but perhaps I'll have an opportunity to make use of it some other day."

City Carpetball

There will be no schedule the week of December 24. The following games are for the week of December 31: Legion No. 8 vs Orphans No. 16; Legion No. 4 vs Red Patch No. 10; Legion No. 2 vs St. George's No. 12; Legion No. 11 vs Glens No. 1; Fire Hall No. 13 vs SOE No. 5; Quakers No. 7 vs Fire Hall No. 15; Moose No. 9 vs Armour No. 3; Legion No. 6 vs LOL No. 14.

Fire Hall No. 15 lost their first game at home to the SOE No. 5 by 10-11, but captured the second 13-5.

Legion No. 2 won both games from Legion No. 4 by scores 16-5 and 12-10.

Moose No. 9 won the first game 19-2 and lost the second one 11-12 to Legion No. 11.

Legion No. 6 won both games from Orphans No. 16 by scores of 15-8 and 18-3.

Glens No. 1 also won both games when they met 2nd Armour No. 3 by 17-5 and 15-4.

Red Patch No. 10 won the first and lost the other when they met St. George's No. 12, scores 13-11 and 5-14.

Quakers No. 7 lost both games to Fire Hall No. 13 by scores 9-12 and 4-20.

The Orangemen won both games from Legion No. 8 by scores 14-4 and 23-12. LOL in the eleventh frame of the second game almost scored a perfect end, if the President had kept his last ball on the mat. They scored a big 7.

That postponed game went by default to Red Patch No. 10 from Legion No. 6. All games are up to schedule now.

Wednesday, December 19 the draw will be held at the Legion bingo. Any tickets still out should be delivered to the committee by 9:00 pm.

"Best wishes to all for a very Merry Christmas and Happy New Year."

With the first half two-thirds completed and only five weeks' play left to complete it, the race for first place and that special award is tightening up. The standing shows the present leader six points up on the second team, and eight and 10 points up on the third and fourth teams.

US Air Force Tests Plane Skis Near Kenora

KENORA, Dec. 18—(CP)—The first group of American personnel arrived here Saturday to prepare for Operation SOIAS—sliding on ice and snow. The project, by the US Air Force, is an experiment to find the best type of aircraft skis for use in northern outposts.

A base is being prepared at Maynard Lake, 50 miles north of here.

More than 80 types of skis will be tested.

Mrs. J. A. Wannamaker

BANCROFT, Dec. 18—(ENS)—The funeral of Mrs. James Anson Wannamaker was held from Hartsmere public school on Sunday afternoon, with interment in Long Lake cemetery. The Rev. Simon Bronson of the Brethren church officiated.

The deceased who was in her 79th year died at the Hastings County Home, Belleville, on Dec. 15. Her husband, the late James Anson Wannamaker, predeceased her a number of years ago. She was the daughter of the late William John Ralph and Jane Ralph, nee McKitric.

Surviving are three sons and one daughter, Wesley, Marshall, and Alexander Wannamaker of Hartsmere and Mrs. Lexena Clarke of Millbridge; two sisters, Mrs. Florence Thompson and Eliza Ralph of Boulter; and two brothers, Wesley Ralph of Boulter and Robert Ralph of Belleville.

Stanley Kerr Heads Legion

MARMORA, Dec. 18 (ENS) — The annual election of officers of Marmora Branch No. 237, Canadian Legion was held in the Legion Hall on Sunday afternoon.

Past Zone Commander W. Mumby of District F was in the chair for the election and installation.

The officers for 1952 will be president, Stanley Kerr; 1st vice-president, Vaughan Glover; 2nd vice-president, Clinton Nickle; treasurer, Roy Moss; secretary, P. Joseph O'Neill; trustees, William Regan, Percy Gray Sr., and Warren Hickey; sergeant at arms, Nathan Mumby; chaplain, William J. Cottrell; elected executive members (3) John Herman, Norman Hinson, Harold P. Nayler.

Only one committee chairman was elected by the executive, William Regan receiving chairmanship of the canteen committee. The remaining committees will be given their chairman at the next executive meeting. The well attended meeting closed with the national anthem.

Outboard Kids See Santa Claus

Annual Christmas party for the children and employees of the Outboard Marine was attended Monday night by 546 children under 14 and their parents in the PCVS auditorium.

Watches for 15 years of service with the company were presented to Thomas Parkes, Harry Pounder, Earl Davies, Walter Wood, Roy Masters and Betty Castle by firm president Clarence B. Neal.

Draw winners were Jim Rugby, an outboard motor; Ted Rosebush, a turkey; and Harold Wells, a goose. Films of the Santa Claus parade in Toronto were shown, and winners of the children's draw were Patricia Garvey, Billie Groombridge, Mary Collet, Donald Gravelle, Billie Wells, and Shirley Kidd.

Master of ceremonies was Lou Durkin, and Robert Johnson played piano accompaniment for the singing. Santa Claus presented each child with a bag of candies and nuts.

Split-Second Decision Proves Pilot Right

HOUSTON, Tex., Dec. 18 (AP) —A United States Air Force pilot made two split-second decisions after both engines on his C-47 transport plane went dead Monday. His judgment proved correct.

Lt.-Col. Roy E. Bain ordered seven crew members to parachute. Then as the plane broke through the overcast, Bain had to decide whether to try for the Municipal Airport—and maybe crash into a residential area.

Bain chose to risk his own neck and landed in a pasture 200 yards from the airport. Neither Bain nor his co-pilot was injured.

Thomas A. Stringer

BANCROFT, Dec. 18 (ENS)—The funeral of Thomas Andrew Stringer was held in the White church, Carlow township, Thursday afternoon, with the Rev. Kingsley Cutler of St. Paul's United Church, Bancroft, officiating. Interment was in the adjoining cemetery. Last rites were conferred by LOL No. 624.

Born 76 years ago, the deceased was the only son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Stringer of Carlow township. With the exception of a few years spent in western Canada he was a lifetime resident of this district. Before retirement he was a tailor and carpenter.

The late Mr. Stringer died on Dec. 11 in Bancroft District Red Cross Hospital. Surviving is his only son, Roy, of Vancouver, BC.

Court Dismisses Charge Of Theft

A charge of theft against Mrs. Ruby Kozachenko of Toronto was dismissed in police court Monday by Magistrate W. R. Philp.

Mrs. Kozachenko was arrested on November 30 and charged with the theft of a china figurine from a George St. china shop.

The evidence was heard on December 11, and she was remanded on bail of $1,000 until Monday when Magistrate Philp announced his finding on the charge.

In dismissing the charge, Magistrate Philp said "there was not sufficient identification of the article referred to."

The proprietor of the store stated that figurines of a similar type are available in a number of stores, and he was not certain how long it had been missing when he discovered it was gone.

Mrs. Daniel Osborne

MARMORA, Dec. 18 (ENS). — The funeral of Mrs. Daniel Osborne took place on Saturday afternoon leaving her late residence for service at St. Andrew's United church. Rev. G. D. Young, BA, BD, pastor of St. Andrew's officiated assisted by Rev. W. C. Stevenson of the Marmora Pentecostal church. The latter read scriptural portions and gave testimony to the life of Mrs. Osborne. Mrs. W. C. Stevenson sang the solo "I Will Have to Cross Jordan Alone."

Rev. G. D. Young gave a message on the words of John 14: "Let not your heart be troubled, neither let it be afraid; ye believe in God; believe also in Me." He also offered prayer. Burial took place in Marmora Protestant cemetery. The bearers were Charles Sopha, Frank Sopha, Fred Cole, Alex. Niblet, Roy Wright and Gerald Fox. All of her children were present at the funeral.

Dr. Baker Chairman Campbellford Loop

CAMPBELLFORD, Dec. 18 — (ENS) — A meeting to organize town league hockey in this town was held on Sunday afternoon, at which officers were elected, and a report of the ground work heard.

Dr. W. Ward Baker was elected chairman of the league, with Provincial Constable Donald W. Erskine as vice-chairman. Both men have been active in promoting sports among the younger citizens and are going all-out again this year to provide the youngsters with recreation that will be beneficial in many ways through supervision. Forrest Dennis will be secretary-treasurer.

At the present time, five teams are assured. It is hoped that a sixth team, possibly from Warkworth, will enter the league before the schedule is arranged. The local teams will be sponsored by service clubs, and the Kinsmen, Legion, Fish and Game Clubs are each sponsoring a team, and a team from Seymour East and Seymour West will also be in the loop.

There will be another meeting on Tuesday night at the home of Donald Erskine to attempt to draw up a schedule and iron out any other problems that may crop up. Children between the ages of 10 and 16 will comprise the players.

Forrest Dennis has the task of contacting school teachers of the town, to solicit their co-operation and help. The league hopes to co-operate with the teachers by seeing that the players keep up their studies satisfactorily, or the coaches of the various teams will be told to keep them off the ice.

The officers hope to carry on this hockey over a period of years, and the youngsters that are in the "bush league" today will be tomorrow's TVL'rs or possibly OHA.

While the officers of the league have not asked for trophies and other support as yet, it is hoped that some local individuals will come forward with the odd cup or other trophy to donate to the league. This will give the kids a goal to strive for, and will give them an extra incentive to play good clean hockey.

Man Contradicts Own Testimony May Face Charge

A Toronto man, charged with drunk driving and careless driving contradicted his own testimony and that of his defence witness when he pleaded guilty to the careless driving charge after the drunk driving charge was dismissed in police court Monday.

Ben Hexam, of 452 St. Germaine St., Toronto, testified that he was not driving a truck involved in an accident on George St. the evening of December 6 when both charges were laid.

Oscar Tessier, of 119 Carlton St., Toronto, who was with Hexam at the time, testified that he was driving when the truck struck the rear of a car driven by John Lewis, 359 George St.

Hexam was fined $15 and $8 costs on the careless driving charge.

Later crown attorney John A. Bradshaw indicated that a further charge may be laid against Hexam and Tessier.

Claimed Was Driver

Constable William G. Scott who investigated the accident said that Hexam insisted he was the driver of the truck both at the scene of the accident and later at the police station. He said Hexam was very boisterous and in a drunken condition.

Constable Scott also said that Tessier hold him it was up to him to find out who was driving the truck.

When cross examined on this point by Mr. Bradshaw Tessier did not reply.

Hexam admitted drinking part of a small bottle of liquor between Kaladar and Peterborough and claimed he had charge of the truck and misunderstood what the constable was asking him regarding who was driving.

Hexam was defended on the drunk driving charge by Reginald J. Chandler, who asked for a dismissal because he said there was not sufficient evidence of intoxication.

Magistrate W. R. Philp refused Mr. Chandler's request before the defence was heard and Hexam and Tessier were called.

After both Hexam and Tessier had sworn that Hexam was not driving and that Tessier was Mr. Chandler did not offer any argument, other than to comment, "Your Worship has the facts."

In dismissing the drunk driving charge, Magistrate Philp said he was finding that Hexam was intoxicated and this fact might be an explanation for the conflict of evidence as to who was driving, in that Hexam said he was driving when arrested and denied it the next morning.

When the charge of careless driving was read, immediately after, Hexam stood up and pleaded "guilty."

Chiang Charges Reds Murder 15,672,050

PARIS, Dec. 18 (AP) — Nationalist China accused Red China today of having murdered 15,672,050 people on the Chinese mainland in two years.

The charge was made in the United Nations social and humanitarian committee of the assembly by Dr. Yu Tsune-chi, who said:

"We want the world to know and note the most flagrant violation of the right to life since the promulgation of the universal declaration of human rights."

Dr. Yu was speaking in reply to Ambassador Joseph Ullrich of Czechoslovakia, who complained that Communist China was not present to describe its work for the observance of human rights.

Managing Editor

NEW YORK, Dec. 18 (AP) — Turner Catledge, executive managing editor of The New York Times, was named managing editor Monday to succeed the late Edwin L. James. James, managing editor for 19 years, died Dec. 3 after a relapse following a kidney operation. He had previously suffered a heart attack.

Drunk In Restaurant

Found lying on the floor of a George St. restaurant in a drunken condition Saturday night, Donald Lang appeared in police court Monday charged with being intoxicated in a public place.

He pleaded guilty and was fined $10 and $2.50 costs or 10 days in jail in default.

Gov't Fights Year-Long Battle Against Inflation

By HAROLD MORRISON

OTTAWA, Dec. 18—(CP)—Canada's expanded labor force boosted its earnings by about $1,000,000,000 in 1951, but inflation fattened itself on part of the increased purchasing power.

The era of prosperity and increased economic activity brought with it one of the most rapid increases in prices and one of the most discouraging climbs in living costs.

Inflation, developing on the sudden, sharp speed-up in world rearmament, boosted the cost-of-living index by about 10 per cent. The index, based on 1935-39 prices equalling 100, in December hovered close to the 200 mark, the highest in history.

Almost Triple

The 10-per-cent increase was almost triple the 3.5-per-cent increase during 1950, and Canadians, wondering when the rise in prices would end, besieged the government with requests for anti-inflationary measures.

Steps were taken by the government to stiffen restrictions on consumer credit, to cut down bank loans and increase interest rates to discourage borrowing—but still the price climb continued.

The government brought in legislation with a view to ending the practice of manufacturers or suppliers setting the price at which their goods are sold to the general public. It was hoped this would stimulate competition among retailers and tend to lower some prices.

Gloomy Outlook

But at the year-end the prospects of coping with inflation appeared as gloomy as they did at the start of the year.

While inflation ate at some of the purchasing power, business generally was buoyant with the exception of reduced sales of cigarettes, some household goods such as refrigerators, washing machines and electric stoves and automobiles, caused partly by the government's increased tax.

Earnings by the labor force during the year increased to an estimated record $9,200,000,000 from $8,200,000,000 in 1950. Income by factory workers rose to $3,198,000,000 from $2,753,000,000.

Retail sales soared. They climbed to $10,200,000,000 for the year —a billion-dollar gain from $9,100,000,000 in 1950.

The total value of all goods and services for the year jumped $3,000,000,000 to a record $21,000,000,000 from $17,000,000,000.

Foreign trade, stimulated by the world demand for Canadian strategic goods, expanded by more than $2,000,000,000 to a record $8,500,000,000. Exports, however, failed to keep pace with imports, and Canada ended up with a deficit of about $250,000,000.

Influx Of Capital

This was more than offset, however, by the powerful flow of foreign capital to share in Canada's economic expansion. The value of the Canadian dollar, cast free more than a year ago, strengthened on the world market and Canada's reserves of gold and United States dollars totalled about a near-record $1,700,000,000.

Hard-hit by the inflationary forces and the fixed price of their product were Canada's gold producers. They urged the government to seek a better price than $35 per ounce (US) which Canada obtained from official markets.

The US, however, refused to increase the price, and Canada, finally, obtained permission to allow her producers to sell gold on the world's unofficial or industrial markets where the price sometimes was $5 and $10 per ounce higher. But those who agreed to sell on the free market were cut off from government subsidies to aid marginal gold producers. Not many producers were willing to sacrifice federal aid and at the year-end the bulk of them still were selling to the government at the fixed official price.

Complained Of Taxes

Canadians, during the year, complained of the high taxes, imposed to help pay for Canada's three-year, $5,000,000,000 rearmament program, and the complaints grew as the year-end showed that the government's budgetary surplus would be far greater than estimated by Finance Minister Abbott.

He had estimated a surplus of about $30,000,000 for the year and by December the surplus was closer to $600,000,000. Mr. Abbott admitted that he had miscalculated and estimated that by the end of the fiscal year next April the surplus may total about $300,000,000 or $350,000,000.

However, with the mounting number of complaints, the outlook appeared bright for slightly reduced taxation when the next budget was brought down, sometime next March.

Man Charged With Receiving Stolen Machine

Charged with having possession of a machine which he knew had been stolen, Allen Hansford, 696 Stormont St., elected trial by a higher court when he appeared in police court Monday morning.

After the crown's case had been heard at a preliminary hearing in the afternon, his counsel, Gordon H. T. Farquharson declared there was no such offence as having possession of stolen goods. "If the charge is not amended, I submit he cannot be committed for trial," said Mr. Farquharson.

The offence under the criminal code, reads: unlawfully did receive or retain in his possession certain stolen goods, well knowing them to be stolen.

Mr. Farquharson added that assuming the crown intended to proceed on an amended charge of receiving stolen goods, the lack of evidence that "if the accused did receive the goods, knew at the time they were stolen, was fatal to the crown's case."

Reserve Decision

Magistrate W. R. Philp said that without making any finding, he would reserve his decision until December 27, and remanded Hansford on the same bail.

Hansford first appeared on the charge on November 5, and was remanded without plea or election on bail of $2,000.

He is alleged to have had in his possession a clarifier, machine (similar to a cream separator) which had been reported stolen from the rear of a Simcoe St. cleaning establishment on Oct. 31.

Detective Sergeant Bud Clarke testified at Monday's hearing that he called at Hansford's home the evening of November 3 and Hansford "first denied all knowledge of the machine until I told him I had information he did know where it was and that he had attempted to sell it.

"Later he admitted he did know where it was and took me to where he said he had pushed it into a ditch. The clarifier was in the ditch, mostly under water, only about four inches of the top remained above the surface and it was settling rapidly. Later, a tow truck and a constable recovered the machine from the ditch," Detective Clarke said.

Identifies Machine

The proprietor of the cleaning plant, Keith F. Mein, said in court he recognized the machine as being the one missing from his plant because of the model number, and a marking on the spindle. He said it's replacement value would be about $1,800 because similar machines were worth this much new.

John Burfield, employee of a Bell Ave. junk yard, said that Hansford and another man had come to the yard on November 3 and the man with Hansford had tried to sell him the machine.

Burfield said the machine was taken out of the car which the other man had been driving and he recognized it as being similar to the one described by Detective Clarke.

Burfield said he told the men it was stolen and he would not buy it. When advised it was stolen, Burfield stated that Hansford said "he would not have anything to do with it." Then the other man tipped the machine back in the trunk, Burfield said.

When Mr. Farquharson challenged the wording of the charge, Crown Attorney John A. Bradshaw said: "If a different wording is desired, there is always the power to amend." Then Mr. Bradshaw quoted a legal authority who recommended the wording "did unlawfully receive and have in his possession."

Aside from the points raised by Mr. Farquharson, Magistrate Philp said: "One other matter is causing me some concern. Have you shown Hansford had the machine at any time in his possession?"

Mr. Bradshaw submitted that three people who are accomplices can all be found to be in possession of stolen goods if they are all in on the scheme.

The magistrate replied it would have to be proved they were accomplices, and Mr. Bradshaw added that "the accused's own statement 'this is where I shoved it over into the ditch' were circumstances from which a jury might draw reasonable conclusions."

Mr. Farquharson argued that it was the other man that did the talking, and loaded the machine back into the car and that Hansford had remarked he would not have anything more to do with it when advised it was stolen.

A. L. SMITH

Witty Debater In House A. L. Smith Dies

CALGARY, Dec. 18 (CP). — Arthur LeRoy Smith, one of the House of Commons' wittiest debaters and counsel in many famous legal cases, died Monday night.

The 65-year-old lawyer, a King's Counsel for 25 years, died suddenly in hospital. Mr. Smith had been elected as a Progressive Conservative member of parliament in the 1945 and 1949 general elections.

Mr. Smith died of cerebral hemorrhage. His physician said the attack was the summation of an illness that forced him to resign his seat early this year.

Only a week earlier, C. O. Nickle, 37-year-old journalist and a Progressive Conservative, had been elected to fill the Commons vacancy caused by Mr. Smith's resignation.

Born in Regina, he attended public and high school in that city. He was graduated from the University of Manitoba in 1905 with a Bachelor of Arts degree. Three years later he was graduated from Osgoode Hall in Toronto as a lawyer.

First Big Case

His first big case came when he successfully defended Tommy Burns, former world's heavyweight boxing champion, and Arthur Pelky on manslaughter charges following the death of Luther McCarthy in a Calgary bout with Pelky in 1912.

When he went to parliament in 1945, he was already known as a brilliant lawyer. He had acted in Ottawa as a counsel in the 1932 Beauharnois power development probe, a keen political issue at the time.

A keen sportsman, Mr. Smith participated actively in hockey, lacrosse, soccer, baseball, golf and curling. After coming to Calgary he refereed hockey games.

He was married in 1912 to Sara Isabel Ryan of Winnipeg. Two children, Arthur R. Smith and Mrs. Eric J. Yorath, both of Calgary, survive. There are four grandchildren.

Funeral arrangements will be announced later.

Would Like Change Made In Radio Setup

OTTAWA, Dec. 18—(CP)—The CBC was criticized and defended in the Senate Monday as the Upper Chamber spent most of a busy day considering legislation to streamline the act under which the broadcasting system operates.

Senator John T. Haig, Progressive Conservative leader, said there had been some "rotten opinion" broadcast on the CBC without answering comment. He would not charge the CBC with political bias, but it could be used by any government which wanted to use it for that purpose.

Senator Cyrille Vaillancourt (L, Quebec) said some programs on the CBC and other stations were "absolutely immoral."

Senator Gordon Fogo (L, Ontario) president of the National Liberal Federation, said he had a lot to do with political broadcasting, but had never found an indication of political propaganda over the CBC. Private stations gained much revenue from the CBC and none was suffering financially.

National Monopoly

Senator Arthur Roebuck (L, Ontario) said the airways were a "natural monopoly" which should be controlled by the government. He held no brief for those who wanted a free hand. He did not think a separate regulatory body would be a benefit, though perhaps the present CBC board of governors might be freed of some administrative responsibility to give more time to regulatory matters.

Senator J. G. Turgeon (L, British Columbia) suggested establishment of an "independent" authority of three to five members to regulate private stations in Canada. He indicated he will formally move the suggestion at the next session of parliament and said the chairman of the CBC board of governors—A. D. Dunton—should be a member.

The debate occupied the Senate during the morning and part of the afternoon sitting. The legislation, providing for a statutory grant of $6,250,000 a year to the CBC for five years and making other changes, finally was sent to a committee for further study.

Two Men Plead Guilty Sentence Suspended

Two men, one charged with theft, the other with receiving stolen goods, both pleaded guilty in police court Monday.

They were each placed on suspended sentence for one year under $500 bond and ordered to pay $2.50 in cour costs.

Detective Sergeant John Stevenson said that Cecil Howe, 23, 251 Romaine St., and Gerald Card, 24, of 508 Edison Ave., were arrested Friday afternoon in a George St. department store on suspicion of shoplifting.

He said the manager of a store on George St., notified police he suspected a pair of shoplifting and then followed the two into another store a few doors down the street. He identified the men when police arrived.

Detective Stevenson said Howe had a shopping bag containing two pairs of gloves, a sweater and two pairs of socks which he later admitted taking fram a Charlotte St. store. Card had a pair of gloves which Howe had given him, Sergeant Stevenson said and admitted knowing they had been stolen.

Both men are married, Howe having moved here recently from Trenton and Card lived in Bancroft before moving to Peterborough.

Neither man had any known police record and Crown Attorney John A. Bradshaw recommended suspended sentence.

Strike Likely

MONTREAL, Dec. 18 (CP) — Jack Thompson, international representative of the United Steel Workers of America (CIO-CCL), said Monday night that some 1,000 employees of Montreal Locomotive Works, Ltd., will "very likely" go on strike Wednesday to enforce wage demands.

CHICAGO, Dec. 18 — (AP) — More snow fell over the United States mid-west today and a fresh blast of sub-zero cold was on the way. Meanwhile, the death toll from last weekend's severe wintry weather rose to 151.

The snowstorm, borne by winds of 20 to 25 miles an hour, moved eastward.

The storm centre, which moved from the central plains to the Chicago area early today, brought snow over the Upper Mississippi Valley, the Great Lakes region southward to the Ohio Valley.

It was far below zero early today in most of the northern plains states as the cold air mass pushed across the Canadian border.

Temperatures moderated in the Eastern States after Monday's severe cold.

Navigation Ends 5 Days Later

By The Canadian Press

The 1951 Great Lakes navigation season has ended in a blizzard of snowflakes and sub-zero cold, five days later than last year.

But the shipping period, which ended Monday with the tanker Cedarbranch passing through the Welland Canal, may have set a record for tonnage carried.

Tonnage through the Welland Canal up to Dec. 8 totalled 16,009,9525, compared with 14,690,614 last year. Substantial increases were noted in the movement of grain, oil, ore and miscellaneous goods such as pulpwood, flour and automobiles. There was a slight drop in coal.

Closing of the canal ended inter-lake navigation, though there may still be vessel movements on the Lower Lakes. Today tenders were still lifting buoys and other warning devices from the shipping lanes.

The United States coastguard buoy tender Mesquite was caught in an ice floe in the St. Mary's River near Sault Ste. Marie Monday. The ice breaker Mackinac set out from St. Ignace, Mich., and freed her Monday night.

At Goderich, navigation closed Monday with the sailing of the Imperial Oil tanker Cobourg, the same ship which opened the season April 17.

Milk Price Jumps

TIMMINS, Dec. 18 — (CP) — Price of milk at lunch counters here rose Monday to the equivalent of 40 cents a quart. A half-pint of milk now costs 10 cents. Frank Joyce, a confectioner, said: "We were buying half pints for five cents and selling them for seven. Now the dairies ask eight cents and we have to sell them for a dime."

Law Lords Back Union Right Expel Member

LONDON, Dec. 18 (CP).—British law lords Monday rejected a petition asking them to reconsider a case on which they rendered judgment last June.

Myron Kuzych, a Vancouver welder, asked the judicial committee of the Privy Council to re-examine its decision regarding his expulsion from the Boilermakers' and Iron Shipbuilders' Union of Canada, Local No. 1.

In its judgment last June, culminating a long legal battle, the Privy Council allowed an appeal by the union against a trial judge's declaration that Kuzych had not been validly expelled from the union. The judge also awarded Kuzych $5,000 damages.

Frank Gaha, counsel for Kuzych said Monday Kuzych had brought the unusual petition on a technical point of pleading. This involved the fact that union counsel, in the original suit in British Columbia, had not alleged that Kuzych was debarred from a legal appeal against his expulsion.

No Injustice

In rejecting the petition, Viscount Simon, presiding, said the point not raised in the original pleadings was nevertheless known to their lordships; he said he was quite satisfied no injustice had been done.

The Privy Council, in standing by its decision to recognize the right of the union to expel one of its members, ended seven years of litigation unique in Canadian labor law.

In the June ruling it decided that Kuzych was not entitled to $5000 damages for what he charged was wrongful dismissal from the union.

That decision reversed a ruling of the British Columbia appeal court which had found that the union's action was "little less than a sentence of industrial death."

Kuzych was expelled in 1945 for publicly opposing the closed shop principle.

Grocer Wins Out

LONDON, Dec. 18 (Reuters) — A non-hunting Welsh grocer, Monday outbid the Horsey world to carry off John Peel's horn for £600—all in a minute. Peel's horn, immortalized in the rollicking song "D'Ye Ken John Peel," with an 1886 letter from his son declaring it the real thing, was almost in the grasp of a yeomanry colonel when the grocer outbid him. Peel's horn was for sale because the brewers who owned the hotel where it had hung for 50 years in Guildford, Surrey, had gone out of business.

WINS TOP AWARD — Sgt. James E. Johnson, 25, of Washington, DC, and Pocatello, Ida., became the seventh Marine to win the Congressional Medal of Honor in Korea. Johnson was wounded and presumed captured by North Koreans on Dec. 2, 1950, as he deliberately engaged the enemy in hand-to-hand combat to save his platoon. Presentation of the medal will not be made to his wife, but will be held "with the hope" that the sergeant can claim it personally "in the near future."

Electronic Brain Having Difficulty Working On 1950 United States Census

PHILADELPHIA, Dec. 18 (AP) —An electronic brain checking the flights of guided missiles is showing that they shoot at least 100 miles.

Another is working on the United States 1950 census—and, having difficulty learning the job.

A third helps design new electronic brains.

These are a few of the mechanical wonder brains from both sides of the Atlantic whose troubles were disclosed to a meeting of American Institute of Electrical Engineers here last week.

The only wonderful thing is their speed. Otherwise, they are unbelievably big, awkward and rely on well-trained human brains.

The guided-missile brain is an international business machine programmed electronic calculator. Telescopic cameras track a missile on a test range, taking pictures at 100 a second.

Computers then study the pictures to learn exactly what happened. Human computer crews took two weeks to calculate results of a single flight. The electronic brain does it in eight hours.

The brain designed to improve other mechanical brains was built by the Burroughs Adding Machine Company. It aims to discover why these huge brains make mistakes.

Different UK School Standards Make It Hard For Canadians

By ALAN HARVEY

EDITH WESTON, Rutland, England, Dec. 18 — (CP). — In this tiny, grey-walled village, whose unusual name comes from one of the earliest chapters in English history, 63 Canadian children have learned to their sorrow that local education standards are in some ways tougher than at home.

Some of the Canadian pupils will take special examinations early in the New Year, and it is pretty well accepted that nine out of 10 will fail. Unless things are changed, this will mean they will have to go to a secondary modern school, which stresses technical subjects, instead of to the sought-after grammar school.

All the Canadians are considered at least average in intelligence. The trouble is partly that they're new to English standards and partly that the examination will be set by three English headmasters, described by Canadians here as elderly and a bit set in their ways.

"Some of the arithmetic problems are right out of this world," says FO Harry Chalmers of Edmonton, education officer at the RCAF's new base in nearby North Luffenham. "I'm afraid only a few of our children will be able to pass the grammar school examinations in March."

Get Along Well

The Canadian youngsters, sons and daughters of men from the RCAF's No. 1 Fighter Wing, go to school in a long, low building which housed members of the Women's Auxiliary Air Force during the Second World War. They share desks, trade idioms and accents, and generally get along well with 44 English students.

Donald Briggs and his wife, Dorothy, who do most of the teaching, find that Canadian children are more confident and self-possessed than their British opposite numbers.

"As a general rule, we find that our Canadian visitors are a little ahead in oral work, and a little behind in written work," says slender, cheery Mrs. Briggs.

To overcome difficulties caused by the earlier British school-starting age—sometimes as early as 4¾ years—and the fact that secondary school examinations must be taken at 11, RCAF authorities are pondering the possibility of adopting a Canadian curriculum and perhaps importing a Canadian teacher.

The children don't seem to be worried. They've picked up a lot of English expressions. They also love English history, and get plenty of it.

Edith Weston, a village of some 60 houses and 200 inhabitants, derives its name from the days of Edward the Confessor, who gave it as a wedding gift to Edith, his Queen, in the 11th century.

The task of arm-waving orchestra conductors has been made lighter since someone dreamed up the idea of making batons of aluminum. This gave us the notion that aluminum bull-fiddles would be a lot lighter to lug around. But, sure enough, someone had thought of that, too! Aluminum certainly lightens the load for lots of people these days—and in lots of ways.

To make more of this metal available Alcan is embarked on a further long-range expansion programme which will run to a quarter of a billion dollars. Aluminum Company of Canada, Ltd. (Alcan).

School Puts On Concert In Lakefield

LAKEFIELD, Dec. 18 (ENS)—A Christmas program was presented by pupils of Lakefield Public School for a large gathering at the Decemebr meeting of the Home and School Association.

Rev. W. H. Tonge was chairman and conducted a short devotional period. Carol singing was led by Quirt McKinney of Peterborough Normal School staff, with Mrs. Harold Trude at the piano.

The children's program was as follows: Miss E. Kidd's Room, Grade 1, a group of three songs by Helen Charlton, Shelagh Perly, Mary Lynn Quackenbush, Lois Wickett, Linda Leonard, Ann Gastle and Helen Neill; recitations by Sandra McCracken, Margaret Ann Randall, Marlene DeWitt, John Delaney, Cyril Hickey, and George Payton.

Miss Bertina Beavis' Room contributed two songs, one a motion song and the other a tableau song. Those taking part were: Maurice Switzer, Karen Graham, Tom Grant, Jean Wannamaker, Diane Bowen, Kathleen Eaton, Peter Graham and Peter Pink.

Grade 3, taught by Miss Irene Madill, presented a trio and chorus, "Who is coming o'er the hill?" with Eleanor Quackenbush, Betty Payton, Grant Dunford, Jane Bolton, Judy Wilson, Linda Walton, Marie Rosborough, Dennis Sullivan, and John Wannamaker. A recitation by Sharon Jewell completed Grade 3 contribution.

The girls of Grade 4, looking smart in shamrock green costumes, did a folk dance, "The Irish Washerwoman," accompanied at the piano by their teacher Miss M. Maloney. Those taking part were: Sharon Johnston, Agnes Fraser, Sherrin Hopkins, Lois Farrow, Glenda Armstrong, Joyce Davis, Sheila Wickett, Gloria Crowe, Sandra Spargo, Helen Ross and Evelyn Whetung.

A carol, "Away in a manger," was sung by Donna Farrow, Jean Cherry, Judy Foster, Nancy Henry, Wendy Nickels, Lynn Lichty, Jane Arnott, with Mary portrayed by Beverly Charren, and Joseph by David Payton.

A second contribution from Grade 5 was an all-girls chorus, with Lynn Lichty and Georgia Jeffers taking solo parts. Others in the chorus were Lorraine Stenner, Barbara Soles, Shirley Tripp, Dianne Hudson, Barbara Hollinshead, Annabethe Batten, Marcella Spencer, Doris Hatten, Karen Peters, Gloria Bolton, Wendy Nickels, Anne Junkin, Nancy Henry, Jean Cherry, Jane Arnott, Janice Kennedy, Judy Doubt and Judy Foster. Their teacher is Miss Galway.

Looking like real reindeers, eight boys from Mr. M. Patterson's room sang "Here comes Santa Claus." Earl Crapp made a fine Santa and was drawn across the stage in a cardboard sleigh by the singers: Tom Sullivan, Billy Hunter, Jim Galvin, Don Webster, Rob Vallance, Paul Henry, Adrian Webb and Clarence Coons. "A Visit from St. Nick" was recited by Iola Peters.

Representing Grade 8, Principal E. G. Sloan's Room, Louise Anderson played "The Bluebird Waltz" and "Silent Night" on the Piano-accordion.

A vote of thanks to all those responsible for the success of the evening was given by Mrs. J. A. Arnott.

Refreshments were served by the mothers of Grade 5.

YOUNGEST STOCKHOLDER—When the directors of the Erie Railroad hold their regular monthly meeting next week, they'll meet their newest and probably youngest stockholder. He's nine-year-old George Samuel Edgar of Wappingers Falls, N.Y., and as anyone can see his taste already runs toward railroading business. Last October Paul W. Johnston, Erie president, received a letter from George if he could purchase some stock with $11.25 he had saved. The money is not enough to pay in full for a share but Mr. Johnston is making up the difference and George will get a share of stock next week.

Gift Exchange Features WI Christmas Meeting

HAVELOCK, Dec. 18—(ENS)—An exchange of gifts featured the Christmas meeting of the Belmont Women's Institute held in the township hall at Preneveau on Thursday. Packages were placed under a Christmas tree on the platform. The distribution was made during the program period when a grand march was held down the hall to the tune of Jingle Bells played by Mrs. H. Scott, each person taking a parcel as they passed the tree.

A sing-song of Christmas carols was enjoyed followed by vocal solos by Mrs. W. Goadsby and Mrs. J. C. Corneil, the latter playing her own accompaniment on the autoharp, and a reading by Mrs. G. Hartin. The program conveners were Mrs. H. Scott and Mrs. A. Keene.

During the business session when the president, Mrs. W. Ketchen, presided, a donation of $10 was made to the Hospital for Sick Children, Toronto.

A mental health quiz was received from the Department of Health and it was decided to use this at the February meeting when the subject for discussion will be home economics and health.

A letter was read from the Women's Auxiliary of the Havelock-Belmont Branch of the Canadian Legion asking for a donation towards the purchase of curtains for the Legion hall at Havelock. It was decided to make a donation after a series of card parties had been sponsored to raise funds, the first one to be held in the township hall on December 28. The following committee was appointed to arrange these events: Mrs. Charles Ellis, Mrs. H. King, Mrs. G. Hartin.

Arrangements were made to pack the Christmas cheer boxes at the home of Mrs. R. Vansickle on Wednesday.

Mrs. G. Henley displayed two cloth giraffes which she had made and which sold at the meeting at 50 cents each, Mrs. Henley donated the money received to the institute funds.

Tea hour hostesses were Mrs. Charles Ellis, Mrs. W. Goadsby, Mrs. Alfred Althouse, Mrs. A. Hubble and Mrs. Morrow. There were 21 members present.

Fowl Draws Feature Havelock LOL Dance

HAVELOCK, Dec. 18—(ENS)—Two draws featured the program at the dance sponsored by the Mayflower JOL No. 284 held in the Orange Hall on Friday night.

A quilt on which the JOL had sold tickets was won by Mrs. Eva Post of Marmora with Billy Toms drawing the winning ticket.

A draw for three prizes sponsored by Havelock LOL No. 326 resulted as follows: first prize, a turkey went to F. C. Wilson of Toronto; the second prize, a Christmas cake, was won by Gordon Rylott of Bonarlaw, while the third prize, a chicken, went to W. J. McLaughlin of Trent River.

The winning tickets were drawn by Bonnie Toms, Ferne Hornsby and Elva Adams.

Christmas Theme Of Marmora's CWL Meeting

MARMORA, Dec. 18—(ENS)—December meeting of the Catholic Women's League was held in Sacred Heart hall Thursday evening and took the form of a Christmas party. Mrs. Charles Cook presided.

The treasurer's report was given by Mrs. Joseph O'Neill. Mrs. William Forestell and Miss Eva Shannon volunteered to visit the sick and shut-ins for the coming month. Miss Florence Auger asked for used clothing to be sent to a western mission and the members were asked to bring their donations to pack a box during next week.

The director, the Rev. J. A. O'Neill, then addressed the meeting briefly. He voiced his pleasure at the large attendance Mrs. William Shannon, program convener, then took charge of the program.

Numbers were: "Holy Night," "Christmas In Our Hearts" and "Adeste Fideles," reading, "Little Carrie Meets Her Relatives" by Mrs. J. McCrodan; piano solo "The Rosary" by Mrs. J. A. Paquet; humorous reading "An Irish Letter" by Mrs. P. Brawley; vocal duet, "Ave Maria," Mrs. Hugh Brady and Miss Eva Shannon; reading "White Christmas Memories" by Mrs. Donald Shannon; piano duet, Patricia and Anne Clairmont; humorous recitation "Experiences of Mrs. O'Brien," by Mrs. James Black; vocal solo, "Noel" by Mrs. J. L. Shannon, accompaniest, Mrs. J. A. Paquet; reading, "The Immaculate Conception" by Mrs. William Shannon; recitation, "'Twas the Night Before Christmas" by Mrs. B. W. Hughes; song, "Christmas," Mrs. W. Shannon, Mrs. Ed Warren and Miss Eva Shannon.

Mrs. Hugh Brady played the part of Santa Claus and distributed the gifts from the gaily decorated tree. The president, on behalf of the league, presented the Rev. J. A. O'Neill with a pen and pencil set, for which he expressed his appreciation and thanks.

Friends Honor Couple At Lily Lake Home

LILY LAKE, Dec. 18—(ENS)—Mr. and Mrs. Reg Ferguson (the former Dorothea Kidd) were guests of honor at a presentation held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Ferguson.

A tri-light lamp and a large mirror were presented to the couple after an address was read by Mrs. George Middleton. The presentation was made by Nelson McConnell and Mick Dunford.

Mr. Ferguson thanked the gathering. A humorous reading of helpful hints for marriage was given by Mrs. William Steinkrauss. Fourteen tables of progressive euchre were played and prizes were won by Mrs. Roy Hancock, Mrs. James Middleton, Roy Hancock and James Middleton.

$200,000 Fire Under Control In Campbellford Business Block

SIXTEEN PEOPLE WERE LEFT HOMELESS and $200,000 damage was done early today when fire swept through this three-storey Campbellford business block. A short circuit in the wiring of a meat market is believed to have caused the fire, which started at 2:15 a.m. Three businesses were burned out—Birk's drug store, Kellaher's meat market, and Garneau and Dunsmoore electrical appliances. The brick building, once the Wellman Hotel, was gutted within hours of the fire starting, and the ruins still smoulder. One family fled the burning building in their bare feet, and all the apartment tenants left in their night clothes.—(W. W. Reid Photo)

16 Made Homeless Escape Building In Night Attire

By W. W. REID

CAMPBELLFORD, Dec. 19. (ENS)—The cries of a year-old boy led to early discovery of a fire that today gutted a three-storey west-end Campbellford business block, doing an estimated $200,000 damage. Sixteen people were left homeless and three businesses were destroyed in the blaze that started about 1:45 am. At 1 pm the fire was reported under control, although it was expected to smoulder until tonight.

Crying for his bottle, 16-month-old Billy Post, son of Mr. and Mrs. Claude Post, woke his mother. She smelled smoke and roused her husband, who turned in the alarm. The Posts, with children Billy, Shirley Ann, 10, and Wayne, 13, fled the building barefoot and in their night clothes.

Overcome By Smoke

Four women tenants of the building were overcome by smoke and rescued by two Campbellford men, Bruce Wallace and Garfield Fraser. The women were not identified.

Ice hampered the firemen to such an extent that before noon, a portable welding outfit was used to thaw hose connections that had been lying on the frozen streets since early this morning when the temperature was 10 below zero.

The three businesses destroyed are: Birk's drug store, Kellaher's meat market, and an electrical appliance store operated by Garneau and Dunsmoore.

Flames Spread Rapidly

Cause of the fire is believed to have been a short circuit in the wiring at the rear of the meat market. The fire started there, and flames ate their way through the walls and ceiling, spreading rapidly to the rest of the building.

Firewalls to the south and west protected a grocery store and a carpet warehouse from the flames. From time to time, firemen played lines of hose on the warehouse and grocery, soaking them to prevent possible spread of the flames.

Insurance on the building itself amounted to only $8,000, although the replacement value is estimated at about $80,000. A few of the

New Storm On Way For Ontario

Nine Inches of Snow Tie Up Toronto, Maritimes Hard Hit

By The Canadian Press

A freak winter storm—combining winds up to 85 miles an hour and heavy rain—struck a crippling blow at southern New Brunswick and Nova Scotia early today.

Nova Scotia reported disrupted telegraph and telephone communications but the province had one consolation: 40-degree temperatures accompanied the storm.

Ontario residents, digging out from Tuesday's worst snow storm of the season, had a grim outlook. The weatherman today said another storm is on the way within 24 hours.

He forecast that it would equal Tuesday's wallop, which piled about nine inches of snow on Toronto streets and caused the worst traffic snarl in the city's history.

Temperatures ranged from zero in Southern Ontario Tuesday night to 35 below in the province's far north.

New Blow

On the west coast, snow and rain followed by freezing temperatures struck suddenly at Vancouver Island Tuesday night. Victoria had its first snow of the winter.

Rain in the Atlantic provinces turned snow to slush and the temperature drop made streets treacherous. Motorists found the going heavy in Saint John, NB, and in hilly Halifax.

The storm that tied up Toronto buffeted Montrealers after howling across Ontario and caused much the same sort of trouble as in Toronto. Traffic was slowed to a crawl, street cars poked along and taxi companies had more business than they could handle.

Poor visibility forced commercial airlines to cancel many flights.

Big Drifts

Drifts upwards of four feet deep blocked some streets in Quebec City. Taxi companies took their cabs off the street. Communities in the district were isolated.

On the Prairies, the first blizzard of the season whirled across Southern Alberta and Saskatchewan. Winds of up to 30 miles an hour whipped soft, powder snow across the plains. Authorities warned motorists off the roads.

The storm dropped 12½ inches of snow on Trail, BC, and 18 inches on Rossland in the British Columbia interior in a 24-hour period.

The western blizzard extended from the Crow's Nest Pass in the Rockies to Swift Current in Southwestern Saskatchewan. It heaped fresh discomfort on the Prairie residents who had just shivered through more than a week of sub-zero temperatures. Temperatures were expected to stay well below zero today.

A temperature range from 25 below zero to 10 below was predicted for most Manitoba points. Winds of about 20 miles an hour intensified the chill.

Jets Blow Up 1,000 Oil Drums

TOKYO, Dec. 19 (Reuters) — United States Thunderjet pilots claimed today they blew up 1,000 oil drums in a half-mile-long stack between Pyongyang and Wonsan in North Korea.

Their bullets set off a chain reaction. Some of the exploding drums hurtled 50 feet into the air.

Fog and low ceiling kept US Sabre jet fighter planes on the ground Wednesday but other Fifth Air Force planes flew 164 sorties despite the poor weather.

Don Jail Escapee Picked Up In Tavern

TORONTO, Dec. 19 (CP) — William Jackson, 25, one of three men who escaped from the Don jail here Nov. 4, was arrested in a Montreal tavern Tuesday night, Toronto police said today.

Picked up for illegal possession of firearms, Jackson had a loaded gun in his pocket and 20 spare cartridges, Montreal police reported.

Jackson escaped with Edwin Alonzo Boyd, since blamed for leading a band of bank robbers here, and Leonard Jackson, 29. They escaped by climbing down a 40-foot rope made of bedclothes and scaling an 18-foot wall.

Jackson was to appear in Barrie today on charges of holding up the Royal Bank at Bradford last summer.

Montreal police said Jackson gave his name at William Gibson but was identified today by fingerprints.

Will Investigate Election Plan

PARIS, Dec. 19—(AP)—The United States special political committee voted today to investigate immediately whether the time is ripe for free, secret-ballot elections to unify divided Germany.

A five-national neutral commission would conduct the inquiry.

Western powers laid the proposal before the United Nations. The Communist bloc opposed it. East and West have disagreed strongly since the war on ways to unite Germany and on conditions for holding elections.

The Russian bloc fought the western plan and Poland declared she would not serve "on this illegal body."

Poland is one of the five countries named to the investigating body. The others are Brazil, Iceland, Netherlands and Pakistan.

The vote in the 60-nation committee to set up the commission was 45 to 6 with eight abstentions.

East German representatives and the Soviet Occupation authorities of the Eastern zone have served notice they will bar probers from that part of the divided country.

The Big Three Western sponsors said they would not send the commission to the Western zones they occupy unless it also had free access to the Soviet zone.

UN Adopts West's Arms Plan

PARIS, Dec. 19. (AP)—The United Nations overwhelmingly adopted the western disarmament plan today and threw out a Russian bid for an immediate ban on atomic weapons. The vote on the whole plan was 44 to 5, with 10 abstentions. Burma did not participate. The decision, taken by the 60-nation political committee, will be formally adopted by a final vote of the same countries sitting in the assembly itself. A new disarmament commission, instructed to try to end the costly world arms race along lines laid down by the western powers, will be set up. Russian amendments which would have twisted the western proposals into a Kremlin plan were spurned.

The Soviet ban on the atom was voted down 42 to 6, with 9 abstentions, and three countries absent.

Russia's proposal was in an amendment to a French-British-American disarmament proposal.

The western plan would set up a new disarmament commission and instruct it to work for a step-by-step reduction of arms, including creation of a tamper-proof system of international inspection and control ahead of a ban on the atom bomb.

Russia wanted the bomb banned without any conditions and before establishment of a control system.

Report POW Lists Bring New Discord At Conference

MUNSAN, Korea, Dec. 19. (AP)—Exchange of prisoner-of-war lists brought new strife today for Korean truce negotiators. The Communists labelled the United Nations list of 132,472 Chinese and Korean prisoners useless. The Allies complained the Red total of 11,559 prisoners was too small. Truce negotiators made no formal protest. The prisoner-of-war subcommittee was in recess today.

UN delegates in a second subcommittee told the Reds they would not budge an inch on how to supervise the truce until the Communists agree to rotation of troops and behind-the-line inspection to guard against a sneak military buildup.

Communist correspondents at the Panmunjom truce site said it was impossible to identify Chinese and North Korean troops from the UN list. The names were writ-

Two Children Die In Flames

GRANBY, Que., Dec. 19 (CP)—Two children were burned to death and three others suffered severe injuries in a fire which gutted a house about 3½ miles from Granby, today.

The dead and injured are the five sons and daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Michel Robitaille.

Names of the two dead children were not immediately available.

The three others who were saved by Mrs. Robitaille are at St. Joseph De Granby Hospital. They are Gerald, 5, Real, 3, and Paul, one month.

Mrs. Robitaille was alone with her children when the fire broke out. She managed to bring three of the children to safety but was unable to return into the burning house to get the two others.

Allied Infantrymen Repulse Red Attack

SEOUL, Korea, Dec. 19—(AP)—Allied infantry today repulsed several light Communist attacks at scattered points along the Korean war front.

Most of what little action there was took place on the western front.

Northwest of Chorwon artillery was called on to help throw back a Red assault that began late Tuesday. Light contacts with Reds up to company strength were reported from other sectors in the west.

US Eighth Army reported no American soldiers were killed along the front in 24 hours ended at 6 pm Tuesday. Other UN and South Korean units counted some casualties, but they were light.

Allied ships and planes carried the war to the Reds without interruption.

Egypt Reports Meeting Failure

CAIRO, Dec. 19 —(AP)—The Egyptian press said today the meeting between Anthony Eden, British foreign secretary, and Egyptian Foreign Minister Salah El Din in Paris has been a failure.

The two ministers met Tuesday in an attempt to find an area of agreement in the bitter British-Egyptian dispute over the Suez Canal.

The independent newspaper Al Ahram said in a Paris dispatch that neither Eden nor Sala El Din "budged an inch" from their positions. The dispatch said Eden asked Salan El Din to see that guerrilla attacks in the canal zone were stopped and that the way be prepared for negotiations.

Sala El Din replied, the dispatch said, that immediate evacuation of British troops from the canal area is a prime requisite for restoring peace and improving Anglo-Egyptian relations.

In Cairo, the acting foreign minister, Ibrahim Farag, was quoted as saying his recent talks with US Ambassador Jefferson Caffery concerned the question of Middle East defence. The US, Britain, France and Turkey have announced plans to go ahead with a defence-command setup.

US Tells Soviet Reds To Blame For Eastern Pact

WASHINGTON, Dec. 19 (AP). —The United States has sharply told Russia that its own "aggressive action" and its "subversion" against Middle Eastern states are to blame for Allied plans to create a Middle-East military command.

Replying to a Soviet protest of November 24 against the Allied project, the US cited once-secret negotiations between the Soviet and Nazi German governments in 1940 as evidence of a Russian aim to create a Red sphere of influence in the Midle East.

The US note, made public today, added that Russia's attitude toward that area since the end of the Second World War has led the American governcent to assume that the aims set forth 11 years ago "remain the policy of the Soviet government."

Britain, France and Turkey, which had simultaneously received Russian protests against the command which they are sponsoring jointly with US, also rejected the Soviet complaint in notes delivered to the foreign ministry in Moscow Tuesday, State Department officials said.

Major Points Same

While the Allied notes were described as different in wording, officials declared they all made the same major points:

1—Rejection of a Russian assertion that the proposed command would be an aggressive organization.

2—An assertion that far from being aggressive it is based on provisions of the United Nations charter for collective action in defence and in support of world peace.

3—An acusation that, in the words of the American note, "Soviet threats" to the states of the Middle East against joining the command "constitute interference in the affairs of these countries."

Liner Standing By Freighter In Distress

LONDON, Dec. 19 (AP) — The 6,000-ton British freighter Chiswick radioed today she is in trouble in mid-Atlantic and the French passenger liner Ile De France is standing by pending arrival of another vessel.

The Chiswick's captain said she was down by the head with her decks awash. The ship was en route from Wabana, Nfld., to Birkenhead with a cargo of iron ore. She has a crew of 45.

The Chiswick's captain said she is proceeding at about seven knots and that her sister ship, the Wendover, en route from Montreal to Havre, France, is making for the scene to relieve the Ile De France.

St. Laurent Tells MP's To Hustle

OTTAWA, Dec. 19 (CP)—Prime Minister St. Laurent served notice today that parliament will be asked to come back on the job two days after Christmas if it has not completed its work by this Friday.

In an apparent move to ensure passage of the government's legislation, he gave notice of a motion that when the Commons adjourns this Friday "unless it be otherwise ordered at that time" it stands adjourned to Thursday, Dec. 27.

The phrase "unless it be otherwise ordered at that time," presumably means that if the House has finished its labors by this Friday it will rise until the 1952 session.

Mr. St. Laurent's motion came after a warning by George Drew, Progressive Conservative leader, that the Commons, debating the government's controversial anti-price fixing legislation, is going to debate the issue "for a long time."

Russians Report Executing 2 American-Trained Spies

MOSCOW, Dec. 19 (AP).—The Soviet Supreme Court said today that two men with Russian-sounding names have been put to death as American saboteur-spies parachuted into Russia.

The announcement from the military collegium of the court said they were dropped into Russia from an American plane manned by American military officers.

Their names were given as A. I. Osmanov and F. K. Sarantsev.

(Michael McDermott, State Department press officer in Washington, said the State Department knows nothing about the incident and said he never heard of two men with those names.)

The two were arrested in August shortly after dropping into Russia's Moldavian Republic, a small state near the Romanian border, the Russians said.

Forged papers, guns, poison and large sums of money were found on them when they were picked up, the Soviet account reported.

Russia gave the announcement full publicity.

Morning papers reported it under unusually heavy headlines. It was broadcast in the domestic radio service, radioed to hundreds of provincial papers, and short-waved abroad in several foreign languages.

Russia's story of the cloak-and-dagger incident said:

The spies confessed they were recruited from displaced persons camps in Western Germany by American intelligence agents. They were given special training by American agents in map-making, use of firearms, parachute-jumping, organizing sabotage and terror, and spying.

Investigation and trial brought out that Osmanov and Sarantsev were smuggled into Greece after being trained, and from there were flown in by American officers to the place where they parachuted onto Soviet territory.

Both were said to have testified at their trial that after carrying out their assignments they were to report to US agents at Kars, Turkey.

May Pay Return Visit To Canada

LONDON, Dec. 19 (CP). — Princess Elizabeth may fulfil sooner than expected her promise to pay a return visit to Canada "before too long."

Under a plan now being studied, the Royal visit to Australia and New Zealand early next year may involve a trans-Atlantic flight home by way of Canada.

A Buckingham Palace spokesman said today this is one of two possible methods of returning now under consideration. The other route by-passes Canada.

The return via Canada, if adopted, would involve a flight from Wellington, NZ, to Fiji, with subsequent stops at Hawaii and Vancouver.

What ever route is travelled, the Princess and the Duke of Edinburgh are expected to be back in London by June.

Royal Target

LONDON, Dec. 19 (AP).—The Queen's car was hit by a truck today for the second time in 24 hours. The Queen and Princess Margaret were shopping for Christmas gifts at the time as they were Tuesday. They were inside a shop when the crash occurred, as they were Tuesday. Their car was sideswiped by the truck, as it was before.

Churchill Pledges Britain Will Aid European Army

PARIS, Dec. 19 (AP).—Winston Churchill promised Tuesday night that Britain will support and work with a European army "in all the stages of its political and military development"—but will not join it.

The pronouncement immediately posed the question whether Churchill's moral support without participation would be enough to restore the waning enthusiasm of some European countries for the one-uniform international army.

But the best sources said Churchill's visit, in preparation for his talks with President Truman in Washington next month, may have results that will lead to the actual merger of European forces, including German, in western defence.

Churchill's position was stated in a joint British-French communique after he had lunched with Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower, strong advocate of the European army idea, and had had two days of talks with Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden, French Premier Rene Pleven and Foreign Minister Robert Schuman.

Eisenhower was believed to have told Churchill that England should "come in or stay out" and engage in no half-way measures. Churchill's reported answer was that England would stay out, but would make a statement promising full co-operation with any international army the Europeans may organize.

The communique said Churchill and Eden told their French opposite numbers that Britain would "welcome" an agreement on a European army now being worked out by France, West Germany, Italy, Belgium, Luxembourg and the Netherlands.

Both France and England, it continued, are "convinced that such an agreement offers the right method of integrating a democratic Germany in a purely defensive organization for European security."

Britain will "associate itself as closely as possible with the European defence community at all stages of its political and military development," it said, adding:

"The United Kingdom forces, under the direction of the supreme allied commander in Europe (Eisenhower) will be linked with those of the European defence community for training, supply and operations by land, sea and air. They will stand together in true comradeship."

Hoodlums Muscle In On Carol Singing

LONDON, Dec. 19 (AP) — Hoodlums are muscling into bands of children singing Christmas carols in public.

Scotland Yard reported today the racketeers have taken over parties of youngsters, averaging about 10 years old, and organized them into "beats." Competitors are chased off.

The children sing carols under lighted windows and householders usually reward them with a shilling or so for their songs.

But since the hoodlums took over, the kids must turn over half their collections—which usually amounts to two or three pounds—for "protection."

Bitter Debate May Keep MP's After Christmas

OTTAWA, Dec. 19 (CP) — A prolonged and bitter debate, threatening to keep parliament in session until after Christmas, has been stirred up by the federal government's bill to ban retail price fixing.

Greatest criticism has been launched by the Progressive Conservative party, which hinted of a possible filibuster as the controversial measure to outlaw resale price maintenance went through the first full day of Commons debate Tuesday.

Because of this, it was learned that Prime Minister St. Laurent may propose that parliament recess Friday for Christmas and return to work Thursday, Dec. 27.

The debate Tuesday produced name-calling, two amendments and an indication that the Liberal party is not completely united on the anti-price-maintenance bill.

Roland Beaudry (L-Montreal St. James), an advertising executive, criticized Justice Minister Garson, the bill's sponsor, as the "minister of make believe."

Facts Not Disclosed

He said he did not like the bill because the facts on which it was supposedly based had not been disclosed and coming from a constituency where there were many shop-keepers, he feared the results of the measure.

But, he added, even though he did not like the bill, he would support the government in a vote.

With the exception of Mr. Beaudry, tight party lines were drawn around the Bill, with the government gaining support from the CCF and Social Credit Parties.

As debate steamed up on second reading of the Bill, to prohibit manufacturers from setting the prices at which retailers sell their merchandise, sharp words were exchanged across the Chamber floor.

Donald Fleming (PC-Toronto Eglinton), member of a special parliamentary committee which studied the government's legislation, levelled a charge — later withdrawn and modified — that James Sinclair (L-Coast-Capilano), committee chairman, and Mr. Garson had dispensed "rotten justice" in the committee.

Mr. Sinclair charged the Progressive Conservatives with indulging in "obstruction" and described them as the "historic friends of privilege, monopoly, and reaction."

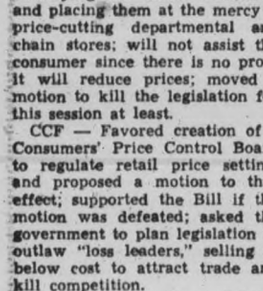
Main theme of the four parties:

Liberals—the Bill will help to bring down prices on price-maintained items; it will strengthen anti-combines legislation by making prosecution more effective; it will help the consumer get a better break on retail prices.

Progressive Conservatives — The Bill may spark price wars, destroying the small merchants and placing them at the mercy of price-cutting departmental and chain stores; will not assist the consumer since there is no proof it will reduce prices; moved a motion to kill the legislation for this session at least.

CCF — Favored creation of a Consumers' Price Control Board to regulate retail price setting, and proposed a motion to that effect; supported the Bill if the motion was defeated; asked the government to plan legislation to outlaw "loss leaders," selling at below cost to attract trade and kill competition.

Social Credit — Supported the legislation because it would help the consumer; suggested it not be considered as a substitute for government action to bring down living costs.



Strengthen Act

Mr. Sinclair said the major effect of the bill will be to strengthen the Combines Investigation Act. A secondary result would be the reduction of price-maintained items.

Those who are against the Bill, he charged, are "a few manufacturers who have loudly claimed their allegiance to free enterprise for everyone else, but who want iron-clad protection for themselves — and that party which, since the days of the Family Compact, has been the historic friends of privilege, monopoly and reaction—the Tory Party."

Mr. Fleming charged the government had introduced the Bill because it was looking for something to "distract" the people from the high cost of living.

Prices Edge Upward On Toronto Exchange

TORONTO, Dec. 19 — (CP).— Early afternoon Stock Market prices edged upward today as mid-session support strengthened. Trading was confined to leading issues.

Refining oils and miscellaneous industrials formed the market's strongest sections with a scattered list of fractional advances. Papers, liquors, and manufacturing companies drew firm support. Food and banks weakened.

Chemical Research climbed steadily in active trading. Penny golds drew speculative interest. Homer Yellowknife was a standout as it climbed pennies in a turnover of about 85,000 shares.

Consolidated Smelters, Falconbridge, International Nickel, and Noranda posted gains to $1. East Sullivan, Labrador, Steep Rock, and Quebec Manitou climbed pennies.

Western oils made little headway. Ajax Petroleum, Calvan Consolidated, Central Explorers, and Sapphire strengthened while Canadian Atlantic, North Canadian and Selburn weakened.

Seniors golds eased from yesterday's gains. Giant Yellowknife, Kerr Addison, Lake Shore and McIntyre dipped fractions. Secondary issues showed little trend.

Chicago Cameramen Put On Show In Library

Twenty members of the Peterborough Camera Club viewed a selection of 35 prints of the Fort Dearborne Camera Club of Chicago at their weekly meeting on Tuesday evening. They rated it a good show of high calibre work.

Of the 19 American exhibitors, the work of four was considered outstanding: D. Ward Pease, Buck Hoy, Betty Henderson and Harry K. Shigeta.

The annual exhibit of the Peterborough club will be held at the Public Library for three weeks commencing February 15. There will be no further club meetings until January 2.

3 Senior Officers Back From Overseas

OTTAWA, Dec. 19 (CP)—The Army today announced the return of three senior officers from overseas appointments and their postings to new jobs in Ottawa, Winnipeg and Montreal.

Lt.-Col. P. S. Cooper, 36, of Revelstoke, BC, serving in the United Kingdom, returns to become General Staff Officer, Grade 1, in the directorate of military training here.

Lt.-Col. R. B. Haley, 37, of Toronto, will return from a course in the United States next month to become Assistant Quartermaster General at headquarters of Quebec Command in Montreal.

Lt.-Col. G. M. Rolfe, 41, of Ottawa, now on course in the US, will become Assistant Quartermaster-General at Prairie Command headquarters in Winnipeg at the beginning of the year.

Convicted Of Extortion Caputo Dies Suddenly

BUFFALO, NY, Dec. 19 (AP)—James J. (Julie) Caputo, 47, Democratic state committeeman recently convicted of conspiracy and extortion as a result of a gambling investigation, died of a heart attack today.

Caputo and former city licence director John P. Rollek, a Republican, were convicted Dec. 7. They had not been sentenced. They were found innocent of charges of bribery and taking unlawful fees.

Caputo, Rollek and 11 other city officials, police officers and others were accused of taking part in an alleged "pay-off" conspiracy in which a grand jury said between $80,000 and $100,000 was handed out by pinball machine distributors during 1950.

70 School Teachers Likely Paid After All

TIMMINS, Dec. 19 — (CP). — Seventy Timmins public school teachers probably will be paid before Christmas after all.

Public School Inspector J. C. McClelland said today he will meet with City Council tonight and on behalf of the School Board ask for a loan of $10,000 to pay the teachers' December salaries before Christmas.

Mayor Philip Fay and three councillors said in interviews today they are in favor of letting the board have the money even though there is no legal authority for the move.

About 200 citizens of the town gathered in front of the burning building shortly after the alarm was turned in. They watched the firefighters, slightly hampered by lack of some equipment, striving to isolate the fire and contain it in the three-storey building.

Power Cut Off

At the height of the fire, one high tension wire in front of the building broke, and emergency repairs had to be made on the ice-covered cables. This cable served a rural area to the northwest of the town.

There were few flames to the fire. Heavy grey smoke tinged in places with yellow blanketed the front of the building.

Carries Out Three Women

Just after the alarm was turned in, Bruce Wallace night superintendent of a Campbellford cloth firm, went into the smoky corridors of the building's upstairs and carried three women, overcome by smoke, down a back stairway to the street.

Wallace said he didn't know who the women were. He made three trips up and down the dim stairway.

The fourth woman who was overcome was carried out by Garfield Fraser.

Not long after the fire started, a line of people was carrying cartons loaded with drugs from the drug store to the office of the Campbellford Cloth Co. across the street. Owner of the drugstore, Douglas Carswell, said he could not estimate the damage.

Fire Chief George H. Hardy and the 12 regular firemen were aided by volunteers in fighting the blaze in the 10-below-zero temperature.

Water Freezes

Water froze on the front of the building, seemingly almost as fast as the firemen played it on the building. Long icicles and a thick crust of ice formed on the eaves and the flat surfaces of the front.

Night Constable W. E. Cargin stayed on duty long past his replacement hour, working with Provincial Constable George Rose. They were directing traffic, and working with firemen.

Traffic, blocked along both streets all night, was still being detoured around the scene of the fire this morning.

Serve Coffee

Two restaurants—the Clifton Tea Room and the Coffee Shop—supplied firemen and volunteers with free coffee and sandwiches.

Campbellford's last really bad fire was in 1932, when 7,000 cords of pulpwood, owned by the Gair Co. of Canada, burned near the Gair plant on the south side of the town.

Tenants in the apartments were: Mr. and Mrs. Claude Post and three children, Mr. and Mrs. Douglas Carswell, Mr. and Mrs. Earl Gill, Mrs. Josephine Doan, Mrs. Mae Phillips, Mrs. Josephine Moyce, Mrs. Arthur Drinkwater, and Mr. and Mrs. Fred McArthur and their son, Joel.

Talks Continue In Effort Avert TTC Strike

TORONTO, Dec. 19 — (CP) — Toronto street-car and bus riders may know tonight whether they will have to walk to work.

Employees of the Toronto Transportation Commission pressing for wage increases today began voting for or against strike action to enforce their demands. Union polls close at 9 pm.

A strike of the TTC's 4,700 employees would affect many of the 1,300,000 residents of Toronto and suburbs. The employees also man buses of the Gray Coach Lines, a TTC subsidiary operating in Central Ontario.

Meanwhile, Labor Minister Daley and Chief Conciliation Officer Louis Fine met union and TTC officials in an attempt to break the deadlock. "We will get the story from both sides and see what we can do about bringing them together," said Mr. Daley.

Seek $1.55 Rate

The Street Railwaymen's Union (AFL-CIO) is seeking a basic hourly rate of $1.55. The TTC, basing its offer on the majority report of a conciliation board, has offered $1.45 and an escalator cost-of-living bonus. The current rate for operators is $1.24 an hour plus 16 cents in cost-of-living bonus. Conductors get five cents an hour less.

The commission maintains that it cannot meet the union's request without boosting fares from three rides for 25 cents to 10 cents a ride.

The strike vote was to be taken by secret ballot at various divisional points and garages of the TTC system. If the membership votes for a strike, the executive will probably allow a period of grace for further talks before a strike is called.

The Toronto Traffic Conference, an advisory body to city council, met Tuesday to discuss emergency measures required in the event of a strike.

CNR Lynn Lake Line Finished In 1953

OTTAWA, Dec. 19 — (CP). — Construction of a Canadian National Railways line into the new mining area of Lynn Lake, Man., is going ahead on schedule and is expected to be completed in October, 1953, the government said today.

A return tabled in the Commons said the final cost of the line will "depend on the trend of costs experienced in railway construction projects" and the urgency of completing the line before mineral production begins in 1954. Estimated cost is $14,725,000.

The return was tabled for Earl Catherwood (PC-Haldimand).

Navy Plane SOS Sparks Ocean Search

OAKLAND, Calif., Dec. 19 (AP) —Emergency air-escort planes raced out over the Pacific today for a rendezvous with a four-engine navy transport plane reported in trouble about 900 miles off the coast.

The pilot's message said he had a "runaway propeller." This meant that he couldn't control the speed or pitch of the blades.

The plane was en route from Honolulu to the navy air base near San Francisco. It was due there at 1 pm PST. (10 am EST).

Messages from the plane did not say how many were aboard.

New Storm for US

Another snow storm and cold struck today over wide areas of the United States which staggered from nearly a week of blustery, wintry weather.

The new storm centred in the northern and central Rockies and snow pelted areas in the mountain region and the northern plains States.

It was another morning of sub-zero cold in the snow-covered Mid-west as a new mass of cold air pushed across the Canadian border.

Some areas of the storm belt from the Pacific Northwest to the New England States were promised moderating temperatures today. But generally there appeared no immediate relief as the snow and cold headed for the Midwest and Eastern States.

Stepson Alive Best Yule Gift

ST. CATHARINES, Dec. 19 — (CP). — Mrs. C. B. Brooker got the "best Christmas present I ever had" early today—news that her stepson, Cpl. John Davis of the United States Army, is alive and a prisoner of war in Korea.

Mr. and Mrs. Brooker heard the news on a midnight broadcast by an American radio station. Since then neighbors and friends have been calling almost constantly on the telephone "It's really been a bedlam," Mrs. Brooker said.

This morning a telegram from Washington confirmed that Cpl. Davis was believed a Communist prisoner. A member of the 1st Cavalry Division, he joined the US Army in 1950, and was reported missing in November, 1950.

"I had never given up during the whole 13 months he was missing," Mrs. Brooker said today. "But those 13 months were months of awful suspense."

Miners Resume Wage Talks

TIMMINS, Dec. 19 (CP)—Officials of Local 100, United Steel Workers of America (CIO) and McIntyre-Porcupine Mines today resumed their wage and benefits dispute before an Ontario Labor Department conciliation board.

A seven-hour round of proposals and counter-proposals Tuesday brought no settlement.

The union seeks a "substantial" wage increase, 44-hour week instead of 48 for underground workers, union dues check-off, nine paid holidays instead of four, two weeks vacation with pay after three years, three weeks after five years and four after fifteen years' service.

The union said Tuesday in its submission to the board:

". . . A firm as wealthy as McIntyre-Porcupine is well able to take the lead in establishing better conditions not only as regards vacations but other conditions. . . People employed in the gold mining and hard rock mining industry should enjoy better than average working conditions. . ."

Manvers Approves School Debentures

BETHANY, Dec. 19 (ENS). — The issuing of debentures for the Victoria County district high school area were approved at the Manvers township municipal council meeting.

If all the townships approve the issuing of these debentures, the high school area board will be able to proceed with additions to the Lindsay Collegiate and Fenelon Falls high school.

Accounts totalling $42,464.85 were moved paid.

The Christmas Spirit

CREWE, England, Dec. 19—(AP).—A train-load of happy Scotsmen almost got to London Tuesday afternoon without paying. There was no ticket collector aboard the Royal Scot, fast express train from Glasgow to London. But railroad officials remembered just in time and stopped the train at Crewe to put on a ticket collector.

Thousands Trapped In UK Subway Tieup

LONDON, Dec. 19 (Reuters)—London's subway system broke down in the rush hour today for the second time in a little more than 12 hours. Thousands of workers were trapped for more than 30 minutes while others lined up in the streets for buses.

The hold-up today was caused by jammed brakes on the northbound train. Four trains broke down during the evening rush, Tuesday night.

ten in English. Men were not identified by rank, unit or in any other way.

They pointed out that there are innumerable English spellings for any Chinese name; and the English spelling could be translated back into varying combinations of Chinese ideographs.

Agree To Changes

The UN has promised to supply a list written in Chinese and Korean about Christmas Day. Red China's Peiping radio said the allies also agreed to identify them by rank and unit as soon as possible after Christmas.

Brig.-Gen. William Nuckols, official UN command spokesman said the UN list was "just a confirmation of information already given the Communists by the Red Cross. The information is readily available to them. Nothing is being withheld."

Nuckols said the Red Cross data "was in the original language, I'm sure."

"We asked for the name, the nationality, the location of their camp and the names of men in each camp," he said.

That was the information in the UN list.

The Red list contained the same information plus serial numbers and unit. The Communists supplied the allied names in English.

But there were protests that the 11,599 prisoners listed were far short of the more than 100,000 allied troops missing. The discrepancy is primarily in South Korean troops.

The list of 3,198 Americans and approximately 1,220 other UN nationals was roughly what was expected, UN command sources said.

But 7,142 South Korean prisoners is only one twelfth of the number the South Korean government said were missing.

Acheson Sees European Unity Making Progress

WASHINGTON, Dec. 19 (CP) State Secretary Dean Acheson said today European countries have made more progress toward unity in the last four years than in the previous 500.

His statement at a press conference was in effect a reply to critics who say Europe must do more for unity more quickly. In support of it, he cited the French-sponsored plan for a coal-steel "pool" and the arrangements being discussed for an all-European army.

Acheson also said:

1. The western allies hope early in the new year to complete arrangements for Western German self-rule and participation in European defence.

2. He would never recommend to President Truman any disarmament plan based on Russian promises. There must be concrete evidence of disarmament in every country if it is to work.

3. There cannot be any disarmament while military operations are going on in Korea.

More Serious

4. The situation in the Middle East has grown more serious and the western countries have lost ground in efforts to obtain a solution for the Iranian and Egyptian crises.

5. Russia's assertion that two alleged spies, now reported executed, were dropped into the Soviet Union by the United States is a fabrication. He described it as in line with Communist efforts to charge the United States and its allies with aggressive intentions toward the Red bloc.

6. The United States is continuing to do all it can to bring about the release from Red Hungary of four American fliers captured when their plane went down last month.

Charge Trenton Man With Carrying Gun

TORONTO, Dec. 19 — (CP) — Police charged George Edward Fillon, 34, of Trenton, with carrying an offensive weapon after a downtown restaurant owner called police Tuesday night because "he talked too much."

Restaurant owner John Wolsochuk told police Filion, who appeared to have been drinking, told him that he was carrying a gun and had "two men outside with shotguns."

Boats Caught In Quick River Freeze-up

WINDSOR, Dec. 19 (CP)—As freezing temperatures choked off the Detroit River in one of the earliest freeze-ups in its history, the lower river and west end of Lake Erie was dotted today with ice-locked freighters. Five tankers, a coal boat and two cutters of the United States Coast Guard were reported in trouble.

Stranded ships have been there for almost two days. There was little hope of rescuing the ships.

The Amhertsburg tug, Atomic, veteran ice smasher around that part of the navigation system, was in Toledo, O., where she safely deposited the Imperial Leduc late Tuesday night.

The Leduc, torn by explosions at Sarnia last week, was towed to the Toledo dry dock for repairs.

The Atomic battled the ice 12 hours to get the world's largest fresh water tanker to the dry dock berth.

The Atomic, on her return trip, will go to Pelee Passage lighthouse to pick up the lighthouse crew, R. S. Lidwell and Albert Moore of Leamington. Both are Department of Transport employees.

Keeping Company

The tanker L. S. Wescoat has been at the Detroit River light, 17 miles south of Amherstburg, for 36 hours. With her is the Boston Socony, another tanker from Cleveland.

The Detroit coal boat, Fred L. Hewitt, of the Browning Line, is iced in at the same spot with a full cargo.

The tanker, Blue Comet, is stuck in ice somewhere between the Detroit River light and the Toledo light and a tanker called Pan-Oil is crossways in Livingstone Channel, off Amherstburg.

The tanker Meteor, off Pelee Passage light, northwest of Pelee Island, may get a hand from the Atomic when she comes through. The two, however, has not yet left Toledo.

The US Coast Guard sent out two cutters to assist the stricken vessels. The cuuters soon became stricken vessels themselves. One was iced in Livingstone channel overnight but freed herself this morning, and was moving up the channel. The other is still locked in.

Jack O'Neil Re-elected Head Of Local Hunters

Jack O'Neil was re-elected as president of the Peterborough Fish and Game Protective Association at the annual election of officers on Monday evening. Others elected to the executive were Harry Calberry, 1st vice-president, Bert Carter, 2nd vice-president, Stan Purser, secretary, and Frank Adam, treasurer.

The following directors elected for 1952 were: Norman Bradley, George Hutchison, Bud Fisher, Charles Kingan, Bud Lloyd, Hilliard Tighe, Jim Weyer, Cam Rowatt, Ken Payne and Dennis Traynor.

1952 Program.

An extensive program is planned for 1952, the 60-odd members were informed. A book on conservation called "Peter's Adventures in the Outdoors," is being distributed to all public schools in the city and to the Public Library, two copies each.

Officers of the city police have been asked by Norman Bradley to co-operate with the boys of members who will be instructed in rifle range practice this winter at the Armouries butts. The first night's group will be under the eye of Constable Dennis Traynor and James Weyer on the first Wednesday evening in January.

A night for juniors has been arranged by the club early in January and an out-of-town speaker will address them. A trophy is to be presented by the club for the best bird house built this winter. Rules of the competition are to be announced later.

Officials report their club to be in excellent financial condition.

Appeal Made To Help Family

An appeal is being made to citizens of this district to help a Dummer township family who lost their home and contents in a fire December 4.

Walter Rusaw, of the 9th line of Dummer township, returned home with his wife and family from Norwood on the night of December 4 to find his home entirely gutted by fire.

Mr. Rusaw has built a place for his family to live in, but is greatly in need of furniture, bedding and clothing.

Thoughtful neighbors and friends are appealing that the Christmas spirit be shown by donations of these needed articles to this unfortunate family, so that their Christmas may be a happier and more comfortable one than their present situation will provide.

All who wish to donate furniture are asked to call 8131, Peterborough, and a truck will call to pick up the articles.

Harold Foley Freed Of Careless Driving

Finding there was not sufficient degree of negligence to warrant a conviction, Magistrate W. R. Philp dismissed a careless driving charge against Harold Foley, of Douro township when the evidence was heard in police court Tuesday.

Foley was involved in a sideswipe collision with a car driven by Roy Stillman of RR 3 Keene, on the Keene Road, the night of November 3.

The accident occurred on a bridge when Foley, who was driving north, met the Stillman car coming in the opposite direction.

Foley said he did not see the oncoming car until he was on the bridge and in attempting to give the other car enough room, his wheels caught on the metal wheel tracks of the bridge. The bridge was slippery at the time and Foley's car slewed over and the two cars collided.

Foley was defended by W. J. Arthur Fair.

Newspapers And Contempt Of Court

A few days ago the Toronto Globe and Mail was fined for contempt of court by Mr. Justice Wells. The circumstances were these: the Globe published an editorial criticising the sentences which had been passed on four youths who had been convicted of rape, and suggested that the Attorney General should appeal them; the Attorney General has since done so. The trial of the youths was held in camera, and as a result the Globe did not know that a trial of a fifth youth implicated in the case was in progress, and also in camera; the boy's counsel argued that the editorial might prejudice the jury against his client, and that the editorial was contempt; Mr. Justice Wells agreed, qualifying his agreement by saying that he was convinced that the contempt was unintentional; he fined the newspaper the costs of the action and nothing more. In his comment on the case he said:

> "The press in this province, generally speaking, has displayed a very high sense of responsibility to the courts and I trust this may be continued. That is something of which every one who wishes to see a proper administration of law and justice should approve and cherish."

* * *

Mr. Justice Wells plainly had little relish for the work before him; the law made it necessary for him to punish a responsible newspaper for an unintentional breach of the law. He knew, as everyone else acquainted with newspapers knows, how careful the press is to avoid contempt of court, because newspapers are as eager as the courts themselves that trials should be fair and unprejudiced. But the laws governing contempt were formulated long before the invention of newspapers, and they have not been changed or kept in line with the large body of the law, since that time. They constitute, in fact, an anomaly in our legal system, for in matters relating to contempt, a judge may himself be the person offended, the prosecutor of the case, the sole authority to decide the guilt or innocence of the accused, and he may impose sentence without limit; furthermore, neither the conviction nor the sentence is open to appeal to a higher court. Virtually all judges use these powers with discretion, though vain and foolish judges have abused them in the course of history. But is it right that such powers should exist? They could be a means of silencing virtually any criticism of the courts, or comment upon legal proceedings.

* * *

In the course of his judgement on the case under discussion Mr. Justice Wells—who is certainly a man of great tact and liberality himself in his attitude toward the rough edges of the law—said that the right of the press to report legal cases was one of the most important safeguards of modern life, and a positive assistance in the proper conduct of judicial proceedings. If this is the case, it is time that the law was altered so that the press is not subject to such surprise convictions, and such unintentional contempt, as that described here.

* * *

We like the attitude which the Globe has taken in the matter. It says that "should the occasion arise, it would feel in duty bound to act in the same manner again." And—this is important—the Globe was in the right about the trial of the four youths whose sentences were so light, and the action of the Attorney General supports the newspaper. Canadian newspapers may rightly take the attitude which the Globe has taken: they will do what common sense and professional responsibility tells them to be necessary, and if they fall foul of the law, they will take their medicine, convinced that sooner or later an archaic and tyrannous aspect of the law will have to be changed.

Fire! Fire!

Every year at this time the province, indeed the whole country, flares. The fires range from small matters of overheated chimneys to million dollar blazes like that at Corner Brook, Newfoundland, yesterday. People have begun to link them with Christmas. Cheerful carelessness has little or nothing to do with it. The fires strike, not because it is Christmas, but because the first prolonged bout of cold weather usually happens around Christmas.

Remarkably, the most numerous and the worst fires come at the beginning of winter, and not later when there are longer spells of colder weather. Perhaps it is not remarkable. The human memory lapses and experience thins out during a year. People who were expert stokers of furnaces and stoves last January, who had developed the utmost care in dealing with open flame and fuzzy electric wiring by last spring, who had acquired a sixth sense about overheating pipes and inflammable litter; these people seem to have forgotten what they knew. The edge of their long experience last winter has been dulled by summer somnolence. Why, even automatic stokers bungle in the first cold snap! The Parkhill school which overheated itself and belched smoke Monday afternoon has an oil furnace, mechanically fired and controlled.

The school fire was the first of two quite serious ones in Peterborough within twenty-four hours; one of a dozen alarms which the Fire Department had. A couple of days earlier Warkworth had two bad fires. Fire reports are filling local and metropolitan newspaper columns right across the Province. They should be a warning to people to quickly relearn the precautions their experience of last winter and other winters should have taught them. And it should instruct them that the first big cold spell of winter is the most fire-prone. They should be especially careful and alert—and ensure that dirty chimneys and stove-pipes are atttended to, that improper wiring is repaired. Above all, this should be remembered: it is better that the flesh should be a bit chilly than that it should sizzle. Apply heat to the house gradually, with due respect for pipes disused for five months and a lively awareness that the first cold spell is a fire-eater. The news pages of this and other papers during the last four days prove it.

Americans Will Learn Canada's Importance This Way

A director of a news service operating out of Toronto, Montreal and Ottawa told us the other day—as if it were a new discovery—that Americans are remarkably ignorant of Canada. The news service is attempting to remedy this situation a little by commissioning a regular column written in Ottawa about Canada. It expects to sell the column to discriminating American newspapers (it has its eye on a profitable market). However, we suspect that the sales will not be grandiose, for the ignorance is borne of indifference to Canada.

Until that indifference can be driven out of the Americans, they'll not give Canada or Canadian affairs much heed. The news service is approaching this problem carefully. It is making a dollar appeal. It is telling the U.S. newspapers: "Do you realize that a third of the profits of Canadian industry go into American hands; a third of every Canadian industrial dollar earned?" That ought to be bait for some Americans.

But new ways to make Americans conscious of Canada are appearing. Let something wicked or sharp come out of the big map blob to the north of the U.S. and they will prick up their ears, and maybe get sufficiently angry or peevish to find out what this silent, unknown, quiet and Good Neighbour is. Take, for instance the hullabaloo in the States about sharks on the edges of the Toronto mining market. American rage at being fleeced by these smart operators made headlines in hundreds of U.S. papers. Now, over the week-end is the revelation coming from no less a place than New York police precincts that international jewel thieves are operating in Canada. We can see the American headlines screaming.

The reason Americans are indifferent to Canada is that Canada has been too good, too mild, no bother at all. Schoolmasters do not remember the good boys; but they never forget the bad ones. American masters of Canadian finance and all their minions will not take Canada so much for granted if something out of Canada throws mud in the eye, rocks the boat, swindles Americans, high-jacks jewels. That's the stuff to wake the Americans up to the fact that Canada exists, and can demonstrably affect the concerns of Uncle Sam.

NOTES AND COMMENT

Latest Canadian idiom: as shaky as a Quebec bridge.

In too many households a stitch in time is a big surprise.

A Southern moonshiner whose mixture killed 38 people explains that he "didn't mean it." But there are 38 interested parties who can't hear him.

Some one asks if "bagpipes" is singular or plural. To many this alleged musical instrument looks plural and sounds singular.

An acquaintance wants to know the answer to this question: How may life be enjoyed commensurately with what it now costs to live?

The Augusta (Kansas) Gazette should be spoken to severely for using this zany simile: "As long-faced as a mule eating oats out of a churn."

We are told that it may be as unsanitary for two persons to kiss as it would be for them to use the same toothbrush. This will undoubtedly reduce kissing by .00000001 of one per cent.

Turner: Supreme Colourist

By CHARLES CLARE

(Ed. Note: The famous English artist died a hundred years ago today. This special article was written at the behest of the British Council by the Registrar of the Courtauld Institute of Art, University of London.)

J. M. W. Turner exhibited his first oil painting in the annual Royal Academy exhibition in 1797, at the age of 22. By this time he was already an accomplished water-colourist and his drawings had been accepted by the Academy as early as 1790. His early tuition in the oil medium is obscure although tradition has it that he copied at the studio of Sir Joshua Reynolds, who died in 1792. Turner entered the Royal Academy Schools in 1789 and it seems reasonable to suppose that he learnt the elements of his craft during this period.

LIKE many another English painter his early work was often based upon Dutch 17th century models and in addition to marine painting, landscapes and genre subjects were handled with increasing virtuosity. The sea and everything connected with the sea fascinated Turner throughout his life and provided him with endless subjects both calm and stormy. His interest in fisherfolk is vividly reflected in the bustling, stormy; atmosphere of Calais Pier painted in 1803. As early as 1800 the calm radiance of Richard Wilson, the great 18th century English landscape painter, appeared in Turner's mythological subject Aeneas with the Sibyl. This picture was the first of a long line of paintings in which Greek mythology and Roman history were later made the vehicles of dazzling effects of light and colour.

In 1802 the Treaty of Amiens opened up Europe again for a brief period to travellers from Britain: Turner hurried over to France and Switzerland by a way of Calais, and visited the Louvre, where he made a number of notes on the pictures. He was enthusiastic about Titian's use of colour and the balanced light and shade of Nicolas Poussin; Ruysdael he also admired, but he disliked Rubens' system of double lighting though he thought the Flemish painter's technique was brilliant.

In 1807 there appeared a brilliant essay in the manner of Dutch 17th century genre painting entitled The Blacksmith's Shop. Here we find bright touches of local colour and an accomplished treatment of light. This was followed in 1808 by The Death of Nelson in which Turner established himself as England's greatest historical painter.

The earlier works such as Calais Pier were possessed of a Byronic fury which gave way during the next four years to quietness and meditation. Turner was essentially a poet at heart, and although his meagre education prevented him from expressing himself at all adequately in words, his reaction to nature is that of a poet and his work represents one aspect of the Romantic Movement in England. Although his painting had become so much lighter in hue by 1808 he still obtained his effects of light and air more by subtle variations in tone than by colour. Light in all its manifestations fascinated Turner, gradually at first and then with increasing force as he grew older.

He had to endure much hostility and "The Death of Nelson" was severely criticized by the cognoscenti for the lack of finish in the foreground, an effect which he had introduced deliberately in order that the subject should appear to be a proper distance from the eye and lighted as a whole.

IN spite of much ill-considered criticism a number of influential patrons and critics supported him; during the second half of his life wealthy manufacturers began to buy his paintings. Throughout his life Turner enjoyed loyal support from the majority of his fellow Academicians, especially the younger men, and on at least one occasion the Academy was severely criticized for its modernist tendencies in countenancing his work. Turner did not, however, rely solely upon the annual exhibitions at the Royal Academy to sell his paintings. In 1808 he built his own gallery in Queen Anne Street West and for some years held annual exhibitions of his work. After these exhibitions were discontinued he kept a number of his pictures on permanent show; some of them were sold, but several others which he called his "darlings" he refused to part with, and they were eventually bequeathed to the nation.

Between 1806 and 1810 Turner painted 12 oil sketches of subjects connected with the River Thames and the Wey. All of them were painted on thin veneer boards and are among the earliest examples of outdoor painting in oils. Swift and summary in their treatment they are notes of rapidly changing effects of light and shade which foreshadow the oil sketches of John Constable some years later. As early as 1809 Turner's interest in light led him to study Claude Gellee, whose work made him feel both excited and unhappy because he felt it was inimitable.

THIS clearly distinguishable phase of Claudian influence in which Turner renders light mainly by subtle gradations of tone ends in 1819, the year of his first visit to Rome, with the large painting of Richmond Hill on the Prince Regent's Birthday.

Steadily his own very personal vision unfolds itself, reinforced by an acute visual memory, and as early as 1813 he had produced an astonishingly modern landscape in Frosty Morning, a picture which strangely enough achieved instant popularity. Archdeacon Fisher, who was a staunch friend of Constable, described it as "a picture of pictures". Turner paints a simple picture of a frosty morning in the country with the calmness of Wordsworth. It is a detached yet deeply felt interpretation of that moment when the winter sun rises and slowly thaws the frosty land.

✧ ✧ ✧

AN important feature of Turner's career was his practice of spending several months each year travelling in search of material for his pictures. Owing to the unsettled state of Europe, his visit to France and Switzerland in 1802 was the only occasion on which he left this country until 1817. There after his visits to the Rhine, Switzerland and Italy became more frequent until he was 70 years old and failing health curtailed his travels. His first visit to Rome in 1819 brought about a marked change in his work. Like Poussin, Claude and Richard Wilson before him he found lasting inspiration in the scenery around Rome, Tivoli and Naples. On his return to London, Turner's colour became brilliant. In 1813 he had already begun priming his canvas with white in order to obtain greater light in all parts of the picture. The first Italian visit clarified his ideas and from now on colour and light became indivisible. The first results of this visit to Italy disappointed his admirers, but in 1823 he produced The Bay of Baiae, a much idealized rendering of the subject, in which dazzling light is rendered in pure colour; the white ground is stained in parts like watercolour, in others thinly scumbled. The foreground has darkened a good deal in the course of time but even when it was first painted the shadows in this part of the picture must have appeared rather heavy in comparison with the brilliant colour in the more distant parts of the scene.

THE following decade of Turner's life is characterized by work in which the ground if often laid in with masses of blue, yellow or red. Norham Castle is a vision of mist and sunrise carried out in primary red, blue and yellow worked into a white ground, a foreshadowing of French 19th century Impressionism in its colour. The decade closes with The Fighting Temeraire in which the painter returns once more to a historical subject. This time he contrasts the graceful sailing ship of the past with the new age of steam represented by the tug. The colour is nearly as limpid as water colour, and the river is painted with all that mastery which Turner possessed when he dealt with water.

The last great controversial picture of his career, Rain, Steam and Speed, was painted in 1844. Here the elements are represented by the steam and speed of the railway train rushing across the viaduct and by the driving rain which transmutes the light into a shimmering opalescent mist. During the last ten years of his life Turner exploits every effect of light and darkness and his compositions become more abstract. His inspiration comes now from the idea lying behind his subject rather than from the outward appearance. The splendours of Rome and Baiae give way to fragile dreams of Venice and Apocalyptic visions such as the Angel standing in the Sun.

Turner's importance lies very largely in the way in which he anticipated the development of landscape painting in the 19th century. Long before he died the canvas primed with white and the light scale of colours which he used had been widely adopted. The works of the last decade of his life remained a closed book until the present century, when it was realized that Turner's dreams were nearer to the truth than had been suspected. Outside these islands he was unappreciated during his lifetime except in Italy and the United States.

LAUNCESTON by J. M. W. Turner. This creation of Turner's ripe genius has majesty of expression and indicates foreign influence on his work. (See Third Column)

Shiver Your Timbers, Mate!

(HAMILTON SPECTATOR)

THREE hundred and fifty dollars a month is the average wage of an able seaman in the American merchant marine, with a 40-hour week and an environment which is plushy compared to the salt beef and the wet forecastles of the Cape Horners of the old days.

Yet these stout lads are far from satisfied with their lot, notwithstanding that an American able seaman used to receive $62.50 a month and there was no 40-hour week. That was not so long ago either.

At a recent convention of the C.I.O. National Maritime Union, meeting in New York, delegates had the temerity to press for a number of fantastic demands. Washing machines had already been installed on ships, so the next thing was to ask for electric irons. Special name brands of face soap, two cakes a week for each man, were something else.

Chairs, instead of benches, in messrooms were also on the list of "improved conditions". The menus, too, gave rise to a beef. These were not sufficiently diversified and it was urged that crews have the privilege of drafting the daily bill of fares—breast of pheasant, no doubt, filet mignon with creamed mushrooms and simple little dishes like that.

Another group presented a resolution calling upon the owners to "provide entertainment aboard ship for personnel"—a string orchestra, it is to be supposed, playing gay Vienna melodies while the deck swabs and the black gang dallied over their peach melba at dinner. Oh, yes, there was that annual vacation, too. The present one was felt to be inadequate. Six weeks ashore with pay would be just about right. And so it went.

Next year it may be electric razors, atomizers and shaving lotion.

Whatever would Joseph Conrad, John Masefield, Jack London and others of the hardy breed of sail think of such goings on? No one would want to see the hardships return which they knew—seamen working for $15 a month as ships fought their way around Cape Horn in the teeth of savage gales and a man out on a yard had to hang by his teeth as he battled icy canvas far above the grey rolling wolves that slavered to devour him.

But there is a limit, and American ship owners feel that it was passed when sweet reason departed from the councils of the seamen's union. The day may be near when American merchant ships can no longer meet international competition because of the frivolous demands of their crews.

Unconsidered Trifles

Asking at the chemist's for his favourite brand of hair cream, a young man was told it was out of stock, but was offered a substitute.

"Is it as good as the brand I normally use?" he asked.

"Well," replied the chemist, "It's a kind of superior equivalent."

"No, of course," she replied.

"But wot abaht Uncle 'Orace wot's in the asylum and keeps sayin' 'e's Napoleon?"

"Oh," said his wife, "yer don't want to tike any notice of 'im—'e's potty."

Counsel and police witness were having a battle of words. Finally counsel turned to the policeman and said: "But if a man is on his hands and knees in the middle of the road, surely that is no proof that he is drunk?"

"Probably not, sir," replied the policeman. "But this one was trying to roll up the white line!"

Call Us An Officer's Wife, And See If We Care

(Kingston Whig-Standard)

It seems some British and United States correspondents in Egypt are highly annoyed. The British Army authorities didn't quite know what to do with them. The situation was potentially dangerous, suitable accommodation for males was non-existent, and the problem of satisfactory meals for the correspondents also entered into the picture. So the authorities suddenly discovered that all these matters could be taken care of at a camp designated for the use of pregnant women, labelled the correspondents "officers' wives" and bundled them off to the camp. That was when the correspondents expressed annoyance.

These very expressions of annoyance lead us to expect that the correspondents did not object particularly to the word "pregnant". There are writers who rather welcome that word in connection with their thoughts and the transcriptions of them. We have a feeling that these are the sort of writers who would object to being classified as women or as officers' wives.

For our part, in similar circumstances, we wouldn't care much. In return for good food, comfortable quarters, and security—with no surrender of journalistic standards—the authorities could send us to a camp for pregnant centipedes and label us the wife of any number of other ranks. The original purpose of the quarters and the label matter not at all, and we are surprised that some newspapermen—who should be the first to applaud when a rigid system elasticizes itself to a good end—protested against such ingenious treatment.

Bible Message

(From the Authorized Version)

And it came to pass after these things, that Naboth the Jezreelite had a vineyard, which was in Jezreel, hard by the palace of Ahab king of Samaria. And Ahab spake unto Naboth, saying, Give me thy vineyard, that I may have it for a garden of herbs, because it is near unto my house: and I will give thee for it a better vineyard than it; or, if it seem good to thee, I will give thee the worth of it in money. And Naboth said to Ahab, the Lord forbid it me, that I should give the inheritance of my fathers unto thee. And Ahab came into his house heavy and displeased because of the word which Naboth the Jezreelite had spoken to him: for he said, I will not give thee the inheritance of my fathers. And he laid him down upon his bed, and turned away his face, and would eat no bread.

And Jezebel his wife said unto him, Dost thou now govern the kingdom of Israel? arise, and eat bread, and let thine heart be merry: I will give thee the vineyard of Naboth the Jezreelite. So she wrote letters in Ahab's name, and sealed them with his seal, and sent the letters unto the elders and to the nobles that were in his city, dwelling with Naboth.

And she wrote in the letters, saying, Proclaim a fast, and set Naboth on high among the people: and set two men, sons of Belial, before him, to bear witness against him, saying, Thou didst blaspheme God and the king. And then carry him out, and stone him, and he may die. And it came to pass, when Jezebel heard that Naboth was stoned, and was dead, that Jezebel said to Ahab, Arise, take possession of the vineyard of Naboth the Jezreelite, which he refused to give thee for money: for Naboth is not alive, but dead. (I Kings 21: 1-4, 7-10, 15.)

Politics and Providence

(Calgary Albertan)

According to one Social Credit authority some months ago, God gave oil to Alberta because it had a Social Credit government. Or was it the other way around—God gave Alberta a Social Credit government because it had oil? In any case, the two went together. The material blessings of the province would not have been realized but for Social Credit.

For some reason that explanation is not accepted by most Alberta people, and it even brought ridicule on its author.

But we notice that Mr. Walter Tucker, Liberal leader in Saskatchewan, has stated, as reported by the Regina Leader-Post that "oil will be found in Saskatchewan when voters defeat the CCF government".

The Change

(Winnipeg Free Press)

Speaking recently of world developments since 1945, Mr. Attlee, leader of the UK Labour Party, summed up as follows:

"When we sat up in a room high up in San Francisco making plans for the United Nations, (in 1945), we got on very well. An American senator would say 'OK'. Then I said 'OK' and then Molotov said 'OK'.

"How different the world would have been if only he had continued to say 'OK' afterwards, but as you all know from then on it was just 'No, No, No'."

OFF THE RAILS

A Vicar who was very absent-minded one day strolled towards the station, where a train was just ready to depart. A shout came from the platform:

"Run, sir, run!"

The vicar broke into a trot and tore open a carriage door. He flung himself into a seat just as the train gathered speed out of the station.

When he had regained his breath he turned to the only other ocupant of the carriage. "I was lucky to catch it," he said. Then a startled look came on his face. "Good gracious!" he exclaimed. "I don't want this train at all. I came down to invite the stationmaster to a meeting."

Russell Recount Gives PC Election By 10 Votes

OTTAWA, Dec. 19 (CP). — J. Daniel Nault, Progressive Conservative, was re-elected to the Ontario Legislature for Russell riding by a margin of 10 votes as a result of the judicial recount which concluded Tuesday.

Following the provincial election Nov. 22, returns gave Raoul Landriault, Liberal candidate, a margin of three votes. A request for a recount was made in behalf of Mr. Nault, who had held the Russell seat in the last legislature.

County Judge C. W. A. Marion presided at the recount which took five days.

Totals for the three candidates were given as: Nault, 6,946; Landriault, 6,936, and Wesley McCullough, CCF, 1,894.

Judge Marion advised the candidates that under the Ontario Election Act a period of 48 hours is granted for appeal to the Ontario Court of Appeals from the time the recount is finished.

Mr. Landriault announced he will not enter an appeal and conceded the election to Mr. Nault.

Then there was handshaking all round and Mr. Nault invited the other candidates and legal representatives to a reception at his home to finish out the day.

Princess Pats Home For Christmas Day

OTTAWA, Dec. 19 (CP).—Another draft of 80 officers and men of the 2nd Battalion of the PPCLI are expected to arrive at Seattle, Wash., by ship from Korea and will be flown home in time for Christmas by the RCAF.

Defence headquarters said on Tuesday special plans have been made to get this third draft under the Korean rotation plan home to their families by Dec. 25. They will be taken from McChord Field near Tacoma, Wash., by RCAF North Stars the day they arrive and within the next 24 hours the majority will be home.

The returning troops are veterans of a year's service in Korea.

Hamilton Soldier On Chinese POW List

HAMILTON, Dec. 19—(CP)—Mrs. Arthur Jenkins Tuesday night was "overjoyed" to hear that her son, Gnr. John Orval Jenkins, missing in Korea since last summer, is named as a prisoner-of-war in a Communist list handed over to UN truce negotiators.

She added, however, that she and her husband have not yet been informed officially that their son is a prisoner.

Gnr. Jenkins was one of two Canadian soldiers listed in casualty reports from Ottawa as missing. He was the only Canadian on the list handed over by the Communists.

Hunters Fined

NEWMARKET, Dec. 19 (CP)—Four hunters, who were sighted by Game Warden G. R. Armitage shooting at the same deer, Tuesday were fined $90 and costs for hunting out of season. Convicted were William Reilly, RR 7, King; Douglas McRae, Toronto; Albert Lawson and Eric Gardner, of Aurora. The deer escaped unhurt.

$10,000 Blaze

SUTTON, Ont., Dec. 19 (CP)—A fire at the height of Tuesday's snow storm gutted a building in this Lake Simcoe town. Loss was estimated at $10,000. The building housed a small apartment occupied by Earl Hayward, his wife and young son, and the shop of the Sutton Auto Body Company. The Haywards lost all their belongings while the contents of three old-model cars were destroyed in the body shop.

Approve Speech

OTTAWA, Dec. 19 (CP) — Robert Fair (SC-Battle River) won the approval of a weary Commons Tuesday night with the briefest speech of the session. Here is the text of his 22-word contribution to debate on the government bill to ban resale price maintenance: "I am in support of the government's legislation and, in order to get home in time for Christmas, I am leaving tonight."

BREAK THE LAXATIVE HABIT THIS PROVEN WAY

If you take laxatives regularly, here is how you can stop! This proven plan helps you establish your natural powers of regularity, controlled tests prove.

Stop taking whatever you now take. Instead, every night for one week take two Carter's Little Liver Pills. Second week—one each night. Third week—one every other night. Then nothing! Every day drink eight glasses of water; set a definite time for regularity. This plan was proven in scientifically controlled tests.

How can a laxative break the laxative habit? Because Carter's unblock the lower digestive tract and from then on let it make use of its own natural powers. Further, Carter's contain no habit forming drugs. Break the laxative habit with Carter's . . . be regular naturally.

When worry, overwork, overeating make you irregular temporarily—take Carter's temporarily. Never get the laxative habit.

Get mild, gentle Carter's Little Liver Pills at any drug store. Only 35c. You'll be grateful the rest of your life.

Wants UN Assembly Meet In Berlin Realize Damage

By NORMAN ALTSTEDTER

PARIS, Dec. 19—(CP)—The next session of the United Nations general assembly should be held in Berlin to drive home to statesmen just what destruction another war would cause.

That's the suggestion of Fred Larson, Liberal member of parliament for Kindersley, Sask., a member of Canada's delegation to the UN assembly here. Larson recently returned from a visit to Germany which included a day with Canadian troops stationed near Hannover.

He said in an interview that the bomb havoc still to be seen in Berlin should be enough to persuade world leaders that a third world war would be disastrous for civilization.

Now a farmer, Larson was an RCAF navigator in Britain's coastal command during the war. He won the Distinguished Flying Medal on anti-submarine operations.

A newcomer to UN session, Larson said that the UN is doing a worthwhile job as long as it keeps the Russians talking in UN debates instead of waging war. If Russia pulls out of the UN its usefulness will be gone, Larson believes.

Practical Politician

Describing himself as a practical politician, Larson said he wants to be able to show his constituents the practical value of the UN as long as it helps to avoid a war, it is worth paying out money to keep it going, he said. But if it is just a training ground for diplomats it cannot be sold to Canadians.

As far as the Russians are concerned, Larson said he formerly believed it might be possible to get down to negotiations with them aiming at easing of world tensions. But he is coming around to the belief that they are not willing to negotiate—at the present time at any rate.

Larson believes there is too much impractical talk at the UN. One peeve is against those countries which continually call for aid from such countries as Canada for buiding up industries and dams.

"How can they expect us to help build them a dam," Larson said, "when we are still only in the planning stage for a vital dam construction effort in Saskatchewan?"

Larson adds, however, that Canada is certainly ready to come to the aid of needy countries whenever direct relief of suffering is needed and is ready to help give the know-how in technical advances.

Ottawa Drops Word Dominion From Use

OTTAWA, Dec. 19 — (CP). — A French-Canadian senator said Tuesday Canada's deletion of the word Dominion from her title is another step in her slow evolution toward autonomy and complete independence.

Senator Leon Gouin, barrister and Montreal University professor, said Dominion was a "word of the past" and one which carried the connotation of subordination. Therefore he believed the adoption of the simple word Canada for this country's name was the right thing to do.

He spoke on second reading of Dominion Elections Act amendments which, among other things, changes the name to the Canada Elections Act.

Clarify Order On Occupation Of Flight Seats

OTTAWA, Dec. 19 — (CP). — The controller of civil aviation has ruled that fare-paying passengers must not occupy seats in the operating compartment of a civil transport plane.

This was disclosed Tuesday with the tabling in the Commons of the correspondence between Charles R. Robinson, president of the Canadian Air Line Pilots Association, Winnipeg, and R. Dodds, the controller of civil aviation.

The correspondence was requested my E. D. Fulton (PC-Kamloops) following a dispute between Trans-Canada Air Lines and its pilots regarding persons allowed to occupy the flight deck.

In a letter to the controller on December 1, Mr. Robinson wrote that TCA had been authorizing some people, not necessarily company employees, to occupy seats in the flight compartment. The captain of the aircraft had no say in the matter and a safety factor was involved in that flight deck seats put such passengers in close proximity to vital controls of the plane.

Asked For Ruling

Mr. Robinson asked for a ruling by the transport controller, saying in a later telegram that eight pilots had been suspended for adhering to CALPA safety directives and more were being suspended.

Mr. Dodds wired on December 4 and wrote December 6 that the matter would be given full consideration as quickly as possible.

On December 8 the civil aviation controller wrote that fare-paying passengers may not occupy flight-deck seats, though company employees and technicians of other companies working in colaboration with the airline company might do so when authorized by the company "in accordance with approval given by the air transport board."

SPORTS SHOW WINDOW

By CEC. PERDUE, Sports Editor

Hockey of the OHA junior "B" variety is on tap here tonight. Kingston Vics play the local Oddfellows at 8.30 in Civic Arena, last junior joust here before Christmas creeps up on us. The Vics are plenty potent and will extend the IOOF-ers all the way, though we think the Godfrey gang will take the verdict on home ice. They've got to get in there digging hard as they've been dropping too many decisions lately, and it's a tough, tough group this season. Plenty of keen action promised when the husky youngsters tear into each other, and it should draw well.

* * * * * *

Only one more senior "B" struggle listed locally ere Christmas, too, and that's the Friday night fray at Civic between Belleville Hawks and the Eagles. The high-flying Hawks are cocky again after a recent win o'er Eagles on Quinte ice, but Ned Vitarelli's pack have plucked the Hawks both here and in Bella Villa—and they figure on doing so again. No time like the present. You'll seldom see better ice battles than when these speedy senior squads fly at each other—and Friday night ought to be a whizzer before a big crowd. Eagles have to hustle from here in to keep up with the pack in a torrid race. It is certainly a well-matched grouping.

Don't You Remember?

Noted an item the other day where Shrimp McDougall was named coach of the intermediate and junior Petes back in 1931. Shrimp died some years ago here, but many fans still recall his puck wizardry both on local ice and when he led Owen Sound Greys to the Memorial Cup championship. Short and slight, McDougall was a very heady hockeyist and a beautiful stickhandler. Rarely did he get hurt, as rival players soon learned to leave him him severely alone as far as rough stuff goes. We recall a playoff series in the 30s when an unusually rough Niagara Falls' squad set out to soften up the Petes. They did just that and finally had most of the locals afraid to go as far as their defence. The exceptions (and Falls' bumpers soon tabbed them and let 'em alone) were two ex-pros, Doug Brennan and Shrimp McDougall.

* * * * * *

Naturally, the bruising Cataracts took the heated series, and most of the Petes were on the limp for weeks. Not little Shrimp nor husky Doug. They fought they way through repeatedly and into enemy corners, wearing their sticks and elbows high, and they came out unscathed. Big Don Crowe would have held his own, too, but he was coldly cut down with a stick over the head early and had to sit out the balance of the series. Rumors persisted at the time that a local gambler, betting on the Falls, tipped off those rugged characters that the Petes were fast but small and not used to exceedingly rough play. The Cataracts did the rest. Ah, well, memories

Clime Beats Matmen

No wrestling show here last night. Main bout had been advertised as Bobo Brazil vs. Layton, with Flanagan going against Hi Lee in the semi-final, and Chief Suni War Cloud meeting Mayslack in the prelim. But Tunney phoned from Toronto yester aft to advise that the card would have to be cancelled, owing to the storm. Seems some of the pro matmen were to have come in from the States for bouts here and in Toronto, but couldn't make it in time because of traffic tie-ups. Rather than have several replacements on the local card, Tunney wisely called it off. There won't be any more pro grappling at the Brock now until after New Year's, as the big guys travel home for Christmas.

Word comes in from the far reaches of the Bancroft area to the north of here that they plan considerable hockey up that way. Opening the end of the month. The champ Pontiacs are ready to go again in the Hastings-Addington senior circuit, along with Tweed, Madoc and Tamworth. A new juvenile Timbermen team seeks a tie-up with any club from Lakefield to Barry's Bay to Madoc, and guarantees no dog-sled trips. North Hastings bantams will include Bancroft, Coe Hill and Apsley—some good hauls, too. Also house loop play in NHHS and Bancroft-Faraday public schools. Not to mention the old blood and thunder league of Bancroft, Coe Hill, Maynooth and maybe Apsley. They breed 'em rugged in that rocky wooded territory.

Chuck Dressen returned a signed contract to the Brooklyn Dodgers Tuesday to show how eager he is to tackle the job of managing the club in 1952.

Dressen is willing to let president Walter O'Malley and vice-president E. J. (Dizzy) Bavasi fill in the salary terms when they get ready.

When the salary is written into the contract is probably will be about $30,000 on a one-year basis.

In an effort to bolster his squad, George Redding, coach of the Ontario Hockey Association Senior "A" Tigers Tuesday night announced the signing of two new players.

Jimmy Faner and Gus Lyal are the newcomers. Faner, a forward, played last year with the Philadelphia Falcons of the Eastern United States League. Lyal was with Simcoe Intermediates last season.

At San Francisco, the head of the California State Athletic Commission said Tuesday that former heavyweight champion Joe Louis will not be permitted to box again in California because he is too old. The announcement by Commissioner Joe Phillips headed off the plans of local promoters who had hoped to match Louis here when he returns from a tour of the Far East.

California rules specify that no boxer over 36 years old may be given a licence without special permission of the commission. Louis will be 38 next May.

For the third straight day, Charlie Burr, the 1951 United States jockey champion, guided home the winner of the main event at Miami's Tropical Park. This time, he made the grade with Narrator in the $2,400 Dinner Key purse, increasing his total for the year to 298 winners.

Philadelphia Athletics Tuesday postponed until Dec. 27 a decision on buying the Ottawa franchise of the International League and returning the club to Jersey City. It was understood that a second group, headed by Lester Osterman, a Wall Street broker, is interested in buying the Ottawa club and moving it back to Newark. Earlier Tuesday, in New York, Frank Shaughnessy, president of the Triple-A League, said a decision would be made soon on whether Newark or Jersey City will get the Ottawa franchise.

Ownership of the Moncton Hawks Hockey Club will be transferred to a citizens' committee, it was announced early Tuesday by Lebaron Reid president of the Maritime Major Hockey League club. The committee will conduct a financial campaign on behalf of the club. A $10,000 objective has been set.

Hershey Bears Upset Cincinnati Mohawks

By The Canadian Press.

Hershey Bears strengthened their hold on first place of the American Hockey League's eastern division Tuesday night with a 4-1 victory over Cincinnati Mohawks, while Providence Reds defeated St. Louis Flyers 7-2.

Cincinnati is fourth in the western division and St. Louis is second there, while Providence holds third place in the eastern section.

Paul Gladu, veteran left-winger paced the Providence attack with two goals. Ray Powell picked up four points on a goal and three assists and tied his teammate, Jack Stoddard, for first place in the league scoring race. Stoddard scored a goal and two assists. Each has 41 points.

Barry Sullivan, Pete Kapusta and Jack McGill scored the other Providence goals. The St. Louis goal-getters were George Milligan and Glen Sonmor.

Bancroft Clubs Getting Set For Puck Play

BANCROFT, Dec. 19 (ENS) — Madoc will play Bancroft Pontiacs here on Dec. 28 to open the Hastings - Addington Hockey League schedule for the season. On the same night, Tweed is billed to play in Tamworth but there likely will be a last minute switch of that game as it is touch and go as to whether Tamworth will have its new arena ready for the initial tilt.

President Milton Brough and Manager Bernard Shapiro of the champion Pontiacs were not able to tell their initial lineup as there have been a number of changes in their roster since the March playoffs. However they did mention two new faces—Jack Hattin of Tip Top Tailors in the Toronto mercantile loop and Jack Stuckey of OCE and Grand Valley. They also noted that goaltender Art Young who moved to Madoc in the spring has once more become a citizen of Bancroft.

A New Team

Bancroft Timbermen, the first juvenile team to be organized in North Hastings in years, is another team in this area.

Whitney Martin of Martin Brothers Lumber Company, the sponsor of the outfit, today gave the team its first publicity. Jack Stuckey, the P. and H. E. man at North Hastings High School will be in charge. Jack is a former player from the Grand Valley-Orangeville-Shelbourne intermediate circuit and, while attending University of Toronto and Ontario College of Education, was connected with North Toronto Lions and UTS teams.

Players will be drawn from North Hastings High School, reinforced by others who have not yet attained their 18th birthday. Sweaters have been ordered and a recent phone call to Toronto confirmed the fact that they would arrive in town in time for the first game. Martin and Stuckey are now engaged in promoting a league for their boys and are anxious to get in touch with any teams within travelling distance.

British Football Players Branded Slaves, Says Russia, Former Labor Gov't Blamed

MOSCOW, Dec. 19 (AP)— Britons may never be slaves, but magazine Soviet Sport says British football players are.

The British football players, the current issue of the magazine said today, are like vassals and slaves bound to their masters, and the former Labor Government was held by the paper to be responsible.

The magazine, surveying the British football situation, said families of several players who refused to sign "contracts of enslavement" are now homeless, and the rest of the professional football players, it told Soviet athletes, are "miserably paid."

Hayman Drops Coaching Job

MONTREAL, Dec. 19—(CP)—Lew Hayman has stepped down as coach of Montreal's Big Four Alouettes it was announced today. He takes over as general manager and managing director of the club.

The club said Hayman had not yet chosen a successor.

In dropping his coaching duties, Hayman ends a career which saw him lead teams to five Grey Cup championships. His Toronto Argos won the cup in 1933 and repeated the performance in 1937 and 1939. He masterminded the RCAF Hurricanes to the trophy in 1942 and brought it to Montreal with the Alouettes in 1949, the first time in 18 years that it came to the city.

The Alouettes announced the new coach would be an American "who is tough, aggressive and experienced, with multiple connections below the border."

Council Gives Dance

BETHANY, Dec. 19 (ENS) — The council elect of Manvers township, expressed their thanks for their recent victory at the polls by giving a free dance in the town hall on Monday evening. Previously on election night they had arranged a dance at Pontypool and last week at Janetville, the two other main polling divisions for the township. All the affairs were well attended.

Second Test Match Peters Into Draw

BOMBAY, India, Dec. 19 (Reuters)—The second cricket test match between India and England petered out in a draw here today after England had at one time seemed set for a win.

India had lost seven wickets for 88 at one stage in their second innings today and England were right on top. But an eighth wicket partnership of 71 held the side together and the Indian total reached 208.

England, who had made 456 in reply to India's first-innings 485 for nine declared, needed 238 runs in an hour and 40 minutes. They made no attempt and were 55 for two wickets when the match ended.

The first test in the best-of-five series was also drawn.

STICKHANDLING AND SHOOTING

Hold your stick firmly with your hands not too close together. Keep your lower hand nearly half-way down the stick to give you more power in your shot

Practice stick-handling so that you can feel the puck on the blade of your stick without looking. You can practice this by yourself or with one other player. In this way you can keep your head up and watch your opponent and still carry the puck. Practice shooting all you can.

Practice keeping your shot as low as possible—as a shot along the ice or ankle height is the hardest for the goalie to stop.

Bruins Tie Red Wings 5-5 In Fast Moving 3rd Period

By The Canadian Press

Boston Bruins have another argument for overtime play in the National Hockey League. They battled back from a late-game two-goal deficit Tuesday night to tie Detroit Red Wings 5-5 before a slim Boston Garden gathering of 4,290. Trailing 5-3 in the third period, the Bruins banged in two past Terry Sawchuck and looked very much as if they were going on to win when time ran out. Stymied once again by the NHL no-overtime regulation, they had to settle for a tie.

The single point earned with their late-game rally moved Boston back into undisputed possession of third place in the six-team standings while Detroit came through their 14th road game without a loss.

Starts Things

Bruins' veteran captain Milt Schmidt notched two goals, but it was bespectacled Hal Laycoe and Johnny Peirson who produced the third-period markers that gained the tie. Rookie Jack McIntyre was the other Boston goalgetter.

Vic Stasiuk, Ted Lindsay, Metro Prystai, Glen Skov and Gordie Howe tallied for the Red Wings.

Boston opened fast and took a 2-1 first-period lead, only to have Detroit leading 4-3 at the finish of the middle session.

A single Red Wing marker and Boston's two other goals produced the tie.

Only one game is scheduled in the National Hockey League tonight. Fourth-place Montreal Canadiens visit cellar-dwelling New York Rangers.

Redmen Trip Stratford In 5-3 Victory

By The Canadian Press.

When Brantford Redmen do something, they do it in a big way, especially if it's in front of a home town crowd.

The Redmen picked up two important points Tuesday night with a 5-3 win over Stratford Indians in an OHA Senior A game. The two points at the expense of the league's top club boosted Brantford from their lowly cellar position right up into fourth place in the six-team circuit.

The Brantford-Stratford tussle was the only Senior A game played although Kitchener-Waterloo Dutchmen were originally scheduled at Owen Sound. Tuesday's heavy snow storm clogged roads so thoroughly, the Dutchmen couldn't make it.

In the OHA Junior A group, Kitchener Greenshirts moved to within a single point of fourth place when they dropped the visiting sixth-place Waterloo Hurricanes 7-3 before 1,870 fans. At St. Catharines only 738 hockey followers turned out to watch the Teepees shove Oshawa Generals deeper into ninth place with a convincing 9-2 victory.

Scores Twice

Don Oberholtzer tallied twice for Brantford while Bill Schill, Bill Simpell and John Messmer scored the others. Don Heinbuck, Bill Walsh and Dinny Flanagan divided the Stratford goals.

Orv Tessier scored two for Kitchener. Singletons went to Frank Toyota, Harry Jarvis, Gary Collins, Dindo Candido and Joe Ingoldsby. Gord Oliver potted a pair for Waterloo, with Chuck Wood getting the other.

Gordie Myles led St. Catharines to their 9-2 victory with three goals, while Bobby Schnurr tallied twice. Hank Ciesla, Chuk Marshall, Gord Haas and Carl Boone scored the others. Bob Attersley and Al Lawrence notched goals for Oshawa.

Last Night's Stars

By The Canadian Press.

Milt Schmidt of Boston who scored two goals to help the Bruins rally to a 5-5 deadlock with Detroit Red Wings.

Bill Ezinicki Shrugs Off Rough Charges

BOSTON, Dec. 19 (AP).—Wild Bill Ezinicki, hockey's renowned ruffian, today shrugged off charges that he is a menace and a detriment on the ice with a snarl that sounded like "I'll play hockey my way."

Reunited on Boston Bruins' top line with Milt Schmidt, last year's most valuable player in the National Hockey League, Ezinicki seems interested only in catching any opposing player with his head down and splattering him in all directions at once.

He is dedicated particularly to a manhunt for Ted Lindsay, star left wing of Detroit Red Wings. Ever since last season, when Lindsay carved Ezinicki across the face and whacked him into a stupor, Wild Willie has sought to square matters on ice.

But he'll never get the chance, according to Detroit coach Tommy Ivan.

"Why should I risk a $75,000 player like Ted against a wild man?" Ivan says.

So Lindsay and his linemates, Sid Abel and Gordie Howe, are replaced by less scintillating players every time Boston coach Lynn Patrick throws on Ezinicki.

Bides His Time

What does Ezinicki think of this state of affairs?

"I'll answer that my way," says Ezzy, a deceptively powerful fellow of 170 pounds on a 5-10 frame.

A golf pro at the Colonial Country Club, Wakefield, Mass., in the spring and summer months Winnipeg born Ezinicki never seems too eager to return to hockey. In each of the last two seasons he held out for no other reason than there was still a lot of good golf weather.

Ezinicki has played for two big league coaches, Happy Day in Toronto and Patrick in Boston. Day now is a trouble-shooter in the Maple Leaf organization.

"Every time I see Day," Patrick says, "he asks me: 'How's Ezzy?' And then he busts out laughing. But Ezzy isn't so funny to a lot of players who get careless when he's on against them. No Sir, he's not a bit funny."

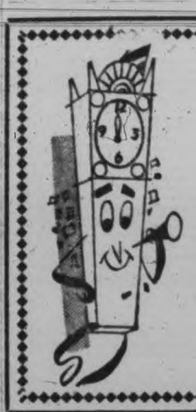
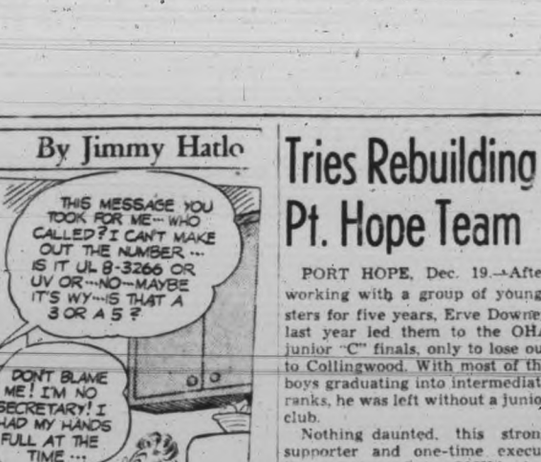
Tries Rebuilding Pt. Hope Team

PORT HOPE, Dec. 19.—After working with a group of youngsters for five years, Erve Downey last year led them to the OHA junior "C" finals, only to lose out to Collingwood. With most of the boys graduating into intermediate ranks, he was left without a junior club.

Nothing daunted, this strong supporter and one-time executive member of the OMHA has decided to start at the bottom again in the hopes of eventually bringing a hockey title to Port Hope.



With two of his former juniors, Darcy Campbell and Bernie Flesch, as coaches, Downey has formed a Midget "B" club, the same place as he started five years ago Monday night his aggregation took to the ice against the strong Cobourg sextette and eked out a 2-2 tie after leading for two periods.



Three of the goals were scored within ten seconds of the first period. The Port Hopers tallied first at 8:24, William from Dotzko. Cobourg tied it up at 8:28, Stuart scoring unassisted. Then, at 8:34, Port Hope went ahead again, Stewart scoring on a pass from Foote. There was no further scoring until the third when Cobourg tied things up at 9:05, Patter from Saunders.

STEELERS FIRE COACH

Pittsburgh Steelers of the National Football League fired head coach Johnny Michelson Tuesday and hired Joe Bach in his stead.

Michelson resigned after owner Art Rooney notified him his contract would not be renewed for the job he has held the last four years. Bach, head coach at St. Bonaventure College the last two seasons, was a right tackle in Notre Dame's "seven mule" line that supported the school's famed "four horsemen."

Students Present Piano Recital

NORWOOD, Dec. 19 (ENS) — A program of piano music by pupils of Mrs. H. Caskey and Miss Elfreida Jenkins was presented on Friday evening.

The recital was held in the school room of the United Church which was well filled with interested parents and friends.

Of added interest to the program were two Christmas carols by the junior choir under the direction of Mrs. Max Scott, and accompanied by Miss Joan Stackhouse, and a solo by Mrs. Russel Gardner, accompanied by her daughter Gloria Gardner.

The Rev. H. K. Wright was chairman and complimented the young musicians on their fine performance. At the close of the program, Mrs. Caskey was presented with a gift from her pupils. A social hour followed and lunch was served with several of the mothers assisting.

Those playing solos were: Brian Shannon, Arthur Gallagher, Betty Whalen, Jackie Thompson, Marion Anderson, Glenn Jenkins, Sylvia Drain, Douglas Caskey, Faye Robertson, Barbara Edmunds, Billy Bourne, Edith Begg, Patsy Bongard, Gail Elliott, Carlsy Brown, Murray Blakley, John Booker, Douglas Waters, Ruth Metcalfe, Paul Booker, Ross Stewart, Esther Edmunds, Paul English, Ann Pakenham, Arlene Stackhouse, Ronald Scott, John Scott, Beverley Rothwell, Margaret Clark, Ann La Brash, Ruth Andrews, Doris Brown, Barbara Pollock, Marlene Johnson, Lorraine Girven.

Those playing in duet were: Patricia and Mary Lou Atkinson, Eleanor and Evelyn Wilde, Sharon Cardwell and Margaret Rose Reed, G. B. La Brash and Ronald Robertson.

Children's Aid Report Work

The Peterborough Children's Aid Society were in contact with 376 cases during November. Of this total 26 new cases came to society's attention during the month.

This information was reported at the Children's Aid Society's board of directors meeting Tuesday afternoon by Miss Raechel Young, superintendent.

Miss Young said that 517 visits had been made by the staff during November and 239 office interviews held.

Twenty of the society's new cases were family cases and involved 48 children. Their problems included inadequate housing, assault, quarrels among neighbors' children, separation, inadequate support, physical abuse, delinquency of children and infidelity.

Five unmarried parent cases came before the society.

There were 58 court attendances in family court and $465 was paid through the society's office on family court orders.

Belleville Teachers Get Pay Increases

BELLEVILLE, Dec. 19 (CP) — The board of education granted across-the-board salary increases to teachers at collegiate and public schools here at its final meeting of the year. The increases ranged from $150 for public school teachers to $400 for the collegiate principal. A cost-of-living bonus was included in the basic salary.

Send Jordan Wheat

WASHINGTON, Dec. 19—(AP)—The United States agreed today to ship 9,650 tons of wheat to Jordan to help meet "a serious food shortage" in the Middle East country. The United States will pay for the cost of the wheat and shipping, about $1,400,000. The money will come from the Foreign Aid program approved by Congress.

May Exceed Target

LONDON, Dec. 19—(Reuters)—If Britain's miners dig more than 8,855,300 tons of coal during the next two weeks, they will exceed the target of 224,000,000 tons set by the government for 1951. Last week's output was 4,909,300 tons—the best since June, 1940.

Mrs. T. J. Jackson WMS President

BETHANY, Dec. 19 (ENS) — Mrs. L. Milby and Mrs. B. Taylor were joint hostesses for the meeting of the Women's Missionary Society of the United Church, with Mrs. George Waddell presiding. The members all assisted in a Christmas candle lighting service and Christmas carols were sung.

Rev. James Hampson presided for the annual election of officers: President, Mrs. T. J. Jackson; vice-president; Mrs. Clarence Rowan; secretary, Mrs. Henry Jakeman; treasurer, Mrs. L. Milby; pianist, Mrs. C. Rowan; stewardship convener, Mrs. George Waddell; Christian citizenship convener, Mrs. Mervyn Porteous; Stranger's secretary, Mrs. Ernest Stacey. Lunch was served by the hostesses.

Sacred Heart Sodality Presents Program

MARMORA, Dec. 19 (ENS) — The monthly meeting of the Sodality of Mary was held in Sacred Heart hall with a good attendance. The president, Miss Agnes Forestell occupied the chair.

A discussion was held and arrangements made for the holding of a dance on Dec. 26.

The following program was then put on: Piano solo, Brahm's Lullaby, Miss Joan Shannon; comic reading, Watz Me Around, Harry, Patricia Clairmont; piano solo, Miss Anne Clairmont; reading, "Christmas Flower," Verna Black; chorus, Christmas carols, with Miss Patricia Clairmont at piano. Refreshments were served at the close.

Attendance Prizes Given Scholars

LAKEFIELD, Dec. 19 (ENS).—Members of the Baptist church met Friday evening for a Christmas dinner followed by the Sunday school concert.

Superintendent Walter Walker was chairman for the evening's program which opened with a "Welcome" by Karen Walker. This was followed by a quartette "I Heard the Bells on Christmas Day" by Sandra and Karen Walker, Athabelle Hendren and Gwynneth Darling.

"The Light in the Window" was a short play enacted by Jane Ellen Arnott, Athabelle Hendren, Bobby Bratten, Sandra Walker, Clark Wilson and Brenda Hollingshead.

Two films, "The Night Before Christmas" and "The Santa Claus Parade" were then shown, following which gifts were distributed from the Christmas tree.

During the evening attendance prizes were given to the following children for Sunday school attendance; first prize, Athabelle Hendren, Donnie Millage, Bruce Rosborough, Marie Rosborough; second prize, Sandra Walker, Karen Walker, John Arnott.

Says Chinese Revolution Likely Last Till Year 2000

TORONTO, Dec. 19.—The revolution in China began before communism in its present, totalitarian form was heard of, and will likely continue until about the year 2,000. This was the opinion offered some 50 officers of the armed forces Tuesday by Prof. L. C. Walmsley, head of the University of Toronto department of East Asiatic studies.

Speaking at the conference of senior administrative officers organized in Hart House by the Canadian Institute of International Affairs, Prof. Walmsley explained that there had been revolts against the Manchu dynasty and the feudal landlords of China as early as the 17th century. The Communists had merely seized control of the revolution and given it direction. If they failed to give the Chinese people what the people needed, they, in turn, would be succeeded by other leaders.

The speaker advised his audience that the Communists had given the Chinese many desirable changes:

1. Up to the present, incorruptible administration.

2. Stabilized currency and deflationary measures.

3. Destruction of the feudal system and its abuses, together with a standard of living at least no worse than had existed under previous regimes.

4. Equality for women and greater group security.

And Lists Losses

Against these benefits, Prof. Walmsley set:

1. Abolition of the family system which had been China's greatest strength.

2. Establishment of a police state with constant threats of "elimination."

3. Complete subjugation of human spirit and individuality.

4. Centralization of nearly all power in leaders behind the scenes.

In spite of the Communists' harsh methods, Prof. Walmsley suggested, an almost religious fervor for the revolution had been kindled in the peasant classes. Many of them had been given the vote for the first time, although they were allowed to express their opinions on only minor issues. Theoretically, speech, religion and press were free—so long as they followed the party line.

"The revolution is neither so black as it is pictured in the New York Times, nor so white as it appears in The Daily Worker," Prof. Walmsley declared. "Its true color lies somewhere in between. And it is the greatest revolution the world has ever seen, in that it affects more people and greater areas of the world than has any other."

War Not Answer

Signatory nations of the North Atlantic Treaty, now rearming to resist Soviet imperialism must not lose sight of the fact that their objective is negotiation backed by military strength rather than war, J. B. McGeachy, associate editor of the Globe and Mail told the conference. The NATO leader should always be ready to discuss disputed issues with the Russians.

Mr. McGeachy felt sure that Churchill and Eden are certain to press for negotiations rather than a trial of strength in their relations with Washington. While a slackening of the arms race at present would be dangerous, rearmament bears heavily upon European nations impoverished by the last war, and these nations are seeking by every reasonable means to avoid another global conflict.

Key problems yet unanswered by NATO, Mr. McGeachy suggested, were: How much aggregate strength must be amassed in Western Europe? How much is each partner to contribute? How is the effort to be financed? How are the various national units to be welded into a single fighting force?

Real progress, however, was being made in the solution of these problems. While the British Government had decided to remain aloof from the continental European army, the French Assembly's approval of the Schuman Plan had indicated that a valuable co-operation was being developed among the continental nations, Mr. McGeachy concluded.

RED FORD?—Communist delegates to the cease-fire talks at Panmunjom, Korea, arrive in an American-made sedan. They had been using Russian-made open jeeps, but switched to the American model when the weather turned freezing.

Reports Progress Treatment Of Lepers

BENTINCK ISLAND, BC, Dec. 19 — (CP). — So near and yet so far from the bright lights of Victoria, the boy we'll call Jimmy leads a lonely life for a fun-loving youngster of 14.

He is separated from his family, has no playmates. The reason: Jimmy is a victim of leprosy, one of two new cases of what now is called Hansen's Disease discovered in Vancouver in recent months.

Unlike the lepers of the past, even up to a few years ago, Jimmy has hope. Thanks to new drugs he feels no physical pain. And some day it is likely he will be able to leave the lonely world of Bentinck Island and return to a normal life.

A report on Jimmy and the three other lepers on this clover leaf-shaped island, only 20 miles from the capital of British Columbia, was given Tuesday by the man in charge of their welfare. It was an optimistic report.

Describes Progress

Dr. R. B. Jenkins told, for instance, of the progress made by Wing, a jolly, pot-bellied man.

One more negative test and he may be permitted to return to his home and family. He has had a negative test each month for the last 11 months.

The only visible trace of disease in Jimmy is a slight discoloration of the left hand of the Chinese-Canadian youngster.

The other two patients have not been as fortunate. The disease had gone too far before an effective treatment was discovered.

Sing has been on Bentinck for almost 15 years. The disease has blinded him. Ling is thin and wasted, the fingers of one hand stiff and gnarled.

But Dr. Jenkins said new drugs like diasone have made a "dramatic change" in the picture in recent years.

Hard to Contract

He said the drugs arrest the disease so completely that some sufferers are able to return to their homes. Others, he said, could remain in their homes while undergoing treatment but for the public's horror and misunderstanding of the disease.

Leprosy is one of the most difficult diseases to contract, he said. It was much easier to become infected with tuberculosis, for instance.

Canada has one other leper hospital, at Tracadie, NB. It usually has around 11 patients.

While science works, everything possible is done to ease the lonely life of the people of Bentinck. Jimmy gets his schooling by correspondence. The island's cream and green-trimmed cottages could pass for summer cottages.

The patients are cared for by a resident nurse and her husband. Once a week Dr. Jenkins comes to the island. Along with his professional duties, he brings them their only contact with the outside world.

PARIS, Dec. 19 (CP)—A conference of European atomic scientists, meeting here to consider foundation of an international nuclear physics laboratory, Tuesday recommended Copenhagen as a suitable site. Fourteen countries are represented at the conference.

Million Dollar Fire Sweeps Nashville

NASHVILLE, Tenn., Dec. 19—(AP). — Flames whipped by a brisk wind raced through a suburban business district early today causing damage estimated at from $500,000 to $1,000,000.

Eleven buildings—most of them business structures — were destroyed.

The blaze originated in a pool room and leaped streets and alleys as it spread.

Among Prisoners

TOKYO, Dec. 19 (Reuters) — A report early today said Lt.-Col. J. P. Carne, commander of the 1st Battalion of the Gloucestershire Regiment which was nearly wiped out in its heroic Imjin River stand last April, was among the British prisoners named by the Communists in the list they handed over to the United Nations.

50 Inches Of Snow Blankets Parts Of New York State

ALBANY, NY, Dec. 19 (AP)—New York State struggled today to free itself from the season's heaviest snowstorm, but the weather man said a new wintry onslaught was on the way.

Since Monday, 13 persons have lost their lives. The toll raised to 19 the number of deaths attributed to a series of storms that have buffeted large sections of the state since last Friday.

Crews battled swirling drifts and a five to 50 inch snow blanket that played hob with travel and shut many schools and businesses.

Forecast for Thursday was—more snow.

The hardest-hit section was the state's perennial snow belt extending from Watertown to the Syracuse-Rome-Utica area, where gusty winds whipped up towering drifts.

Elsewhere, most roads were open but slippery.

Blizzard-groggy Watertown had 0 inches on the ground and Mayor Henry A. Hudson ordered ll firemen on 24-hour duty.

Lasts 3 Days

The northern New York industrial centre of 40,000 has been blanketed by an almost continuous snowfall for three days. Tuesday's storm followed a freak blizzard that dumped 40 inches on a wide patch of Jefferson County Sunday and Monday.

A 25-mile wind, with gusts up to 30 and growing stronger, caused heavy drifting in the Syracuse area.

Trains and buses were running late in many sections. Airline flights were cancelled.

Buffalo had 16 inches of snow and other cities ranged from Rochester's 12 to five inches in Cortland, Auburn, Ithaca and Geneva.

Oak Heights WA Holds Bazaar For Christmas

WARKWORTH, Dec. 19 (ENS) — The Women's Association of Oak Heights United Church on the Warkworth circuit met Friday at the home of Mrs. Douglas Langford, with an unusually large attendance of members and visitors and children.

The bazaar table was the centre of attraction with its assortment of aprons, novelties, fancywork and useful articles. In a short time all the goods with the exception of a very few were sold.

The regular meeting was spent with a Christmas hymn.

The president conducted a short business meeting. Treasurer Mrs. Archie Ferguson reported the proceeds received at the meeting from the "Dime Card" and the "Birthday Box" which had been used throughout the year. She also stated the amount received from the bazaar table, the result being very satisfactory.

Mrs. George Beatty offered to entertain as hostess for the association for the January meeting when the annual business meeting will take place.

Mrs. Leslie Tucker was in charge of the devotional period taking as her theme Christmas with the topic "God's Gift To Man," and using the Christmas carols "O Little Town of Bethlehem" and "Silent Night." Mrs. A. P. Sayles gave the Christmas Story from St. Matthew's Gospel, the second chapter.

Mrs. Jack Potetr was in charge of the following program: reading, entitled "Daughters All Their Lives," given by Mrs. Bruce Porter; piano solo by Mrs. Clarence Ferguson; and a "Turkey Contest" by Mrs. A. P. Sayles.

Everyone sang Christmas hymns togther. Mrs. Alice Ferguson gave a reading entitled "God Is Love," and Mrs. L. Tucker conducted a "Christmas contest."

Mrs. Lawrence congratulated Mrs. Jesse Mitchell and Mrs. Thos. Covert, two former members who were present, and were celebrating their 47th and 45th wedding anniversaries respectively.

The poem by Tennyson entitled "Crossing the Bar" was read by Mrs. Lawrence in connection with a comment regarding the fact that the Rev. A. Bishop, of Lindsay, a former pastor, is very low and all were asked to stand for a moment of silent prayer, followed by prayer led by the Rev. H. G. Lester, who also pronounced the closing benediction.

An exchange of Christmas gifts followed and a lovely lunch was served by the hostess and the lunch committee.

Mrs. Sherman Northey Heads Lakefield WA

LAKEFIELD, Dec. 19 (ENS)— Mrs. Carmen Payne was program convener when the Women's Association of the United Church met in the Sunday school rooms. Mrs. P. H. Darling read the scripture.

Rev. W. H. Tonge spoke briefly to the ladies and presided for the installation of officers as follows: Past president, Mrs. E. Rath; president, Mrs. Sherman Northey; 1st vice-president, Mrs. Earl Edwards; 2nd vice-president, Mrs. Stanley Burger; recording secretary, Mrs. Sandy Millage; corresponding secretary, Mrs. Frank Darling; treasurer, Mrs. Elmer Northey; roll call secretary, Mrs. P. H. Darling; flower fund convener, Mrs. H. J. Brown; pianist, Mrs. E. Rath.

The business period was presided over by the president, Mrs. Rath, and it was decided to hold a membership drive in the near future. Christmas boxes will also be sent to any members of the church who are ill.

Refreshments were served under the convenership of Mrs. Rath and Mrs. Sandy Millage. Mr. J. Jones of Young's Point was present and made tea for the ladies in an electric teapot which he was demonstrating.

Flood Threat Eases At Sault

SAULT STE. MARIE, Dec. 19—(CP)—Threat of further floods eased Tuesday night as icebreakers kept the St. Mary's River clear of piled-up ice and power officials managed to close two up-river dam gates.

The highest flood levels ever seen here were recorded Tuesday, inundating docks, streets homes. The water dropped 20 inches Monday night, rose threateningly again yesterday morning, then dropped again.

Officials at the power dam above the city said they asked permission to close compensating gates 10 days ago but were forced to wait for a meeting of the International Commission On Water Levels to get permission.

Two of the gates were closed Tuesday night but nine others were jammed open by ice.

Damage from Monday's flood is expected to be extensive. Water poured over docks and into warehouses and manufacturing plants near the river and flooded the basements of houses.

Bonarlaw Church Holds Concert

BONARLAW, Dec. 19 (ENS)— St. Mark's parish hall, Bonarlaw, was packed to overflowing Friday night for the Christmas concert sponsored by Bonarlaw school and St. Mark's Sunday school. Canon J. M. Brownlie was chairman for the program of songs, recitations and dialogues, and Mrs. Snider is to be congratulated for her efforts in planning and practising such a large group of children.

Christmas carols were sung with Mr. Ken Snider as leader and Mrs. George Williams on the piano.

The large Christmas tree was decorated and laden with gifts. At the close of the program, Santa Claus arrived. With the assitance of Canon Brownlie and Charles Wellman the gifts were all distributed and each child received a bag of candy, nuts, and oranges.

Institute Offers Provide Kitchen

BETHANY, Dec. 19 (ENS) — Mrs. Clarence Page, convener for home economics, gave an interesting talk on "How To Keep Your Silver Bright" at the Women's Institute meeting held in the Orange Hall on Monday night. Mrs. Page told how to prevent tarnish on silverware and demonstrated her talk with different types of cleaners and polishes, explaining their various merits.

There were 21 members present with Mrs. H. L. Challice presiding for the business session. The correspondence included letters of thanks from several members who had received boxes of fruit during illness, also thanks from Mr. and Mrs. A. H. Monk for flowers sent on the occasion of their recent golden wedding anniversary. The president reported approximately $70.00 receipts from catering for the recent banquet for the Bethany baseball team, Durham county winners. Four representatives from the institute, Mrs. Hilliard Bristow, Mrs. Harold Sanderson, Mrs. Ross Carr and Mrs. Reginald Palmer were appointed to attend the annual school trustee meeting.

The secretary was instructed to contact the township council requesting remodelling in the township hall basement to facilitate easier serving of meals and to state that the Women's Institute were prepared to furnish kitchen equipment, if the necessary change could be made.

Mrs. Preston Neals and Mrs. Page sang a duet "Star of the East" and each gave a reading "Which Present Was It" and "The Three Little Seraphs," both being humorous Christmas stories. A picture contest "Christmas Carols" was won by Mrs. Walter Rowland.

Christmas cards were signed to be sent to ill and shut-in members.

A delightful social hour followed during which Christmas gifts were exchanged and lunch was served by Mrs. P. Neals, Mrs. J. C. Cummiskey, Mrs. C. Page and Mrs. Wm. Phillips.

The thanks of the ladies to the above committee was tendered by Mrs. Thomas Jennings.

The January meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. T. S. Gault, the roll call to be answered by "A Product of Wood."

Property Loss From Fires Heavy In 2 Days

By The Canadian Press

Deaths and heavy property loss were caused by a number of serious fires across Canada in the last two days. In most cases the fires were accompanied by bitin; cold weather and heavy snow which hampered efforts of fir fighters and added a further handicap to those burned out of their homes.

A blaze caused an estimated $250,000 damage Tuesday when it destroyed a warehouse and wholesale office of A. E. Hickman Company, Ltd., in the west-coast Newfoundland town of Corner Brook. The loss was originally estimated at $1,000,000.

Lost were 2,100 tires, $40,000 worth of bonded cigarettes and 40,000 bottles of beer. Cause was not known.

In Winnipeg, two firemen were injured, 26 persons were left homeless and damage unofficially estimated at nearly $190,000 was caused in a series of fires.

At Val d'Or, Que., fire destroyed the $150,000 arena, opened last January.

Two-Alarm Fire

At Saint John, NB, a two-alarm fire gutted the one-storey garage of Saint John Motors Ltd., in the east end of the city. Loss was estimated at between $100,000 and $150,000. About 60 cars were in the big garage when the fire broke out. Some were driven out in time, but the majority were lost.

In Smiths Falls, Ont., Albert Hunter, a semi-invalid, was suffocated in his bed Monday night when fire swept a grocery store on the floor below his bedroom.

At West Flamboro, five miles north of Dundas, two children died following a fire that consumed the home of George Philp.

In a score of home fires across Canada during the weekend — when a sharp cold spell gripped much of the country—loss of nearly $1,000,000 was caused and two persons died in Streetsville.

HUMAN TOBOGGAN—Six happy orphans go for a "rides" on Cpl. Wallace M. Dews Philadlphia, Pa., as he visits the ltitle victims of the Korean war while on rest leave from his regiment.

Doctor Defends Druggist Position

OTTAWA, Dec. 19 — (CP) — A doctor came to the defence of the much-criticized druggist in the Commons Tuesday night.

Opposing the government bill to ban resale price maintenance, Dr. W. G. Blair (PC, Lanark) suggested that the public forgets that the druggist must be both a professional man and a merchant at the same time.

Nor did the public, complaining about the druggist's high margin of profit, consider that he must have four years of training before he opens shop and that he faces high costs and inflation.

He believed that banishment of resale price maintenance would kill the small drugstores, many of whom already had to take to serving coffee and sandwiches and even dealing in groceries.

Permanent Guests

FORT FRANCES (CP)—More than happy to remain in Canada are Mr. and Mrs. Harry J. Vanderplatz of Holland and their two children. The family was granted permanent residence when town officials intervened after their temporary visitors' permit expired.

Baptismal Font Given Roseneath Church

ROSENEATH, Dec. 19—(ENS—An oak baptismal font was unveiled and dedicated at an afternoon service at Fenella United church on Sunday. The font was given by Mrs. James Knox in memory of her husband, the late James Knox, a former member and regular attendant of the church. The font was unveiled by Catherine Roberts, Baltimore, a grandchild of the donor.

A baptismal service was held when Brenda Anne, infant daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Pollard, Toronto (nee Margaret Knox) was baptized. The infant is the youngest grandchild of the late James Knox and Mrs. Knox.

The Rev. R. C. White was in charge of the service and chose as his subject "Decisive Babies" and using as his text, "Unto Us a Child is Born."

A mixed choir, with Mrs. Laurie Hope at the organ, were in charge of the service of song and contributed an anthem, "The Everlasting Love."

TORONTO, Dec. 19 — (CP) — Donald Cirtwell Tuesday won an appeal of a sentence handed down in a Brockville court Sept. 14 on six charges of breaking and theft and two charges of bringing stolen goods into Canada.

His sentence of six months, plus four consecutive six-month sentences and three concurrent six-month sentences was reduced to five months determinate and one month indeterminate on all charges.

Any time served pending the hearing of the appeal was allowed as time served under the sentence.

Obituary

MRS. WILLIAM E. PEARSON

A resident of Deer Bay for 27 years, Mrs. William Edward Pearson died in hospital Tuesday after a sudden illness. She was in her 50th year.

Since her marriage to Mr. Pearson in 1924, Mrs. Pearson lived at Bayview Summer Resort, Deer Bay.

Mrs. Pearson was the former Amy Victoria Freeburn, daughter of the former Essie Beatrice Hill and the late Robert Freeburn. She was born in Smith township and educated at S.S. No. 12, Smith.

She was a member of Wesley United Church and a member of the Women's Institute, Buckhorn.

Mrs. Pearson leaves her husband Robert; two sons—Clifford and Clare, at home; a daughter Mrs. Claude Kerr, (Isabelle), Lakefield; nine sisters—Mrs. James Northey (Eva), Bath, Michigan; Mrs William Armstrong (Mary), Peterborough; Mrs. Claire Kearns (Olive), Peterborough; Mrs. Clarke Garbutt (Cora), RR 3 Lakefield; Mrs. Melville Crapp (Clara), Selwyn; Mrs. Royden Harvey (Marguerite), Selwyn; Mrs. Gerald Tedford (Dorcus), Young's Pt.; Mrs. Francis Tedford (Isabelle) , R.R. 2 Lakefield; Mrs. Hilliard Dunford (Ruby), Young's Pt.; six brothers —James, Robert Jr., Milson, Edward, Allan all of Young's Pt.; and Wellie, London, Ont.

The funeral will be Thursday, 2:20 p.m., at the Hendren funeral home, Lakefield. Mr. Kenneth Stewart, Wesley United Church, will officiate. Burial will be in Rey's Cemetery, Lakefield.

Food Merchants Win

ORILLIA, Dec. 19 — (CP) — Orillia food merchants Tuesday night won a three-month battle to close all day Monday for 10 months of the year instead of the usual Wednesday half holiday. They will remain open six days a week during July and August. Mayor W. M. Cramp cast the deciding vote in the matter when council deadlocked over the issue.

NEW STAMPS—Two prize-winning designs for new stamps will be issued next year by the post office. The contest was held for Canadian artists and the wininng designs, top, are by A. L. Pollock, 31, and bottom, Emanuel Hahn, both of Toronto. Artist Pollock's design representing the wealth of forestry products will be on a 20-cent stamp. Sculptor Hahn's design, the first of a series on well-known Canadian animals will be on four-cent stamps.

Six city - sponsored outdoor skating rinks will provide ice surfaces tonight. The parks department has surfaces now at Riverside, Inverlea, Turner, King Edward and Hamilton parks, and at Stewart and McDonnel Sts.

SEWING DONATIONS

St. Paul's Presbyterian Church South-end Group mended 56 articles and made two new articles for the Peterborough Children's Aid Society during November. Donations were also made to the society by 11 organizations and persons during the month.

HIGHWAYS PASSABLE

Despite heavy snowfall, highways in the immediate vicinity of Peterborough are in fair shape, Provincial Police report. In spots the highways are slippery and packed with snow, but there is no drifting. All are passable. Just drive more carefully, police advise.

CHILDREN'S HOME

Twelve children were in the Peterborough Children's Home December 1. During November seven were admitted and nine went out. These figures were reported at the Children's Aid Society board of directors meeting Tuesday afternoon by Mrs. Paul Irwin.

EXAMINATIONS FIRST

While St. Peter's High School students started their mid-term examinations Monday and will finish Friday, the PCVS students will begin part of their set Thursday. The SPS students will be able to breathe easier throughout the holidays with the set completed; collegiate students will have thoughts of the remaining papers to be written in January.

FIRE INSPECTOR COMES

An inspector from the fire marshal's office, Toronto, is expected to arrive in the city today to investigate the fire that broke out Monday night in the Wiseman Fashion Shop, 432 George St. Cause of the fire and extent of the damage are still unknown. Heavy smoke and water damage were caused throughout the block. The women's clothing shop, with its Christmas merchandise, was completely gutted. An upstairs apartment was made uninhabitable by smoke and water, and stores and apartments on either side also sustained heavy loss from smoke and water.

HE STEPPED OUT ALIVE — This jumbled mess of steel, rubber and upholstery was once a small English model delivery truck. Its driver, Burritt Bell, 459 Park St. N., escaped with a few bruises and a small cut. Bell's truck was caught Tuesday night between a CNR caboose being backed into a siding and a cement wall just north of Charlotte St. Policemen, CNR employees and others worked an hour before Bell was released, then with a little help he staggered to the stretcher.— (Examiner Staff Photo)

Fix $300,000 Extra Cost Of City Hall

Cost To Ratepayers Exceeds Bequest Gift Of City Trust

Cost of the city hall to the ratepayers will be "about $300,000", Ald. Hugh Waddell remarked in a discussion of space value of the building in committee of the whole council, Tuesday night.

A final statement of cost of the entire property, and also of the detail of funds to pay for it, is not yet available. This however does not include the $135,000 gift to the city from the surplus earnings of the City Trust.

"That is an estimate," Ald. Waddell said, indicating that the council itself does not yet know definitely what the final amount will be. It is understood the exact amount to be received from Morrow estate is not yet determined.

If you were renting an office in the city hall, the rate would be at $3.25 per square foot, the highest in town.

$3.25 a Square Foot.

Ald. Waddell, as chairman of the property committee, said the cost of operating the building was estimted at the rate of one dollar per square foot. For that same unit of area, the debentures would add $2.25. That makes the total of $3.25 per square foot.

"We know of several places that have rented at more than $2 the square foot," Ald. Waddell said.

Ald. E. C. Braund expressed the opinion that the rate at the city hall was the city's peak of realty value, at least, for rent.

Not Moving In.

Ald. Waddell reported that the Separate School Board had changed its mind about moving into the city hall, but the Board of Education is occupying its space.

Separate School Board's decision was arrived at before the rent rate was known. It was said that the secretary was not a full-time job. Rev. James F. Houlihan is the present secretary. He preferred that the books be closer at hand than in the city hall.

The last information from Board of Education was that they had not agreed to proposed rate for their quarters in the new building. One of their arguments is that they should not be charged any proportion of cost of furnishing the city hall as the board had to provide its own furnishings even to the shelving.

With just one school board moving into the building, additional space is left for other uses, particularly for the Board of Health.

Two Brothers Win Live Christmas Geese, Can't Harden Hearts Enough To Kill Them

This is the story of two brothers who held winning tickets in draws for Christmas geese and lived to regret it.

One of the brothers happened to go down into Otonabee township where the draw had been made and found that both he and his brother had been lucky. They brought the geese to him, but they were alive!

He was discouraged right away and tried to give them away, but no one wanted them.

With many misgivings, he loaded the geese into the back seat of his car and drove to Peterborough. When he finally arrived, the back seat was a shambles.

But his troubles were not over. When his brother saw what he won, he refused to take his prize. Neither of them felt capable of killing the birds.

But the story had a happy ending. They spent some time, but finally found someone who would accept their generosity and the geese.

Civic Hospital Allowed To Borrow Up To $150,000

Board of Governors of Civic Hospital were authorized by the city council Tuesday night to increase their maximum borrowing for current expenditure to $150,000. The motion by Ald. J. A. Dewart, seconded by Ald. H. T. Rehill, was unanimously approved by the committee of the whole, and ratified at a subsequent special meeting of the council. All the members were present, with Mayor Max Swanston presiding.

This action simply provides a new limit of necessary credit accommodation for the governors in paying their day to day bills.

"It should be clearly understood that this has nothing whatever to do with any operating deficit that may accrue at the hospital," said Edward Humpage, city auditor, in explaining the request from the governors.

No Money Ahead

Enlarging his statement, Mr Humpage cited, as an estimate, accounts receivable by the hospital at approximately $125,000 and the inventory of required stock of drugs, food, etc., is around $35,000. "But, they are starting out with no ready capital to meet current payments," Mr. Humpage said.

The accounting department of the hospital makes out cheques to pay these bills, but its bank credit has been limited to $50,000. Ordinary receipts may not be sufficient to meet the cheques for periods of two to five months.

"People who supply the hospital with goods have to wait so long sometimes for their money, that it makes the hospital credit look foolish," Mr. Humpage said.

The original maximum of this borrowing was set at $10,000, when the hospital was converted into a civic institution.

That level was raised first to $25,000, and then four years ago it was increased to $50,000. The decision of the council simply means that at no time may the borrowing of the hospital for its current expenditures be more than $150,000. It affords what Mr. Humpage called "working capital". He had remarked that such capital should be $125,000 to $150,000. It provides a fluid financial position in covering expenses that have to be paid.

Receipts May Lag

Receipts from sources such as Blue Cross may not be available for 40 to 60 days, but the hospital has to carry on in the meantime until these "accounts receivable" come in.

"The hospital is not a cash-and-carry proposition," Ald. Dewart said. "As I see it we are taking it out on the creditors, the business people who have supplied goods. Additional credit will enable the hospital to save on discounts, and if nothing else it gives the board the working capital they need."

"At present it is not fair to the people supplying the hospital," Ald. Rehill commented.

And, it has depreciated generally the credit of the hospital by lack of sufficient funds, or working capital, to meet its bills promptly.

Collegiate Ahead

Another form of accommodation was sought by the Board of Education. Construction of the Kenner Collegiate Institute has been advancing more speedily than was expected. As a result the certificates of the architects amount to more than the credit at the bank which the Board of Education had negotiated.

Request of the Board was for expansion of its credit to meet payments to the contractor until the proceeds are received from the sale of debentures.

With an option to remain for entire meeting, if he wished, Mr Humpage had chosen to stay for a while.

He suggested to the committee of the whole that the Board of Education could borrow on the strength of the debenture bylaw, just as readily as could the council.

"The bylaw has been passed," Mr. Humpage said, "and the bank should let them have the money they require."

Mayor Swanston said the tenders for the Board of Education debentures would probably be opened on Jan. 8.

Council is passing on to the board the information from the auditor.

City Pays Man To Take Sludge

Plans for the removal of sludge from the sewage disposal plant by agreement with Leonard Withers were approved by the council Tuesday night.

He is to be paid by the city 50 cents a cubic yard of the sediment, and provides a truck, but the city will purchase for $1,248 a special sludge containing truck body of five cubic yards capacity which is to be mounted on the Withers truck. The city retains ownership of the sludge body.

Mr. Withers expects to develop sales of the sludge for use in fertilizing land, but the city reserves a right to retain any quantity of the material for its own purpose, presumably, for example, for greener grass in its parks.

One or two other trucks may be required eventually, for the present, Ald. J. E. Gillespie reported, a "trial run" system is being adopted. The consulting engineers, Gore and Storrie of Toronto, had suggested at an early stage of planning the sewage disposal plant that three trucks might be required some day.

The sludge will be retained in lagoons when they are completed. For the present, Mr. Withers has a suitable place for disposal if sales do not develop immediately.

City Engineer Chalmers' recommendation of terms was approved in a motion by Aldermen Waddell and Miller.

Horse Frightened Out Of Harness

Seconds before a car crashed into the front end of a horse-drawn bread wagon on George St., Tuesday evening, the horse shied to the right over a snow bank and leaped clear of its harness, escaping injury.

The driver of the wagon, Ernest Withers, 332 Parkhill Rd., jumped from the left side of the wagon as it overturned in the opposite direction when the car ran into the left front wheel, damaging the shafts.

William F. Bell, Douro township, told constable Reg McMillan who investigated that he was driving north on George St., and pulled out to pass a car. He said he did not see the horse and wagon coming south on George St., until it was too late to avoid a collision.

Firemen Ask Ruling On Pension

They Can't Decide How To Divide Fund of $21,000

City firemen have asked the supreme court to decide on the disposition of their pension fund of more than $21,000.

The fund was started in 1933, 15 years before the firemen came under the pension fund provided by the city for its employees.

The question is that the firemen are now asking Justice J. M. King to decide, in effect, is this how should the money be disposed of, and who is eligible to share in it?

As there has been no agreement among the firemen themselves, they decided to take it to court at the current non-jury sittings for a decision by Justice King.

Friendly Action

Both counsel—T. J. Carley, KC, for the firemen, and W. F. Huycke, KC, for the trustees of the fund—stressed that it was a "friendly action." The matter could not be disposed of by applying for an ordinary motion because there is no trust deed agreement in writing, and no constitution or bylaw setting up the Peterborough Fire Department Pension Fund.

So they decided on a court action with the firemen who believe they are eligible for the money acting as plaintiffs, and the two fund trustees — Chief George Smith, president, and Captain Albert Mason, secretary-treasurer —acting as defendants.

No money has ever been paid out of the fund.

Some of the firemen who worked to raise money for the fund are now retired (without even a city pension); a couple are dead; others have been discharged. Another problem is whether men who served in the armed forces should have their service time included when calculating the benefits.

Ball Raised Funds

The principal means of raising money was the annual Firemen's Ball. Since 1938, when they came under the city pension plan, the firemen have turned over the proceeds of the ball to the union.

Justice King described the friendly action as "interesting," when an outline of the case was given to him shortly before noon today by the two counsels. But he said that it seemed the money should be used for a pension fund and not for cash distribution.

Justice King also considered whether there were any other interests to be considered than that of the firemen.

What about the donors? What about the city?

Mr. Huycke said the city was not interested in the accumulated $21,000. Officials felt it was raised by the firemen and belonged to them.

Firemen who have joined since the closing of the fund have waived any claim to it, said Mr. Carley.

Evidence will be heard later today.

Patient Dies At Dentist's

NORWOOD, Dec. 19 (ENS) — Frederick Darwin Moore, Cobourg, son of Mr. and Mrs. Darwin Moore of Norwood, died suddenly Monday in the dentist chair of Dr. W. E. Wilkins, Cobourg. He was there to have a tooth pulled.

An autopsy was held Wednesday by Dr. Hans Luecke of Belleville but the results have not been made known. There will be an inquest but no date has been set.

A laborer, Mr. Moore had lived in Cobourg only a month, moving there from six miles west of the town. He was born in Belmont township 44 years ago.

Besides his wife, the former Violet Gardner, and his parents surviving are: six daughters, Mrs. Howard Robertson (Jean), Cobourg, Mrs. Donald Kelly (Ruby) of Campbellford, Edith, Verna, Lois and Pauline, all at home; a son, Roy of Toronto; four sisters Mrs. Andrew Wrightly (Elsie) of Norwood, Mrs. Frank Wrightly of Havelock, Mrs. Samuel McDonald (Margaret) of Campbellford and Mrs. Herbert McKay (Myrtle) of Indian River.

Service will be held Thursday at the McFayden funeral home in Cobourg and burial in Cobourg cemetery.

Train Grinds Delivery Truck Against Wall; Man Trapped For Hour, Only Bruised

A 29-year-old man, jammed in the wreckage of a truck for more than an hour after it had been struck by a train Tuesday evening is recovering from minor injuries today. An engine and caboose, backing slowly north on the Bethune St. CNR tracks struck a small English model delivery truck driven by Burritt E. Bell, 459 Park St. north, as Bell drove out of an alley on to the tracks, just north of Charlotte St., shortly before 6 pm.

Seeing what was about to happen, brakeman Arthur Williamson of Lindsay, who was riding on the far side of the caboose, jumped off, and swung his lantern giving the engineer the "washout" sign to stop the train.

Dragged 36 Feet

Before engineer Charles Sleep could bring the train to a stop, the truck was dragged for more than 36 feet, sandwiched between the caboose and the wall of a warehouse.

The truck was crumpled to a mass of twisted metal.

Running around to the other side of the train as soon as it stopped, brakeman Williamson said he shouted "Are you in there," not expecting any reply.

"I'm in here," a voice replied, and from then until he was freed, Bell chatted with rescuers as they worked to free him.

Bell was pinned so tightly in the wreckage that his feet and legs became numb from lack of circulation.

The engine of the truck was turned around sideways and jammed the dashboard against Bell's hip, holding him so he could scarcely move.

Through Windshield

By squirming and wriggling, as rescuers used jacks to pry the caved in windshield open enough to pull him through, Bell worked his feet loose and pushed himself up as others pulled him through the windshield.

The space between the east track rail and the warehouse wall is only five feet six inches. With the caboose driven off the rails at an angle toward the warehouse, rescue workers had to operate in cramped quarters.

An ambulance stood by, while

BURRITT BELL

Bell was being freed and as soon as he was pulled out, he was placed on a stretcher and rolled into the ambulance. He was admitted to hospital at 7.20, an hour and a half after the accident occurred.

In addition to shock and exposure, Bells injuries were multiple bruises and a cut on the chin. He was still suffering from shock but his condition was described as good by Civic hospital officials today.

A large crowd milled around the train to see what was going on. Three tow trucks lined up to the west of the train, hooked cables on the caboose and tried to pull it away from the wrecked truck.

One cable unravelled like a piece of rotten rope as the truck drew it taut and the trucks were unable to move the caboose.

Eased Pressure

However, the tow trucks did ease the weight pressing on the wreckage and speeded up the efforts of the train crew, volunteers and police as they tried to pry Bell free.

City Shivers It Was 12 Below

John Peterborough looked out through a hole in the frost covering his bedroom window this morning and shivered.

He wished he could stay home with the wife.

Outside was just as bad as he had feared. The temperature skidded 29 degrees from a high of 17 degrees above Tuesday afternoon to 12 below sometime during the chilly night.

About the time he was looking out the window, it had warmed up two degrees. By noon the mercury had climbed up to within hailing distance of zero, just three degrees below.

The city and surrounding district is getting alternating doses of weather. Monday it was clear and cold. Tuesday it was milder and snowing. Today is clear and cold again and Thursday—you guessed it—snow will start with the dawn which is a lot later these days than it should be.

But the district can think itself lucky. It didn't have the crippling snow storm that other parts of the province had. About four and three quarters inches of snow fell here during Tuesday until it finished during the night.

He's The Glutton

Check confusion at a King St. lunch counter gave customers a chuckle today. "No, he had the three hamburgers," a teen-ager said, pointing to his companion. "I had the two hot dogs and the big sundae."

Youngster Hit By Car Crossing Park St.

Knocked down by a car as he was crossing Park St., Tuesday afternoon, eight-year-old Ian Young, 550 Hamilton St., was taken to Peterborough Clinic and treated for a bump on the head by Dr. R. K. Magee.

The driver of the car, Alan G. Tingley, 554 Hamilton St., told Constable Grant Gillespie who investigated, that he was driving north on Park St., and as he was approaching Wilson Ave., the boy walked into the path of his car from the west side of the street.

He said he applied his brakes as soon as he saw the youngster but his car skidded on the icy street, and knocked the boy down.

The car was almost stopped when the boy was hit Tingley said and he picked him up and took him to the clinic where he was examined by Dr. Magee.

Hey, Girls

With the blush of a frosty winter's day on their cheeks, local girls appeared most attractive to an out-of-town visitor today. The man who said he hails from the "banana belt" of southwestern Ontario, said "I'm most favorably impressed with the display of pulchritude in Peterborough." Elaborating on his compliment he said, "In most places, there are a few duds (less attractive ladies) but here, they are all exceptionally attractive."

This Year's Christmas Toys Almost Like the Real Thing

By The Canadian Press.

Jolly old St. Nicholas this year may bring junior a bus station complete with traffic lights and public-address system. He may surprise some little girl with a washing machine that really whirrs.

In a peek through Santa's pack of toys The Canadian Press has found this year's playthings as close to the real thing as an imitation can get.

Santa Claus' "helpers" will find most toys in most Canadian centres more expensive than last year. But in Montreal and Winnipeg prices are about the same as in 1950.

Not many "war"toys have appeared in Canadian toylands. In Saskatchewan, some youngster is going to exclaim Christmas morning about his new road-grader. Mounted on heavy rubber tires it sells for $16.

Doll manufacturers have taken advantage of the current home-permanent fad and turned out a blonde beauty with straight hair which may be curled by using the accompanying "home permanent" kit.

This doll is described as having enough nylon in its wig to make seven pairs of silk stockings. (Mother pays from $1.50 to $2 a pair for hers.)

Alberta stores are selling a doll that weeps when its ears are pressed and coos when its tummy is squeezed.

Pay $45 For Dolls

Stores in Saskatchewan are selling one with a record inside that plays a bed-time prayer. In Vancouver, Italian-made dolls with human hair are selling for $45.

Most of Santa Claus' "helpers" however, are spending their money on less expensive playthings. These include baby's bath toys of rubber which sell in Toronto for $1. There also are furry little animals which can be slipped into the washing machine when they become dirty.

Saint John, NB, has found the demand for electric trains greater than the supply. In Halifax, there are aircraft and motor cars built carefully to scale and good enough to pass the most critical juvenile inspection.

German-made mechanical toys are on the market in Vancouver.

SHOULDER TO SHOULDER AGAINST TRUMAN—Republican presidential hopeful Sen. Robert Taft, left, and leading Southern Democrat Sen. Harry Byrd of Virginia stood "shoulder to shoulder against the growing socialism and government control" of the Truman administration. The two administration critics made a joint appearance before the American Medical Association convention in Los Angeles.

Political Front Stayed Steady During The Year

By GEORGE KITCHEN

OTTAWA, Dec. 19 (CP)—Canada's political front was busy in 1951, but few major developments emerged.

There were three provincial elections—in Ontario, Newfoundland and Prince Edward Island—with each government being returned to power.

In Ontario, the Progressive Conservative government of Premier Frost improved its position. The ballotting in Newfoundland and Prince Edward Island, governed by the Liberal administrations of Premiers Joseph Smallwood and Walter Jones, left the party standings pretty well unchanged.

In the federal field, Prime Minister St. Laurent's Liberal government lost ground in the five by-elections called during the year. Nine federal contests took place in 1950.

The federal Liberals lost three seats to the Progressive Conservatives—Queens in Prince Edward Island and Brandon and Winnipeg South centre in Manitoba. The Progressive Conservatives held their own in the other two contests in Calgary West and the Ontario riding of Waterloo South.

However, the Liberals still held a majority of 111 members over other groups in the 262-seat House of Commons. This is the latest house standing:

Liberals 186; Progressive Conservatives 46; C.C.F. 13; Social Credit 10; Independent 4; Independent-Liberal 2; vacant 1; total 262.

The vacancy exists in Ontario riding, which Walter Thomson, Liberal member, gave up to contest the Ontario general election as provincial Liberal leader. No date has been set for a by-election.

Three New Senators

Three new members, all Newfoundland Liberals, entered the 102-member senate. They were H. W. Quinton, Calvert Pratt and Michael Basha. With their appointment, the senate standing was: Liberals 78; Progressive Conservatives 9; vacant 15; total 102.

There was only one cabinet minister appointment. Rt. Hon. C. D. Howe, the aggressive munitions minister of the Second World War, took on the newly-created portfolio of defence production in addition to his duties as trade minister.

As in 1950, parliament met twice during the year—in spring and fall—enacting legislation with important ramifications in the national and international fields.

Canada continued during the year to hear talk of a possible successor to Governor-General Viscount Alexander, whose term has been extended to late 1952, and of the further possibility that the new appointee might be a Canadian. Prominently mentioned were the names of Speaker Ross Macdonald of the Commons and Chancellor Vincent Massey of the University of Toronto.

Analyzing the provincial election results of the year, political observers noted that no government, provincial or federal, has been voted out of power in Canada since 1944.

Canadian Gunner Has Private Boast

WITH THE CANADIANS IN KOREA, Dec. 19 (CP)—With the 2nd Regiment, Royal Canadian Horse Artillery past the 200,000s in the number of shells it has fired at the Communists, one gunner has a private boast.

He is Bdr. Austin Vickery of Joggin, NS. Vickery was on the gun detachment which last May 17 fired the RCHA's first round in anger in Korea.

Months later he was on the crew which shot the regiment's 200,001st shell in the same direction.

(The 200,000th round is reserved for Defence Minister Brooke Claxton, who will be asked to fire it in January when he is expected to visit the 25th Canadian Infantry Brigade group.)

Vickery is second-in-command of a gun detachment commanded by Sgt. Cleveland Grant, Winnipeg. Crew members include Philip Young of Brantford.

Mimico To Aid Habitual Drunks

TORONTO, Dec. 19 (CP)—Reforms Minister Foote Tuesday announced that the province's alcoholic treatment centre at Mimico, recently established for convicted criminals, will be made available to habitual drunks who appear regularly in magistrate's court.

A convicted drunk will be screened by a medical clinic to make sure he is willing to take treatment for alcoholism. Major Foote said that "very encouraging results" have been obtained at Mimico—the first institution of its kind in North America serving criminals.

A school for reformable criminals will be established at Burwash Reformatory, Major Foote said. Convicts finishing a long stretch wil ltake rehabilitation training to ease the shock of the change from imprisonment to freedom.

A. R. Virgin, director of reform institutions, will be in charge of the new plans. Deputy minister C. F. Neelands, who previously intended to retire at the new year, has consented to stay on as a consultant for another year.

5-Year Plan

VANCOUVER, Dec. 19 (CP) — The motor vehicle branch Tuesday night announced a "five-year-plan" for British Columbia licence plates. The motor vehicle plates to be issued in 1952 will be used for five years, the branch said. Changeable tabs will indicate the year up to 1956.

Mrs. A. Metcalfe WMS President

HASTINGS, Dec. 19 (ENS)—The WMS of Trinity United Church held its monthly meeting in the church parlor. Reflecting the Christmas season were a lighted tree and decorations. Mrs. A. E. Metcalfe presided.

New officials for 1952 are: president, Mrs. A. E. Metcalfe; vice-president, Mrs. Arthur Fleming; corresponding secretary, Mrs. W. S. Way; secretary, Mrs. Fox; treasurer, Mrs. H. Oliver; supplies, Mrs. Arthur Waters; Christian citizenship, Mrs. Metcalfe; stewardship, Mrs. R. Collins.

The candle lighting service was done by Mrs. R. Collins, Mrs. H. Oliver, Mrs. A. Waters and Mrs. A. E. Metcalfe.

Mrs. P. Beavis was given a life membership certificate.

Delegates were selected to attend the presbyterial at St. Andrew's Church, Peterborough, delegates being Mrs. W. S. Way and Mrs. R. Collins.

Guests of the meeting were the Wide Awake Mission Band, with the president, Marilyn Hess, presiding. Elaine Hess was pianist. The treasurer, Brenda Thompson, reported the mite boxes yield was $6.60.

Verna Fisher and Elizabeth Parker sang a duet. The president, Marilyn Hess, was presented with a life membership certificate from the Evening Auxiliary. The address was read by Mrs. G. Orr, Mrs. R. Burnham making the presentation. Evening Auxiliary presented the Band with $15.

Mrs. A. E. Metcalfe was complimented for her success in organizing and guiding the Band. Lunch was served by the WMS.

Biologist Dies

MILAN, Italy, Dec. 19 (AP).—Dr. Giovanni Pauletta, 36-year-old Italian biologist, died Tuesday after injecting into his veins a drug with which he was experimenting. Authorities at the Carlo Erba Pharmaceutical Research Institute said Pauletta previously had tested the drug on animals and decided today to try it himself.

Express Co. Asks For Trucking Permit

TORONTO, Dec. 19—(CP)—A number of Ontario trucking firms Tuesday opposed an application before the Ontario Municipal Board by the Canadian Pacific Express Company for a licence to operate a trucking service between Toronto and Belleville.

F. A. Doyle, superintendent of the eastern division of Canadian Pacific Express, said the company now is operating on a temporary permit but wants to be free to expand the service.

Canadian Pacific, he added, is making the application to speed up fast passenger trains and supplement the present service.

The hearing is continuing.

Arraignment Dec. 26

BEVERLY HILLS, Calif., Dec. 19 — (AP). — Film Producer Walter Wanger was ordered on Tuesday to appear for arraignment Decemebr 26 on an indictment in the triangle shooting of Jennings Lang, agent for Wanger' wife Joan Bennett. The County Grand Jury charged Wanger, 57, with assault with a deadly weapon with intent to commit murder. The possible penalty is 5 to 14 years. He was permitted to remain at liberty on $5,000 bail.

Says Tallulah Looks Beautiful

NEW YORK, Dec. 19—(AP)—Mink-clad Tullulah Bankhead played the role of stern accuser Tuesday and won the biggest hand from the woman she accused, her former maid-secretary.

"Didn't she look beautiful?" gushed 59-year-old Mrs. Evyleen Cronin. "She is a beautiful woman and has a wonderful voice.

"I have no ill feelings of any kind toward Miss Bankhead. She's a wonderful woman."

Mrs. Cronin is accused of raising 26 of Miss Bankhead's cheques and pocketing the $4,284. The charge is forgery and larceny. She has admitted raising the cheques, but said she did it for the actress' benefit and with Miss Bankhead's authorization. She has offered partial restitution.

Actually, Tallulah's long awaited witness stand appearance didn't even win her a curtain call. She was on the stand only 25 minutes to deny she ever gave Mrs. Cronin permission to raise the cheques.

On the stand, Tallulah played the role straight.

"Did you ever tell this defendant or any one to increase the amount of your cheques?" she was asked.

"Never," drawled Tallulah.

"Did the defendant ever ask permission to raise your cheques?"

"Never," the actress drawled again.

Didn't Show Up

HOLLYWOOD, Dec. 19 (AP)—Rita Hayworth didn't show up at the studio Tuesday, and Columbia announced that it is continuing her on suspension. An announcement Monday night said they had patched up their differences, and shooting would start on her new picture late this week. But that went into the discard when she failed to appear.

Decreased Value Of Money Means Changes

By FORBES RHUDE,
Canadian Press Business Editor.

The current monthly letter of the National City Bank of New York tries to look into the future to see where the decreasing buying power of money may be leading.

It combines with its own comment observations by Professor Sumner H. Slichter of Harvard University and those of a correspondent of the London Economist.

One interesting suggestion by Prof. Slichter is the possibility of a government bond whose redemption value would be determined by the cost-of-living index, in much the same way that some wage scales are adjusted. The object would be to protect people's savings from losing their value.

He also suggests as safeguards against the result of inflation: home ownership, purchase of common stocks and a "more adequate interest rate on savings bonds."

Escalator Clauses

The London Economist correspondent sees the possibility of escalator clauses in borrowing and lending; that is, one would pay back more than one borrowed if the buying power of money went down; and presumably, less its buying power went up.

The bank's comments and those it quotes seem to take the view that government policies today do not permit the corrective actions which in other times would have forced down prices.

The letter does not go into the social thinking of the peoples whom the governments represent. So far as this writer can observe, however, not only governments but peoples have become accustomed in recent years to believe that virtually full employment is both necessary and possible; and that it should be accompanied by an increasing standard of living.

Acute Danger

The Economist, commenting on its correspondent's articles, says that "If anything more than a very gradual fall in the value of money becomes the normal expectation of ordinary people, then there is acute danger for democratic society."

Post-war inflation, the letter says, may have created more human tragedies than a spell of deflation (moderate recession) might have done.

"From the standpoint of the buyer of savings bonds, the pensioner, the insurance beneficiary, the school teacher with lagging pay, the experience during and since the Second World War has been disheartening.

"Inflation is a concealed tax and these are the people who took the brunt of it."

Subway Tied Up

LONDON, Dec. 19 — (AP). — A power breakdown in the London Subway at the height of the evening rush hour Tuesday night produced one of the city's worst transport snarls. A short circuit on one train sent a surge of curent jolting all along the underground system, blowing out fuses. Three major lines converging in the centre of London were halted.

Lose Opportunity

WASHINGTON, Dec. 19 (AP). —President Truman said Tuesday a group of editors, by declining to propose definitions of government records which should be kept secret, had passed up an opportunity "to serve the cause of freedom of information." Truman made this contention in a letter to Herbert F. Corn, president of the Associated Press Managing Editors Association.

Support Teachers

SYDNEY, NS, Dec. 19—(CP)—Sydney school teachers Tuesday decided to support Cape Breton rural and village teachers in their proposal to strike Jan. 7 if salary demands are not met by that date. A mass meeting of some 1,000 Cape Breton teachers will be held here Thursday to discuss strike action to back up their demands for more money.

ACE NO. 5—Maj. George A. Davis, of Lubbock, Tex., is the fifth and newest jet ace of the Korean war. Davis reached ace status by shooting down three Russian-built bombers and one Red MIG-15 jet in five minutes of combat. He is tied with Maj. James Jabara of Wichita, Kan., as top ace of the Korean war. Both have six kills, but Jabara's were all jets.

Dunton Believes CBC Board Much Underpaid

OTTAWA, Dec. 19 (CP)—A. D. Dunton, CBC chairman, said Tuesday he believes his colleagues on the CBC board of governors are underpaid.

Appearing before a Senate committee studying amendments to the CBC Act, Mr. Dunton said that governors on the nine-member board receive $50 and expenses for each board meeting. The board meets for two or three days five or six times a year.

The amount paid the governors was small when one considered that they left their regular occupations in various parts of Canada to travel to Ottawa or elsewhere for the meetings.

The fees for the governors are fixed by statute. As chairman of the board, Mr. Dunton receives $15,000 annually.

Senator A. K. Hugessen (L, Quebec), chairman of the committee, asked if the Senators wished to propose any change in the fees paid to governors. Senator John T. Haig (PC, Manitoba), opposition leader in the Senate, said he did not think the Senate should take such action.

Drop Matter

Senator G. P. Burchill (L, New Brunswick) said the governors should be paid "what they are worth." Senator Haig said no one is ever paid what he is worth.

Mr. Dunton was questioned on a section of the bill authorizing parliamentary grants of $6,250,000 a year for five years to the CBC.

Senator Arthur Roebuck (L, Ontario) wanted to know why the CBC objected to having the grants voted annually instead of for five-year periods. Mr. Dunton said the legislation was not that of the CBC, but the aim was to keep the CBC away from possible interference by any government of the day.

Mr. Dunton recalled that the Massey Commission on Arts and Sciences had recommended that the CBC should be kept free from possible interference by the government.

Racketeer Indicted

NEWARK, NJ, Dec. 19 (AP)—Moe B. Dalitz, described by Federal officials as a well-known Cleveland racketeer, and six other men were indicted Tuesday on conspiracy charges stemming from an alleged international plane-smuggling plot. US Attorney Grover C. Richman said Dalitz was the "main financier" in the alleged plot to smuggle 21 planes from Newark to Egypt during the Arab-Israel hostilities.

CHRISTMAS IN HAWAII:

Children of Many Races Meet In Island Pageant Depicting the Story of the Christ Child's Birth

Re-enactment of the story of Jesus' birth is a classic tradition for school children the world over. But never does the pageant portray more beautifully the "good will toward men" which the Savior taught than in the annual Christmas pageants of the children of Hawaii. There children of many races and nationalities—Chinese, Japanese, Korean, Hawaiian, American, Puerto Rican, Samoan, European—and mixtures of all, meet in friendship, acting their parts without thought of racial prejudice. The scenes below, from a Honolulu school's annual Christmas pageant, show the delightful actors and the wonderful expressions that are a part of the observance of Christmas in Hawaii.

"Shepherds in the fields abiding . . . God with man is now residing, Yonder shines the infant light . . ."
—Angels, from the Realms of Glory.

Among the palms of Hawaii, young shepherds hear the glad tidings in school pageant depicting the Christmas story. Left to right, are: Robert Wong, Chinese; Lloyd Young, Chinese; Richard Frias, Portuguese-Filipino.

"There only stood a stable rude, The heavenly Babe to cover . . ."
—Glad Christmas Bells.

Hawaiian-Japanese Clement Kaiama, as Joseph, takes his Mary, Chinese-English-Hawaiian Marcia Leal, to a Hawaiian stable. There was no room at the inn.

"Nor raiment gay, as there He lay, Adorn'd the infant stranger; Poor, humble child or mother mild, She laid Him in a manger."
—Glad Christmas Bells.

Three races meet in the "Madonna," haloed by Hawaiian woven coconut fronds. It's Marcia Leal again.

"We three kings of Orient are, Bearing gifts we traverse afar . . ."
—We Three Kings of Orient Are.

Polynesian fruits and flowers are offered as gifts to the new-born babe by the three Oriental kings. Kneeling is Steven Davis, Chinese-Hawaiian. Standing, are: Bruce Libby, English-Swedish-Hawaiian, and Roy Koyanagi, Japanese.

"While mortals sleep, the angels keep Their watch of wond'ring love . . ."
—O Little Town of Bethlehem.

Sto'en Boat Not Identified, Case Dismissed

After hearing the evidence, Magistrate W. R. Philp dismissed a charge of theft against a Toronto man in police court Tuesday.

Mrs. Louello Griffin, of Fortescue Lake alleged that Mark Bailey, of 60 Dovercourt Rr., removed a boat belonging to her from the water in front of her property. She claimed she found the boat, painted a different color on the beach in front of Bailey's property.

Bailey claimed he had obtained the boat from another man who had left it in his charge.

A defence witness, Douglas McDonald, 98 Manse Rd., Toronto testified it was "the same boat we had been using for years." He said he had ridden in the boat identified by Mrs. Griffin as belonging to her on "previous summers and two previous deer hunts."

Boat Disappeared

Mrs. Griffin reported the boat disappeared sometime after the weekend following Labor Day.

OPP Constable Bert Howden testified that the man named by Bailey had said he owned a boat similar to the one in question and had sold it to Bailey, and believed it was afterwards painted green.

Mrs. Griffin said she believed the boat was hers because the scrapings on the side, marks made by pulling the boat over rocks and the type of boat were similar to the one she said had been stolen from her property.

Stating that there was "clearly not sufficient degree of identification to justify a conviction of theft and that in criminal cases the degree of proof must be definitely stronger than in civil cases," Magistrate Philp dismissed the charge.

Lose Last Contracts

MONTREAL, Dec. 19—(CP)—The Canadian Seamen's Union, expelled from the American Federation of Labor for Communist connections, Tuesday lost what is believed to be its last contracts in Canada. Canada Cement Company, Ltd., and the Seafarers' International Union, which supplanted the CSU in the AFL organization, Tuesday signed two contracts covering two ships, the ... carrier and the Cement Carrier.

Legislative Way Cleared For Seaway

OTTAWA, Dec. 19—(CP)—The legsilative way was cleared Tuesday for Canadian construction of the gian St. Lawrence Seaway power and navigation development which will open Great Lake ports to ocean shipping.

The Senate received a report from the Commons that it had concurred in a single amendment made by the Upper Chamber to the navigation measure. This placed more control on the powers of the president of the three-man seaway authority to be set up to construct and administer the seaway.

Already endorsed by both Houses is a companion measure ratifying an agreement with Ontario by which the province will undertake, presumably with New York State, power development on the international section of the St. Lawrence River.

Both the power and navigation measures now need only royal assent to become law.

Movie Column

Allen Disgusted By Interference Of Advertisers

HOLLYWOOD, Dec. 19 (AP)—Sour-faced comedian Fred Allen, here for a movie stint, paused long enough to blast his favorite target—air networks and advertising agency vice-presidents.

He blames them for television's failings, including his own.

"My shows have been pretty bad," he admitted, "except the last one. The reason is that until now I had been doing what everybody else said I was supposed to do. But on the last one, I disregarded their advice and did the kind of show I wanted. The sponsor was dropping the series anyway, so what did I have to lose?

"These executives have a lot of screwy notions about TV. They say everything has to have movement. Even if you're standing still and doing a monologue, there has to be two guys running around behind you."

Bad Effect

He believes that the advertiser's influence in TV has produced a bad effect, "just as it did in radio."

"The TV performer has the same importance as the label on a can," he argued. "The show itself is not important; it's whether the show can sell the product."

"I think it's bad in any medium when the entertainment quality is not the important thing. A discriminating audience has certainly helped the movie business. Pictures had to get better, because people found out they could eat popcorn right out in the open; they didn't have to go in darkened theatres to do it."

James Locke Simpson

NORWOOD, Dec. 19—(ENS)—The funeral of one of Havelock's oldest citizens, James Locke Simpson, was held Friday afternoon at 2 pm from Havelock United church.

Mr. Simpson died Wednesday at Civic Hospital, Peterborough, following a lengthy illness.

Pallbearers were Richard Sanderson, Ernest Seeney, George Outwater, Charles Roberts, Fred Rogers, Robert Anderson.

Flower bearers were Jack McGradie, Jack Cross, Osborne Aulthouse, Jack Aulthouse, Everett Quackenbush, Stanley Simpson.

Of Interest to Women

A GIRL! FOR GLADYS?—Old Harvard grads throughout the country are indignant, but an actual, real live woman may get the part of Gladys in this year's production of the traditionally all-male Hasty Pudding Show at Cambridge, Mass. Shapely Roxanne, of New York, is seen (on the left) trying out for the role with Larry Leonard, a legitimate Harvard Hasty Puddingtype performer from Swampscott, Mass. As old grads' complaints pour in, Roxanne will be given a chance to show if she can really swing it.

Wide Gift Range Male Problem In London Shops

By MURIEL NARRAWAY

LONDON — (CP) — Jostling crowds of menfolk, hunting Christmas presents for wives and sweethearts, seem more worried this year by the wide range of possibilities than over previous shortages.

At most gift counters this festive season, men are seen frowning in concentration over perfumes, cosmetics, jewelry, handbags and other bric-a-brac. This is one time when many of them would be glad if things were as scarce as they are, say, in a butcher shop.

Each lunchtime, men, and even boys under 20, stand before handbag counters choosing from displays ranging in price from 35s to around £20.

Many attractive bags can be bought for less than £3 and good leather models costs less than £6. A handy gift is a zipper travelling jewel case in colored Morocco or pigskin leather, lined attractively with satin padding, these are priced from 38s 6d. to around five guineas. Depending on size.

For those who can afford an outlay of around £20, one of the most attractive jewel sets is a bracelet and earrings in hand-set marcasite and silver—a thing of delicate design and craftsmanship. Jewelled with synthetic sapphires or emeralds, the set has the low-brilliance look, which is the latest Paris choice, and the price is £18.

Umbrellas, Gloves

Elegant umbrellas with a Mayfair look and down-to-earth price tak are long, slim and metal-tipped, in a wide variety of tartans and small checks.

Costing little more than the umbrellas are cocktail gloves in soft leathers and delicate pastel shades. One example is an elbow-length glove in rich purple, notched attractively up the arm.

A useful innovation for suede gloves are knitted wool linings. Costing nearly £1 a pair, the gloves are made with contrasting wool linings—wine with pink, mauve with blue, and so on.

For the woman who travels a lot, a good choice is a collapsible hat box costing less than £1. With plastic, detachable sides, the boxes can be packed into a space only one inch deep.

Flexible cosmetic containers, which can be squeezed but are not breakable, solve the problem of packing liquid cosmetics. And for the men who prefer to give the cosmetics themselves, there are myriads of attractive gift boxes and cosmetic cases, many prices under 10s.

A good choice is six fragant sachets, lovely for wardrobes and clothing drawers, and a perfume bottle closily cased for travel in a satin-lined, green leather case.

GLORIOUS AGE

Four great composers—Mozart, Haydn, Beethoven and Schubert—poured out their music in Vienna's great-half-century 1781-1828.

MARY MOORE SAYS:

Make Christmas Dinner Your Best Effort

Best fun of the year, best day of the year, best column of the year—actually as I write this there's a smile on my silly face for I fancy I am in on the fun of your Christmas dinner. Maybe you will choose something I suggested. Maybe the stuffing will be just a mite better this year because you made it the Mary Moore way.

Anyway, I permit myself to believe I help. Wouldn't you if you received a letter saying "My husband tells me I am getting to be a better cook every day. I told him to tell that to Mary Moore, so he said he sure would if he knew who Mary Moore was!"

It's great fun when you drag approval out of husbands.

See if you like the items I have selected for this meal of meals. It is tricky clinging to tradition yet including novel minor courses to give your guests something to "um" and "ah" and be surprised over. Notice that I have selected a first course with appetite appeal that adds its color note too, to your elegantly laid and laden table.

Christmas Grapefruit

DIRECTIONS: Cut grapefruit into halves and carefully loosen each section from its membrane. With scissors clip out the little dividing walls of membrane and the centre core. Between each section slip a paper thin slice of maraschino cherry—using red and green slice alternately. Place a large red one in the centre.

Christmas Cocktails

Cook gently 1 pint cranberries with 1 pint water until fruit is very soft. If desired add 2 or 3 whole cloves while they cook. Strain. Add ½ to 1 cup sugar and simmer 5 minutes, then cool and add ¼ to ½ cup orange juice and 2 tablespoons lemon juice. Serve over cracked ice in cocktail glasses.

Savoury Stuffing

Chop finely 1 cup celery stalks and leaves, 1 cup onion and ¼ cup parsley. Combine and saute over very low heat for 10 minutes. Add 1 tablespoon poultry seasonings or 1 teaspoon each powdered sage and thyme, and 1 teaspoon salt, ¼ teaspoon pepper. Pour this over 8 well-packed cups soft breadcrumbs. Now add any one of the following: from 1 to 3 cups cooked and chopped French chestnuts (to shell them you heat in very hot oven to dry skin and then shuck them) or the chopped giblets from the turkey after cooking tender or 1 cup chopped oysters or sautéed mushrooms. Add just enough hot water to make this moist—not soggy, before stuffing the turkey with it.

Time For Roasting Turkey

A 6 to 9-lb. dressed bird requires 2½ to 3 hours at 325 deg. Fahr. A 10 to 13-lb. bird requires 3 to 4 hours at 300 deg. Fahr. A 14-17-lb. bird, 4½ to 5 and one-third hours at 275 deg. Fahr. An 18 to 25-lb. bird 6 to 8 hours at 250 deg. Fahr. Baste every half hour if uncovered.

Sweet Potato Balls

Six cups riced cooked sweet potatoes, 3 tablespoons milk, 1¼ teaspoons salt, ⅛ teaspoon pepper, 1 teapsoon minced onion, 3 tablespoons melted fat, 3 egg yolks. Add the milk, salt, pepper, minced onion, melted fat, and beaten egg yolks to the riced sweet potatoes. Shape into balls about 1½ inches in diameter using about 1 heaping tablespoon for each. Roll each ball into a round in fine sifted breadcrumbs, next in beaten egg using 1 egg and 2 tablespoons water beaten together and then in crumbs again. Fry in deep fat at 390 deg. Fahr. until golden on all sides. Keep hot on unglazed paper.

NOTE: Same method may be used for white potatoes.

Sterling Sauce (for plum pudding)

Cream together ½ cup butter and 1 cup brown sugar until very light, then add 1 teaspoon vanilla drop by drop, and 4 tablespoons heavy cream slowly. Other flavorings besides vanilla may be used such as almond, orange or pistachio.

MR. AND MRS. RONALD GENEREAUX, the bride formerly Miss Patricia Berry, seen cutting their wedding cake. —(Roy Studio Photo)

Patricia Berry Marries RonaldGenereaux

The marriage took place at the Mark St. United Church on Saturday of Patricia Faith Berry, daughter of Mrs. A. F. Berry, Sheridan St., to Mr. Jules Roland Genereaux, son of Mr. and Mrs. C. L. Genereaux of Detroit, Michigan.

The Rev. B. S. Morwood performed the ceremony in a setting of snapdragons and 'mums. Organist Mrs. Cecil Searles played the wedding music and Miss Betty Watters sang "The Wedding Prayer" during signing of the register.

Given in marriage by her uncle, Mr. Howard Berry the bride was dressed in royal blue crepe with a peplum and mandarin collar of silk velvet. Her hat was of white velvet and she wore white lace gloves, and had a corsage of red roses. Bridesmaid was Miss Ping Hum who wore a dress of turquoise crepe and matching accessories and had a corsage of pink roses.

Mr. Dave Kirshner was the groom's attendant and Gordon Minty and William Robinson ushered.

The reception was held at the home of the Rev. and Mrs. B. S. Morwood. For the occasion the bride's mother wore a rust suit and had a green hat and corsage of yellow 'mums. The groom's mother was wearing a grey suit with a white hat and her corsage was of pink carnations.

Leaving later for a short honeymoon the bride wore a rust knitted suit with green accessories and a brown topcoat.

Mr. and Mrs. Genereaux will live at 591 Sherbrooke St.

PRINCESS ELIZABETH receives an honorary degree (Doctor of Law) from her great-uncle, the Earl of Athlone, Chancellor of the University of London, which conferred honorary degrees upon the Princess and the Duke of Edinburgh at a recent ceremony.

Ellen Harrington Becomes Bride Of W. F. Jones

In the Church of the Messiah, Avenue Road, Toronto, Friday evening, the marriage took place of Mary Ellen, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Warrington, Hastings, to Willoughby Frederick Jones, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Jones, Havelock. The Rev. W. R. Sproule officiated at the double ring ceremony.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore gold velvet and carried a nosegay of bronze 'mums and apricot rosebuds. She was attended by her sister, Miss Edith Warrington, who wore a dress of bronze shot taffeta with brown accessories and a corsage of yellow baby 'mums. The groom was attended by Mr. Bruce Melville of Georgetown.

The couple left for a short honeymoon in Buffalo, NY. They will live in Toronto.

Shea-Thackeray Nuptials At All Saints'

In All Saints' Anglican Church last Friday evening the marriage was solemnized of Helen Muriel, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Thackeray of Peterborough, to Stuart Wallace Shea, son of Mr. and Mrs. Roy Shea of Warkworth. The Rev. M. P. Poole officiated and organist Miss Margaret Flowers played the wedding music.

The bride wore a suit of raspberry charmaine with navy accessories and carried a white prayer book topped with a corsage of cream roses. She was given in marriage by her father and attended by her sister Miss Lola Thackeray who wore a grey suit with black accessories and a corsage of pink roses.

The groom's attendant was his brother Mr. Harold Shea. Ushers were Iden Bonds and Lyle Thackeray.

A reception was held in the parish hall with the bride's mother receiving in a flowered navy silk dress with grey hat and corsage of white 'mums. The groom's mother wore black taffeta and her hat was winter-white shade and her corsage of white 'mums.

After a wedding trip to the United States the couple will live at 469 Gilmour St.

to the other, which left a feeling of pride with his bearers, the Daughters of the Empire. He was thanked for this message by Mrs. H. I. Keefer.

Decorating of the Green Room for this occasion was done by Mrs. W. Derry and Mrs. W. C. McCreery and the effect was most attractive. The head table centrepiece was of pine boughs glittering with silver and a yule log and colorful baubles. Favors were plastic serviette holders trimmed with pine and small colored balls. A three-foot Christmas tree was made of white cellophane and trimmed with small colored balls in a spiral. They had placed a lighted snowman on the fireplace mantel and a lighted tree on the piano top and a large evergreen tree was arranged to receive the gifts of canned goods brought for the Christmas hampers being distributed by the Salvation Army.

Carols were sung between courses and after dinner, led by Mrs. L. R. Mitchell who also favored with solo selections, accompanied at the piano by Mrs. G. W. Craw.

President Mrs. L. Gibson held a short business session when reports were read by Mrs. W. Stanbury, Mrs. G. Pearson, Mrs. H. Ball and Mrs. K. Sloane and correspondence by Mrs. W. E. Wright. Sums of money were donated to the Sunday school and various church organizations. Mrs. A. Clark presented a slate of officers for next year. A contest was conducted by Mrs. Webb and prizes went to Mrs. J. Post, Mrs. M. Robinson, Mrs. L. Bird and Mrs. F. Turner. Carpet bowling followed, with Mrs. H. Ball's team getting the high score. Lunch was served by Mrs. Clark and committee from a table festive with candles and Christmas decorations done by Mrs. G. Pearson and Mrs. M. Fowler. An exchange of gifts closed the evening's program, and all taking part were thanked by Mrs. Gibson.

WMS Meeting

The meeting of St. Andrew's WMS was held Tuesday afternoon in the church parlors. The D. J. Kerr group carried out the program with Mrs. B. Jones presiding. Mrs. R. Y. Kenny favored with a solo, playing her own accompaniment. A candle-lighting service was held with the following ladies taking part: Mrs. J. Ridyard, Mrs. R. J. Bullock, Mrs. H. Davis, Mrs. F. W. K. Harris, Mrs. Nicholls and Mrs. A. A. Munro. Retiring president, Mrs. Harris, presided for the opening hymn and prayers, and heard reports from Secretary Mrs. Jones, Treasurer Mrs. Munro, and correspondence read by Mrs. Wood. Mrs. E. F. Reid reported on the bale sent to Dr. Barclay McKone at the TB sanitarium at Moose Factory. Mrs. Jones, Mrs. E. Hawley and Mrs. Wood are to arrange the dinner to be served the Peterborough Presbyterial on January 22. Mrs. T. Skinner gave a report for the nominating committee and new officers will be installed at the January meeting. Mrs. H. Tremaine gave out envelopes for 1952. A social hour was spent and tea served by the group in charge.

Instinct Not Good Enough In Choosing Male - Expert

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP)—A woman marriage broker said recently the trouble with matrimony in America is "the helter-skelter romance."

Miss Edna Wilder makes a business of bringing together wife-seeking men and husband-seeking women.

It's a booming industry, and she believes it deserves more respect than it often gets from the general public.

"Many people who laugh at the idea of going to a marriage broker are the ones who most need to go to one" she said firmly.

Miss Wilder said the high divorce rate in the United States is due to the fact that too many young people depend on instinct alone in choosing a mate.

"The marriage broker eliminates the helter-skelter romance," she said.

More Enduring

"Arranged marriages are three to four times as enduring as marriages based solely on instinct, because the people who go into them are more sincere. They know what they want, and they have gone to a lot of trouble and expense to get it."

Miss Wilder is executive director of the American Association of Marriage Brokers. The organization recently held its first annual convention here to adopt a code of ethics and launch a drive to win greater public confidence.

"Sixty per cent of our clients are women, and about 40 per cent are men," she said. "This is because there are more women than men, and also because women are more marriage-minded. They take it more seriously. It is the men who are most interested in superficial romance."

Variety of Clients

Who goes to a marriage broker? Well, they don't usually announce it, but—

"Parents with 18-year-old daughters or sons in college come to us. So do people right up into the 70s and 80s. We've had widowed clients looking forward to a third or fourth marriage. They're sold on the marital status.

"But mostly they are women in their late 20s or early 30s, and men in their early or late 30s. Usually they have become weary of frivolous dates, the rat-race of ordinary social gatherings. They want help in finding someone with their own tastes in life."

The rates of marriage brokers vary. In New York they contract to arrange 10 appointments between people of similar background for a set fee. In other sections they limit their services to a period of time—such as three months—after which a new contract must be made.

The fees? They average: girls from 20 to 30—$100; from 30 to 40—$150; from 40 years up—$200. Men, the lucky creatures, only have to pay a flat $50. That shows who is looking for whom.

Is It Worthwhile

The most common complaint made by a woman client after her first arranged date:

"Do you really think its worthwhile going through all this just to get a husband?"

But Miss Wilder says the marriage brokers have a high batting average.

"About eight out of every 10 people who come to us to get married," she said. "The other two are probably adventurers. We make an honest effort to check our clients, but sometimes fortune hunters do creep in.

"But the fortune hunters are among the men. The women are looking for more than money in marriage."

That's what the lady says, and she's looking for the right man herself.

"Any woman who claims she isn't is a downright liar," said Miss Wilder.

DOROTHY DIX

Duty To Curb Self-Supporting Teen-Ager

DEAR MISS DIX: my daughter, who will be 16 this month, has left school to take an office position. She is doing very well, but seems very nervous and is quite thin and pale. During the few months she has been going with a girl friend with whom she spends every possible minute. The girl has only been to our house once, but Edna my daughter, takes every opportunity to meet her. I have a feeling the girl is not very straightforward. Edna meets her after work, coming home an hour later than she should, which upsets our dinner schedule. She spends Friday evening at her friend's, is there all day Saturday and Sunday, usually not getting home until 11:30 at night. We never have Sunday dinner together.

She doesn't lift a finger to help me in the house, to which my husband objects. However, I feel that since she is working and paying me almost half her earnings, I cannot ask her to do anything in the house. I could use some help though, as I am expecting a baby soon.

Should I expect more of her? Should she be permitted to spend so much time away from home on week ends? How much right have I to curb her? I feel afraid to ask too much when she is paying her way here. Please let me have your advice.

M. M. M.

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: The clue to your whole difficulty is contained in the phrase you use yourself, "I am afraid to ask too much of her." Since when should a parent be afraid to ask anything of a child not yet 16? Who rules your home? The parents or the child? In this case apparently it is the child, and she's doing quite a disastrous job of it. Your problem calls for quick and strong measures. Complacence in the face of your daughter's behavior will result in a complete break-up of your family with ultimate consequences to your daughter that will not be happy.

Consult a Doctor

As a first step in getting her straightened out, I suggest a thorough medical examination. Her nervousness may be due to the tension of friendship, to the demands of her job or many other causes. Have it investigated.

Most emphatically she should give a helping hand around the house. Since she finishes her day's work at 4:30, she has plenty of time to get home and assist you with dinner preparations. The fact that she is "paying her way," as you put it, is no excuse for her to shirk family responsibilities. What child can ever "pay her way" to the family that has reared her with affectionate care? Those things are not paid for.

You are also very wrong in permitting her to spend the entire weekend away from home. If you prepare a family Sunday dinner, she should be there to have it with you, unless something special intervenes. I certainly advise you to curtail her inordinate visiting. Friday evening, and a few hours Saturday or Sunday should be enough.

You are thoroughly spoiling your child, harming both you and herself in the process. There is still time for you to take a firm hand and exercise parental authority; wait a little longer and it will be too late. Edna will be the chief sufferer of your laxity; it's your duty to her to exert a little discipline.

✧ ✧ ✧

DEAR MISS DIX: I am in love with a man who is 20 years older than myself. Do you think we can be happy together? He is nice in every way, only a bit too fond of drinking and other women. Do you think he will change after we are married? He says he loves me and will be a good husband.

A. S.

ANSWER: Your matrimonial prospects certainly don't indicate too rosy a future. The difference in age between you and your fiancee is in itself no great barrier, but this, his fondness of drinking and his flirtatious inclinations add up to a bad combination. If he loves you very much, he might change for you, but such changes are rare indeed.

✧ ✧ ✧

DEAR MISS DIX: I am a boy of 16. Last year I took a girl to a dance at my school. She was two years younger than I and her mother was very nice to let her go. This year, I would like to take someone else but don't want to hurt the feelings of the other girl or her mother. Would I be rude to do so?

ERNIE

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: The fact that you took a girl to a dance once doesn't obligate you to take her every year. Go ahead, invite the second girl and I'm sure there will be no hard feelings. It's much wiser for you to change your dates, anyway. Go ahead with your invitation and have a good time.

Lakefield United Church Annual S.S. Concert

LAKEFIELD, Dec. 19 (ENS)—A capacity house greeted the presentation of the annual Christmas concert given by the members of the United Church Sunday School on Thursday evening in the school rooms. Neil Wood, superintendent, was chairman.

The National Anthem was followed by two choruses by members of the junior and intermediate departments, "We Welcome You" and "Beautiful Star." The tiny tots then stole the evening with their group of three carols and the recitations given by each one. They are taught by Miss Bette Millage and Miss Connie Orr.

Mrs. Theo. Down's class sang a slumber song and Mrs. Carmen Payne's class enacted an acrostic, as did the boys of Mrs. S. A. Grvils' class.

Other items on the varied program were: Vocal duet, Lynn Lichty and Nancy Henry, accordion solo, Louise Anderson; piano solo, Billy Hunter; vocal duet, Sherrin Honkins and Judy Doubt with Mrs. Reg. Doubt playing the accompaniment. A skit by the boys of Mr. Poole's class; a folk dance, "The Irish Washerwoman" by girls of Miss M. Maloney's room at the public school; a scene from King Henry VIII by boys of Mr. John Bell's room, with Terry Doubt as "King Henry VIII" and Barry Rowe as "Catherine Parr", a piano solo by Margaret Richardson and two skits by the boys and girls of Rev. W. H. Tonge's class.

Present Certificates

During the program Mrs. W. W. Yale presented certificates and prizes to the candidates who were successful on the recent temperance examinations. They were Marion Frankish, Marie Northey, Marie Curry, Shirley Tripp, Margaret Richardson, Donna Mason, Brenda Andrews, Barbara Soles, Evelyn Whetung and Ethel Chatten. The latter received her five-year pin.

The closing number on the program was the Christmas pageant, "The Glory of the Star," which included a number of the Sunday school pupils. The girls of the CGIT formed a backstage choir and provided the musical background for the pageant. The cast was as follows: Teacher, Betty Jane Rath; Shepherds, Jim Galvin, Bob Henderson and Douglas Sheppard; Kings of Orient, Billy Hunter, David Payton and Barry Rowe; Mary, Marie Mason; Joseph, Jack McCracken; Joan, Lynn Lichty; Angels, Betty-Ann Payton, Carol Northey, Carol-Ann Newson, Sharon Jewell, Carolyn Down, Joan Crawford and Karen Graham.

Santa arrived and distributed bags of candy to all the children.

Quarter Million Dollar Program Of Road Building Presented To County Council 93 Years Ago

The building of roads in Peterborough County has been almost an immemorial problem, and when the present county council finds itself engaged with a question of what roads they shall build, according to the modern fasion, and likewise modern needs, its members may be unaware of some of the local programs once debated in a forgotten day.

Back in 1858, for instance, it was proposed in the council of the united counties of Peterborough and Victoria to spend £50,000, more than $250,000 and perhaps nearer $300,000, on the construction of 100 miles of roads in Peterborough county. That would have fixed the cost at approximately $2,500 a mile.

Obviously it was an ambitious project for those days, seventy-one years ago, and the provision for the collection of toll on these roads, all of them radiating from the old county town of Peterborough, was an unavailing lure and influence with the rural representatives.

Details of the System

The system of macadamized highways then designated was as follows:

(1) From the western boundary of Smith township easterly between the third and fourth concession to the Communication or Chemong Road, thence south of Peterborough and east to Norwood, and from Norwood in a northeastly direction to the northeast corner of Asphodel and thence through Belmont township to the eastern boundary of the county, 44 miles.

(2) From Norwood to Hastings in Asphodel township, 6 miles.

(3) From the Fourth Line of Smith on the Chemong road to Bridgenorth, thence through Enismore to a point opposite Pigeon Creek, 10 miles.

(4) From Peterborough to Warsaw or as near the present travelled road as the eggineer may deem advisable, 12 miles.

(5) From Peterborough to Keene, by way of the Locks bridge and Downer's Corners, 13 miles.

(6) From Peterborough along the River road in Smith to a line between lots 24 and 25 in the sixth concession to the 13th concession (presumably the middle line to Buckhorn), 15 miles.

Defeated by the Townships

The debentures were to be issued for 20 years at six per cent, and the tax on Peterborough county ratepayers was to be at the rate of 1-13-64 pence in the pound sterling. The project had to be approved by the vote of the separate municipalities, and apparently was everywhere rejected, for there is no further trace of the pretentious by-law, which perhaps seemed as extravagant at that time as a present day network of paved highways.

But it was a splendid scheme, and in time was carried into effect, probably in convenient sections, and unrelated to the earlier unified plan. Among those who opposed it in that county council of 1858 was James Lang of Otonabee. It entailed a burdensome expense, he contended, would put the county heavily in debt at a time when money was scarce, and enconomy should be exercised. However, if such a comprehensive program should be adopted he held that the Keene road should be extended to Hastings; but in the event of the Council being willing to include this additional mileage, Mr. Lang was just as stoutly opposed to the whole scheme and declared he would vote against it.

Some of the Opponents

Isaac Garbutt of Smith township and Thomas Eyres of North Monaghan also lined up against it, and the municipalities subsequently defeated it. Other reeves were T. Seawright of Belmont; Peter Peace of Asphodel; Francis Crow of Dummer; George Clarke of Douro; P. Galvin of Ennismore; W. Cottingham of Emily (eight times warden); P. McHugh of Ops.

The town of Peterborough was represented by W. A. Scott and Daniel Hopkins.

The forgotten incident in the county's progress emphasizes the impression that road problems seem never to be solved, but recur in cycles of gradual improvement.

One of the objections to the sale of debentures for road building was the heavy discount rate then prevailing. It was said that Peterborough had to accept a discount of 23 per cent. on one of its debenture issues. Partly to offset that charge, Mr. Scott offered a bonus of 5 per cent. to be paid by the town if the debentures were marketed.

Ottawa Won't Act In Drafting Cases

OTTAWA, Dec. 19 (CP).—External Affairs Minister Pearson indicated in the Commons today the government is not planning representations to the United States government concerning Canadians working in the US and subject to the military draft.

He said all Canadians working in the US under an immigration visa come under the draft.

M. J. Coldwell, CCF leader, asked if some representations should not be made to Washington.

Mr. Pearson replied the draft applied to all aliens working under similar conditions—not just Canadians.

Temporary Employee At Post Office Held

Arrested today, shortly after midnight, while he was on duty as a temporary post office employee, Gerald Morton Reynolds, 47, of 372 Rubidge St., is being held on a vagrancy charge, pending investigation on a more serious charge.

When he appeared in police court today, Crown Attorney John A. Bradshaw asked that Reynolds be remanded until December 24 on bail of $1,000.

Reynolds was arrested by Constable Douglas Farthing.

Just the Weather For It, Or Maybe You Don't Agree

By JIM ENGLISH

"Ho ho ho," said Santa, "just the kind of weather for Christmas."

Citizens disentangling themselves from galoshes and flight boots, overcoats and scarves, heavy gloves and mitts, could have been pardoned this morning for wanting to wrap a snow shovel around the neck of that jolly old elf.

While little children and enthusiastic skiers squealed with delight to see the white flakes falling fast, probably a greater number of people cursed into their turned-up coat collars.

They knew what was coming.

Snow is certainly a beautiful sight, lying white and clean across rooftops, front lawns, cars, roads and sidewalks, but any experienced shoveller could tell you that the shortened perspective from the handle end of a snow shovel, destroys the grandeur.

Remember

Four or five inches of snow isn't much to some scornful oldtimers. They recall that 15-feet-deep drift on Bethune St. the year of the really big snow.

But they could be reminded, a shovelful of snow still weighs the same. And a sore back is still a sore back. Countless little truths of the like could be mentioned.

The shoveller's especial bugbear is the all-day snow—the one that starts about three in the morning and carries on with undimished fury until eight o'clock at night. That means there are two shovelling jobs: one before work, one after.

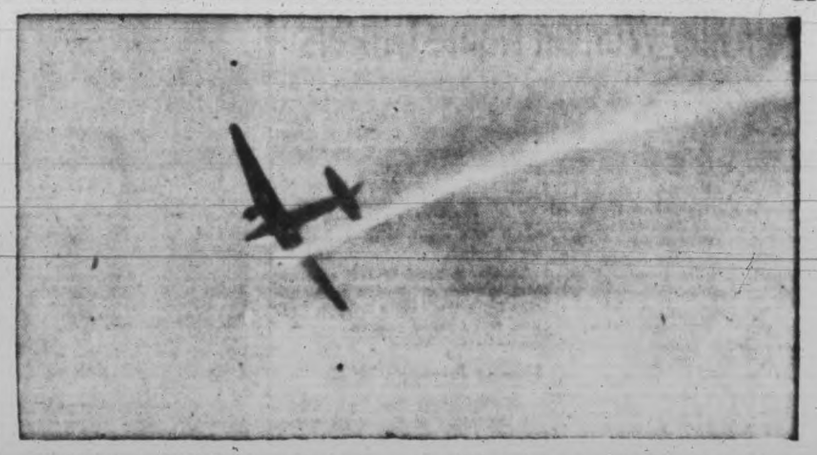
Many of these shovellers, on the other hand, are undeniable hypocrites. When early winter comes and a few snapping crisp mornings jostle them into sentimental revery about the good old days, they begin to yearn for a white Christmas.

Nostalgic Picture

They speak of the way the old homes looked, with the snow lapping over the eaves and the fresh coats of white on the cedars and pines. They recall with something like enthusiasm the rolling white fields, the blue-white shadows of the snake fences that looked black against the snow.

Oh, they sigh, for another Christmas like that!

Then with the first few flakes of a heavy snowfall swirling around them, they remember their shovels and shake their heads with the feeling that such a practical tool should not interfere with their pleasant memories.



The shovel, however, refuses to be dismissed. It returns again and again through the winter until, with a sigh more weary than their previous nostalgic one, they thank goodness that winter is nearly past. One more good fall, they say, and we can put those such and such shovels down cellar for good.

During the winter, they have stolen moments to glance in a sly manner at detailed weather reports and listen to up-to-the-minute forecasts over the radio.

"I see where it's going to be clear tomorrow!" they declare in a voice that could be used for a soap commercial.

Or "Confound it, there's more snow due!" (This in the "voice of doom").

Just now, they can see their dream of a white Christmas turning into something of a nightmare.

TRAILING A CLOUD of smoke from a burning engine, the airliner plunges earthward to end up seconds later as smoking wreckage in the river.

Train Grinds

Someone called for a portable welding truck as it appeared it was going to be impossible to get Bell out of the truck without using a welding torch to cut away the tangled metal.

However, just as the welding apparatus was being set up, he was freed.

Constable Reg. McMillen, Wesley B. Payson (Bell's employer) and Dr. Russell K. Magee pulled Bell out of the wreckage and with some assistance, he remained on his feet, as he was taken to the ambulance stretcher.

He was shivering as the stretcher was rolled into the ambulance, but was still talking, and asked Dr. Magee and Mr. Payson "to be sure and tell them I'm alright." His wife arrived shortly after the ambulance left for the hospital.

Awe-stricken spectators would hardly believe anyone could escape alive from the twisted wreckage that was scarcely recognizable as a truck.

Crunched Into Ball

To tow it away, the wrecking crew, wrapped a steel cable around it and crunched it up in a ball, then raised it free of the ground and drove off.

Conductor John Hogan of Lindsay recalled as the caboose was being inched back on the rails that he had seen a man escape uninjured after his car had been ground to wreckage beneath a freight car.

Acting patrol sergeant Gordon Trennum, and Constables Gerald Emmons, Jack Wilson and Reg. McMillan were on duty for more than an hour at the scene, assisting with the rescue work, and handling the large crowd of spectators attracted by the accident.

The train was just being pulled on to the siding after coming from Lakefield, so the crew could have their supper. It was on its way to Belleville, to pick up freight along the route.

64 Plead Guilty In Turkey Raffle

DUNDAS, Dec. 19 (CP)—Sixty-four persons pleaded guilty through their solicitor today to taking part in a turkey raffle held at Ryckman's Corners last weekend.

Magistrate John E. Robinson found the 64 found-ins guilty and fined them $10 and costs each.

On the original charge were 100 persons, but 36 entered no plea. The case against them will be heard later.

Councillors Denounce Industrial Survey

TRENTON, Dec. 19 — Three members of Trenton council Monday night denounced an industrial survey authorized by council last summer.

Cost of the survey was $2,000 and councillor Victor J. Ryan said he wouldn't give $2 for it. Mayor Kenneth J. Couch said "You might better have a department store catalogue.'

Councillor-elected Ross Burtt, acting mayor at the time the survey was given the go-sign, said he was sorry he had voted for it.

Decision of the council was to meet with the president of the firm that did the survey at the first of the year and "ask him a lot of questions." The firm earlier charged town clerk O. Larry with non-cooperation.

Screwballs Still Seek Legendary Mine

By STEPHEN SCOTT

VANCOUVER, Dec. 19 (CP) — Two types of people still seek the legendary Lost Creek mine, the "reputable" ones and the "screwballs."

That's how Carl Agar classifies those who come to him for a helicopter ride to the mountain wilderness where the gold mine is supposed to be located, only some 50 miles north of here.

Agar is manager of Okanagan Air Services, which owns five helicopters, the only such service in British Columbia. Agar, incidentally, is 1950 winner of the McKee Trophy, awarded annually to the person contributing the most to flying in Canada.

Lost Creek mine, so the legend goes, was discovered in 1892 by an Indian, who, unfortunately, was hanged for murder without revealing his secret.

Since then, 21 men have disappeared trying to find it.

One of Agar's helicopters flew in the 21st victim, 60-year-old Albert Gaspard, about two years ago.

Reputable One

Agar said today that Gaspard was one of the "reputable" ones. The veteran prospector knew what he was doing and what he was up against.

The only other party Agar has consented to fly into the area was a group of mining engineers. They failed in their search but survived. They knew how to look after themselves.

Agar said that as soon as anyone comes into his office here and says he know defintely where the mine is and wants to be flown to it, he immediately classifies him as a "screwball."

"Ten or 12" have approached him. One comes in every spring.

"He looks up at the ceiling and his eyes go glassy: He doesn't want to fly all the gold out at once. He propositioned me to fly him in every three years or so and take just so much gold.

"He says if he took all the gold out at once he'd lose it in income tax. His toes are sticking out of his shoes."

Among the 10 or 12 has been one woman.

Don't Think of Food.

"Half of them don't even bother about taking any food," Agar said. "I don't know how they expect to live, or how they plan to get out. They just expect to pick up gold, then, swish, they're out.

"I'm not taking anybody else in unless they are reputable parties who understand travel and the responsibilities in mountainous territory."

Does he believe in the legend?

"If we thought there was anything there we'd be out there after it ourselves."

FLIER RESCUED—Trapped almost 40 hours in a wrecked RCAF Harvard training plane in sub-zero weather on a snow-covered Alberta mountainside FO. Cyril Douglas Wilken, 27, of Redvers, Sask., was evacuated last Friday by air and ground rescue teams to a Calgary hospital. A horse-drawn toboggan took him, heavily swathed in tarpaulins, parachutes and anything else handy, to the Dave Diebel ranch, 25 miles west of Longview where a ski-equipped plane flew him north to Calgary. On horseback is Mr. Diebel who twice went to the scene of the crash and first brought out word FO. Wilken had been found. Inset in lower right is Cpl. Clifford M. Johnson of Canterbury, N.B., who was in the plane with FO. Wilken when it crashed. He worked all night in a vain endeavor to free the pilot. He then walked to the ranch for help.

Hastings Group Elects Officers

HASTINGS, Dec. 19 (ENS)—Mrs. Guy Wellman was hostess to the Ladies' Aid of St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church. The president, Mrs. Basil Johnston, was in the chair. Scripture, from the second chapter of St. Luke was read by Mrs. Reta Johnston. Owing to the illness of the treasurer the yearly financial statement was not given. Business period was the arrangement for cards and gifts to shut-ins in the congregation, and payment of all outstanding accounts.

Funds were voted to provide candy and oranges for the children at the annual Sunday school party to be held Dec. 22.

Slate of officers for 1952 is: president, Mrs. Reta Johnston; 1st vice-president, Mrs. Guy Wellman; 2nd vice-president, Mrs. Harold Fife; secretary, Mrs. Stanley Fife; treasurer, Mrs. S. Whitred. Conveners are to be appointed at the January meeting.

Timely Appeal

SAINT JOHN, NB (CP)—An appeal to all citizens to help make Christmas happier for war veterans now in hospital was made by D. L. They began their adventure two years ago and washed dishes at hotels to pay their way.

Special Services Held At Lakefield

LAKEFIELD, Dec. 19 (ENS)—Special services were held morning and evening in the United Church on Sunday.

At the morning worship a "White Gift Service" was held with the offering designated for relief work and the helping of churches and Sunday schools in Europe, Korea and Japan. The offering was received by four members of the Sunday School dressed in the traditional costumes of Japan, India, Korea and Canada. They were Murray Orr, Marie Northey, Marie Curry and Peter Burger.

The service was conducted by Sunday School superintendent, Neil Wood and the Rev. W. H. Tonge gave the story, "The Road to Bethlehem".

The morning lesson was read by Barry Rowe from Luke 2: 1-20. Representing the beginners department was Harry Jakins; the primary department, Betty Ann Payton; the junior department, Tom Pratt and the intermediate and senior department, Patty Jakins.

The choir sang the anthem "How Beautiful Upon the Mountains". Sam Castle of Peterborough was guest soloist and sang "The Holy City".

Carol singing led by Quirt McKinney featured the evening service with the carols shown on beautifully colored slides.

The CGIT sextette composed of Patty Jakins, Louise Anderson, Helen Kingdon, Jeanette Binnington, Helen Hennessy and Margaret Calberry sang "Away in a Manger", and the senior choir sang "Up the Road to Bethlehem". Mrs. Don Hendren was guest soloist, singing "The Lord's My Shepherd".

Replacing the sermon, Betty Jane Rath told a Christmas story.

Steel Industry Pushes Big Expansion Plan

By HAROLD MORRISON

OTTAWA, Dec. 19 (CP)—Canadian industry is pouring about $175,000,000 into an enterprise that one day may turn the tide on the critical steel shortage in Canada.

Steel Administrator Kenneth Harris said in an interview that when the current steel expansion program is completed—in about 18 months—production of the vital metal may be boosted by more than 1,000,000 tons a year.

By mid-1953 Canada may be producing at the rate of about 4,600,000 tons a year, one-third greater than this year's expected output of about 3,400,000—the highest in history.

Amazing Expansion

"Considering the size of the country and its population, that's an amazing expansion program," said Mr. Harris. "It may ease the steel shortage in 1953 but there are many, many problems to hurdle before the shortage is actually over."

Things may become a lot worse before they turn for the better—and that is the immediate outlook for steel. The darkest days of the shortage are expected in 1952.

With Canada's rearmament program moving towards peak output and her economic machine accelerated by expansion in oil, iron ore and other industrial development, it will be a "tight squeeze" for Canadian who want steel next year.

Priority Control

No new controls are being planned, said Mr. Harris, but the government, through its current system can apply maximum control at the mills—source of steel—and in that way redirect the movement of steel to cover priority needs.

In other words, the government does not tell a manufacturer that he cannot produce ash trays from steel, but the government can prevent him from getting as much steel as he wants from the mills, by applying priority control.

In effect it can decrease or increase the flow of civilian goods by simply easing or stiffening control over the flow of steel from the mills. The same type of control is applied over imports from the US.

Have Own Troubles

Canada has tried to cut the shortage by requesting greater supplies of steel from the United States but that country is experiencing as great a shortage as Canada.

Usually, Canada obtains about 1,000,000 tons of steel from the United States annually. This year she may get about the same amount and another 600,000 tons from other countries, including the United Kingdom and other European sources.

For the first three months of 1952, Canada has requested an allotment of 528,000 tons from the United States, and has been promised only 415,000, but part of this will be used for the production of component steel parts in the United States to be shipped into Canada into finished products. The actual amount of unfinished steel that Canada may obtain from American sources may total "less than 300,000 tons," said Mr. Harris.

Won't Be Enough

"That won't be enough, even for our priority needs," said Mr. Harris. "We will have to make another attempt to have the United States increase the allotment."

Meanwhile, while the government attempts to untangle the steel shortage, Canadian industry is going full steam ahead with its expansion program. Here is how part of the program is shaping up:

Sault Ste. Marie, Ont.—Algoma Steel is expanding its rate capacity from 1,000,000 tons to 1,250,000 tons by 1952, investing some $40,000,000.

Hamilton Ont.—Steel Company of Canada is working on a 650,000-ton expansion, to boost rate capacity from 1,246,500 to 1,896,500 tons, investing $50,000,000. Dominion Foundaries has changed over to a blast furnace allowing the use of hot pig iron instead of cold pig iron, decreasing the melting time and accelerating rate of production.

Sydney, NS—Dominion Steel and Coal Company is constructing two new open-hearth furnaces, and increasing rate capacity by 100,000 tons a year.

Besides these major expansions, smaller ones are being developed by the Atlas Steel Company at Welland, Ont., and by two Rolling mill companies, at Selkirk, Man., and Vancouver. These, also, will add to Canada's generally brighter steel picture in 1953.

Play Features Christmas Party

ROSENEATH, Dec. 19 (ENS)—A three-act playlet "Bringing Up Junior," starring Marjorie Hogg as Mother, and Wayne Parker as Junior, was one of the outstanding numbers on the program at the Christmas concert of SS No. 3 Alnwick. Miss Doris Robins is the teacher of this school.

The concert was held on Friday evening in the LOL Hall, Roseneath. A senior pupil, Terry Hogg, was chairman, and Donald Pollock, music supervisor of Alnwick township schools, was pianist for the different musical numbers and singing of carols.

Other numbers on the program were: a chorus "Toy Town Jamboree" by the school pupils; recitations by Ronald McCracken and Valda McCleary; dialogue, "Grandmother's Second Childhood"; a recitation by Murray McCleary, "This Year's Request"; Senior chorus, "Down Toyland Village"; recitations by four Junior pupils, Mae Brown, Paul Winkworth, Ray Macklin and Lorraine Parker; a boys drill, "Santa's Elves"; a vocal solo by Mr. Donald Pollock, "She's The Lass For Me," and responded to an encore; a monologue by Terry Hogg; a recitation by Lorraine Parker; a dialogue "Home Management" by the Senior pupils; a vocal solo by Patricia Hogg; a dialogue, "A Letter to Santa," by three Junior boys; a vocal duet by Patricia Hogg and George McCleary; a chorus by the School pupils, "Red Cheeks and White Whiskers"; a "Good-Night" recitation by Mae Brown.

Pilot Saves 47 On Plane Crash Lands Near Cobourg

LANDING WITH ONE ENGINE GONE, the pilot of this aircraft brought his 44 passengers down safely in a field beside the farmhouse home of Charles Wilson, half a mile west of Cobourg. No one was hurt and the plane was only slightly damaged. A short time later passengers and crew were cheerily sipping coffee in the Wilson's home.—(Murray Smith Photo).

Babies Sleep Right Through As US Aircraft Puts Down On Farm Field

Farmer Takes Unexcited Passengers In Home, Serves Coffee, Sandwiches; Have High Praise For Skilful Landing

COBOURG, Dec. 20. (ENS)—A big California air liner, lost in a snowstorm with one engine dead and its radio out of commission, made a spectacular forced landing in a farmer's field near here today. None of the 47 persons aboard was injured and the twin-engine aircraft was only slightly damaged. Engine trouble then icing of the plane's radio equipment caused the belly landing as the pilot, Capt. Bruce Smelser, 35, of Burbank, Calif., sought refuge in a snowstorm sweeping eastern Ontario.

Passengers said Smelser's landing was "even smoother than the landing we made at a proper airfield in Chicago."

Most of the passengers were United States servicemen from the West Coast heading east for Christmas. Four children, including two babies, were aboard.

After losing radio communication over Toledo, Ohio, one engine of the aircraft faltered and failed while the plane was still over Lake Ontario. Capt Smelser said that after that, he didn't know where he was until he saw the Canadian shoreline of the lake.

Two Landings

On Tuesday, the twin-engined C-46 Commando left Burbank, California, landed at Palmdale, Calif., for repairs to the heating system, and landed in Chicago Wednesday night.

The flight left Chicago at 2 am today, and the plane came down outside Cobourg five-and-a-half hours later.

Damage to the plane consisted of a bent port propeller, and several dents in the wings. It is said to be in "easily repairable" condition. Repairmen from Trenton RCAF station arrived shortly before 11 am to work on the aircraft.

Passengers were unanimous in their praise of the pilot. They said he was "wonderful".

Two babies, 15 months and four months old, slept through the crash and were still asleep in the

St. Laurent Orders Closure Applied If Debate Goes On

OTTAWA, Dec. 20. (CP)—The Commons was thrown into an uproar today when Prime Minister St. Laurent announced that he intends to apply the drastic parliamentary rule of "closure" if the Progressive Conservatives don't halt their marathon debate against the government's prices bill. His disclosure followed a joint CCF-Social Credit move to have the House go into a non-stop sitting beginning today with a similar end in view—a termination of the debate so the members can get home for Christmas.

Mr. St. Laurent said he would apply closure—which limits debate on any one issue—Thursday, Dec. 27, if the House does not dispose of the anti-price fixing bill by Friday night.

Closure, a rarely-used parliamentary device, automatically limits each member to one speech of 20 minutes. If the debate then is not completed by 2 am of the following day, it must end automatically at that hour and the issue immediately decided.

In this case, it would mean that debate on the prices legislation would end at 2 am Saturday, Dec. 29.

Hard To Remember

Closure is so rarely invoked that veteran parliamentarians had difficulty recalling when it last was used to terminate prolonged debate. It is believed to have been used in the mid-1920s to halt a runaway constitutional debate.

Mr. St. Laurent already has served notice that he will ask the House to return to work Dec. 27 if it has not completed the government's legislative program by Friday night.

The Progressive Conservative forces, fighting the prices legislation on the ground it would ruin small business, promptly launched a debate on the motion to have the House swing into a marathon sitting today to clear up business.

A constant flurry of cat-calls and other interjections punctuated their attempts to keep the debate rolling, still under way as the Chamber rose for lunch at 1 pm.

Liberal, CCF and Social Credit members appealed to them to let the issue go to a vote.

Would Skip Lunch

The motion — introduced by Stanley Knowles (CCF-Winnipeg North Centre) and seconded by Solon Low Social Credit leader, called on the Chamber to skip lunch and dinner today and to ignore the customary rising hour tonight.

It was vigorously applauded by the Liberal benches.

Mr. St. Laurent said the Knowles motion was something which the House itself would have to decide.

He personally would abstain from voting on it, but would allow his followers to ballot freely without regard for party line.

Mr. Drew observed that there appeared to be "remarkable" co-

Toronto Faces New Blitz From Weather

TORONTO, Dec. 20 — (CP) — Torontonians today looked forward to a repeat of the "white horror of Tuesday night.

Even though the second blizzard in two days—expected here at midnight Wednesday night—failed to arrive on time, by mid-morning snow falling on the city had all the appearances of another Tuesday.

Toronto had a few hours grace when the body of the storm passed north of the city. Most of the rest of Ontario had snow falling today with Northern Ontario receiving the lightest fall.

Winds are expected to cause considerable drifting, especially in the Lake Huron region and possibly in the Niagara Peninsula, the weather bureau reported.

Expect 3 Inches

In Toronto, three inches of snow were predicted by 5 pm, the peak of the home-bound rush hour. And there were warnings that the snow might change to rain or freezing rain by late afternoon.

Many workers in Toronto took as long as three hours to get home Tuesday night. The nearly 24-hour storm crippled transportation. Veteran police officers called it the "worst" they had ever seen.

A glowering old man winter threw a solar-plexus punch at the Maritimes—his final swipe in a spree that saw him swing roundhouse wallops at the best part of the continent.

There were at least three deaths as indirect results of the storm.

Leaving a turmoil of damage in many parts of the Atlantic provinces, a premature winter storm with winds of 97 miles an hour drove flood waters through a Newfoundland village and threw a British freighter on a Newfoundland reef.

The east coast earlier had escaped wintry weather that plagued the rest of the country. But the sudden gale, which increased to hurricane force in some sections, made up for that.

600 Flee

For the second time in 12 hours, some 600 people huddled in two buildings at Stephenville Crossing on Newfoundland's west coast early today as gale-lashed seas heaved into their little settlement.

Steel Strike Said Unavoidable

WASHINGTON, Dec. 20 (AP)—High-level government talks in the ominous steel dispute started today but officials were suddenly doubtful that New Year's day strike of workers can be avoided.

The change in attitude became apparent as representatives of major steel firms gathered for negotiations with CIO president Philip Murray. The talks were arranged by Cyrus S. Ching, the government's ace labor trouble-shooter.

Murray has called the walkout for midnight Dec. 31, when present contracts expire. He is demanding a 15-cent hourly pay increase and other concessions for his 1,000,000-member United Steelworkers of America. The workers now average just less than $2 an hour, including overtime.

Until the last few days, government experts and steel industry spokesmen felt the threatened walkout could be avoided somehow, by a settlement or at least a strike postponement.

Murray has said his men won't work without contracts after the present agreements expire.

Approve Committee To Study Elections

PARIS, Dec. 20—(AP)—The United Nations General Assembly today approved the creation of a five-country committee to survey whether Germany is ready for country-wide free elections.

The assembly vote was 46 to 6 with eight abstentions. The action was taken in the face of strong objections from the Soviet bloc and statements from Communist East Germany that it will not permit the UN committee to step on East German soil.

Elect Greece To UN Council After Battle

PARIS, Dec. 20 — (Reuters) — The United Nations' General Assembly today elected Greece to the Security Council, after 19 ballots against Russia's candidate Byelow-Russia. Greece was sponsored by the United States.

The vote was 39 for Greece, 16 for Byelo (White) Russia.

A two-thirds majority of UN members present and voting in the General Assembly test was required for election.

The deadlock was the longest in the history of UN elections.

Greece thus will replace Yugoslavia on the Security Council Jan. 1. Chile and Pakistan were elected two weeks ago to fill vacancies caused by the expiration of terms of India and Ecuador.

Former Setup

White Russia, one of the constituent republics of the USSR, was made a member of the UN along with the Ukraine, under the Yalta agreement which guaranteed Russia three memberships.

Britain and others had backed White Russia for the Security Council under a "gentlemen's agreement" of 1946 which gave one seat to the Eastern European bloc of countries under Russia's wing. The US contended the agreement was for only a year.

The Security Council is made up of the Big Five permanent members—Britain, China, France, Russia and the US — and six elected members who serve two-year terms.

When the balloting began, Britain and France supported the Soviet choice. But informed sources said these countries switched during the afternoon's balloting.

Bad Weather Halts Fighting At Front

SEOUL, Korea, Dec. 20 (AP)—Freezing weather and heavy fog muffled the drums of war along the Korean battlefront today.

Scattered small arms and artillery fire were heard in Panmunjom by truce teams seeking agreement on a Korean armistice.

There were no reports of any major action across the 145-mile front. Soldiers on both sides concentrated on keeping warm.

Allied air forces and navy guns struck the heaviest blows Wednesday.

Daylight air operations were reduced. Ten B-29 Superforts pounded rail yards at Chonju in northwest Korea in a night attack. Far East air forces said it was one of the heaviest B-29 raids of the war against a single target.

Rough Crossing

SOUTHAMPTON, Eng., Dec. 20 (AP)—The Queen Elizabeth docked here Wednesday night with 30 passengers in sick bay with minor injuries after her roughest Atlantic crossing in two years. The passengers were cut and bruised, and tableware, and furniture was smashed by mid-winter gales.

Soviet-Led World Gripped By Spy Mania, UN Told

PARIS, Dec. 20 — (AP) — An American delegate told the United Nations today the whole Soviet-led world seems to be in a grip of a "spy mania."

Four American airmen, whose cargo plane was forced down by Russian fighters in Hungary, are victims of the mania, Rep. Mike Mansfield (Dem. Mont.) told the UN Political Committee.

Mansfield's description of Communist fears followed a Polish accusation the United States is operating a vast spy ring and financing "killings, assassinations and outrages" behind the Iron Curtain.

Mansfield denounced Wednesday's table-pounding attack on the four fliers by Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Vishinsky, who called them "spies and saboteurs."

Vishinsky said he hoped the men would receive "due attention" from "our military and justice authorities."

Mansfield and Poland's Stefan Wierblowski traded verbal punches in a committee debate on a Russian resolution charging the United States with waging "aggression" against Russia and its satellites under the Mutual Security Act.

Mansfield said the United States has not even been able to learn whether Hungarian or Russian authorities are holding the four airmen.

"Our diplomatic representatives have been denied all access to these men and have been unable to receive satisfactory answers to our inquiries," he said.

The C-47 cargo plane was on a mission from the US airbase at Erding, Germany, to carry supplies to the US embassy at Belgrade, Yugoslavia. It strayed from the air route and was forced down by Russian fighters based in Hungary.

$500,000 Fire At Brockville

BROCKVILLE, Dec. 20. (CP)—Fire that raged for hours destroyed a river-front business block and apartment building early today. Loss was estimated at $500,000. Two firemen, Deputy Chief Charles Storey and Capt. Edward Lacasse, were injured slightly. The fire swept through the premises of seven business firms and three apartments and left 10 persons homeless, including five children. No one was hurt. The blaze started in the two-storey red brick Shorey's Glove Works building which housed the apartments and commercial firms. At daybreak firemen still poured water on the remains of the 75-year-old building on Broad St. The blaze was first noticed shortly after 11 pm, and was fed by chemicals and other inflammable products.

10 Below Zero

A temperature of 10 below zero hampered fire fighters. A south wind, blowing off the St. Lawrence river, fanned the flames which for a time threatened 15 nearby houses.

The apartment tenants were Russell Shorey, son of the owner of the building, his wife and three children; constable John Larcombe of the Brockville police department, his wife and child; and Mr. and Mrs. Jack Collier.

The firms which occupied the building were Shorey Glove Company, Brockville Sign Studios, Kedco Novelty Company, Brockville Awning Company and National Display Company. Capt. W. L. Snider and Sons Moving Company stored furniture in one end of the structure and Johnston Shoe Company, owners of Reward Shoe Stores Limited, used part of the building for storing footwear.

Carry Out Belongings

Townsfolk helped the apartment dwellers carry out most of their belongings before the flames reached the living quarters at one end of the building. Contents of the warehouse section and merchandise and equipment in the factory section, where the fire is believed to have started, were destroyed.

The towering orange flames and dense smoke from the fire, only a block away from the business

Woman In Flaming Pyjamas Flees House At Midnight

Mrs. Marion Carney, 35, of 542 McKellar St., received painful burns on her right hand and right leg when she fled from her home shortly after midnight with her pyjamas afire. She was taken to Civic hospital where she spent a "fairly comfortable" night. Her condition is not considered serious.

Mrs. Carney, alone in the house at the time, heard a "crackling noise" coming from the kitchen. She jumped out of bed and found a fire blazing in the northeast corner of her kitchen.

When she tried to smother the flames her pyjamas ignited and she fled into the back yard and shouted for help. She beat the fire out herself.

Mrs. James W. Philcox, 547 McKellar Street, dashed across the street after hearing the injured woman shout for help. Mrs. Philcox found her standing in the sub-zero temperature, clad in pyjamas that had the right leg burned away, and with only one slipper on.

After escorting Mrs. Carney to the safety of her home on the south side of the street, Mrs. Philcox made her comfortable until Dr. Russell Morgan arrived.

$800 Damage

The Carney home received about $800 damage. Cause of the fire is thought to be some rags, soaked with cleaning fluid, that ignited in the corner of the kitchen.

The flames burned the ceiling and walls of the kitchen and the blast of heat went through to the front door of the five-room bungalow. The electric refrigerator was blackened and scorched, but continued to function. The electric stove was badly burned.

Allow 2,000 Visit Bethlehem

BETHLEHEM, Dec. 20—(AP)—The barbed-wire of no-man's land will be opened to let 2,000 Christians living in Israel worship at Christmas Day services in this Arab-occupied village where Christ was born.

The announcement came today from the foreign ministry of Moslem Jordan, whose troops occupy Bethlehem and the old city of Jerusalem as a result of the Palestine war of 1948 between Jews and Arabs. They are still technically at war under armistice.

The 2,000 pilgrims will be in addition to diplomatic and consular corps personnel who can cross the line at any time.

Foreigners in Israeli-controlled territory also are allowed in the Arab-occupied part of Jerusalem and Bethlehem with Jordan visas but are not allowed to return through Israel. No figure was available on the number of foreign visitors expected to pass through.

11 Missing In Ship Fire

ASTORIA, Ore., Dec. 20 (AP)—The Coast Guard said today that eight passengers and three crew members "possibly are missing" from the Danish motorship Erria burning in the mouth of the Columbia River.

The Coast Guard said 23 passengers and 80 crew members have been accounted for. These estimates were based on the belief that 114 persons were aboard the ship when it anchored just inside the mouth of the stream to await clearing weather before attempting to cross the bar. Crew members were unable to say positively how many passengers were aboard.

Lt.-Cmdr. V. A. Johnson, commanding officer at Tongue Point Coast Guard Station, said the 103 were taken to the barracks and then were moved to a hotel here.

Early reports indicated that only one of those aboard went into the icy waters of the river. He was Hugo Ray, of Vancouver, a passenger, who grabbed a line hanging over the side of the ship when the fire broke out. The line was unsecured and he plunged over the side, but was picked up by a Coast Guard vessel.

Ray's 11-year-old son, Bill, suffered a burned heel in the fire and was taken to a hospital here. Ray's wife and three-month-old son were saved.

Radioactive Road Decontaminated

HARWELL, England, Dec. 20 (AP)—A truck from this British atomic experiment centre crashed with another Wednesday night and spilled radioactive water over a road.

Farm workers dashing to the wreck were warned off by the driver of the water truck. "Keep away!" he shouted. "It's dangerous."

Then came a miniature "fire-drill" of the atomic age.

Police closed the road. Men from Harwell in hip boots and specialy-treated garments rushed up and sprayed fluid and a white powder over the water.

Decontaminated, the road was opened three hours later.

Party At Palace

LONDON, Dec. 20 (AP) — Queen Elizabeth and Princess Margaret joined the staff of Buckingham Palace in dancing Wednesday night at the annual pre-Christmas servants' ball. The King, still not fully recovered from a lung operation three months ago did not attend.

Trenton Flier Rescued, Dies Of Frostbite

CALGARY, Dec. 20 (CP) — FO Cyril Douglas Wilken, 27, of Trenton, Ont., and Redvers, Sask., died Wednesday in hospital of frostbite and exposure suffered while trapped 40 sub-zero hours in a wrecked RCAF trainer plane 7,000 feet up a Southern Alberta mountain last week.

Wilken's hands and feet were badly frostbitten. A doctor said effects of such deep frostbite were very severe on the whole body.

Mrs. Wilken was at the hospital bedside Wednesday before her husband died. She arrived in the city from Trenton about midnight Tuesday night aboard an RCAF plane.

The air force pilot was ferrying a Harvard aircraft from Trenton to Claresholm, Alta., via Calgary, when he was caught in a snowstorm last Wednesday. Unable to land at Calgary, he was heading south for Claresholm when he got off course and crashed at the 7,000-foot level of Mount Head, about 40 miles southwest of Calgary.

The crew member aboard the Harvard, Cpl. Milford Miles Johnson, 32, of Canterbury, NB, was uninjured in the crash. After 12 hours of fruitless attempts to free the trapped Wilken, he trudged 11 miles through three feet of snow and found help.

A ground rescue party reached Wilken early Friday morning and brought him down in a toboggan to an improvised airfield at the base of the mountain. A ski-equipped aircraft flew him to hospital here.

4 Dead, 4 Hurt In House Fire

MATTICE, Ont., Dec. 20—(CP)—Four persons died and four were injured when fire early today destroyed a house in this isolated northern Ontario community 25 miles west of Hearst.

Identity of the dead and injured was not learned immediately.

The four injured, taken to hospital in Hearst, about 100 miles northwest of Timmins, over slippery snow-covered roads, were a man, a woman and two children. Their condition was said to be critical.

No details of the fire were available.

Picks Jail Lock Returns Hour Later

PORT COLBORNE, Dec. 20 — (CP)—Police chief Fred Davies said Wednesday night that Wilbert Reeb, 27, awaiting trial on a break-in charge, picked a jail lock with a piece of wire and walked out while police were busy elsewhere.

An hour after Reeb disappeared the chief's phone rang. Reeb was calling to say he would be back shortly.

Soon Reeb showed up at the police station. He was placed in the cell—without the piece of wire.

Now he faces a new charge: breaking custody.

Their Tactics Pay Off

Canadians Bag First Red Tanks In Korea

By BILL BOSS.

WITH THE CANADIANS IN KOREA, Dec. 20 — (CP). — Canadians have bagged their first Communist tanks in Korea.

Three, believed Russian-built T-34s, have been knocked out in two separate actions by C Squadron of the Lord Strathcona's Horse.

In the first action two of three which took on a Strathcona Sherman were knocked out of action by Cpl. Syd Harrison of Flin Flon, Man., while the third recently was accounted for by a tank crew commanded by Lieut. Strathcona Macdonald of Vankleek Hill, Ont.

The two engagements—indicative of the growing appearance of Communist armor on the Korean front—are the highlights of six weeks of action which have seen the squadron fire almost 10,000 rounds in hottest anger, 95 per cent of them aimed shots.

The tanks support the infantry of the 25th Canadian Infantry Brigade group—the 2nd Battalions of the Royal Canadian Regiment and the Royal 22nd Regiment, and the 1st Battalion of the Princess Patricia's Canadian Light Infantry.

Like Tactics

The battalions have never yet been anywhere in Korea without the Strathcona's tanks in close support — to the admiration of others in the theatre who have begun to study Canadian tank tactics.

The Strathconas also have been credited with a total of more than 600 Chinese killed under their fire in various actions since the beginning of November.

The bodies are those of Communist dead actually counted on the battlefield, either by infantry patrols or under the binoculars of Major Vic Jewkes of St. Johns, Que., the squadron commander.

They were killed during shoots in support of the King's Shropshire Light Infantry and then of the Van Doos during the November fighting for possession of Hills 227-355. Most times the shooting was done on the armored men's own initiative, and it wasn't until days later, in one instance, that the Shropshires learned the origin of the fire that removed the pressure of one Chinese attack.

Harrison, who spent entire days in the turret of his tank scanning the Chinese positions 2,000 yards away across the valley, spotted the three tanks which engaged him just as they were about to open fire.

Make It Count

He ducked down into the turret himself, swinging the gun around and at the same time shouting for Tpr. Don Lester of Oshawa, his loader-operator.

None of the enemy's fire hit his Sherman, but Harrison made his rounds count. Firing armor-piercing shells, he scored five direct hits of 11 rounds fired, knocking out two tanks and the third pulled out.

Two shots sent the first tank up in a blaze, three accounted for the second. There has been no firing from that quarter since.

Harrison was a tank gunner in the desert during the Second World War and by coincidence his old squadron commander with the 8th Irish Hussars was in action nearby during the operation.

The shoots which felled Chinese Communists literally in droves occurred in the latter half of November.

Fund Started For Fire Victims

CAMPBELLFORD, Dec. 20 — (ENS) — Campbellford citizens have opened their hearts and their pocketbooks in true Christmas spirit to the 16 people left homeless and without clothing by Wednesday's $200,000 fire.

The fire destroyed a three-storey business and apartment block in the west end of town.

At noon today, almost $1,000 had been pledged and donated to a fund set up Wednesday afternoon at a meeting of 50 Campbellford citizens. Name of the fund is the Campbellford Emergency Relief Fund.

First donation was a $500 cheque from the town's Rotary Club. It was followed in quick succession by $100 from the Red Cross, $50 from the Campbellford Fish and Game Club, $50 from the Christ (Anglican) church parish guild, and $25 from the Christ Church Chi-Rho club.

Councillor P. H. Macmillan suggested that council vote a sum of money to the fund. This will be taken up and decided upon at the next council meeting.

Chairman of the fund is H. S. Staples, lay minister of Campbellford Baptist Church. Treasurer is R. D. McDonald, manager of the Campbellford branch of the Bank of Montreal. Members of the committee are Mrs. Chris Newman, Mrs. Ken Cairns, Mrs. Leo Doherty, Gordon Walroth, Franklin Linton, Mayor-elect Wilbert A. Kingston, and Reg. Outingdyke.

The committee is representative of various clubs and organizations in town—Kinsmen, Rotary, Red Cross, Home and School, Canadian Legion, the IODE, and the Catholic Women's League.

A cupboard, along with dishes, was destroyed. So was an end-table, as well as curtains and blinds in the kitchen and living-room.

The whole interior of the house was covered with a filmy deposit from smoke, and it will have to be redecorated.

Cleaned Floor

Mrs. Carney was believed to have been using some cleaning fluid on the front room floor shortly before the fire broke out.

Her husband, proprietor of the Rite-Spot Coffee Shop and the Arena Lunch, was away working at the time. And their seven-year-old son Robert was at his grandmother's place.

The alarm was turned in by Mrs. Philcox at 12:11 am today. She and her husband were going to bed when they heard someone shouting. Mrs. Philcox opened the front door, saw flames coming from the Carney home, and heard Mrs. Carney shouting "fire."

She crossed the road and found Mrs. Carney in her partly-burned pyjamas, standing on one foot (the other was bare) calling for help.

Kitchen Aflame

"The flames were all over the kitchen," said Mrs. Philcox.

Another neighbor, Larry Blanchard, 538 McKellar Street, also ran in an alarm after hearing Mrs. Carney call for help.

He looked out his west window and saw the kitchen was afire. Thinking somebody might be inside, he ran to the front door, smashed a window pane with a small toboggan lying on the verandah, and put his hand through to open the lock.

"It wasn't a very big fire at that time," said Mr. Blanchard. "I believe I could have put it out with a pail of water."

High tides which flooded out three-quarters of the houses at noon Wednesday, surged forward again at the second tidal peak around midnight Wednesday. Winds which had hit more than 90 miles an hour have subsided somewhat but were still registering up to 50.

No deaths or injuries were reported by Red Cross workers as they aided stricken villages seeking refuge in the Roman Catholic school and a hospital on high, dry ground.

Blankets and portable heaters were being sent from the Harmon Field US air force base near Stephenville. The government has authorized the RCMP to take any emergency steps necessary to insure sufficient supplies but no immediate shortages are foreseen.

Try To Get Truce Supervision

MUNSAN, Korea, Dec. 20. (AP)—The United States Eighth Army completed plans today to speed Allied prisoners homeward whenever they are freed from Communist prison camps. Simultaneously truce negotiators called in staff officers to try to figure out how to supervise an armistice. A truce must be signed before prisoners will be released, United Nations delegates suggested temporarily turning over to staff officers the problem of how to supervise a truce. It was a new effort to break a long deadlock. The Communists promptly agreed and the staff officers went to work immediately.

An Allied spokesman called it a "one-shot effort" to break the deadlock before the Dec. 27 deadline.

The regular sub-committee will meet Friday at 1 pm (11 pm EST Thursday) regardless of the outcome of the staff officers' session.

There has been no announcement as to whether the sub-committee on prisoner exchange will meet Friday. There was no session Thursday. Allied negotiators said they needed more time to check the list of 11,559 Allied prisoners supplied by the Communists Wednesday.

Must Work Out Method

The actual method of exchanging prisoners remains to be worked out.

But the Eighth Army announced everything is set to fly all UN personnel to Japan after they are freed. Plans also are being made for moving 132,472 Chinese and North Korean prisoners northward from Allied prison camps.

In the truce town of Panmunjom staff officers took as a basis for discussion the latest Communist proposal for policing an armistice, with some UN modifications.

Allied negotiators said they would accept the Red plan as a starting point. But they specified there would be no modification of the UN demand for a ban on the repair of construction of North Korean airfields and a freeze on the military strength of both sides, with full rotation.

The Allied suggestion to call in staff officers raised immediate speculation that the UN might take a different approach to the deadlocked issue.

It was pointed out that staff officers worked out an agreement on the cease-fire line—the only agenda item tentatively settled so far—after negotiators had reached agreement in principle.

There was no indication, however, that the truce supervision subcommittee had agreed even in principle.

district, attracted most of Brockville's 13,000 residents as well as many residents of the surrounding farming district who saw the glare from miles away.

The fire could be clearly seen from Morristown, NY, two miles away on the opposite shore of the St. Lawrence River.

Firemen were reinforced by a pumper and a fire fighting crew from the town of Prescott, 12 miles to the east, and by the Brockville military camp fire department.

Goods in the warehouse section of the L-shaped building included furniture, shoes, canvas, paints, leather, paper, novelties and chemicals.

Firemen saved nearby houses by soaking roofs and walls with water.

Brockville's last major fire gutted a business block Nov. 26, 1949, and caused damage of almost $500,000.

Dollar Down

MONTREAL, Dec. 20 — (CP) — The United States dollar today opened at 2 9/32 per cent premium to the Canadia ndollar, down 1/32 from Wednesday's close. That is ,it took $1.02 9/32, Canadian to buy $1 American.

The pound sterling was $2.85 5/16, down 3/16 from Wednesday.

Conservatives Push Drive Against Price Fixing Law

OTTAWA, Dec. 20. (CP)—The big Progressive Conservative drive against the government's plans to outlaw retail price-fixing rolled into its third full day today amid indications it may keep Parliament in session through the holiday season. Prime Minister St. Laurent, obviously determined to get the controversial legislation through, served notice Wednesday that unless the Chamber has completed its work by Friday night it will be asked to take a five-day Christmas recess and get back on the job Thursday, Dec. 27.

The Progressive Conservatives, fighting the bill on the ground it will put the small retailer out of business, put up 10 speakers against six Liberals who rose to the defence of the legislation.

A lone independent—J. L. Gibson (Comox-Alberni), a former retailer who usually votes with the government—threw his lot in with the Progressive Conservatives and told the Liberals their unity on the legislation outshone their "common sense."

The CCF and Social Credit ranks, who favor the bill but feel there should be protection against "loss-leaders,' remained silent.

As the debate gained momentum, party strength diminished on all sides as members representing distant ridings, principally in the west and on the east coast, entrained to get home in time for Christmas.

Red Herring

George Drew, whose Progressive Conservative supporters have moved that the legislation be killed, stepped into the debate to assert that the bill is a "red herring" designed to distract attention from the government's "failure" to deal effectively with inflation and the high cost of living.

He suggested that the government might be pressing the legislation at this time in the hopes that the public will give it some credit for the price reductions that customarily develop each year in the annual January sales

If the government wanted to cut living costs, it should ease credit restrictions, curtail expenditures and reduce the sales tax and special excise taxes levied in the last budget.

He charged that the measure would hurt the small business man and benefit big business establishments.

J. O. Gour (L-Russell), who runs a country general store in eastern Ontario, said resale price maintenance—which allows manufacturers to set the retail prices of their goods—does not benefit 95 per cent of the people.

The Progressive Conservatives wanted to protect big business and wanted to make dictators out of the few who could force small merchants to charge set prices for their goods.

Stock Prices Drift On Toronto Exchange

TORONTO, Dec. 20 (CP) — Stock market prices drifted irregularly today in early afternoon dealings.

Refining oils and textiles edged upward. Utilities and foods showed little trend while steels eased.

Leading industrials changed hands listlessly. A few penny golds attracted speculative interest while some lower-priced base metals and western oils showed sporadic activity. Volume for the first three hours was 898,000 shares.

In base metals Consolidated Smelters, Falconbridge, International Nickel, Quemont and Waite Amulet posted fractional declines. Sherritt-Gordon and United Asbestos slipped pennies.

Western oils made little headway. Anglo-Canadian, Canadian Atlantic, Federated Petroleum and New British Dominions were among issues lower.

Senior golds showed little trend. Lake Shore, Malartic and Tech Hughes showed strength. Kirkland Hudson and Sylvanite attracted support in a mixed secondary section.

Highway Inundated By Flood Waters

THESSALON, Dec. 29 (CP). — A quarter-mile section of the Chapleau Highway, 45 miles north of here, has been inundated by the rampaging, ice-choked Mississauga river.

The flood waters swirled over the highway Wednesday morning. In some places the water was three feet deep.

During the night, the water level went down 12 inches and today heavy transport vehicles were being towed across the inundated stretch by highways department equipment.

Sentenced For Theft

Two Peterborough men were sentenced in Oshawa yesterday on theft charges.

Murray John Nice, 21, received three months for theft of automobile parts from General Motors.

Frederick George Hughey, 28, was sentenced to one year for theft of an automobile.

Asks Immigration Be Suspended Till More Jobs

HAMILTON, Dec. 20 (CP). — Mayor Lloyd D. Jackson said today he intended to "check" with Immigration Minister Harris on a policy of suspending immigration until the present "adjustment period" between civil and defence industrial activity has been solved.

The mayor intimated that while he had made no previous statements publicly, he had been in touch with the situation through local immigration officials. His Worship understood that immigration from Europe would be "tightened," but that obviously boatloads of persons already en route to Canada could not be turned back.

His Worship believed that caring for immigrants until they found jobs was the responsibility of the Department of Immigration rather than that of the city.

With the situation in Hamilton rendered more acute by the reported 3,000 laid off in the textile industry, Mayor Jackson said he would confer again with federal authorities the policy of suspending immigration until the labor market was in better shape.

Wilson farm home four hours later. They are the daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Ciceri, San Diego.

Richard Ciceri said:

"I didn't even feel the plane touch down on the field. I was checking on how tightly I was holding my baby daughter Lynn when suddenly I realized that we'd stopped.

"I know I said at least one 'Hail Mary' on the way down.

"Maybe with this landing in Canada I'll be able to surprise my parents in Montreal by arriving sooner than we'd expected. They were expecting us for Christmas."

In Toronto, Capt. John Poulain of a Trans-Canada Air Lines plane that circled the crash scene complimented the Major pilot for a "beautiful piece of flying."

Private First Class Mark Lindenmutch of Barstow, Cal., remarked that the plane landed with a perceptible bump, but little more.

Throw Open Home

Mr. Wilson, in whose hayfield the plane skidded to a stop, said that the passengers were out of the craft almost as soon as it stopped. They walked to the farmhouse—one woman in her stocking feet—and were given accommodation by the Wilsons.

Mrs. Wilson, her sister and some neighbors made coffee and sandwiches for the crowd of 47 until shortly before they left for Trenton by bus about noon. Mr. Wilson said it was the biggest family he'd ever had.

A woman passenger, Mrs. Leo J. Wilson of Plainfield, NJ, told reporters she had had a premonition of the crash while the plane was lost over Lake Ontario. "From then on," she said, "I prayed most of the time."

Her husband said "I never knew land could look so good. When we were out over the ocean (Lake Ontario), I thought we wouldn't see it again."

Quite Frightened

Mrs. John D. Holloway of Corona Del Mar, Cal., said she was "quite frightened" when she realized the aircraft would have to land in fields, but felt "all right" afterwards. Another woman passenger, Miss Nardine Durante of San Leandro, Cal., nervous and upset after the crash, said she thought the craft was landing on an emergency airfield.

After the crash, Edward Moore of New York City, sat calmly in the living room of the Wilson home working a jigsaw puzzle. Other passengers, equally calm, sat and chatted about the crash and the possibility of getting to their destinations.

An RCAF ambulance from Trenton arrived not long after the C-46 landed, and returned to the air force station when there was no need for it.

Taken To Trenton

Shortly after noon today, the passengers were taken to Trenton by car and bus provided by the RCAF. Luggage was unloaded from the aircraft and went along with the passengers.

At Trenton, they will be given temporary quarters while they await transportation to Newark, NJ, and other destinations.

OPP Corporal Doug Wilson of Cobourg and four provincial constables stood guard over the plane until RCAF men arrived from Trenton.

Crew of the plane were Capt. Smelser, pilot, Eddie O'Leary, Fresno, Cal., first officer, and Stewardess Sandy Dain of New York City.

A Trans-Canada Air Lines plane flying from Ottawa to Toronto was advised from Toronto that an aircraft was reported down in the chill waters of Lake Ontario. It circled the Cobourg area and the crew saw men run from the Major Air Lines machine to a nearby highway.

The TCA plane reported "all well" to Toronto and rescue work got under way.

WINNIPEG GRAIN

WINNIPEG, Dec. 20 (CP) — Prices were firm in dull trade early today on the Winipeg Grain Exchange in sympathy with steadiness on United States markets.

The usual routine shipper demand was in evidence in oats and barley. Oats also received support from American interests. Flax and rye trade was thin and local.

11 am grain prices:

Oats: Dec. ⅜ higher 99⅝B; May ½ higher 95⅜; July not open.

Barley: Dec. 1 higher 1.39; May ½ higher 1.33¾B; July ¼ higher 1.25¼B.

Rye: Dec. not open; May 1 higher 2.16⅝; July ⅞-½ higher 2.08¾.

Flax: Not open.

MONTREAL LIVESTOCK

MONTREAL, Dec. 20 (CP) — Prices were steady to stronger this week on the Montreal livestock markets.

Total receipts amounted to 1,244 cattle, 1,721 calves, 789 sheep and lambs, 3,500 hogs.

Lighter receipts of cattle including only a few loads of steers and heifers, with bulk consisting of cows, met with a better demand than last week. Steers brought around .50 more while other grades were steady to stronger except for good cows which indicated a lower tone. Good steers brought 33.50; medium 29-33 and common 22-28. A few good heifers made 30, medium 26-29 and common 19-25. Good cows sold at 24.50-25.50 with a few tops at 26, medium 22-24, common 20-22 and canners and cutters 16-20. Good bulls brought 25-27 and common and medium 20-25.

Vealers brought steady prices as good ones made 38-39 and common and medium 28-37. Grassers brought mostly 24-25. Yearlings 21-23.

Lambs sold from 32-33 with common at 25-30. Sheep ranged from 12-20 according to quality.

Hog prices gained $1 compared with last week bringing 31 for grade "A" (around 100 sold early at 31.50). Sows brought 24-25.

2 Ex-Constables Appeal Firings

LINDSAY, Dec. 20.—The two men recently dismissed from the Lindsay police force have submitted appeals to the town clerk which are expected to come before a special meeting of the council.

The men, Russell Hargrave and Gordon McCartney were dismissed by Chief Arthur Webster on a neglect of duty charge. This occurred when they found a former constable near the scene of a robbery and allegedly allowed him to go home. He was later arrested.

Following their dismissal the two men said that an injustice had taken place and that they had been treated unfairly.

operation between the Liberals and the CCF.

Mr. Knowles introducing the motion, said its purpose was to give those members who felt they had a right to be home for Christmas a chance to vote on the contentious issue now before the House.

Donald Fleming (PC-Toronto Eglinton) said it was "amazing" that such a motion should come from Mr. Knowles who had protested against efforts to speed up House business on the ground it would overwork the staffs.

Unchristian Threat

E. D. Fulton (PC-Kamloops) said the Prime Minister's threat to cut off the debate on Dec. 27 was an "unchristian threat" since it would interfere with the hope of many members to be home with their families for Christmas.

It would mean that those members who had far to travel in order to be home may be forced to remain in the capital in order to be present on that day.

The threat was an attempt, he added, to have the resale price maintenance legislation "rammed" through the House with no more than 5½ days for discussing the important measure which would affect nearly 1,000,000 Canadians.

As for the motion by Mr. Knowles, there appeared to have been "collusion" between the government and the CCF party.

Mr. Knowles denied the charge. As far as his motion was concerned, he said, there was no collusion. It was his own idea.

TTC Operating During Holidays

TORONTO, Dec. 20 — (CP) — Citizens were cheered today by the news that Toronto's publicly-owned street-car and bus system, threatened by a strike, will remain in operation during the Christmas holidays.

The assurance came Wednesday night from Labor Minister Daley, who conferred with representatives of the Toronto Transportation Commission and the Toronto Street Railway Employees' Union (AFL). Further talks will be held a week from today.

The employees, seeking a 15-cent increase over their present $1.40 an hour, Wednesday took a strike vote. The result was not announced but it was reported that the union members voted overwhelmingly in favor of strike action if necessary.

Man Wounded In House Row

TORONTO, Dec. 20 (CP). — Marvin Henrickson, 40, Wednesday night was charged with attempted murder at nearby Cooksville after Frank Hackim, 56, of suburban Port Credit, was shot twice during what police said was an argument over Henrickson's wife.

Hackim was reported in fair condition in a Toronto hospital. Doctors said he had one bullet wound in the back of his neck and another in his stomach.

Police said he also had a severe wound on the back of his head. They said they thought it was inflicted with the butt of a pistol.

Henrickson drove the wounded man to hospital while Mrs. Henrickson telephoned police.

Said Goodbye 42 Yrs Ago Husband, Wife Reunited

LONDON, Dec. 20 — (AP) — Tom Robinson told his wife, Ada "I'll see you soon."

"Don't be long, love," she cautioned.

That was 42 years ago, when both were 29.

Then finally greeted each other again last night in London's dingy Waterloo station.

Tom was carrying a photograph which Ada mailed him. But Ada trusted her memory and it was good. Glimpsing Tom through the crowd, she told her 42-year old daughter, "that's dad."

One quick kiss, then Tom said, "Hello, love. How've you been?"

Tom and Ada met as children in Darlington, a coal mining town in North England. He went to South Africa to make his fortune. Then sent for Ada and they were married at Capetown in 1905.

Three years later their daughter was born and a doctor advised Ada to return to England for a rest.

Never Quite Made It.

Tom brought his wife and baby back, then returned. He said he kept meaning to come back for Ada, "but I had a good job and if you left it in those days, someone took your place."

Ada meant to join him in South Africa. But soon after Tom left a son was born and she decided to stay until the children were a little older.

Then came the war, the depression, another war.

"It seemed something always kept happening," Ada said.

They wrote each every week.

A month ago Tom got three months leave from his job and caught the first ship for England.

Beaming, Ada said she will go back to South Africa with Tom this time.

Korean Truce Time

By this time next week we shall know whether there is to be an armistice or continued war in Korea. The present situation is that the fighting goes on except in a restricted area where the truce talks are being held. According to the agreement reached three weeks ago, if an armistice is made by December 27th, the line on which the troops will stand is already determined. It is mainly above the 38th parallel, but in several salients is south of present American battle positions.

* * *

Some gloom-mongering columnists are saying that the armistice talks will fail, that the Chinese Communists are deliberately stalling and that the whole thing will blow up on or before December 27th. We refuse to share this view. The time limit is near, but in the last three weeks agreement has been reached on a number of difficult major points. The pace of the negotiations is slow, but considering the translation difficulties, the need of the negotiators to consult with distant political superiors, and the very fact that Eastern and Western minds do not run in the same channels, the pace is satisfactory.

* * *

Progress is being made: lists of prisoners have been exchanged. (If the Communists did not want a cease-fire would they have let negotiations go as far as this? Would they not have stalled on earlier points, such as the contentious issue of "supervision"?) And there is this basic hopeful fact: one of the principal difficulties was surmounted before the present conference came about—the armistice line.

* * *

Negotiations are now at an advanced stage—an extremely delicate stage. Little authentic information is being given out, so that correspondents' cables must be based on little more than gossip and what an officer's face looked like when he entered or left the conference tent. There is some reason to be optimistic, and little for gloom. The chances are still fairly good that there will be a cease-fire in Korea very soon.

A Little Snow Dazes Toronto

Southern Ontario, including Toronto and Peterborough, had some snow on Tuesday. In fact, it was a snow storm, but not a big one despite the excited stories coming out of Toronto. Peterborough got 2¾ inches in the twenty-four hours, Toronto 3¾ inches, only an inch more. We thankfully say that we were not in Toronto on the day of the "worst traffic snarl in Toronto's history," but when we looked at newspaper photographs of it we suspected that accounts of two or three feet of snow were exaggerated. In every picture we saw, the side-walls of car tires were visible above the snow, and car tracks on the roadway were clearly down to bare pavement or ice.

Nevertheless Toronto traffic became chaotic, while in Peterborough drivers went to and from work without undue delay or hardship. Why did Peterborough wheels move without much bother and Toronto's bog down in only a little more snow?

The chief reason is that Peterborough drivers and civic authorities charged with keeping the streets open are prepared to cope with bad snow conditions and Toronto—municipally and privately—is not. Peterborough drivers have more experience in driving in snow than Toronto people, because Peterborough gets more snow during a winter. Peterborough people expect snow and get ready to deal with it. Toronto seems to take it as an unusual act of God and just sits in stupefaction. So traffic is convulsed when the snow does come. For a city which prides itself on efficiency and munipical superiority Toronto is remarkably inept in its handling of snow.

There is some excuse. Traffic is very heavy on Toronto streets all day long; the line between a flow of traffic and a complete disruption is thin. Any added complexity, like 3¾ inches of snow, throws traffic completely out of kilter. Even small snowflakes like Wednesday's will continue to bewilder and snare Toronto until traffic congestion is eased. The new subway should help make a ridiculous traffic muddle in a few inches of snow only an unpleasant piece of history.

There is another excuse for Toronto's condition on Tuesday. The snow fell during the daytime and Toronto Board of Works men and machines cannot operate on the downtown streets in daylight. To do so would compound the confusion. In Peterborough a block can be closed off while the big snow-chewer gets to work and trucks cart the stuff away (as they did so efficiently yesterday morning). Toronto streets are so busy that it is difficult to put even a scraper to work in daylight.

Making these important allowances for Toronto, we still find room to criticize. What is wrong is Torontonians' attitude to snow in their streets. They resent it as something that should never happen to Toronto. They fuss, fume, panic into unorganized action. Peterborough accepts it as a natural event and deals with it quietly and on the whole effectively. The Peterborough attitude is shown in the expensive machinery the city has bought to scrape, chew and collect excess snow, and in the snow-removal budget. This year's appropriation for road clearing is $16,000 and for clearing the sidewalks $9,750. (These sums are not for equipment, but for maintenance and operation.) If Toronto spent at the same rate, its snow-clearing budget would be about three-quarters of a million dollars. Even if it spent only half a million (since Toronto gets less snow than Peterborough), Toronto streets would not be the mess they are days after a heavy snowfall. Why, the city does not even clean off its sidewalks. It has a half-hearted bylaw requiring citizens to shovel their own. That indicates the slipshod, feckless attitude of Toronto towards snow.

When snow hits Toronto and chaos envelops it we have not a shred of sympathy for Torontonians; we can even become bitterly angry, if we happen to be caught in the city then. Toronto has brought the confusion on its own head, and the remedies are in its own hands.

Who Believes In Santa Claus?

Well, most of us do. That is to say, we believe that at Christmas time children should be given very special consideration, and we tell the littlest ones the legend which is based—sometimes very remotely—on a story about St. Nicholas, the archbishop Myra, whose true history is virtually unknown. But not all of us become unreasonable if it is suggested that the legend is, after all, a legend, and that there is no real, corporeal, supernaturally gifted old gentleman called Santa Claus. There are people who do so, however; there are plenty of them in Canada, and they are still execrating that very remarkable Canadian, Dr. Brock Chisholm, because he once suggested that pious lying to children might not be good for them. And there are such people in Australia, where, in the city of Sydney, a kindergarten teacher is in trouble because she suggested, in a broadcast, that Santa Claus is a legend. Irate parents are endangering their health in the heat of an Australian Christmas by protesting angrily against such remarks.

Let us be calm on this subject, if we can. Who believes that there is a real, living old party who climbs down the chimneys of the world on Christmas eve, and leaves presents for little boys and girls? Very small children believe it, but how many normally intelligent children of school age believe it? For a time they live in a half-world of belief; they suspect that their parents are at the bottom of the Santa Claus business, but they are not utterly without belief in the supernatural figure. They might be called agnostics in the matter. By the time they are seven or eight many of them are pretending to believe in order to amuse their parents, some of whom like this sort of deceit. Sensible parents, however, do not encourage children to pretend to believe things which they know to be untrue.

Happy children pass from believing that Santa Claus is a real person to the knowledge that he is a symbol of their parents' love, without suffering disillusionment and misery. The people who appear to want to keep children firm in their belief in a real Santa Claus until they are sixteen or so should get acquainted with a few children, who are much quicker in the wit than many adults believe. The legend of St. Nicholas is one of the most charming we have; Santa Claus is his somewhat clownish shadow. And the value of legends is that they embody great truths—not that they are literally true themselves.

NOTES AND COMMENT

Things are tough all over: now that people are eating so much horsemeat, there is a shortage of food for ranch mink.

Building nails are scarce again, but we are informed that there is no basis for the rumour that many new houses are being put together with dressmaker's pins and spit.

The Fort William Times says that what the country needs is a house that will outlast the mortgage. Funny that there has been no decline in the quality of the materials that go into those mortgages.

Communists have closed the business premises of Aw Boon Haw, the millionaire maker of a popular Oriental medicine called Tiger Balm. We'd like to know what there is that's balmy about a tiger?

Wilson of Bumpus

PROFILE OF A BOOKSELLER

AT this time of the year, with Christmas shopping at its height, many think particularly of books and the booksellers, and none of that profession will grudge a special thought for a senior member and elder statesman of its craft, John Wilson, managing director of the historic (London) house of Bumpus. He has been in the bookselling business for sixty-two years and, since he is now seventy-five, it is easy to calculate that he made an early start.

Both heredity and inclination dictated a life among literature. His father was a Glasgow book-binder, his mother a book-folder, and he was apprenticed, on leaving school at twelve and a half, to John Smith and Son, a firm of Glasgow booksellers which was established in 1750 and is still flourishing. The grandson of Mr. Wilson's first employer was his apprentice in London.

AS a boy he first earned four shillings a week; one of his jobs was to carry round books to the Select Library subscribers, who then got delivery for their money. So he saw a lot of books and snatched the chances to read a lot, including "Tess of the D'Urbervilles" in its first appearance in three volumes. Occasionally he saved sixpence to be a customer on his own account.

It was a lively Glasgow in which he grew up, with plenty of encouraging company. John Buchan, who was a student at Glasgow University, a young man of such reading and accomplishment that he made his professors almost nervous of instructing him, became Wilson's life-long friend; Neil Munro, the editor of "The Glasgow Evening News" as well as the successor of Stevenson in story-telling of the Highlands, was another of his special companions and enlisted him to write a column for the "News" called "In the Bookshop." This he kept going for twelve years, continuing when Wilson had gone off to London.

THAT journey was made in 1908. He had two days with the publishing house of Constable and then he joined the firm of Jones & Evans, booksellers in the City. That was a remarkable house since F. H. Evans, who ran it, regarded bookselling as a friendly craft and made his shop almost a club. Here young authors or intending authors working their days at a City desk were welcome to drop in for a social hour. His visitors included John Masefield, Edward Thomas, A. B. Walkley, St. John Ervine, Walter Emanuel, Edward Garnett, and many of the Georgian poets.

Wilson has always followed Evans in believing that bookselling is not just retail trade: it is a comprehensive service, an exchange of life's good things, in which the author, reader, publisher and shopkeeper are necessary partners. He maintained this tradition when he went to manage the Bumpus shop in Oxford Street, then owned by Debenhams. (From 1916 to 1919 he was a soldier, serving in France and Italy and gaining the Meritorious Service Medal.) He edited "The Odd Volume," a yearly after the style of "Printers' Pie," during six years; this was published in aid of The National Book Trade provident Society, celebrating its Jubilee next January.

THE premises to which he came were the fine old Watch House at the corner of Marylebone Lane and Oxford Street; to this he added a lecture hall and display room wherein he staged many notable book exhibitions. This kind of work has now been taken over by the National Book League. Wilson was especially proud of his Lewis Carroll Centenary Exhibition and no less happy in the visitors who frequently dropped in to talk books as well as buy them. They included Lord Oxford, Augustine, Birrell, Granville Barker, Lord Horder, Elizabeth Haldane, Margot Asquith, Sir James Barrie, Lawrence of Arabia, G.B.S. and Mrs. Shaw, and many another. Close to the street of the great medical consultants, Wilson became the leading book consultant of his day, with no fees charged. Of all this visiting company he was especially struck by Lawrence, not just as an author but because of his quick, intuitive comprehension of anything under discussion. Barrie had his surprises; one was his queer method of reading: books were strewn over the floor of his Adelphi flat and he would read them lying flat on the floor.

A break came in 1935 when the Marylebone Council determined, with the agreement of Debenhams, to get rid of the Watch House as an obstruction. Wilson was not going to be pushed into inferior and less visible premises and determined to re-establish the house of Bumpus on his own, since there were none of that family left in the business. He was helped with capital by his friends, and the result is the present shop further west across Oxford Street, where Wilson, to whom years are nothing and the job is all, works every day till 7.30, before retiring to Pinner—and more books.

An American would call him the Dean of his profession. His own country has honoured him with a C.B.E. His service to his profession has included a Chairmanship of its Education Board. It is vitally important that young booksellers should have the background of their business as well as the immediate technique of salesmanship. They cannot give the proper service due to intelligent customers or inquiring novices in book purchase unless they have the knowledge of literature and of the best books on a host of subjects. Hence the training syllabus of night classes, and Correspondence Courses, leading to a Diploma in Book Selling, which Wilson and his colleagues have made so successful.

IS there a Book Crisis? Wilson's sixty-two years' experience remind him that there always was a Book Crisis: probably there always will be. Any store which makes its chief money by selling all manner of other things will be able to run a cut-price book counter of popular attractions, not bothering whether it pays but using it as a magnet to get customers into the main shop. That will make unfair and overwhelming competition for the man who carries a good stock of serious books of all kinds. If he loses the easily saleable lines, he cannot bear the burden of the "difficult" books for which there are only occasional customers, the best kind of customers, the true book lovers.

✧ ✧ ✧

THE whole standard of book production has, in his opinion, enormously improved. The influence of the private presses, the Kelmscott of Morris, the Doves of Cobden-Sanderson, the Nonesuch of Meynell, the Gregynog in Wales and several others, has reached far beyond their own limited editions and has healthily affected the standards of large-scale printing in general.

He has never feared the cheap book because of its smaller returns on each copy sold. If bookselling be a general contribution to intelligent living, then the service of the student's or the poor man's shelf is a precious part of it. He believes that Dent's Everyman Library, which began at a shilling and is just about to reach its thousandth volume, the World Classics (O.U.P.) and the rest have been among the most valuable feats of British book enterprise and production, and he welcomed the sixpenny Penguins when others looked askance at them and thought they would be the ruin of the trade.

WILSON does criticize one or two things, the excessive output of contemporary publishing and the excessive speed of contemporary reading. He thinks there is too much gobbling of books, too little savouring and digesting. But he himself is a quick mover; otherwise he could never achieve his knowledge of modern authorship while conducting the management of a great business and keeping up with correspondents all over the world.

This feat is contrived in an office which is about the size of a large cupboard, stacked with books, and letters in a fine confusion, and warmed with affection for books themselves and all who share the devotion. So, with an astounding inability to seem tired, this master of craft faces the hub-bub and the pressure of yet another Christmas rush.

New Light on Lloyd-George

A Review of Dr. Thomas Jones' New "Life"

By Senator Rupert Davies

IT WAS a strange coincidence that while I was sitting by the fire the other evening thoroughly enjoying the concluding chapters of Dr. Thomas Jones' recently published Life of Lloyd-George, the telephone should ring and the author himself should be on the other end of it. He was visiting about fifteen miles away for a few days and would like to come over for a chat. Needless to say, I was delighted; and the next morning over a cup of coffee I was privileged to learn a great deal about the Little Welsh Wizard which for various reasons would not find its way into a biography. Few men are better qualified to write a life of Lloyd-George for, as a personal friend of many years' standing and secretary to the Cabinet under both Lloyd-George and Baldwin, "Tom" Jones (as he is familiarly know to most Welsh people) had opportunities for studying the man who led the British nation in the First Great War that were given to very few.

✧ ✧ ✧

THERE have been a number of Lives of Lloyd-George written; some fifteen are mentioned in the bibliography of Dr. Jones' book. The most important up to the publication of the present one was that of A. J. Sylvester who was principal private secretary to Lloyd-George from 1923 to 1945. The official biography, written with the collaboration of Frances, Countess Lloyd-George, was published in 1948, and we must assume it is the one favoured by the family. I have not read the latter, so am in no position to express an opinion upon it. Family-sponsored biographies, however, are not always satisfactory; they often give intimate glimpses which other writers are unable to show, but too often they forget the warts and give us only the bright side of everything.

✧ ✧ ✧

LLOYD-George was a great world figure, a man who came to the front to lead the British nation when they needed a genius and a fighter. He was both. He had his hours of greatness—and they were many; he had also his hours that were not so great — hours when he was at loggerheads with his own party, and hours when there was much criticism of the way he handled the large campaign fund which he had personally collected. Dr. Jones has given us a record of these hours without fear, without favour, but with a kindly pen. The author has not failed to point out Lloyd-George's weaknesses, as well as his strength, but running throughout the book is a sincere admiration for the man, whether he was leading the nation in a world war or leading a gradually dwindling opposition in Parliament.

✧ ✧ ✧

WHENEVER I read anything about Lloyd-George or start to write anything about him, my mind goes back to conversations I heard as a small boy in my home in Wales. That is only natural, for my grandfather, my father and my uncles were all heart and soul in the Welsh revolt of the 80's and 90's, and Tom Ellis, Lloyd-George, Stuart Rendel, Frank Edwards, Osborne Morgan, David Davies, Herbert Lewis and Ellis Jones-Griffiths were all familiar names to me when I was very young. Dr. Jones (page 11) refers to the nomination for Parliament of Tom Ellis in 1886. This was the first blow in a peaceful revolt which resulted some years later in electing about thirty Liberals from the thirty-two ridings of Wales, and eventually brought about Welsh Disestablishment, the Welsh Intermediate School Act and the Welsh Land Act. I have always been proud that an uncle of mine stood side by side with Lloyd-George on that platform in Merioneth on nomination day, and supported the candidature of young Tom Ellis with a vigorous, fighting speech. In after years it was my great privilege to meet Mr. Lloyd-George on several occasions, the most intimate being at a dinner given some years ago by Lord Beaverbrook when Dame Frances Lloyd-George was my dinner partner. My warmest memory of the great man, however, was his appearance on the platform at the Chairing of the Bard at the Welsh National Eisteddfod held at Machynlleth in 1938; the highlight of that great day was the speech delivered in Welsh by Lloyd-George. There were 10,000 people packed into the pavilion. Ninety per cent. of them were Welsh-speaking. Lloyd-George roused them to tremendous heights of enthusiasm, and when he sat down the whole gathering stood and cheered wildly for several minutes. It was a wonderful demonstration of the hold which Lloyd-George had upon his own people.

✧ ✧ ✧

LLOYD-George was born of humble parents. As he himself said, he had to make his own way. But from the day he took his seat in Parliament on April 17th, 1890, Lloyd-George was known as a fighter, and he soon became known as an orator also. He championed the causes of the workers and the poorer classes. He never lost his sympathy for these people, and according to Dr. Jones, the drawing-rooms of London society had little charms for him even when he was much in demand.

✧ ✧ ✧

DR. JONES devotes chapters to the trouble which arose in the Cabinet in the early years of the war. Lloyd-George and Bonar Law were both very dissatisfield with Mr. Asquith's direction of the war. Kitchener proved to be unequal to the tremendous task confronting him, and was too secretive about the situation. Asquith was not aggressive enough; he adopted a lackadaisical attitude which irked many of his warmest friends and admirers. Asquith did not like Lloyd-George, nor did he trust him; he thought the fighting Welshman was trying to push him out so that he could take his place. On the other hand, Lloyd-George had a great admiration for Asquith's ability, but he felt he was not prosecuting the war firmly enough. The story of this Cabinet crisis has been told by Lloyd-George in the second volume of his Memoirs; it has been told by Lord Beaverbrook in his "Politicians and the War"; it has been told in Lord Riddell's Diary; it has again been told by Dr. Jones. To discuss the row between Asquith and Lloyd-George, to quote from the correspondence that passed between them, and to weigh the rights and the wrongs of the disagreement would take much more space than I have at my disposal. Suffice it to say Lloyd-George was a man full of dynamic energy and with the courage of action. The country needed such a man. When he became Prime Minister he brought to the cause those qualities needed to insure victory, and the winning of the war owed much to the qualities which he had in such great measure. The effect of the estrangement of Asquith and Lloyd-George on the fortunes of the British Liberal party was sad indeed. It had much to do with the fall of this once-mighty political party.

✧ ✧ ✧

AS a public speaker Lloyd-George was a tremendous force. Dr. Jones says that many of his speeches were carefully prepared. In that he was like his friend Winston Churchill. But he also could make telling speeches without any preparation and without any other aid than a well-stored mind and a conviction that his cause was just. He was a phrase-maker. He could slay the enemy right and left when necessary. Dr. Jones says the same phrase could be applied to Lloyd-George that he, himself, once applied to Churchill: "Whether the Right Honourable gentleman is fighting for the Crescent or the Cross, he never appears in a white sheet. He always appears in full panoply."

LORD OXFORD (Asquith) accused Lloyd-George of disloyalty to his country because of some articles Lloyd-George had contributed to the American press at the time of the General Strike in 1926. Lloyd-George made a conciliatory reply in a letter to The Times, rebutted the accusations and offered to meet his colleagues and discuss their differences. Lord Frey and Sir John Simon, formerly members of Lloyd-George's cabinet, published another letter in The Times, associating themselves with Lord Oxford in his strictures on Lloyd-George. Dr. Jones says:

"These rebukes were to Lloyd-George like the blast of a trumpet in the ears of a knight of old. He galloped into the lists and . . . smote them hip and thigh. He recalled that Sir John Simon had recently heaped fulsome praise upon him, and quoted from the Manchester Guardian: 'If at any time my Right Honourable friend is tempted to repine because he is the target of criticism I think he will always be able to console himself by the reflection that nearly everyone who is criticising him to-day has thanked God for him at some other time.' Lloyd-George commented: 'He was one of those who thanked God for me then. He now says that he misled the Deity on that occasion.'"

✧ ✧ ✧

DR. JONES deals with some very interesting features of Lloyd-George's life. He shirks nothing of importance. Referring to what came to be known as "The Honours Scandal", he points out that the feeling that honours were being bought became so disturbing that it was debated in the House of Lords. The attack came to a head over the Birthday Honours of 1922, when the Conservative party complained of the inclusion in their list of members of their own party of whom they knew nothing until the Honours appeared in The Times. It was brought out that during Lloyd-George's Premiership there were far too many honours given to businessmen and newspaper proprietors. In these years Business accounted for twenty-six peerages, one hundred and thirty baronetcies and four hundred and eighty-one knighthoods. The Press received five peerages, five baronetcies and thirty-seven knighthoods. There was a great outcry, but Lloyd-George defended himself strongly, pointing out that Pitt had created one hundred and forty Peers when Prime Minister, the vast majority "men of no real distinction". Asquith described the outcry against contributing to party funds as "vulgar claptrap". What did Lloyd-George the most harm, says Dr. Jones, was the reputation of some of the go-betweens who acted as links between the chief whip and persons seeking honours.

✧ ✧ ✧

LLOYD-George led the Conservative party until 1922. By this time the Conservatives, who had by far the largest group, had grown tired of being led in peace times by a Liberal. The meeting at the Carlton Club is ancient history now. Lloyd-George resigned, Bonar Law became Premier, and the great war leader left 10 Downing Street for the last time. The following months made British political history. Bonar Law was a very sick man when he took on the Premiership; he lasted only a few months. It was well-known that the man most entitled to succeed him was Lord Curzon, a former Foreign Secretary and a Viceroy of India. He was a very brilliant man. His claims were admittedly beyond question, but there was a fear on the part of the leaders of the party that to place a man "of his particular kind of genius" at the head of affairs was too great a price to pay. Stanley Baldwin, an unknown quantity, was sent for by the King and asked to form a government. The shock to Lord Curzon was very severe. It is reported by J. A. Spender in his "Great Britain, 1886-1935" that when the King's secretary communicated to him in a painful interview that the King had decided to send for Baldwin, Curzon was stunned and dazed. He showed the stuff he was made of when he offered to serve under Baldwin, but one wonders whether the great disappointment did not hasten his death. In three years he was no more. How often have great men succumbed to such blows to their ambitions.

✧ ✧ ✧

LLOYD-George again identified himself with the Liberal party, and threw himself wholeheartedly into election campaigning, but the party had already started to go downhill. In the 1924 election the Liberal group of one hundred and fifty-eight was reduced to forty-two, while the Conservatives increased their numbers from two hundred and [illegible]ight to four hundred and fifteen. Baldwin was never looked upon as a brilliant man, but the people trusted him. Lloyd-George threw himself into the 1929 election with all his old-time vigour. He had, during the past five years, issued several pamphlets, the latest, "We Can Conquer Unemployment", having a marked effect. Lloyd-George expected great things from this election: he thought he would lead the Liberals back to power. But he was doomed to keen disappointment. The result was: Labour, 289; Conservatives, 260; Liberals, 58.

✧ ✧ ✧

FROM then on, Lloyd-George became an elder statesman. He wrote his Memoirs, he farmed at Churt, he attended the House of Commons and sat on the front Opposition bench, but his days of power and glory were over. He refused to enter Churchill's War Cabinet because, he said, it would not be a War Cabinet but a Churchill Cabinet. That attitude recalls Sir Wilfred Laurier's refusal to enter Sir Robert Borden's Union Government in 1917, because the policy of the Government on conscription was already decided upon.

✧ ✧ ✧

DR. JONES' book is a valuable contribution to those which have been published about Lloyd George and his times. It is well written and holds the interest from start to finish. Lloyd-George was a genius and had many of the good and some of the bad characteristics of brilliant men of that kind. He had his admirers by the million all over the world. He had his critics. Some were fair and generous; others were mean and picayune. Lloyd-George suffered as all men suffer who climb to the top—from the jealousy of the less gifted and the less successful. He is reputed to have once said: "It is very cold at the top." Most men who reach high places find it so. Lloyd-George served his country well, and his name will be listed with the great men of history long after his critics and traducers are forgotten.

Bible Message

(From the Authorized Version)

Hear ye the word of the Lord, O house of Jacob, and all the families of the house of Israel: thus saith the Lord, What iniquity have your fathers found in me, that they are gone from me, and have walked after vanity, and are become vain? Hath a nation changed their gods, which are yet no gods? but my people have changed their glory for that which doth not profit. . . For my people have committed two evils; they have forsaken me the fountain of living waters, and hewed them out cisterns, broken cisterns, that can hold no water.

As the thief is ashamed when he is found, so is the house of Israel ashamed; they, their kings, their princes, and their priests, and their prophets, saying to a stock, Thou art my father; and to a stone, Thou hast brought me forth: for they have turned their back unto me, and not their face: but in the time of their trouble they will say, Arise, and save us. (Jer. 2: 4, 5, 11, 13, 26, 27.)

✧ ✧ ✧

Beware lest any man spoil you through philiosophy and vain deceit, after the tradition of men, after the rudiments of the world, and not after Christ. (Col. 2: 8.)

The Real McCoy

(The Brandon Sun)

In the city of Cleveland, Ohio, an unusual court decision has been rendered involving the "Real McCoy." It seems Mr. and Mrs. George McCoy are in the furniture business in Cleveland. They are not related to Leo McCoy, also doing business in Cleveland, who bills himself on his stationery, business cards and telephone listing as "the Real McCoy." The plaintiffs charged the accused with implying they were not real McCoys.

Judge Hoover, who presided at the trial, went into a longish discussion on the origin of the phrase, and finally gave the opinion that it was doubtful whether there was a living McCoy who had not on some occasion referred to himself as "the Real McCoy," and when he did so, the judge added, he did not mean that all other McCoys were spurious. He held that both McCoys in the suit were "Real McCoys," and denied the plaintiff's petition for injunctive relief.

BILLS PAYABLE

Some of these Missouri fellows are cautious. Consider the following "for instance."

"Exciting things are always happening to my friend Walter," a whimsical St. Louis journalist reported recently. "The other day he was sending a suit to the cleaners when he felt in the pocket of the coat and discovered $100 in bills."

"Gosh!" rejoined an excited listener. "That was quite an experience!"

"Yes, it was," the newspaper man agreed, "and do you know, not one of them was receipted!"

Young Indicted For Perjury In US

WASHINGTON, Dec. 20 (AP) —E. Merl Young, husband of the former White House stenographer with a $9,450 mink coat, was indicted for perjury Wednesday in the aftermath of a sensational investigation of influence peddling at the Reconstruction Finance Corporation.

Three others who figured prominently in the Senate inquiry were also indicted for perjury.

Young, a one-time $25-a-week messenger who rose swiftly to affluence and enjoyed an entree to the White House, was accused of lying under oath twice to the Senate investigators and once to the grand jury.

Herschel Young, his brother, was charged with five counts of perjury, all involving his grand jury testimony.

Joseph H. Rosenbaum, a Washington lawyer with a successful record of obtaining RFC loans for his clients, was indicted on six counts. The charges involved statements he made at the Senate hearing.

Robert W. Dudley was charged with one count of lying under oath before the grand jury. Dudley has been associated with Rosenbaum's law firm.

When it was disclosed that Merl Youngs wife, Lauretta, had received the mink, Rosenbaum testified that he paid for the luxurious garment in a transaction which both he and Young described as a loan. The Senators' interest in the coat turned on the question of whether it was a payment to Young for his influence on RFC lending. Young and Rosenbaum denied it was.

Village Threatened

PAU, France, Dec. 20 (Reuters) —A vast cloud of explosive oil gas, pinned to ground-level by fog, crept down the hills into Pyrenean villages on Wednesday night. A police warning said that the slightest spark could ignite the gas. All transport was halted. A derrick in a nearby oil town broke down causing the pressured oil gas to spurt free.

Frost Opens Building

WHITBY, Dec. 20 — (CP). — Premier Frost Wednesday opened the new 200-bed Fairview Lodge on the outskirts of this Ontario County town. The $825,000 structure replaces the Ontario County Home for the Aged. The lodge is a one-storey building, steam-heated, it has lounges, hobby rooms and a modern hospital section for bedridden patients. No more than four residents share any one of the bedrooms.

Lineman Dies

OTTAWA, Dec. 20 (CP)—John Kelly, 36, one of two Ontario Hydro Electric Commission linemen who were critically injured Monday night when they fell down an elevator shaft in an RCASC mess, died in hospital Wednesday. It was believed Kelly and Hugh Alexander, 38, were looking for the washroom when they found the elevator doors.

Equipment Damaged

SARNIA, Dec. 20 — (CP). — Several thousand dollars damage to electrical equipment and cable resulted Wednesday when flames gutted a Canadian Comstock Co. warehouse. While no accurate estimate of damage could be obtained Wednesday night, it was understood electrical equipment in the warehouse was valued at more than $25,000.

Lifeguards On Duty

TORONTO, Dec. 20 (CP). — Lifeguards will be on duty here all through the winter. The Toronto Board of Control today approved a request to provide lifeguard service at Grenadier Pond in Westend High Park. The pond and nearby hills are used by skaters, skiers, and sleigh riders.

Land Safely

OAKLAND, Calif., Dec. 20 — A Marine Corps transport plane carrying 31 persons landed at Moffatt Field near here safely on Wednesday after a propellor on one of its four engines went out of service 90 miles off the California coast. The DC-4, flying on three engines under emergency escort, landed without mishap.

Beauty Salons Being Advocated By Patricia Stenz For Men

By BOB THOMAS.

HOLLYWOOD, Dec. 20 (AP).— "Say, George, that permanent looks simply grand on you. Where did you get it done?"

"Why, thank you, Herbert. I got it at Pierre's Salon for Men. You should try him; he's grand for facials."

That's the sort of conversation you'd be hearing on the bus, if Patricia Stenz had her way. She's advocating beauty parlors for men.

"Why shouldn't men look their best?" inquired Miss Stenz. "Why should women have a monopoly on making an effort to improve their appearance? There are simple things that men could do to make themselves look better, and still not detract from their manliness.

"For instance many men have eyebrows and eyelashes that are too light to be seen. The application of a little eyebrow pencil would give their faces a great deal of character and handsomeness. I do it for many of them who come to my shop, and they don't mind it at all."

Get Out The Beauty Kit

She added that many men would be more attractive with a different shade of hair. In fact, some of them have been using the home-dye kits now on the market. On the sly, of course.

Miss Stenz said that a prime function of male beauty parlors would be to show men how to style their hair. She argued that improper styling was a major cause of baldness.

Miss Stenz sighed that male beauty parlors might be impractical, since men wouldn't want to be seen entering them. Then how about harking back to prohibition days? There could be "beauty-easies."

Just knock twice and ask for Francois.

Oddfellows Trim Kingston By An 11 To 3 Count In Smart Junior Showing

Johnny Godfrey's battling Oddfellows defeated Kingston Vics 11-3 Wednesday night at Civic Arena in a very fast junior OHA fixture and served notice thereby to the other teams in the loop they are definitely on the up-grade, after a few early season defeats by close scores. Cold weather held the crowd to a minimum but those in attendance witnessed a spirited struggle that saw the locals play smart hockey from bell to bell to yank out a convincing win over the Limestone City crew.

The Godfrey gang outplayed and outscored Art Jackson's men in all three frames by a comfortable margin and the issue was never in doubt after Bill Stewart tallied near the three-quarter mark in the first. Clare Ferguson potted two and Bill Twist one to give Oddfellows a 4-1 margin in the hectic period. Links were flying all the way.

Kingston opened the scoring in the first when John Redmond flicked a short low one past Wasson from a scramble at the seven-minute mark as play started very fast both ways, on keen ice. Oddfellows flew back hard but found no reward until 13:25 when Stewart blasted a left-wing drive past Gourdier with Maurice Chevrefils and Doug Mulholland serving time; Red Robinson set up the tall winger. Following up their success, Links stormed around the Kingston cage and less than a minute later, Ferguson sank a beauty from the right crease when Ab Buckton and Red Robinson fed him a perfect pass. Vics attacked strongly too, but found Red Wasson in top form to turn aside hot drives from all directions. Bill Twist rifled a long left-wing drive to the right corner near period's end that beat Bill Gourdier all the way.

Bang In Four

Oddfellows scoring power showed in exactly the same ration in the mid-frame as Vics opened with a tally by Montgomery from Tozer on a nice play; but the homesters sped back on the attack to again sink four markers past the bewildered Kingston custodian though he turned many hard ones aside, as well. Clare Ferguson twice again, Floyd and Heffernan were the marksmen. Play roughed up somewhat as the tempo increased in a hot stanza of play with six penalties meted out by referee Calhoun, four to Links, who undoubtedly held a good edge in play, despite the miscues.

The third found Kingston battling desperately to hold the rampaging Godfreyites but the win-hungry victors added three more to their total when Ab Buckton and Stewart twice tallied to wind up the high-scoring fray. Don Senior accounted for the lone Vic marker near the three-quarter mark on a low driver under Wasson's legs. Eight penalties marred the rugged final chapter, including a major and misconduct to Stan Tozer for some attempted fisticuffing and back talk.

For Oddfellows, the entire team shone to a man in a fine showing. Defensively the Links gave an artistic display, both the forward lines and defencemen.

The work of Don Bigford, Jack Kimball, Don Clapper and Roger Wilson on defence was pleasing to watch. Up front, Clare Ferguson tallied four goals and drew an assist; Bill Stewart scored three brilliant markers; Ab Buckton, Bill Twist, Kevin Heffernan and Ken Floyd potted the others while Red Robinson drew four assists. But every man deserved credit in a fine showing. Ken Floyd had the misfortune to suffer a fractured wrist late in the third period in an unfortunate collision with Ed Birchall.

Kingston — Goal, Gourdier; defence, Montgomery and Birchall; centre, Senior; wings, Reid and Vallier; alternates, Chevrefils, Tozer, Mulholland, Redmond, Roy, P. Hegarty, Gerow Reynolds.

IOOF — Goal, Wasson; defence, Clapper and Wilson; centre, Robinson; wings, Buckton and Ferguson; alternates, Heffernan, Coyle, Twist, Floyd, Stewart, Sullivan, Bigford, Kimball.

Referee—J. Calhoun.
Linesman—Bun Kingdon.

Betting Booms At US Tracks

NEW YORK, Dec. 20 (AP). — Attendance and betting at United States thoroughbred racing tracks boomed during the 1951 season, and revenue to the 24 States where pari-mutuel wagering is legal hit an all-time peak of $99,927,423.

The annual Associated Press survey of the sport of kings today showed the States had received 17.63 per cent more revenue than in 1950 when the total from running tracks was $84,909,382.

Betting was up 17.01 per cent from last year, while attendance gained 6.01 per cent, in unofficial reports from the racing commissions. Betting was up in every one of the 24 States, as compared with 1950.

How much the government crackdown on bookmaking affected the increased business at the tracks still is uncertain, but several States including New York, Louisiana, and New Jersey reported this definitely was a factor.

This year, 24,302,020 customers shoved $1,629,239,777 through the mutuel windows, compared with $1,302,032,740 a year ago. Attendance in 1950 was 22,924,517. This was racing's third best betting year. Tops was 1946, with $1,830,287,455. In 1947 it was $1,680,815,373.

New York, which reported a 12 per cent increase in both betting and revenue to the State, again topped the list of States. A total of $345,292,092 was wagered at Belmont Park, Saratoga, Jamaica and Aqueduct. Attendance for the season was 4,386,315, and the State received $22,853,393.

Welterweight champion Fritzie Zivic and lightweight Champion Lew Jenkins fought a sizzling 10-round draw in New York 11 years ago tonight. Jenkins, despite the disadvantage in weight, built up a lead in the early rounds but Zivic rallied strongly to gain a draw.

Hawks Defeat The Petes To Tie On Top

BELLEVILLE, Dec. 20.—Spotting the league-leading Peterborough Petes four goals in the first 12 minutes, Belleville Hawks blazed a thrilling 59-minute sustained offensive that netted them nine goals to take a well deserved 9-4 victory in a senior "B" game here last night. The win hoists the Hawks into a two-way tie with the Petes for the group leadership. Kingston's 8-6 defeat of the Eagles last night puts the eastern squad two points behind the leaders with the Eagles bringing up the rear.

The Hawks staged a spectacular comeback after the Petes scored three goals in exactly one minute and 17 seconds in the first period and added another three minutes later. It looked like a route with the disorganized Hawks failing to stem the Petes effective passing attacks.

Stunned by the sudden onslaught, the Hawks roared back to cut the margin to 4-2 at the period end. They took over in the second, outplaying the visitors with a speedy hard-checking game that netted them four goals, and continued the fast pace in the third period with another trio while holding the Petes scoreless.

Jackie Wardhaugh speedy Hawk winger was injured late in the third period when he crashed into a goal post, and was carried off the ice.

A Fast Fray

The game after a cautious first six minutes developed into a fast hard-checking battle with Referee Art Casterton handing out 10 penalties, six going to the Hawks. MacDonald and Horton staged a mild rhubarb in the third period that got them majors, but the rest were minors.

The Petes took quick advantage of a penalty to Peter Jones after seven minutes of play and E. Leonard drove home Dugan's pass to open scoring. The Hawks' defence failed to solve the speedy Petes' passing plays and in less than a minute Mortimer made it two, and on the second play the same player beat Lefort for the third goal in 77 seconds. Garvey raced in two minutes later and scored to make the count 4-0 and it looked like a rout for the homesters.

The four goal setback apparently stung the Hawks to action. They piled in to the attack and Jones and Moher scored two quick goals to cut the margin.

The crowd of 892 stood on its feet as the Hawks flew to the assault and Bastedo and Goyer scored to tie the count. Semark drove the puck from 10 feet outside the Petes' blueline to score behind a surprised Harding and give the Hawks the lead for the first time. They dominated the play and MacDonald scored the fourth Hawk marker with seconds to go

Led The Way

Vern Goyer lead the Hawks to victory in the third period with the seventh goal in a row a minute after play started. The Petes drove in desperately and Lefort made some neat saves but the flying Hawks were not to be denied. They checked hard and swept back on the offensive. Barrett teamed with Moher and Reeves for their eighth goal and Wardhaugh scored the final counter with a minute to go.

The entire Hawk team played heads-up hockey after the first 10 minutes, with 12 of them adding to their point scores. Vern Goyer led the snipers, with two goals with Jones, Moher, MacDonald, Bastedo, Semark, Barrett and Wardhaugh getting the rest. Mortimer paced the Petes snipers with a pair with E. Leonard and Garvey getting the other two.

The teams:

Peterborough—Goal, Harding; defence, Wade, Horton; centre, Dugan wings, Fryia, Mason; subs, G. Leogard, West, Mortimer, Jopling, E. Leohard, Collins, Garvey, Floyd.

Belleville Hawks—Goal, Lefort; defence, Semark, Bastedo; centre, V. Goyer wings, Macdonald, Moher; subs, Jones, Desjardins, Barrett, Wardhaugh, Reeves, Day, Doran.

Referee—Art Casterton, Kingston; linesman, Tim Williams, Belleville.

Warsaw Victors

WARSAW, Dec 20—(ENS)—Warsaw Flyers took a 9-5 exhibition hockey win over the Bailieboro-Millbrook Combines yesterday here. L. Lonsberry tallied two, S. Lonsberry one and Paterson one in the first frame for the homesters, W. Batten, M. Batten and E. Payne having an assist each. Watts counted one in the second heat for Warsaw, as L. Lonsberry got two, S. Lonsberry one and Paterson one in the third, an assist each going to Clements, Paterson, W. Batten and S. Lonsberry. In the second, McDowell, Halstead and Sidey scored for Combines, and in the third McDowell and Grey tallied. Teams:

Combines — Hubbard, Greer, Agnew, McDowell, A. Hutchison, E. Hutchison, Johnston, Grey, Adams, Sidey, Rutherford, Cook, Fallis, Johnston, Halstead.

Warsaw: Crowe, Clements, M. Batten, L. Lonsberry, Evans, W. Batten, Paterson, R. Payne, S. Lonsberry, E. Payne, Eadie, Watts, McMillan.

MULTIPLE MANIPULATION—Wally Osterkorn of the Syracuse Nationals appears to have four arms as a defender fails to keep the former Illinois star from going up for a lay-up.

SPORTS SHOW WINDOW

By CEC. PERDUE, Sports Editor

You might wonder what makes big, educated—many are college men—young fellows tour around the States and Canada wrestling two or three times a week. Well, the pay is good. The heavyweights make from $12,000 a year up, some of the better ones averaging up to $20,000. As topnotchers like Whipper Bill Watson get around $30,000 or better. So, don't feel sorry for them. They also take several weeks' holiday in the summer and at least two weeks at Christmas. That's why there are no pro mat shows listed for here the next few weeks. Yes, we get that high-paid talent, the same guys that grapple in Toronto, etc.

* * * * * *

Look at tonight's mat card in Maple Leaf Gardens. Pat Flanagan, usually a prelim or semi-finalist here, is in one feature bout with the Great Togo. Another top bout has a team match with Whipper and Tim Geohagen going against Lord Athol Layton and the former Zebra, all of whom have shown here. Top USA ring attractions like Longson, Thesz, Lee, Talun and so forth, drop in here from time to time for a quick bout between bigger engagements. Also Yukon Eric, the Sharpe brothers at one time, and even the Jap touring wrestlers. Peterborough provides a convenient overnight stand and the pros do better than make expenses in their Brock Arena bouts, too.

* * * * * *

Hawks And The Eagles

Next OHA attraction at Civic Arena, and the last one before Christmas sets in, is tomorrow (Friday) night at 8:30. A senior "B" fixture featuring Belleville Hawks and the local Eagles. It should pack in a hefty weekend crowd, as shopping should be done by then and folks find they have a few shekels left over after the Big Drain. It's always a hot battle when the speedy boys of Bella Villa tee off 'gainst the scrappy men o' McGillis. Yeah, Ned will have them really hustling on home ice against the cock Hawks in this sizzling group race. It sure shapes up as a natural, eh?

* * * * * *

Eagles forced Kingston right to the wire in the Limestone City last p.m. but Tinkess tallied two late goals to give the K's an 8-6 senior "B" edge. A hardfought fixture with Eagles battling furiously throughout, especially in that hectic third heat, Payne clicking for a couple of counters to give the home fans the heeby-jeebies. A tough one for Ned Vitarelli's pack to drop, leaving them at the bottom of the pile, while Kingston are crowding the loop leaders aplenty now. A guy named Larmer proved poison to the visitors with a four-goal splurge in the middle heat, and McGregor, Murray and Ohlke were other hot numbers for the winners. Greenlaw, Wootton, Parnall and two by Payne were the Eagles' scores, Brabin having three assists. Play was rugged but generally clean.

* * * * * *

Early Lead Wiped Out

Belleville Hawks stopped the Petes' forward march in Bella Villa last e'en with a 9-4 application of brakes. Jim Ellis' outfit flew at the start to rack up an early 4-0 lead, but that was all for them. The Quinte crew started to roll in impressive fashion and didn't let up till the final gong. Got nine goals the rest of the route without a return, so they certainly deserved that win. Wardhaugh was hurt in a goal-post collision and may be sidelined for a spell for the Doran dudes, who now share top spot with Petes. A fairly clean, speedy contest, with one mild flurry of fists in the third chukker drawing major penalties for Horton and MacDonald. The Petes are idle now till the day after Christmas when they meet Hawks here.

* * * * * *

Overdue for a victory, the junior "B" Oddfellows really erupted here last gloaming to pound the luckless Kingston Vics into 11-3 submission. Luckless, we say, because they felt the full force of the IOOF anger at losing some toughies lately. No doubt about the better club last p.m. as the whole Godfrey gang turned in a swell effort. Ferguson scored four goals and helped on another, Robinson was in on four, Stewart tallied three, Buckton and Floyd figured in on two each, with single points going to Heffernan, Twist, Wilson and Sullivan. Yeah, the scoring was well spread around to indicate neat team-play. And the defensive work was okay, too, as well as the netminding. The lads have a tough task facing 'em on the morrow on Scugog ice, but they can win if they go as they did last night.

Scanning And Scalping

Bock's and Sunshine presently led the Men's Motor Bowling Loop. No word on men's basketball here this weekend. Cobourg has decided to remain in the lakeshore puck circuit. Lindsay juniors downed Belleville 10-7 at home the other eve. Warsaw beat the Bailieboro-Millbrook Combines 9-5. King Edward school hockeyists blanked Queen Alex 3-0. Central daubed Confederation 5-0. Six PMHA fixtures tonight at Civic Arena, starting at six o'clock. Ike Hildebrand of Cleveland in the AHL has tallied 22 points so far in 23 games. Cleveland are second to Pittsburg in the western section of that league, as Hershey heads Buffalo in the eastern group. Don Ashbee of Buffalo has scored but four points in 10 tussles. Senior "B" puck standing now, with each team having played 10 games, has Petes and Hawks atop with 12 points, Kingston with 10 and Eagles with six. It's a rough fall we've been having, winter not starting officially till Friday the 21st.

Here And There In Sports

By The Canadian Press

Jackie Robinson of Brooklyn and Willard Marshall of Boston fielded their way into the record books with brilliant 1951 performances at second base and in the outfield, according to official figures released Wednesday.

Sal Maglie of the Giants shared a perfect 1.000 record with 28 other moundsmen. The former Welland pitcher accepted the most chances of any hurler, 76.

Robinson shattered a National League fielding mark for second basemen when he posted a .992 percentage while playing 150 games. The 32-year-old defensive flash committed a record of only seven errors while accepting 832 chances. The old standard of .987 was set by Al (Red) Schoendienst of St. Louis. Oddly enough the Cardinal second sacker last season also bettered that figure with a .990 mark.

Marshall had a perfect season in right field, accepting 231 chances without an error. This tied the major league record held by Danny Litwhiler of the 1942 Phillies who went 151 games without an error. Marshall played 136 games last season.

At Cranston, RI, it cost Mrs. Dianne Bennett, wife of Harvey Bennett, goalie on the Providence Reds hockey team, $1 and costs Wednesday for having vented her feelings Oct. 23, 1949, by slapping a fan in the face.

Donald Kollett was given the $1 and costs verdict in court on Wednesday in his suit against Mrs. Bennett. Mrs. Bennett didn't deny slapping Kollett on the stairs at the Rhode Island Auditorium, but testified that he shoved her and had been making degratory remarks about her husband and the team.

Sports writers voting in the 16th anhual poll by the Turf and Sports Digest agreed with racing secretaries that Counterpoint was the best thoroughbred this year, but dissented when it came to the handicap leader. The sports writers favored Calumet Farm's Citation over Christopher Chenery's Hill Prince choice of 19 secretaries, among horses four years and older. Citation got 239 points to Hill Prince's 157.

Results of the poll of 145 sports writers announced by the racing magazine Wednesday at Baltimore resulted in another clear-cut decision for C. V. Whitney's Counterpoint as tops for 1951. He got 121 of the 145 votes as best horse of the year. Citation's eight votes were next highest.

Allan Stanley, 25-year-old defenceman, Wednesday night was named captain of New York Rangers. Stanley, a native of Timmins, who has played his four seasons in the National Hockey League with New York, succeeds Frank Eddolls, currently on loan from the Rangers to Saskatoon Quakers of the Pacific Coast League as playing coach.

At Miami Beach, Fla., Armand Savoie, 135½, Montreal, Wednesday night scored a unanimous decision over Sonny Luciano, 136, of Miami, in the main 10-round event at the auditorium. A crowd of 2,592 paid a gross gate or $7,010.

Johnny Riddle, 46, veteran of 24 years in baseball, has been signed as the second member of manager Eddie Stanky's coaching staff for 1952, Fred Saigh announced Wednesday at St. Louis. The first coach to be signed up under Stanky was the veteran Terry Moore.

Lindsay Kinsmen Down Hawks 10-7

LINDSAY, Dec. 20.—Lindsay Kinsmen strengthened their hold on first place in the OHA Central Ontario Junior "B" League, besting Belleville Black Hawks 10-7.

After Lindsay gained a 3-1 edge in the first, centreman Doug Powell started the nine-goal splurge in the second with two in eight seconds. Murray Macdonald and Ken Schinkel also shot a pair while Norm Dysart, Al Smith and Jack Marshall added singletons. Hank Therrien turned the hat trick for the losers while Hec Lalonde scored two and Ted Degray and Harry Brown one each.

Motor Bowling Loop

C. Riley and H. Gordon are tied with high single to date of 327 in the Men's Motor Bowling League, G. Caldwell being next with a 320. High three is 811 by N. Gordon, as C. Riley rolled 733 and R. Balaam 751. Bock's and Sunshine lead teams with 38 points each, followed by Irwin-Godson 33, Elliott & Browne 32, Lillico 21, Steinkrauss 18, Deeth & White 14 and Williamson 12.

High averages are: G. Caldwell 213, N. Gordon 207, H. Gordon 206, J. Legrow 206, L. Byrd 201, L. McIntosh 197, R. Dunlop 196, R. Balaam 194, E. Browne 193, T. Elliott 192. The league had its turkey roll with eight birds given out and cartons of cigarettes. Blind score was 586.

Eagles Edged By The K's In Hard Fray

KINGSTON, Dec. 20—Kingston SACs encountered stern opposition last night in the Community Memorial Centre but emerged victorious by 8 to 6 over the cellar-place Peterborough Eagles when Clint Tinkess soloed for two vital goals in the final period. The visitors had racked up four counters in succession to trail by only one counter before Tinkess settled the issue with one minute remaining to be played.

Most of the excitement was jammed into that final period when with the count favoring the locals by 7 to 2 the Eagles adopted the all-out attacking system and in slightly less than 10 minutes cut the deficit to one goal. Payne travelling in high gear scored at the 15.11 mark and duplicated the feat 45 seconds later to place the outcome in grave doubt. But systematic defensive play broke the rally and as added insurance Tinkess went in alone to clinch the verdict with time running out.

Larmer Hot

Two swift tallies by "Bud" Ohlke gave the locals an early lead in the opening period before Greenlaw, unassisted, made it a 2 to 1 affair. In the middle session Larmer of the SACs was a one-man riot when he notched four counters with George MacGregor drawing three assists and "Gabby" White one. Larmer's accurate marksmanship gave the Sacs a 4 to 1 advantage before Wootton replied for the Eagles only to have Larmer net two more at the 9.32 and 15.55 marks.

Eagles Fought

Five minutes and 19 seconds after the final period opened Tinkess made it 7 to 2, but suddenly the line was turned and the Eagles made their determined bid for victory. Parnell, aided by Payne and the tricky Brabin scored at 6:03. Fred Mortimer, with Greenlaw and Montgomery assisting, clicked at 13:20, and then only 44 second apart Payne beat goalkeeper Donnie Dougall.

The fans, who were not too numerous, absorbed plenty of thrills with both teams throwing caution to the winds and seeking that pay-off goal which came when Tinkess hit the webbing behind cageman Nichols at the 19-minute mark.

Larmer, with four goals paced the point-getters, but George MacGregor was in close attendance with three assists. Ohlke and Tinkess each racked up two counters, while Ron Murray provided as many assists. Brabin, with three assists, and Payne, with two goals and an assist, were the Eagles' most effective attackers.

The Eagles led in assists with eight against seven, but accurate marksmanship by Larmer and Tinkess made a world of difference.

Eagles — Goal, Nichols; defence, Munro and Montgomery; centre, Hill; wings, Fennell and Crowley; alternates, F. Mortimer, Greenlaw, Stewart, Payne, Parnall, Brabin, D. Mortimer and Wootton.

NY Rangers Do It Again Dump Habs By 4-2 Margin

By The Canadian Press

If the unpredictable New York Rangers can't get into the National Hockey League first division themselves they can at least spoil some of the other teams' chances of improving themselves. Wednesday night they were at it again, dropping Montreal Canadiens 4-2 in New York and pulling into a fifth-place deadlock with Chicago Black Hawks while holding the Habs in fourth spot, a point behind third-place Bruins.

Tied 1-1 at the end of the first period, the blueshirts took a 3-1 second session lead before going on to their 4-2 final.

Only one penalty was handed out in the exceptionally clean game. It went to the Rangers' Eddie Kullman in the first period.

Defenceman Allan Stanley celebrated his appointment as the Blues' captain with his team's first goal while Hi Buller, Wally Hergesheimer and Don Raleigh tallied the others. Bernie Geoffrion and Bert Olmstead scored the Montreal markers.

Brilliant Game

Rangers' beetle-browed goalie, Chuck Rayner, played a brilliant game in the New York nets despite an injured knee suffered in Saturday night's clash in Toronto. A goal-mouth scramble in that game twisted his leg and aggravated an old injury.

Rayner stopped 27 pucks while Montreal's Gerry McNeil batted aside 25 shots.

Two games are scheduled in the NHL tonight. Second place Toronto goes to Montreal while Detroit will play in Chicago.

Hockey's Big Seven

By The Canadian Press.

Ted Kennedy of Toronto, with 11 goals and 18 assists, continues to pace the National Hockey League's individual scoring department, Wednesday night's lone game between Montreal and New York failing to affect the top spot.

Sid Smith of Toronto holds down second spot with a 12-16 mark and third place is shared by Montreal's Maurice Richard and Elmer Lach who have a total of 27 points. Richard's 15 goals tops that section while Lach paces the play-makers with 21 assists.

Stratford Goalie Star Of Team

TORONTO, Dec. 20 (CP). — When Stratford Indians took to the warpath a few weeks ago and vaulted in front of the Ontario Hockey Association Senior A League, much of their success stemmed from the work of Mickey Roth.

Roth, piercing netminders' armor with amazing regularity, has opened an 11-point lead at the top of the scoring race.

Top scorer in the OHA major series last season, Roth leads in goals scored with 29. And he's second to linemate Dinny Flanagan in the assist department with 31. Flanagan has 34.

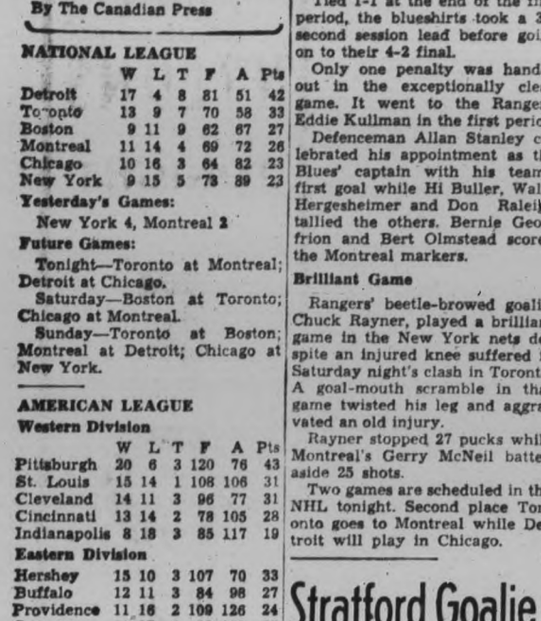
Flanagan and burly Ed Stankiewicz of Kitchener-Waterloo Dutchmen are tied for second place in total scoring, each with 49 points.

Statistics released Wednesday show that Bruce Dale has been another factor in Indians' surge. Dale leads the regular netminders with an average of 3.24.

Hornets, Cincinnati Play To 2-2 Deadlock

By The Canadian Press.

Pittsburgh Hornets further increased their lead atop the western division of the American Hockey League Wednesday night, playing to a 3-3 deadlock with Cincinnati Mohawks who rallied three times to gain the tie.



In the eastern division, Buffalo Bisons gained ground on the front-running Hershey Bears, downing St. Louis Flyers 8-5. In the only other game played, Syracuse Warriors shaded Cleveland Barons 3-2.

Last Night's Stars

By The Canadian Press.

Don Raleigh, New York, whose goal and assist paced the Rangers to a 4-2 decision over Montreal Canadiens.

Chuck Rayner, Rangers, whose brilliant goal-tending was a great help in the New York victory.

Marlboros Edge Galt Hawks 3-1 As Stratford Trips Redmen 5-1

By The Canadian Press.

The Ontario Hockey Association's four top junior A clubs clashed in a doubleheader at Maple Leaf Gardens Wednesday night, but the 10-team standings remained unchanged when the shooting was over.

Toronto Marlboros edged the fourth-place Galt Black Hawks 3-1 in the second game to hold on to their league lead while Guelph Biltmores downed Toronto St. Michael's 5-4 in the opener. Guelph clung to second place while St. Mike's remain in third.

In the only other Junior A game Wednesday night, Barrie Flyers moved into fifth place with a 9-3 win over the cellar-dwelling Windsor Spitfires.

Stratford Indians continued their winning ways atop the OHA Senior A league with a 5-1 victory over Brantford Redmen. Kitchener-Waterloo Dutchmen dumped Owen Sound Mercurys 6-2 in Kitchener and Hamilton Tigers continued their jinx over last place Sarnia Sailors with a 4-1 win.

Up north, Sault Ste. Marie Greyhounds dropped Sudbury Miners 6-1 at the Sault to lengthen their Northern Ontario Hockey Association Senior A lead.

Leads Guelph

Ken Laufman fired three goals to pace Guelph to their win over St. Mike's while Dean Prentice and Harry Howell added the others. Bill Dineen, with two, and Paul Knox and Jim Logan tallied for the Toronto college squad.

Ron Ingram, Wally Maxwell and Danny Poland gave Marlies their three goals before Jim McBurney scored Galt's lone goal.

At Windsor, Ron Stewart and Larry Thibeault paced the Barrie Flyers with two goals each. Ken Collins, Don McKenney, Dan MacDonald, Doug Mohns and Johnny Martan scored the others. Bill Zorica potted two for Windsor while Johnny Lumley got one.

Bill Walsh and Billy Flick scored twice for Stratford and Don Heinbuck got the other goal. Bill Simpell notched Brantford's lone counter.

Hamilton could ice only nine men in their game with Sarnia, but won 4-1 just the same. Polly Miocinovich scored twice for the winners, Frank Liscombe and Bud Tynes getting the others. Don Savage got the Sailors' lone goal.

At Kitchener, Scotty Mair tallied twice and Art Hurst, Jim Pernfuss, Ed Stankiewicz and Harry Psutka got the others for the Dutchmen. Tommy Burlington and Mike Bukacheski scored for the Mercurys.

SHALLOW SEA

The Baltic Sea is believed to have been entirely frozen over in only two winters on record, 1658 and 1809.

THE FELLOW with the woe-begone look above is Canadien's Ken Mosdell, who is seen after treatment for his dislocated shoulder at the Montreal Forum clinic. Moe suffered the hurt in last Sunday's game at Boston and will be lost to the club for an indefinite period. Mosdell, who pivots Habs' second line, was stepping in fine fashion until his Beantown bump.

Jockey 17 May Join Select Circle

MIAMI, Fla., Dec. 20 (AP). — At an age when most youngsters are worrying about their high school grades, 17-year-old Charlie Burr stands on the threshold of a spot reserved for notables of the saddle.

He is about to become the seventh jockey in racing history to ride 300 or more winners in a single season. He booted home No. 299 at Tropical Park Wednesday.

Charlie is a slender, black-haired lad whose experience with horses dates back to the day his father and grandmother gave him a pony for his sixth birthday.

His first introduction to thoroughbred racing after four years on the quarter-horse circuits was at Fairmount Park near St. Louis Sept. 9 1950. Sixteen hours after he arrived at the track he booted home his first mount. He won on his second mount, too, and finished second on the third.

After a turn at Beulah Park, he came to Florida for the season, and was the leading apprentice rider at Hialeah last winter.

Weight No Trouble

Charlie, who now weighs 100 pounds—two pounds more than last year—has broad shoulders and big, powerful hands—a decided asset. He has no trouble keeping his weight around 100 pounds and eats anything he wants preferably steaks.

Like all riders who started on quarter horses, Charlie knows that getting away from the gate is the first step to victory and most of his winners are front runners. Once up there, he exhibits a good judgment of pace, racing his mount along and always keeping him in contention—if the horse has it.

When Burr rides his 300th winner, which may come today or tomorrow at Tropical Park, he will join such jockeys as Joe Culmone and Willie Shoemaker, each of whom rode 388 last year; Walter Miller and Johnny Longden, the former coal miner, Taber, Alta., who accomplished the 300-feat twice; Vincent and Jack Westrope.

BIG STRIKE—Connie Powers uses bowling pins to write out the huge 987 series she rolled during the National All-Star Match Game Tourney at Chicago. The 39-year-old Detroit kegler banged out scores of 234, 247, 247 and 259, greatest four-game series in the classic's 11-year history.

Salvage German Ships

STOCKHOLM—(CP). — Three German troop-carrying s[illegible] which foundered in Swedish minefields in the Baltic on July 9, 1941, are to be salvaged. On striking mines the ships went down in a few minutes and some 20 men lost their lives.

Get New Pep, Vim, Vigor

What a thrill. Bony limbs fill out, ugly hollows fill up, neck no longer scrawny, body loses half-starved, sickly "bean-pole" look. Thousands of girls, women, men, who never could gain before, are now proud of shapely, healthy-looking bodies. They thank the special vigor-building, flesh-building tonic, Ostrex. 118 tonics, stimulants, invigorators, iron, vitamin B1, calcium, enrich blood, improve appetite and digestion so food gives you more strength and nourishment, put flesh on bare bones. Don't fear getting too fat. Stop when you've gained the 5, 10, 15 or 20 lbs. you need for normal weight. Costs little. New "get acquainted" size only 60c. Try famous Ostrex Tonic Tablets for new vigor and added pounds, this very day. At all druggists.

Coe Hill Man Prexy North Hastings Loop

BANCROFT, Dec. 20 (ENS) — Kenneth Foreacre of Coe Hill was elected president of the North Hastings Minor Hockey League Association at the annual meeting of that body in Coe Hill on Monday night. Other officers elected were: Past president Clarence McCormack of Apsley; vice-president William Houle of Apsley and secretary-treasurer John Bleecker of Bancroft. Executive members will be the managers of teams.

At the meeting Apsley and Coe Hill announced that they would have midget teams this year and that they would combine their outfits to enter the OMHA playdowns. The midget picture from Bancroft was not clarified as there were not any representatives from NHHS at the meeting. In 1950-51 midget hockey was scratched in this district and the cup has had a rest since it was won by the local high school in the spring of 1950.

Final arrangements could not be made regarding the bantam league as the annual question of the number of teams per place was not settled. Last season Bancroft, (pop. 1,400) iced one team and Apsley, (pop. 300)and Coe Hill, (pop. 300) maintain that Bancroft should have more than one entry. When the next league meeting is held in Bancroft, on January 3rd, this hardy perennial will be settled.

No Night Clubs For Montreal

MONTREAL, Dec. 20—(CP)—The Gay Paree of Canada will be without night-clubs for the holiday season.

With a pm curfew ordered by provincial authorities for Christmas and New Year's Eves, residents have two choices.

Hold a house party, or get out of town.

Transportation heads reported Wednesday that everything is booked solid until Jan. 3.

Meanwhile, the 45 Liquor Commission stores in the Montreal area are selling an average of 90,000 bottles of liquor and wine daily. The revenue from these sales totals $500,000.

Quebec Liquor Commission heads said this was an indication that house parties will prevail as a result of early closing order to all night clubs and taverns.

Two Brothers To Die

THREE RIVERS, Que., Dec. 20 (CP) — Two brothers will be hanged March 14 for the bludgeon-slaying of a 70-year-old taxi-driver, Maxime Gelinas, several months ago. Marcel Gervais heard sentence pronounced by Judge Leon Lajoie Wednesday night. His brother, Gaston, was found guilty a week ago.

SNOWBOUND CITY — As snow and freezing weather swept across the nation from the plains states to the East Coast, there were scenes like this in many cities. Here a resident of Watertown, N.Y., finds skiing the best way to get around the snowbound streets after snows piled up drifts so heavy they crippled auto travel for 40 miles around.

Parachutes Failed Two Airmen Killed

EL PASO, Tex., Dec. 20 (AP)—Two men died Wednesday when they leaped from a burning B-50 and their parachutes failed to open.

Biggs air force base reported an engine on the giant bomber caught fire shortly after the ship took off on a routine mission. Three men jumped at a low altitude. One landed unharmed. The others crashed to their deaths in the desert east of El Paso.

The pilot managed to put out the flames and returned safely to the base.

Former MPP Dies

TORONTO, Dec. 20 — (CP)—William Duckworth, 69, Progressive Conservative member of the Ontario Legislature for Toronto Dovercourt from 1934 to 1948, died today. He was an alderman from 1931 to 1934.

Record Production and Prosperity Rooted Deeply In Canada's Natural Resources

By HAROLD MORRISON

OTTAWA, Dec. 20—(CP)—The spectacular mid-century transformation of the Canadian economy, turning Canada from an obscure nation to one of the world's industrial giants, continued to carve out economic history in 1951.

It is expected to exert even more powerful influences in 1952.

Rooted in the bustling development of Canada's natural resources, the prosperity created new wealth and new millionaires — and new high marks in the production of such essentials as oil, newsprint and iron ore.

Though inflation ate away at some of his earnings, the white-collar worker and the factory man benefited too, through higher salaries and wages and through the creation of new jobs, which goes hand-in-hand with economic development.

Switching to defence production caused a few false starts and breaks in the economic machine, but the basic expansion in the oilfields, the mills and the mines continued unabated, helping Canada as she piled up a record-smashing $21,000,000,000 total value of all goods and services produced during the year.

This is an increase of about $3,000,000,000 from the previous high in 1950—and government economists predict that in 1952 the gross national product may go even higher—possibly to $23,000,000,000 or $24,000,000,000.

Huge Oil Output

Records were piled up in the oilfields, where Canada produced an estimated peak 47,000,000,000 barrels of oil—almost double the 27,600,000,000 in 1950. Next year it is expected to be higher and only a fraction of Canada's oil potential is yet harnessed.

Iron ore production rolled beyond the 4,000,000-ton mark for the first time and there are indications that in 1952 production may reach more than 5,000,000 tons, bringing increased employment and wealth to Ontario, Quebec and Labrador—heart of new iron-ore developments.

Canada's leading commodity, newsprint, which almost caused an international squabble in 1951, was boosted to a record 5,525,000-ton production—an increase of 214,000 tons from 1950. Next year producers are hopeful of a 165,000-ton increase to a new high of 5,690,000 tons.

The trouble with newsprint, as with all other scarce items, was that everyone wanted a share of the pie. The entire world was short. The United States, which obtains about 90 per cent of Canada's production, protested bitterly, however, when newsprint mills boosted the price on short notice.

The squabble over the price increase had an echo in parliament, but Production Minister Howe backed the increase on the basis of higher production costs, and the wrangle faded into the background.

Wheat Shipment Slow

Elsewhere on the economic scene, bright and dark spots were combined. Canada produced a near record crop of 562,000,000 bushels of wheat in the fall of 1951, but bad weather and lack of tranportation slowed harvesting and movement to market. Much of the wheat still was on prairie fields as snow covered the fields.

The world was waiting for Canadian wheat, and Canada was committed to export almost her full annual quota of 233,000,000 bushels under the international wheat agreement, but up to the end of the Great Lakes shipping season in December, only about 80,000,000 bushels had been shipped to seaboard.

Wheat, while bringing a measure of prosperity to Canadian farmers, created a major political test for the government. The four year Anglo-Canadian wheat agreement had drawn to a close and farmers felt they had an extra final payment due.

Wanter Recompense

This developed out of the controversial "have regard" clause in the agreement. Farmers felt they had shipped wheat to Britain at below market prices and that they should be reimbursed for part of their losses.

Britain said she felt her obligations were met when she agreed to buy a fixed amount of Canadian wheat in the new crop year beginning Aug. 1, 1950. The Canadian cabinet was reported to have split on the issue, with Agriculture Minister Gardiner favoring a final payment to the farmers and Trade Minister Howe opposed.

The issue was resolved with a payment of $65,000,000 from the public treasury, but farmers felt they should get even more. A great deal of prairie resentment of the government's attitude still remained as the year entded.

Marmora CGIT Hold Christmas Service

MARMORA, Dec. 20—(ENS)—The national Christmas vesper service as planned for the CGIT was carried out at St. Andrew's United Church Sunday evening by the CGIT in connection wth. the church.

The senior choir assisted them singing the carols with Mrs. A. F. Fraser at the organ. The leader, Mrs. G. D. Young and Mesdames G. Madgett and B. McKenzie, her assistants, helped with the readings.

The latter part of the service was of a candle lighting form wherein the girls repeated their purpose.

Minister Tells Rotary Story Of Christmas

CAMPBELLFORD, Dec. 20—(ENS)—The Rev. John McKibbon of Christ Church, Campbellford, delivered a timely address at the Rotary club luncheon here Monday, when a number of the town's "Senior Citizens" were guests.

Mr. McKibbon told Henry Van Dyke's story of the "Other Wise Man". The story is that of Arteban, a native of Persia, who had heard from captive Jews of the coming of Christ. The story goes on to describe his quest of the Christ child, of hearing of the crucifiction, and how he purchased the freedom of a girl who was to be sold into slavery.

When the man was killed by a falling piece of masonry, after the heavens were rent, the slave girl thought she heard the dying man say "Lord, when saw we Thee an hungered and fed Thee, or thirsty and gave Thee Drink? When saw we Thee a stranger and took Thee in or naked and clothed Thee, or when saw we Thee sick or in prison and came unto Thee?"

Vaguely, the answer came as the spirit departed from the dying Mage—"In as much as ye have done it unto one of the least of these, my brethren, ye have done it unto me."

The speaker was introduced by Arthur K. Loucks, and thanked by Harold N. Carr.

Decide To Drop Ballot Investigation

PORT ARTHUR, Dec. 20 (CP)—The Police Commission Wednesday decided against launching an investigation into the finding of what appeared to be seven civic election ballots on city streets.

However, it was reported that aldermen, acting as private citizens, may apply to have ballot boxes from the Dec. 19 election opened.

Chief Constable George Taylor told the commission the purported ballots might have been placed outside a printing shop as garbage. Employees of the shop where official ballots were printed had said some ballot proofs were placed outside in a box.

KNOTTY FUTURE

Knots in pine logs are almost imperishable, decaying much slower than the log itself.

Children Present Christmas Play

HASTINGS, Dec. 20 (ENS)—A Christmas play, The Most Acceptable Offering in the True Christmas Spirit, was presented in the Town Hall as the highlight of the Hastings Separate School's Christmas concert.

The evening's entertainment also included musical selections and recitations.

Members of the play's cast were John Barry, Barry Walsh, John Luntiz, Mary Walsh, Terrence O'Grady, John Bolton, Teresa Mulhallane, Gertrude Pettecrew, Michael Barry, Eileen English, Marie Brinklow, Margaret McGuire, Ann Sullivan, Joseph Rivard, Billie English, Veronica Cleary, and Jimmie Sullivan.

The chairman for the evening was Paul Sullivan. The audience was welcomed by Colleen Brinklow.

Choral numbers were sung by the junior chorus, senior chorus, and senior girls.

A dialogue, Capt. Dare and Mrs. Lee, was given by Peter English and Cathy O'Shea. The senior boys presented a skit, Writing Poetry, and the junior girls presented a playlet, Best Gift. The playlet, The Day After Christmas, was presented by the junior pupils.

Recitations were given by Jimmie Sullivan, the primary pupils, Sheila Mulholland, junior pupils, David Barry, Ann Sullivan, Mary Doherty. Barry Walsh sang a vocal solo, Two Little Feet and Eight Little Pails.

A colorful Christmas flag drill was presented by 13 students.

Ladies' Guild Plan Christmas Tree Party

APSLEY, Dec. 20—(ENS)—The Ladies' Guild of St. George's Anglican Church held the December meeting at Mrs. Chesel McColl's home with a good attendance of members and four visitors present.

The main items of business were plans for the Sunday School Christmas tree and supper and final plans for a formal dance.

A committee was formed to purchase new carpet for the church. Christmas cards are to be sent to shut-ins. An exchange of Christmas gifts was enjoyed.

Lunch was served by the hostess and helpers.

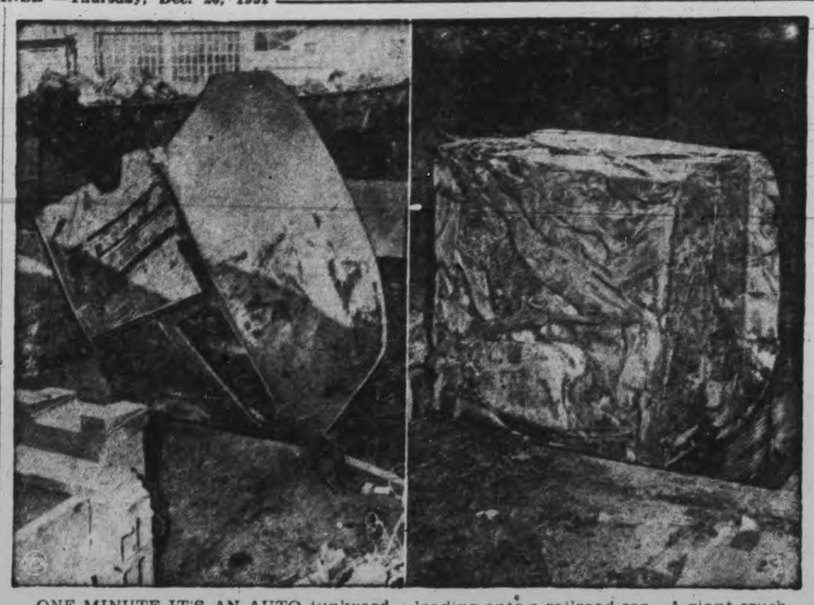
Mission Circle Elects New Executive

MILLBROOK, Dec. 20 (ENS). —Mrs. M. E. Hobbs, the president, was hostess for the Christmas meeting of the Golden Links Mission Circle of St. Andrew's United Church Tuesday evening.

The Rev. A. M. Butler presided for the election of officers. With the exception of two changes the slate of officers is the same as for 1951: Honorary president, Miss Estella Hetherington; advisory president, Mrs. W. E. Ball; president, Mrs. M. E. Hobbs; first vice-president, Miss Jean Burnham; second vice-president, Mrs. Homer Ouillette; recording secretary, Miss Betty Lunn; treasurer, Miss Edith Thorn; corresponding secretary, Mrs. Bruce Ingham; pianist, Mrs. Arnold Fallis; Christian Stewardship secretary, Mrs. Ernest Powell; temperance secretary, Mrs. Eric Fallis; friendship secretary, Mrs. T. Wideman; literature secretary, Mrs. Lavern Gibson; supply secretary, Miss Marjorie Skitch.

The worship service, which had as its theme "A Canadian Friendship Carol Service," was conducted by Mrs. David Lunn, assisted by Miss Marjorie Skitch, Mrs. A. M. Butler, Mrs. E. Powell, Miss Edith Clarke, Mrs. B. Ingham, and Mrs. Lawrence Winslow.

Mrs. E. Powell in her stewardship talk on the real spirit of Christmas, told of the origin of the custom of sending Christmas cards and of making gifts at this time. She said it was to be hoped that the Christian part of the greeting should not be lost.



The secretary in giving her annual report said 10 meetings had been held with an average attendance of 23 members, not counting visitors. Special events of the year had included a family party for all missionary groups of the church in April, a sunset service in June, the serving of supper to the M and M committees of the district in the fall, and the Christmas meeting being held that night.

The treasurer reported that the allocation which the Circle had voluntarily doubled from last year's to $125 had been raised with a few cents to spare.

Mrs. Hobbs, in reviewing the year's work, said she would like to give three stars as they do in hockey games. The first would go to all the members of the executive, including Mrs. Wideman and her telephone committee, for co-operation; the second to Mrs. David Lunn for the capable way she took charge of serving supper to the Missionary and Maintenance committees of the district; and the third to the efficient recording secretary, Betty Lunn, who had helped in ways too numerous to mention. She then gave a talk on Christmas, which was interspersed with vocal solos, "White Christmas" by Mrs. Lawrence Winslow," and "The Holly and the Ivy" by Mrs. G. A. Spicer, and by recordings of less familiar carols. She told of the first Christmas of Queen Victoria and Prince Albert after their marriage, how each enjoyed the Christmas customs of the land of the other.

It was decided to send a Chistmas greeting airmail to the Circle's newly chosen special home missionary, Dr. Margaret Savage of Cold Lake, Alberta.

Supper hostess for holiday refreshments were Mrs. Alex Gilbert, Mrs. Johnston Rowland and Mrs. Clarence Ball. Mrs. George Sedgewick invited the group to her home for the January meeting.

ONE MINUTE IT'S AN AUTO junkyard collector's item and the next it's a square block of almost-solid metal, weighing about 400 pounds and easily manageable for loading onto a railroad car. A giant crusher, applying about 2,500 pounds of pressure on each side, transformed the old auto body into the compact metal cube above.

LOL Names Officers

NORWOOD, Dec. 20 (ENS). — The annual meeting of LOL 277 was held Monday for the election and installation of officers. Ri. Wor. Bro. Richard Sanderson, Deputy Grand Master of Ontario East, was in the chair for the election of officers, which were as follows: WM, Bro. Allan Gardner; DM, Bro. Raymond Begg; Chaplain, Bro. Clarence Glenn; Recording Secretary, Bro. Kenneth Patterson; Financial Secretary, Bro. Orland Brown; Treasurer, Bro. Arnold Stevenson; Marshal, Bro. Reginald Buck; Lecturer, Bro. Wilfred Buck; Deputy Lecturer, Bro. Harld Vanvolkenburg; Committee, Bros. Arthur Stinson, Gordon Stevenson, Jack Brown, William Waters, and Albert Thistlewaite.

In Service For Men Women Who Served

Christmas donations have been made this year by the Peterborough Branch of the Canadian Legion to Sick Children's Hospital, Toronto; St. Vincent's Orphanage, Children's Aid Society, Anson House, House of Providence, Louis Braille Society and Salvation Army Welfare.

The turkey raffle held by the members on Monday was very successful with the following winning the birds W. Cribbs, J. Jenkins, E. Heffernan, S. Curtis, J. Smart, D. Sheehy, Stan Eason, S. Hope, Tee Moore, L. Bevin, B. Robinson, G. Gimblett, J. Schweier, M. Caravaggie, J. Earnshaw, F. Marsden and G. Torrence.

At the regular turkey raffle on Friday during the social evening 30 turkeys will be drawn for.

The shuffleboard tournament which has been drawing such enthusiasm is being postponed until after the New Year. However a meeting of the captains of the teams is called for Saturday night.

On Christmas Eve the Legion hall will close at 6:30 and remain closed until Wednesday noon and the following week the same hours will be observed over New Year's.

Speaker Tells YPU Of European Trip

SPRINGVILLE, Dec. 20 (ENS) —Springville Young People's Union held its Sunday evening meeting at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Bowles.

The worship service was in charge of Lois Paddock and a feature of this meeting was a talk by Miss Lindy McIntosh of Peterborough describing her summer vacation in England, Scotland, and Ireland, Holland, Belgium and France. Following this Miss McIntosh showed colored slides. The Rev. A. E. Larke thanked the guest speaker on behalf of the YPU.

Announcement was made of a Presbytery YPU party on New Year's Eve.

At the conclusion of the meeting Mrs. Bowles and daughters, Eleanor and Doreen, served refreshments.

Flying Justice

LONDON (CP).—For a court case here the chairman's name was Hawke, the clerk was named Swift, the prosecutor Buzzard and the defence council Sparrow. The reporter who noted the coincidence is named Larkin.

Piano Concert At Bailieboro

BAILIEBORO, Dec. 20 (ENS)— Bailieboro piano pupils of Donald Kennedy, BA, Mus. Bac., gave a recital Wednesday evening in the public school, attended by more than 50 parents and friends. There were nine recitalists, and the program was divided into two parts, each piano pupil playing classical numbers and after the intermission, Christmas pieces.

Guest artist of the evening was Miss Mignon Mayneord, concert whistler of Peterborough. She prefaced her numbers by a talk on the art of whistling, illustrated by various bird calls.

Pupils taking part in the program were: Pamela Fallis, Gloria and Donna Wood, Brenda Pilkington, Russell Jewison, Marion Syer, Glee Barnard, Lois Campbell and Jean Jones.

Following the recital a buffet lunch was served by the parents.

Mr. Kennedy paid tribute to Mrs. Walter Jones, who organized the special class of pupils; to Miss Mary Rose, teacher of Bailieboro school; and to Mr. Duncan Watson of Lindsay, former teacher. Christmas corsages were presented by Mr. Kennedy to Mrs. Jones, Miss Rose and Miss Manneord.

The concert room and buffet table were decorated in motifs suitable to the Christmas season.

Too Tough

AUCKLAND, NZ (CP)—Nylons are really tough, according to J. Gill, who operates a commercial compost scheme. He has banned nylons, along with plastics, because they will not decompose under the processes that decompose such things as metal shavings and tinfoil.

Report Nickel Production Shows Increase

By FORBES RHUDE
Canadian Press Business Editor

Canada's production of nickel this year will be about 275,000,000 pounds, an increase of 28,000,000 pounds over 1950, and more than 90 per cent of all the nickel produced by the free world.

Total free world production will approximate 295,000,000 pounds, an increase of 10 per cent.

These figures are given in a review of the industry by Dr. John F. Thompson, chairman and president of International Nickel Co. of Canada, Ltd.

Dr. Thompson says reliable estimates are not available for nickel production in Russia and satellite countries, but that trade sources believe the free world's total is several times greater than that behind the Iron Curtain. He adds:

"Measures to maintain this superiority were taken during the year by established nickel producers as well as by new potential producers. These efforts will assure continuance of the amounts now available and are expected by 1954 to provide an increase of approximately 30 per cent over that available before the Korean conflict."

Other Facts

Other information from Dr. Thompson's report:

International Company itself, at Cooper Cliff, near Sudbury, and by far the world's largest producer, reached at last July 1 a production rate of 252,000 pounds annually. This represented an increase, ahead of schedule, of 12,000,000 pounds annually through installation of emergency facilities.

At the same time, International continued its long-range underground mine-developed program which, when completed in 1953, will give it the largest non-ferrous base metal underground mining operation in the world.

Falconbridge Nickel Mines, Ltd., with mine, concentrator and smelter at Falconbridge, Ont., in the Sudbury district, and a refinery in Norway, has embarked on an expansion program designed to increase production to a rate of 40,000,000 pounds annually in about three years, compared with a present production believed to approximate 25,000,000 pounds.

Sherritt Gordon Mines, Ltd., with deposits in the Lynn Lake area of Northern Manitoba, is understood to be planning for initial production by the end of 1953, with an annual capacity of 17,000,000 pounds of refined nickel expected in 1955.

Sherritt has a contract with General Services Administration of the United States government for delivery of a substantial portion of its anticipated nickel output during the first five years of production, and the Canadian government is assisting the Canadian National Railways in the construction of a 155-mile rail link into Lynn Lake's nickel-copper-cobalt deposits.

Exploration for new nickel deposits are under way in Canada, Africa and elsewhere.

REPORTED ALIVE — The name of Maj. Gen. William F. Dean (above), last seen alive battling Red tanks near Taejon, Korea, on July 20, 1950, is reported to be on the list of American prisoners of war held by the Communists.

HOPEFUL HEADLINES—Mrs. Mildred Dean pins a hopeful headline to a Christmas tree at her home in Berkeley, Calif., after hearing the news that her husband, Maj. Gen. William F. Dean, missing in Korea since July, 1950, was listed among 3,198 American prisoners held by the Communists.

Reporter May Be Dead

SEOUL, Dec. 20 — (AP). — A Communist newspaperman said Wednesday that Mike Gigantis, reporter-photographer for International News Service, possibly is dead or has escaped from imprisonment. The name of Giganti, who also used the name Philip Deane, was not on the prisoner-of-war list released by the Communists. Gigantis was captured in the Taejon area of South Korea July 19, 1950.

Attend Opening

NEW YORK, Dec. 20 — (AP). —Billy Rose showed up in public Wednesday night with the other woman on his arm—blonde Joyce Matthews, former wife of Milton Berle. The couple attended the opening of Antony and Cleopatra, starring Sir Laurence Olivier and Vivien Leigh. Rose's wife, former swimimng star Eleanor Holm is suing the Broadway producer for separation, on the basis of his friendship with Miss Matthews.

Ex-Governor Dies

TOPEKA, Kas., Dec. 20 (AP)—Arthur Capper, 86, an ex-Governor of Kansas and a US senator for 30 years before he retired, died Wednesday night of pneumonia.

Barbara Brent's BUYS AND WHYS A WEEKLY INFORMATION SERVICE

MONTREAL, Dec. 20th—Merry Christmas everybody! I've been thinking about things to make you and your family specially happy at this merriest time of the year. And high on the list is something wonderful to eat! Like a fluffy, melt-in-your-mouth Swans Down cake! There's just something about a cake made with SWANS DOWN CAKE FLOUR that spreads good cheer all 'round—from you who make it (it's such a pleasure to bake with Swans Down!) to the lucky folks who eat it! Every last morsel is gobbled up—and that's no wonder—for Swans Down Cake Flour makes such beautiful cakes! You see—Swans Down is sifted and re-sifted until it's 27 times as fine as ordinary flour.

I Like To Begin a crisp, winter morning with a breakfast treat of "Cream of Wheat". So smoo-oth—so appetizing—so "just right" in flavour. Not only good to eat—but good for you, too. For 5 Minute "CREAM OF WHEAT" provides Iron for good red blood, and Calcium and Phosphorus for diets deficient in these elements. Treat yourself and your family to 5 Minute "Cream of Wheat" tomorrow morning . . . it's a delight to eat—a delight to prepare—cooks to delicious smoo-othness in just five minutes of boiling. M-mmm! That rich, wide-awake flavour . . . no wonder so many folks like to start the day right with a "Cream of Wheat" breakfast!

Your Husband's Been Christmas Shopping, too. So be sure to satisfy his extra-hearty appetite with something specially good for dinner. The ideal meal for busy you and hungry hubby is HEINZ COOKED SPAGHETTI or HEINZ OVEN-BAKED BEANS. So quick to cook—so good to eat! Serve Heinz Oven-Baked Beans in a variety of delicious ways . . . with Heinz Chili Sauce—with bacon—with cheese. And serve Heinz Cooked Spaghetti with side dishes of crisp, green salad. Another thing you'll like about these wink-quick Heinz meals is that they're truly easy on your budget. Ask for Heinz Cooked Spaghetti and Heinz Oven-Baked Beans next time you're grocery-shopping. You know they're good because they're Heinz!

Gesundheit! . . . Catching a nasty chest cold? Feel so awful you don't want to go to that Christmas party? Cheer up! I know just the thing to chase away nagging chest-cold pain! Rub BEN-GAY (Baume Bengué) on chest, neck and throat . . . mmm, how it soothes, warms . . . how quickly it gives relief. It breaks up the congestion—makes breathing easier. First thing you know you're ready to be the life of the Christmas party. "Peter Pain" strikes often at this time of year . . . that's why it's wise to keep a generous tube of BEN-GAY always on hand.

In A Whirl Of Christmas Shopping? Here's a gift that will delight every woman on your list . . . and save you a great deal of worry and time! Buy her GOTHAM GOLD STRIPE stockings—the loveliest stockings you've ever seen! These are Canada's favourite stockings—"Fashion Five" . . . Krimp Twist for longer, prettier wearing; Camouflage Heel—neat as you please; Hidden Sole—gives you double strength plus foot comfort; Secret Toe — simply won't unravel; Shadow Seam—the luxury look, priced to suit your pocketbook. Ask for beautiful Gotham Gold Stripe stockings—at better stores everywhere!

Isn't It Fun to add a spot of glamour to a basic dress — a pin, or scarf, or necklace? I've been discovering that it's fun to add glamour in cooking—a plain pudding prettied up with a luxurious sauce—a simple butter cake with a rich frosting. Chocolate seems to be our favourite for these "special touches." And when I say "chocolate," of course I mean BAKER'S UNSWEETENED CHOCOLATE. There's a chocolate that can't help but make dishes more sumptuous and exciting. Baker's has true chocolate flavour because it's all pure chocolate . . . nothing added, nothing taken away. It has certainly opened a whole new vista of delicious and interesting cakes, sauces and desserts. I'm never without my trusty package of Baker's Unsweetened Chocolate.

The Best Party-Giving News In Years! . . . The folks at CHASE & SANBORN have created an instant coffee that's superb! (So economical, of course, for a big party. You can make ten or twenty cups as easily as one—and there's no waste.) And just wait 'til you taste it . . . the only "instant" backed by over 85 years coffee experience. The flavour's there—and the body—and the real lift! Your friends will thank you for introducing them to Instant Chase & Sanborn Coffee. So make your New Year's party plans now —to include the cheeriest guest of all—Instant Chase & Sanborn!

King Of Your Christmas Dinner-Table . . . that's grand 'n' glorious Plum Pudding. And I know how to make it even grander and "gloriouser". Just add that most famous of all good mixers. . . . ANGOSTURA Aromatic Bitters.

ANGOSTURA PLUM PUDDING

1 lb. raisins	2 tbsp. salt
1 lb. currants	1 lb. brown sugar
½ lb. cut citron peel	1 tsp. cinnamon
1 lb. suet	1 tsp. allspice
6 eggs	1 tsp. cloves
1 cup bread crumbs	2 wineglassfuls Angostura Aromatic Bitters
2 cups flour
2 cups milk

Prepare raisins, currants and citron. Then add the suet. Then the flour and bread crumbs, sugar, salt, spices, milk and eggs. Let this stand for three days. Add Angostura aromatic bitters, mix well. Fill a one-pound tin half full of this mixture and steam for five hours. Make your Christmas Cake Angostura-good, too—for Angostura aromatic bitters is what you put in—to make the flavour come out. Ask for Angostura at your favourite drug or grocery store.

There's Real Flavour Excitement in this wonderful soup! In fact, my family are so fond of HEINZ CREAM OF MUSHROOM SOUP, I can't get away with just serving it at dinnertime. It stars at lunch and Sunday supper, too. Yes, "Heinz Cream of Mushroom Soup" is our "Soup of the Month" for December. Forgotten how good real mushrooms can taste? Then just try this soup success . . . not only as a first course, but with meat and vegetable dishes, too. (Incidentally, in this month of Christmas spending, it's one of the nicest things you can do for your budget!) Ask your grocer for "Heinz Cream of Mushroom Soup" today—you know it's good because it's Heinz!

No Lovely Red-Head ever went into action faster than Joyce Edwards. When Russell Otis Washburn gave his fraternity pin to another girl Joyce was furious! Now Joyce and Russell are very happily married. Joyce's secret? Not just her glorious red hair or her glowing personality—but her silken-smooth, wonderfully natural Woodbury complexion! Joyce makes a regular beauty habit of WOODBURY FACIAL SOAP—the soap with the precious beauty-cream ingredient intended to help replace natural oils you wash away. Discover what it means to have this extra gentleness in a beauty soap. Treat your skin to Woodbury's creamy lather regularly. And get the Big Beauty Bath Size for all-over loveliness.

Bring On The Christmas Turkey! It's going to be extra-good this year, because you've basted it with Blue Bonnet! That's the margarine with the fresh, country-sweet flavour that does wonderful things for all your cooking . . . and goes to the dinner table, too! Yes, now Blue Bonnet's famous YELLOW QUIK bag is even stronger than ever. Makes it so easy to colour your BLUE BONNET MARGARINE a luscious, golden-yellow for table use. And another thing you'll like about Blue Bonnet . . . it's truly economical. Why, I find I can buy extra milk with the money I save on Blue Bonnet Margarine! Just compare Blue Bonnet Margarine with any spread at any price for flavour, nutrition and economy!

FLORIST MATTHEW RUANE of Newton, Mass., is not a man to go half way when it comes to Christmas lighting. Each year since 1941—except during war years—Ruane has turned his home, greenhouse and surrounding property into a Christmas wonderland of light. The big elm tree above blossoms with 16,500 small, blue bulbs on a total of 45 circuits and powered by a special transformer on the pole nearby. The display is a delight to the whole town, and the only rub comes when Ruane gets the bill. Below, he's seen perusing last year's December lighting bill of $472.

Britain Cuts Rations, Prices Up

LONDON, Dec. 20 (CP)—Already facing an austerity Christmas of tightly rationed basic foodstuffs, British housewives learned Wednesday that with the new year their weekly coupon books will entitle them to even smaller allowances that will cost them more.

Usually at Christmas the government grants a ration bonus with which Mrs. Britain can buy more shortening, sugar and so on for the big day. This year the bonus was cancelled.

Wednesday the government announced that the weekly bacon ration, upped to four ounces two weeks ago, will be cut back to three ounces from Dec. 30, with all grades to cost an average of 10 pence a pound more. A pound of average quality bacon now costs three shillings sixpence.

Cheese, rationed at 1½ ounces per person a week, goes up from one shilling twopence to two shillings a pound.

The weekly candy allowance is to drop from 6½ to six ounces per person.

Cut Down Subsidies

With a full-scale economic crisis on its hands, Churchill's administration is attempting to cut down the subsidies paid to food producers in an effort to keep down consumer costs.

The food ministry announced Wednesday that the subsidies had cost taxpayers £375,700,000 for the year 1950-51. This was £20,000,000 less than the previous year.

Announcing the bacon cut, the food ministry said it was due to the serious outbreaks of foot-and-mouth disease in Europe.

Price increases despite subsidies were explained as necessary to meet a general rise in the cost of imported and home-produced supplies.

The changes will hit the average Briton hard. Cheese and bacon are widely used to stretch out the almost non-existent meat ration.

The food ministry said the price increases were necessary to keep the governments food subsidy within the ceiling of £410,000,000 fixed for the current fiscal year, which runs to the end of March.

It said the general election in October "unavoidably postponed" smaller price boosts earlier this year and that is why the jump now is so big.

SPREADING THE GOOD NEWS—As the long—but happy—list of 3198 Americans held captive by the Reds in North Korea comes over the wire from Tokyo, these girl typists are tapping out the formal telegrams to be sent their next of kin. The telegrams, being typed at the War Department in the Pentagon, will spread the good word to parents and wives of the American prisoners.

Convict 7 Privates

NEW YORK, Dec. 20 — (AP). —Seven young army privates were convicted by court-martial Wednesday of mutiny and riot in the Fort Jay guardhouse last September 17. The maximum penalty is death. However, executions by the army in the United States are rare. No date was set for sentencing.

Writing Letters

WINNIPEG (CP). — Business letters should be easy to read, courteous, friendly and simply, says Dr. Lyda McHenry, associate professor of business administration at Wayne University, Detroit. She told a meeting here brevity is excellent only when it is complete.

Believes Reading Helps Ease Nervous Tension

GUELPH—(CP)—To ease tension, read a book.

That's the advice of Prof. E. C. McLean of the English department of the Ontario Agricultural College. Addressing the Guelph Macdonald Club on "Reading for Pleasure and Profit," he said:

"To avoid neurotic frustration, maladjustment, suicidal or alcoholic tendencies, ease the tension before it gets unbearable. Take a vacation through reading."

He gave four reasons for reading: "personal pleasure, to gain knowledge that can be used in one's job; to make a person a better citizen; and self-development.

Men who made history were avid readers. Reading could be good clean fun, suitable in all places and for all periods of life. Its variety was endless.

Settles Arguments

"Reading helps give an insight into our own characters and that of others. With this knowledge and a good command of English, domestic arguments can be settled quite easily."

Prof. McLean urged that increased recognition be given Canadian writing.

"Why read American Steinbeck's 'Grapes of Wrath' when Canadian Irene Baird's 'Waste Heritage' on the same subject is equally good? Books by Hugh McLennan and Gwethalyn Graham, among others, also are well worth reading."

Won't Attend Party If Trygve Lie Not Invited

PARIS, Dec. 20 — (AP). — United Nations officials made clear tonight they will not accept Russian hospitality unless their chief, Secretary-General Trygve Lie, is among those invited. Not one of the UN secretariat heads attended a party to which they were invited by Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Y. Vishinsky. It was learned they stayed away on orders from Lie. He was not invited. Except for one instance in the current UN Assembly, the Russians have been boycotting Lie since his re-election last year as Secretary-General, which the Russians declare was illegal.

MAIN STREET TOPICS

THE WIND UP
Adjournment of the last council meeting of 1951 Tuesday night was moved by Ald. E. C. Braund.

HEATING WITH GAS
Sewage disposal plant was being heated with its own gas since last Saturday, Ald. J. E. Gillespie informed the council Tuesday.

TB SALES
The Peterborough County TB Association have netted $4,130.34 to date in their seal sale campaign.

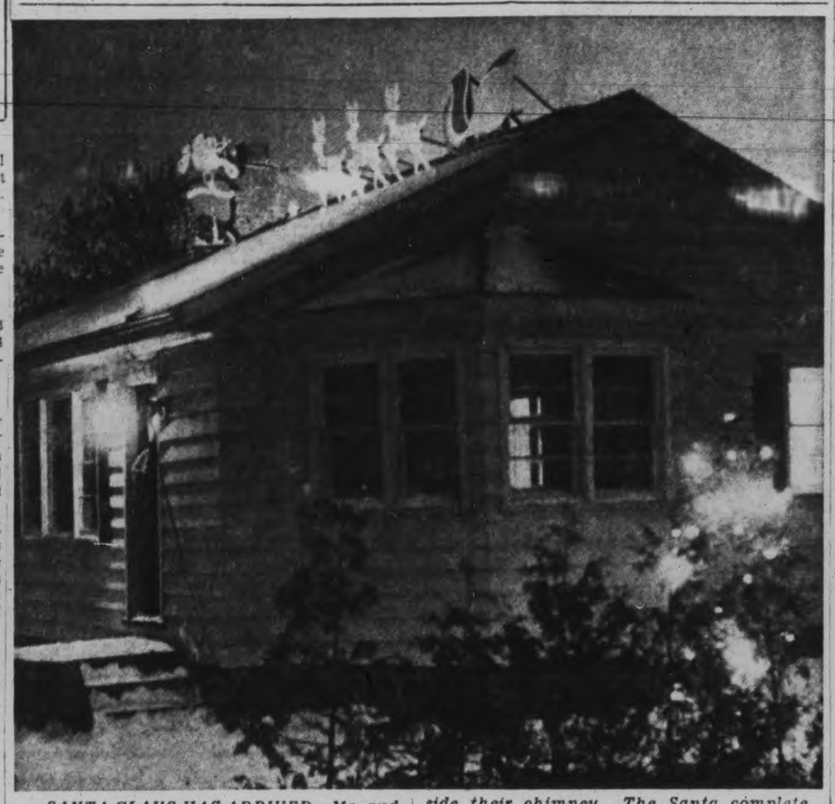
ASK FOR LIGHTS
Council is asking Utilities Commission to consider requests for street lights on Park St. between Sherbrooke and Dalhousie; and on Wolsley St., west of Stewart St.

PROCEEDS FOR BOYS' WORK
More than 500 Christmas trees have been sold this year by the Y's Men's Club. All the proceeds are for the club's boys' work in Peterborough, especially the boys' camp on Clear Lake.

HOLD CHISTMAS PARTIES
Peterborough Hi-Y clubs will hold their Yuletide parties this week-end. The Centum club will entertain on Friday night at the YMCA and the Michron club Saturday night.

START HOLIDAYS
YMCA members, both men and boys, will begin the Christmas holidays Friday night with another Dad-Lad swim. Admission to the swim for a boy is his father, or for a man, his son.

LIGHTS FOR TREE
Christmas lights were put on the evergreen tree at the east end of the Hunter St. bridge Wednesday and lit up for the evening for the first time in the memory of most Ashburnham residents.



FOR MORROW COUSINS
City council approved Tuesday the suggestion of National Trust Company, trustees of the estate of W. G. Morrow, to purchase government annuities for his surviving cousins in order to meet the terms of his will.

LEAVES OPP HERE
OPP Constable Jack McKendry, on the headquaters staff here in Peterborough since May, 1950, left today to take up an assignment in Bowmanville. His successor has not been named. Constable McKendry came to Peterborough after passing from the OPP school at Ajax.

EMPLOYMENT QUERY
Ald. Norman Graham told the council Tuesday he understood that two or three persons from Europe were working at the city hall "while our own people are looking for jobs." One of them he said, was barbering in the day time and working at the city hall at night. He suggested that the property committee might make some enquiry into this report.

STAFF BANQUETTED
With hearty appetites the YMCA staff, including their wives, held the second annual staff dinner Wednesday in the diningroom. They polished off a 23-pound turkey. Special guests were former staff members G. H. Roper and his wife, and James Young and his wife. Charles Forsyth, general secretary, gave the Christmas message.

GRATEFUL TO JUNIORS
Now that he is recuperating at home from a recent operation in Toronto, Al Spencley wishes to thank the Junior Lacrosse Club for the cheery good wishes they sent him. "I can't tell them personally how much I appreciated their remembrance of me, but I am sure the Examiner will reach them all." What deeply touched Mr. Spencley was the thoughtfulness of those younger fellows.

SANTA CLAUS HAS ARRIVED—Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Woodhouse, Dufferin St., have made sure Santa will visit their four-year-old daughter by placing St. Nick right beside their chimney. The Santa complete with sleigh and reindeer has attracted hundreds of Peterborough citizens. "We're" going to need a traffic officer up there soon," Mr. Woodhouse said today.

Mail Mountain One-third Higher At Post Office

Cards, letters and parcels travelling through the Peterborough post office this year are averaging almost one-third more than last season, according to figures announced today.

Incoming parcels at the armouries for delivery in the city and district have increased as much as 1,500 this year as the regular and extra staff there have handled more than 4,500 parcels since Monday.

Usually the sorting activity is contained only in the old gun room at the west end of the armouries, but today the load burst the room's seams as sorters began to pile parcels out on the main floor.

Well Wrapped.

These workers say the public this year deserve a bouquet for the way the parcels have been wrapped and tied. In previous years the damaged parcel rate has been high, especially during war years. But the damage this year has been practically none at all.

Out of several thousand parcels awaiting delivery on the floor today the postmen could find only one parcel which required additional wrapping, enough to demand the stamp marked "Received in Damaged Condition."

At the post office the out-going parcels have been cleared daily, with only a few moments in the last several days having a backlog.

Slowing Down

The Christmas rush started to show signs of slowing down today as activity in the lobby was slower and the response from the mail boxes and sub-offices was less. But the mail is still heavy.

After reaching a peak Monday of 179,000 cards and letters, the load fell slightly Tuesday to 156,000 but hten rose Wednesday to 170,000. Today's mail will likely be well over the 100,000-mark for the fourth straight day.

Officials believe that the 1,000,000-mark will be reached this year in cards and letters. So far the rush has produced (to Wednesday night) 843,200 cards and letters, 159,600 more than the same period last year. Even if the rush levels off to last year's daily counts the 1951 load should be well over last year's mark.

Santa, Reindeer On Roof Cause Sensation In City

Santa Claus, complete with sleigh and reindeer has arrived early at one Peterborough home. W. R. Woodhouse, has created quite a sensation in the city with an almost life-size plywood Santa Claus and company, complete, on the the roof of his home on Dufferin St., near Armour Rd.

The display is most effective at night with a spotlight trained on Santa beside the chimney and the sleigh and reindeer standing by.

Mr. and Mrs. Woodhouse and 4-year-old daughter are newcomers to Peterborough, arriving here last June, from Vancouver, British Columbia.

"I really don't know why it has been such a sensation," Mrs. Woodhouse said today. "In Vancouver outside Christmas decorations were all the style at this time of year."

She went on to explain that her husband had made the Santa Claus first and put it up two years ago at their West Vancouver home. The next year he added the sleigh and reindeer.

In addition to Santa Claus, the Woodhouses have decorated a cedar tree at the front of their home with lights.

Since it was put up people from nearly all of Peterborough have driven or walked up to Dufferin St. to see the roof scene. Some people have even taken the Nicholls Park bus up to the corner walked down, looked at Santa and returned to catch the bus on the way back.

Both Mr. and Mrs. Woodhouse have spent all their lives in the west until they came to Peterborough. Mr. Woodhouse is employed with the Central Ontario Credit Bureau headquarters office here.

If anyone else is thinking of following the Woodhouse's example the plywood figures and sleigh are painted and stand on bases which are wired to the roof. And one of the reindeer's name is Rudolph. His red nose is a bulb painted with nail polish.

Graham Satisfied With Answers Given

Ald. Norman Graham reported in committee Tuesday night that he had received from City Clerk Outram information answering the questions which he had previously presented in council. The points he had raised were satisfactorily disposed of, and he had withdrawn his resignation.

As a result of that statement, the following clause in the report of the committee of the whole, submitted by Ald. T. D. Miller, was deleted: "That consideration of the resignation of Ald. N. G. Graham, effective Dec. 21, be deferred to a special meeting."

Snow, Traffic Hold Up Trains

Connections at Toronto and Montreal, snowy weather and heavy traffic caused trains into Peterborough to be late early today.

Latest was the CNR Belleville to Peterborough train which is scheduled to arrive in Peterborough at 7 am but didn't pull in until close to 10 am Officials explained that probably late connections with the Montreal train at Belleville caused the three-hour delay.

The CNR office explained that the heavy traffic, heavy express, and snow have caused trains along the lakeshore to be late also.

Two CPR trains, the early Ottawa to Toronto train, and the Toronto to Peterborough noon train, were both slightly late. The noon train which is supposed to arrive at 11:40 am, was 40 minutes late, while the Ottawa train was only 20 minutes late into Peterborough.

The CPR "midnight" from Toronto, due to arrive in Peterborough at 1:35 am arrived this morning at 20 minutes to three. The delay was not caused by snow; apparently it was due to the press of express and mail business. The train had six mail cars behind the engine. Travellers report that all trains out of the Toronto Union Station the same evening were extremely late getting away and that the departure schedule was completely dislocated. The reason was not bad weather but pre-Christmas business. That was six days before Christmas. What will it be like when Christmas is closer—this week-end, say?

Morrow Park Soil Carry Arena

Bearing Qualities Found Sufficient For Building Centre

Soil bearing tests at Morrow Park indicate conditions satisfactory for the building of the proposed Memorial Community Centre.

That is the substance of a report to the council by City Engineer Chalmers. It relates to a long standing project which Mayor Swanston had listed for some definite information before he closed his record at the city hall.

Soil bearing pertains to load carrying which explains itself in regard to suitability of the park land for supporting the walls of a community centre.

Making Tests

Mr. Chalmers also informed the council that boring tests on the city's industrial site of 166 acres, west of Erskine Ave., and south of Lansdowne St., would cost, acording to one tender $2,500. A company specializing in this work would lay out a pattern of holes to be sunk, some to a depth of 20 to 30 feet, and one or two down to rock.

"It seems a lot of money, but I think it is necessary to get the information industrial companies ask as one of their first questions when looking for sites," Ald. Braund said. "And there is only one way to get the answer."

"Those proposed tests," Ald. J. A. Dewart said, "would reflect the geological structure of the whole area."

A resolution by Aldermen Braund and Anglesey will ask the company whether they would survey the property and make a recommendation of the testing operations to be done. In the meantime it is a recommendation to the council of 1952.

Chas. Westbrook Vice President Of Lock Co. Dies

Former vice president of the Peterborough Lock Company and an employee for 46 years, Charles B. Westbrook of 268 London St., died today in hospital following a short illness.

He was born in Woodstock 70 years ago, son of the late Harry Westbrook and Marguerite Carritt, and came to Peterborough 46 years ago.

He leaves his wife, the former Annie Louise Wainwright, and two sons, Arthur of Montreal and Harry Westbrook of Port Arthur. There are two sisters, Mrs. J. B. Stevenson of Bright, Ont., and Mrs. W. Collens and a brother Harry, both of Detroit. Another brother, George, lives in Pontiac, Mich.

Mr. Westbrook joined the Lock Company in 1903 as foreman of the pattern room, was promoted to works manager in 1911 and elected to the board of directors in 1944. He was vice president from 1946 until his retirement in 1949.

"He was well liked and an outstanding man," said the firm's president and managing director E. H. Howson, "and was considered one of the best builders' hardwaremen in Canada."

Prominent in church, fraternal and social affairs, he was a member of Murray St. Baptist church, the Corinthian Lodge AF and AM 101, and of the Peterborough Club and Peterborough Golf and Country Club. Mr. Westbrook was on the advisory vocational committee of the Board of Education for some time.

Funeral service will be held Saturday at the Comstock funeral home at 2 pm. The Rev. Ivan C. Morgan will officiate and burial will be at Little Lake cemetery.

Voting Recount

CAMPBELLFORD, Dec. 20. (ENS)—Town Clerk J. F. McGregor has received word from Judge M. A. Miller that a recount will be made of the ballots cast in the election of Deputy-Reeve at the municipal elections held here on December 3. The recount will be held on January 3, 1952, at Campbellford. In the contest for deputy-reeve, Oscar Mason, last year's deputy, defeated Wm. R. Nicholas, a member of the 1951 council, by the slim majority of 14 votes.

Hitching Ride Behind Car, Boy Trips, Struck

An eight-year-old schoolboy is lying in critical condition in Civic hospital after being struck Wednesday afternoon by a passing car.

The boy is Ralph Shaw, 35 Lafayette St., son of Mrs. Mary Shaw. He has a fractured skull, a badly torn scalp, broken nose and possible internal injuries.

At noon today his condition was only fair and he was still unconscious.

Ralph, with two school chums, was hitching a ride behind a car going south on Monaghan Rd. when he lost his balance and fell in front of a northbound car. The car that clipped him was driven by William Mood, 30, Birdsall.

On Way Home

The three boys had just come from Prince of Wales school and were on their way home. For a prank they hung onto the rear bumper of the southbound car as it pulled away from the curb. Because of the icy surface of the road they were able to slide along, towed by the moving car.

One eyewitness said that when the car approached a bare patch in the road Ralph let go. The momentum caused him to tumble to the left into the path of the northbound car driven by Mood.

The left front fender of the car and parking light struck the boy a glancing blow and knock him unconscious onto the road. Mr. Mood wrapped him in a blanket and he was taken to hospital where he was given a blood transfusion.

Jack Playford, a chum of Ralph's who lives across the road at 32 Lafayette St., said school was out and they were on their way home. He saw Ralph "hitching a ride" behind the car but he didn't see the collision.

Heard Thud

"I heard a thud and then I saw Ralph lying in the road," said young Playford. "He was bleeding bad."

Mrs. Shaw can't understand why her son would do such a thing.

"He is a quiet boy and it's very unlike him to do anything like that. Now if it were Frank (refering to her other son) I wouldn't be surprised."

Ralph is a Grade II pupil at Prince of Wales School. He has a brother Frank 10, and a younger sister Patsy, 5.

Ennismore Home Destroyed Loss Estimated At $20,000 When Oil Furnace Explodes

Beautiful Summer-Winter Home Of James Buchanan Complete Loss Hydro Cut-off Had Stopped Furnace

BRIDGENORTH, Dec. 20. (ENS) — Fire destroyed the Ennismore summer-winter home of Mr. and Mrs. James Buchanan Wednesday afternoon after an oil furnace exploded and spewed flame throughout the utility room in which the furnace was located. The loss is estimated at about $20,000 by the Bridgenorth fire department and insurance on the building and contents amounts to $13,000, Fire Chief Al Crowe said. The one-storey ranch style building, built of frame, is located on the west shore of Chemong lake just south of the causeway.

Mr. Buchanan, who operates a china store in Peterborough, was away from his home Tuesday and returned Wednesday to find the oil burner not functioning. A hydro cut-off in Ennismore Tuesday had automatically stopped the furnace.

Mr. Buchanan said he phoned an oil furnace installer and got instructions about how to start it. He pressed the starter button and the furnace began.

He went outside and shovelled a path to his garage. When he came back the furnace had gone out again. He went to the phone to call the oil furnace man again, but before making the call tried the master switch near the phone. The furnace started again and he didn't make the call.

A few minutes later he noticed smoke coming out from under the door of the utility room. He opened the door and found the smoke filling the room and flames were eating into the ceiling.

He rushed out to the garage to get a hose and dragged it around to the front to a water connection. But water in the pipe was frozen. He then ran into the house and phoned the Bridgenorth fire department.

While he was phoning he got his lungs full of smoke and was driven outside. He tried to get into his bedroom through a window to get some of his wife's jewellery, but again the smoke forced him back.

He could do nothing but stand and watch his home go up in flames.

Firemen directed their efforts to saving a garage about 40 feet from the building. A boathouse was scorched, and firemen soaked a nearby cottage owned by Hugh Davis of Peterborough, as a precaution against sparks setting fire to it.

Had No Warning Death Possible Doctor Explains

COBOURG, Dec. 20 (ENS). — "There was no previous indication that any trouble would occur, said Dr. W. E. Wilkins, Cobourg physician, in regard to the death of Fred Moore, 45-year-old Cobourg man who died on Monday night after Dr. Wilkins had extracted five teeth.

Moore, employed by the local foundry, sustained a fractured leg some time ago and was drawing workmen's compensation. He arranged to have some teeth extracted as he had been suffering from neuralgia, Dr. Wilkins said.

"I extracted five of his teeth and washed the patient up and awaited him to come out of the anaesthetic. I then noticed that he was breathing with difficulty and I took steps to revive him and also gave him artificial respiration. I also called another doctor. However, he failed to respond, and died," said Dr. Wilkins.

Dr. Wilkins added that he had given the patient gas before pulling his teeth and then gave him chloroform and ether.

As Dr. Wilkins is a Cobourg coroner, a Port Hope coroner, Dr. L. E. Wrathall, was called. On Tuesday afternoon an autopsy was performed by Dr. Hans Luecke of Belleville. Crown Attorney said an inquest would be called, but he was unable to say when.

Three Injured In Accident Awarded $4,528 By Court

Three persons injured in a car accident in September 1949 have been awarded a total of $4,528 damages by Mr. Justice J. M. King at the current non-jury sittings.

William Harrison, 28, gets $528 for medical and out-of-pocket expenses and general damages. His wife Dolly, 21, gets $3,500 damages, including compensation for the physical and emotional effects of a miscarriage. The Harrisons are formerly of Peterborough but now live in Oshawa.

Ernest G. Johnston, 51, Morrow St., the third plaintiff in the action, gets $500. He was hospitalized for four days, received an injured left side, and was out of work for some time.

Near Bowmanville

The action stemmed from an accident at 4.30 pm on September 29, 1949. Mr. Harrison was driving east on Highway 2, two miles east of Bowmanville when he came into collision with a westbound car driven by Ken McCannan, Clonsilla Ave.

The Harrison car turned over in the ditch injuring all three occupants—the two Harrisons and Mr. Johnston.

Mr. Harrison received facial cuts, bruises and had a tooth knocked out. He was in hospital overnight. Mr. Johnston did not go to hospital until several days later, after he found his left leg and left side bothering him. An old lung condition was also aggravated.

Result Of Accident

Mrs. Harrison received cuts on the head and bruised legs. She was six months pregnant at the time and later had a miscarriage which Justice King found was caused by the crash.

Mr. McCannan was exonerated of any liability in the accident after a suit was brought against him. The action was dismissed by Chief Justice McRuer, and Ernest E. Molone, Buckingham, Que., was named defendant.

As Mr. Molone could not be located the suit was brought against the Registrar of Motor Vehicles and the money will be paid out of the unsatisfied judgments fund.

W. J. Arthur Fair, KC, was counsel for the plaintiffs, and Gordon H. T. Farquharson represented the Registrar.

The defendant admitted liability and Justice King heard the evidence to assess damages.

Six Canadians Held By Reds In POW Camps

WASHINGTON, Dec. 20 (CP)—Six members of the United States armed forces with next of kin in Canada were listed by the War Department Wednesday among Allied prisoners of war in Communist North Korea.

Five are members of the US army. Another is a member of the US air force. Their names were among 3,198 US prisoners handed by the Communist enemy to United Nations truce negotiators in Korea.

Four of them have next of kin in Ontario; the others in New Brunswick and Winnipeg.

Their names were released as the huge job of double-checking and clarifying the US prisoner list cabled here passed the halfway mark late last night at US defence headquarters.

List Prisoners

The US prisoners with Canadian next of kin are:

Sgt. Daniel Martinez, US 7th Division, whose wife, Mrs. Joganna Martinez, lives in Toronto.

Cpl. John A. Davis, whose mother, Mrs. Edna D. Brooker, lives at St. Catharines.

Pte. Yvon J. Maillet, whose parents, Mr. and Mrs. Donat Maillet, live in St. Edward, NB.

Sgt. Kenneth E. Kisser, whose wife, Mrs. Dorothy May Kisser, lives in Winnipeg.

Pte. Richard D. Drennan, son of Mr. and Mrs. Vance Drennan, of Kingsville, Ont.

Pte. Charles Sacco, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ross Sacco, of Guelph.

Davis, who served with the US 1st Cavalry Division, was reported missing 13 months ago. Maillet was with the 4th Infantry Division. Both men were listed as being held at a prison camp in Pyok-Dong which is near the Yalu River, 50 miles northeast of Sinuiju.

Kisser, who served in the air force, was reported also killed at Pyok-Dong.

Drennan was attached to the US 24th Division while Sacco was a member of the 2nd Infantry Division. They and Martinez were listed at the Red POW camp at Changsong, about 30 miles northeast of Sinuiju.

Gnr. John Orval Jenkins, RCA, of Hamilton, was the only Canadian soldier whose name appeared on the Communist prisoner list. He, too, was reported held at Pyok-Dong.

Campbellford Church Club Holds Party

CAMPBELLFORD, Dec. 20—(ENS)—Mr. and Mrs. Murray Meiklejohn played host to the members of the UR Welcome Club of St. Andrew's Presbyterian church on Monday evening for the annual Christmas party.

President Eva Fraser took charge of the meeting, with Mrs. Fred Rabethge accompanying at the piano for the singing of several carols. Ruth Fraser played two piano slections. The exchange of gifts among those in attendance was a highlight of the evening.

Prior to returning to their homes, Don Sharp thanked Mr. and Mrs. Meklejohn for the warm welcome received in their home, on behalf of the members of the club.

SNOWCYCLE—This inventive Italian liked to do his skiing sitting down, so he invented what he calls a "snowcycle." It's fun coasting down the Alpine slopes near Cortina, but the "snowcycle, like its summer counterpart, has to be pushed uphill.

BREAK THE LAXATIVE HABIT THIS PROVEN WAY

If you take laxatives regularly, here is how you can stop! This proven plan helps you establish your natural powers of regularity, controlled tests prove.

Stop taking whatever you now take. Instead, every night for one week take two Carter's Little Liver Pills. Second week—one each night. Third week—one every other night. Then nothing! Every day drink eight glasses of water; set a definite time for regularity. This plan was proven in scientifically controlled tests.

How can a laxative break the laxative habit? Because Carter's unblock the lower digestive tract and from then on let it make use of its own natural powers. Further, Carter's contain no habit forming drugs. Break the laxative habit with Carter's . . . be regular naturally.

When worry, overwork, overeating make you irregular temporarily—take Carter's temporarily. Never get the laxative habit.

Get mild, gentle Carter's Little Liver Pills at any drug store. Only 25c. You'll be grateful the rest of your life.

Roseneath Man Buried, Aged 83

ROSENEATH, Dec. 20 (ENS)—The funeral service for the late John Baxter was held Monday at McMillan's funeral home, Roseneath, and was conducted by the Rev. R. C. White, pastor of Roseneath United Church.

Mr. Baxter died Friday at the home of his son, Herbert Baxter, Norwood, after a brief illness.

He was born in Alnwick township 83 years ago, a son of the late John Baxter and Mary Elizabeth Brown and the greater part of his life was spent in this community. He moved to Norwood three years ago.

He was a successful farmer, a member and regular attendant of Roseneath United Church and a member of Merrill's cemetery board.

His wife the former Wealtha White, died eight years ago. He is survived by one son, Herbert of Norwood, four foster daughters, Mrs. Willis Blodgett, Lakeport; Mrs. Gordon Brown, Detroit; Mrs. William Mouncey, Cobourg; Mrs. Wilson Thomas, Peterborough; also a sistor, Mrs. Frank Etcher, Centreton.

Pall-bearers were his former neighbors: Andrew Brown, Fred Lewis, Rae Brown, James Thompson, James Brown and Fred Norris. Neighbors also carried the floral tributes: Herbert McCracken, Alex Spiers, Ross McCracken and James Webb.

Burial was in Merrill's cemetery.

Friends and relatives were present from Orillia, Lakeport, Colborne, Cobourg, Norwood, Havelock and Roseneath.

Toronto Fire Spoils Christmas

TORONTO, Dec. 20 (CP)—The official records will give only a few lines to a west-end fire Wednesday night, but to a 45-year-old widow and her family it meant heartbreak.

Mrs. Rose Stuebing, her son Billy, 17, her daughter Ethel, 19, and Ethel's 14-month-old baby lost all their possessions when fire gutted three of four rooms occupied by the family. Also destroyed were the family's Christmas presents.

Employed by a silversmith, Mrs. Stuebing had bought the gifts with her pay and hidden them for the big day. Now the family won't even be together at Christmas.

"Yes, I know," Mrs. Stuebing said, "I'm thankful it wasn't worse, but when you try and keep a family together through the years, and then this. This was our third home since the summer. Landlords don't want people with babies."

Flood Relief

OSLO (CP)—The Norwegian Parliament has voted 100,000 kroner (about $15,000 Canadian) to relief for victims of the North Italy floods and King Haakon himself donated 1,000 kroner. Contributions of money, food and clothing are coming from all parts of Norway.

Must Stay Single

PRETORIA, South Africa — (CP). — The South African Defence Force has ruled that lieutenants and sub-lieutenants of the permanent force may not marry under the age of 23. Cadet officers are also barred from marriage while taking courses for commissioned rank.

Special Parley Held With St. Laurent

OTTAWA, Dec. 20 — (CP). — Prof. Edgar W. McInnis, president oif the Canadian Institute of International Affairs, conferred today with Prime Minister St. Laurent and External Affairs Minister Pearson.

Prof. McInnis, a native of Charlottetown and a member of the faculty of the University of Toronto, was named December 10 as first incumbent of the newly-created presidency of the institute, as a senior, full-time executive for a five-year period.

He was accompanied today by Walter Gordon, Toronto, chairman of the executive committee.

"We had a very satisfactory talk with both the Prime Minister and Mr. Pearson," said Prof. McInnis. "They hope to be helpful to the institute and are hopeful that the institute will be helpful to them."

In Its 25th Year

The institute, now in its 25th year, aims at placing "essential and accurate information on Canadian affairs before the Canadian public," he said.

It was to further those aims that he conferred with the Prime Mininster and Mr. Pearson. He will remain in Ottawa until Friday for conferences with External Affairs officials and others.

Victor Sifton, Winnipeg, elected as president last October, took the newly-created elective office of chairman of the National Council, in the reorganization.

Costs so little SAVES YOU SO MUCH

You can do the same work on this ironer as you would do on a cabinet model. Yet it costs less than half the price.

ONLY $99.50

THE NEW Beatty

SPACE SAVER IRONER

IRONS EVERYTHING

Yes, it irons men's shirts — and kiddies' dresses, too, and curtains and curtain ruffles. It will press and pleat perfectly.

Just one simple motion to run it — just press the lever down. It locks in position and both your hands are free to guide the clothes. It is equipped, of course, with switch, signal light and thermostat. Plug the cord into any wall socket — no special wiring is needed.

IT IRONS — PRESSES — STEAMS

Compare this ironer with others costing twice as much. The roll of the Space Saver is bigger and longer — saves crimping on flat wear. The ironing shoe is wider and longer, with a much greater ironing surface. The heat is really efficient—1050 watts — and thermostat controlled. But look at the difference in price!

FREE DEMONSTRATION

Spirits Consumed By Canadians Set New Record

OTTAWA, Dec. 20 (CP).—The apparent consumption of spirits in Canada set a record in the 1950-51 fiscal year, while consumption of beer dropped and wine rose from the previous year, the Bureau of Statistics reported Wednesday.

The bureau said measurement of the actual consumption is "extremely difficult." It also noted that some 24,000,000 visitors entered Canada during the year under review.

For spirits, the apparent consumption in the year ended March 31 last was 8,030,000 proof gallons, compared with 6,969,000 the year before. The increase was 15 per cent.

Beer fell off to 178,270,000 gallons from the peak of 181,442,000 gallons the previous year. Wine increased to 5,200,000 gallons from 4,894,000. The wine record was in 1946 with 5,584,000 gallons.

Estimated Expenditure

The estimated expenditure on all alcoholic beverages in the year ended March 31, 1950, was $642,000,000, a 4.5 per cent increase over the $614,000,000 of the previous year.

The bureau said more than half the amounts spent in both years went to governments in duties, taxes and other revenues.

Production of spirits during the last fiscal year went to 23,551,000, from 20,741,000 proof gallons. Output of beer fell to 179,625,000 gallons from 182,718,000. Wine produced but placed in storage for maturing increased to 5,884,000 gallons from 3,999,000. Fermented wine bottled or sold in bulk during the year advanced to 4,458,000 from 4,287,000 gallons.

Exports of Canadian - made spirits during the year rose to 5,432,000 proof gallons valued at $46,750,000, as compared with 4,004,000 proof gallons worth $32,342,000 the year before. Beer exports were 1,738,000 gallons ($1,849,000), compared with 1,329,000 gallons ($1,513,000). Exports of wine were minor.

Libel Suit Settled

CHICAGO, Dec. 20 — (AP).—A million dollar libel suit against Robert Montgomery, movie and television actor, was settled on Wednesday by payment of $2,500 to charity. Judge Harold G. Ward of Superior Court dismissed the suit of State Senator William J. Connors, Chicago Democrat, when the Senator accepted five sheques for $500 each, made out to five charities.

The remaining officers will be appointed by the worshipful master elect at a future meeting.

Senators Approve NATO Plan Linking Greece And Turkey; Support Pearson Proposals

OTTAWA, Dec. 20 — (CP) — Canada's External Affairs Minister Pearson said Wednesday the Western World has more to gain than to lose by admission of Greece and Turkey to the North Atlantic Treaty Organization, despite the threatening attitude of Russia.

He told the Senate's external relations committee the move would be a step toward peace rather than war. It would protect NATO's southern flank at a place where aggression could spark a third world war whether Greece and Turkey were allies or not.

Russia, he said, had threatened Turkey that she would consider Turkish membership a provocative act. But he did not believe that the Kremlin, despite that threat, would do anything as a result that Russia would not do otherwise.

The minister urged Senate endorsation of the protocol signed by the 12 NATO member countries for admission of Greece and Turkey.

When parliament approved the protocol, he said, it was not planned to proclaim it immediately. Canada planned to wait and see how other countries were getting along with the necessary parliamentary approval.

The Senate immediately took the minister's advice. Meeting shortly after the committee broke up, it unanimously endorsed the protocol which, when approved by the legislatures of all member states, will allow an invitation to Greece and Turkey to come into NATO as full members.

Senator John T. Haig, Progressive Conservative leader, Senator Leon Gouin (L, Quebec), chairman of the committee, and others had high praise for Mr. Pearson's work in the international field in the last year.

Mr. Pearson made these other points:

1. Canada hopes for the emergence of a European community—he said he liked that phrase because it was indefinite—and an Atlantic community and possible eventual merging of the two.

2. No question had arisen about Yugoslavia's entry into NATO. If she were attacked, she undoubtedly would appeal to the UN.

3. There were many who believed that admission of Spain to NATO would produce political problems which would outweigh any military advantages.

4. The burden-sharing problem—what each country would contribute — was still one of NATO's biggest problems. There was no use having 40 divisions of armed strength if it meant economic ruin of which the Communists would take advantage.

5. The time was coming when NATO would have to do more than simply discuss Germany German formations in the European army would bring the Republic into association with NATO if and when such an army was integrated with NATO.

St. Andrew's WMS Holds Special Service

MARMORA, Dec. 20—(ENS)—The WMS of St. Andrew's United church held their annual candlelight service in the church parlor Tuesday afternoon.

Members of the Evening Mission Circle assisted in the service.

After school hours, the girls group joined with the ladies and put on a playlet "The Story of Silent Night" during which the carol was sung.

Refreshments of fruit and candy were served by members of the WMS.

Asks Permission To Presume Wife Now Dead

HAMILTON, Dec. 20—(CP)—A petition by Johannes Juho Jeets, an Estonian refugee, who sought permission to presume the death of his wife, was granted Wednesnesday in county court.

Mr. Jeets arrived in Canada in September, 1950, and now owns a farm in the Hamilton district.

In the petition, Mr. Jeets said he has been unable to obtain evidence of the survival of his wife, Alma Krantz. He said she likely was executed by the Russians because of her association with an anti-Communist group.

Mrs. Jeets was a member of the legislative council of the Republic of Estonia and the leading member of the Defensive Alliance for Women for the city of Tallinn, an anti-Communist organization.

Mr. Jeets was separated from his wife and two daughters in September, 1944, by the invading German army. He was sent to build military installations in South Estonia. When the Russians entered the country he was not allowed to rejoin his family but he managed to reach Belgium.

The only information he received on his wife was a report that she was seen Sept. 23, 1944, with many refugees on the beach of the county of Laanemaa in Estonia where she was hoping to find passage on a small boat leaving for Sweden.

FIRE MARSHAL IS BURNING—Capt. John Degenkolb of the California State Fire Marshal's office, Los Angeles, steps back from the intense heat of flames consuming a knit rayon sweater just 15 seconds after he applied a match to it. Authorities are holding over 300 of the sweaters, being sold by itinerant pedlars, after at least four persons were burned when their sweaters flared.

Hostel Manager Speaks Six Languages, Expert Host For Immigrants

ST. PAUL L'ERMITE, Que.—Linguist, teacher, walking guidebook to Canada, Father Confessor and hotel director all rolled up in one—that's Jack Isaac, manager of the labor department's hostel for immigrants here.

Mr. Isaac speaks six languages and wishes he knew more. He needs them in his job of catering to anywhere up to 500 immigrant guests at a time who stop over for a few days in his multi-ligual hostel waiting for job assignments and a new life in Canada.

Mr. Isaac's uniquqe hotel is 25 miles east of Montreal. Here, in a very brief time, he manages to introduce his guests to the country, to the English language and to the national employment officers who will find them jobs.

German is probably the handlest language around the hostel as many of the immigrants have been in or around that country. It's a language often used by Mr. Isaac when he gives talks, often illustrated by films, on Canada.

A point is made of keeping families together during their stay here. Childless couples are in another part of the building, and single men and women in two other wings. Meals are eaten in shifts with family groups given priority.

House-keeping isn't the problem it might be in a transient hostel such as this. Many of the immigrants are slated for domestic work and there is never a shortage of capable help. With a minimum of permanent staff, the whole place is kept spotlessly clean.

Interviews with employment officers, talks by Mr. Isaac and lessons in basic English make for a full day. But, for those with time on their hands, there is a large, comfortable living-room complete with desks for letter writing, tables for cards and chess—the most popular game—and even a bowling alley.

Toughest Part Of Korean War Country Not Enemy Gunners Say

By BILL BOSS

WITH THE CANADIANS IN KOREA, Dec. 20 — (CP)—The toughest part of being a gunner in Korea, said the sergeant, is the country.

His crew emphatically agreed.

It was a fine December afternoon, about 50 degrees in the sun but underfoot the ground was gummy mud. Doldrums of the "twilight war" had settled along the front and only the occasional harassing round boomed forth from the 25-pounders of the 2nd Regiment Royal Canadian Horse Artillery.

Leon Brasseur of Penetanguishene, 29-year-old jack-of-many-trades with itchy feet, was sergeant of the nearby gun. It was in a valley cupped between two 20-foot hills and they, he said, represented the greatest difficulty a gunner faces here.

"It's really hard to find a good place to site your gun," he said—"too many hills."

Roads Too Small

"You can't have too big a hill ahead of you or close to you, otherwise you can't shoot over them. And the other trouble is the roads. They're small, some of them, just tracks, and can't take traffic."

Apart from hills and roads, the sergeant said, "I figured it would be a helluva lot worse than it's been."

"I guess it's because the Chinese haven't been using their air power that we haven't been catching anything at all in the way of 'incoming mail.'

"They've got artillery, we know, but the infantry seems to be catching it all. The other night we had our first dose since coming to Korea—10 rounds."

The sergeant indicated a series of craters 75 yards from the gun position—"they're the first we've had near any of our gun positions since coming to Korea."

Much Worse In Italy

Gunner Robert Marshall of Charlottetown PEI, one of Brasseur's detachment, said "it was much worse than this in Italy," where he was an artillery signaller in the Second World War.

Also in agreement was Bdr. Bill Masson of Montreal and Toronto, former manager of the "Skipper Restaurant" on Toronto's Queen's Quay.

Masson, who went to Canada from Scotland in 1948 after long service in the British army, added: "I much preferred the Middle East to Korea—you could get away to civilization once in a while."

Brasseur, who even in Canada liked to roam around, echoed, "perhaps Korea wouldn't be so bad if occasionally you could get away from it."

Ready To Leave

The sergeant, who has risen from gunner to his present rank in the theatre, has decided ideas about Korea.

A gunner during the Second World War, he worked after his discharge in a Penetanguishene shoe factory, as a fireman on a Great Lakes steamer, a logger at Heron Bay, Ont., and on a railway extra gang.

"If I had my way about it I wouldn't stay here a day longer. It's just the country and its people that get me.

"Not that we have much association with the people . . ."

Johnnie, the Korean houseboy batting for the detachment, interrupted with a rousing, "Aw, shut up!"

"He picks up English pretty well," nodded Brasseur, ignoring Johnnie's obvious disagreement with the tenor of his remarks.

"I really feel they don't want us here at all. I've no particular reason for saying that. It's just the way I feel."

Heaviest Shoots

He figured that his guns' heaviest shoots were in recent weeks, when the 2nd Battalion Royal 22nd Regiment blocked massed Chinese assaults on their positions supported by RCHA gunfire.

One night when the Vandoos were attacked we fired 400 rounds It was really cold and I remember slipping and sliding on the hard ground. Every time we had a break we'd dash back and drag more ammunition out of the pits."

That was just hard work, he summed up. "In terms of campaigning, it's not such a tough go."

Others besides Masson and Marshall on Brasseur's crew are gunners James Ferris of Wolfville, NS, Roy Spencer of Glace Bay, NS, Alfred Coe of Montreal, Ted Lane of Regina, and Ches Nalewajek of Montreal, who was on leave in Tokyo that afternoon.

Personal Standard For Duke Of Edinburgh

NEWCASTLE, England (CP)—A new royal standard takes its place in history, puzzling many who see it for the first time.

This is the personal standard of the Duke of Edinburgh, flown for the first time at the end of November when the Duke opened a new engineering section at Newcastle's King College.

Part of the arms are already well known, being those of Princess Elizabeth. The half nearest the hoist, however, bears the three lions of Denmark (blue on gold), and the Greek cross (white on blue). Beneath are part of the Battenburg arms and a representation of Edinburgh Castle and the rock on which it stands (black and red on white).

From now on, his standard will be flown when Philip makes official appearances at any ceremony. Should Princess Elizabeth accompany him, however, her standard takes precedence.

$100 Monthly Pension After 25 Yr. Service

BELLEVILLE, Dec. 20—(CP)—A $100-a-month pension at 65 years of age after 25 years' service is provided for in an agreement signed Wednesday between the Bakelite Company of Canada and the United Rubber Workers of America (CIO-CCL).

The company also granted an 18-cent-an-hour wage increase, bringing the average rate for the 150 employees to $1.38 an hour.

STURDY OAK

The oak tree may attain a height of 100 feet in dense forests but in the open is generally 60 to 80 feet high.

AT DISARMAMENT TALKS—New Minister of State Selwyn Lloyd, above, represents Great Britain on a Big Four subcommittee holding secret meetings in Paris to set up a 12-nation disarmament program. Others of the subcommittee are Philip Jessup, US; Foreign Minister Vishinsky, Russia, and Jules Moch of France.

College Training Under Fire

TORONTO — (CP). — University of Toronto students gave their opinion of today's universities in a series of articles in a special year-end issue of The Varsity, student newspaper.

They are not impressed.

Modern students are more concerned with earning than learning and are too concerned with studies to bother about education, a number of senior students concluded. The Rev. Ralph Wintrob said this attitude was defeating the meaning and purpose of a university.

The Rev. R. S. K. Seeley, Provost of Trinity College, said that a university has three functions: To raise the general level of education; to train experts in a wide professional field; to provide community leadership. No one knows if the university can perform all three duties, he said.

A number of students criticized the system of examinations and competition with fellow students. the only competition should be the completion of ideas, said Horace Kreves.

Philip To Be Lively Royal Santa Claus

By NORMAN CRIBBENS

LONDON, Dec. 20—(Reuters)—Britain's Royal family are all set for a real children's Christmas at Sandringham, Norfolk, their picturesque country home.

A sparkling 12-foot Christmas tree, bedecked with toys and ice cream fairies, will stand in the ballroom and around it, shouting and clapping with glee, will be 3-year-old Prince Charles and his 16-month-old sister, Princess Anne. Also present will be five other Royal children—Prince William and Prince Richard, the Duke of Kent, Prince Michael and Princess Alexandra.

Prince Charles, now old enough to know what Christmas is all about, is eager for a sight of white-bearded Santa. But he will not know that the jolly old gentleman in the red cloak is his father, Prince Philip.

The Duke is undoubtedly the man for the job. The King, though much recovered from his lung operation last September, will be content with a quieter role in the festivities.

But his enthusiasm for a real old-fashioned family Christmas remains undimmed by the years.

The King and Queen leave London by train for Sandringham Friday. Great-grandmother Queen Mary—still an enthusiast at all the family get-togethers even at 84 — will travel down a day earlier.

Princess Elizabeth and the Duke, with Charles and Anne, and Princess Margaret will arrive the next day. With them will come the Duke and Duchess of Gloucester, with Prince William and Prince Richard, and the Duchess of Kent with the Duke of Kent. Prince Michael and Princess Alexandra, who celebrates her 15th birthday Christmas Day.

Sandringham House is being decorated with bunting and paper streamers, and with holly and mistletoe from the grounds. The Christmas tree was felled by the King's foresters.

At 3 pm Christmas Day, the King, speaking from his quietly furnished study at Sandringham House, will make his customary Christmas broadcast. A lone BBC technician will spend Christmas in Sandringham to put the King on the air.

On Christmas Eve the Royal family attend a carol service at centuries-old Sandringham church. Afterward they set out their Christmas gifts to each other on trestle tables around the tree. These are handed out after breakfast Christmas morning.

Then they attend morning services, sitting in a time-worn pew carved with saints and angels. Behind them, dressed in their Sunday best, will be game-keepers, foresters and farm workers on the Sandringham estate.

Lunch will be served in the long mahogany-panelled dining room of Sandringham House. Although the Royal family dine again at night, the mid-day meal usually consists of turkey and a plum pudding containing silver charms.

In the afternoon the King and Queen present gifts to their household staff. Customarily, these are useful articles such as hair brushes, suitcases, umbrellas, walking sticks and savings certificates.

All afternoon the children will be busy with their games—charades, blind man's bluff, oranges and lemons and hide-an-seek. Later they will be joined by their parents and the fun will continue until bedtime.

After dinner at night adult members of the family sing around the piano, usually played by Princess Margaret, tell ghost stories and put together jig-saw puzzles—a favorite Christmas pastime with the King and Queen.

On Boxing Day, if he is well enough, the King hopes to go shooting on the estate and his many sporting guns are being cleaned and oiled in readiness.

The Royal family usually stay at Sandringham until the end of January, for this is perhaps the only season of the year when they can really relax and be at their ease.

DOROTHY DIX

Girl Four Years Older Said Too Old For Mere Youth of 18

DEAR MISS DIX: My 18-year-old son graduated from prep school in June and is now in college. During vacation he met a girl four years older than he. She attended high school and has been working for the past three years. At the time, I didn't think anything of the friendship as I was sure a girl her age would not be interested in a mere boy. Now I find they are talking about going steady. He still has six years of school, then will probably serve a few years in the army. Do you think I should talk to the girl? I feel she is too old for him and he should finish his education before talking of going steady.

M. W.

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: I agree with both your conclusions; the girl is too old for your son and he should complete his education before taking up a serious romance. However, "going steady" with young folks today does not carry the implications it did a generation ago, when the term was almost tantamount to being engaged. Nowadays, two dates seem to constitute "going steady." If your son is away at college, the separation will probably solve the problem, since a girl of 22 is very unlikely to enjoy a dateless existence.

College activities and new friends will also divert your son's attention; the budding romance will probably go no further.

Interference Unwise

I wouldn't advise your talking to the girl, unless the young people did become so seriously attached to each other that your son considered giving up college. Any attempt on your part to control the situation, at this point, will only be construed as meddling and interfering—which, on just analysis, is exactly what it would be.

Of course you have the welfare of your boy very much at heart, but you cannot overlook the fact that a college boy of 18 has a mind of his own and will not be pushed either into or out of things. He has reached the point of his life where you are the guide—not the sole director—of his destiny. Pointing out the hazards of a strong romantic attachment at 18 is about as far as you can go. It is probably as far as will be necessary.

Your boy will have many girl friends before he decides on a bride; don't view each one as a potential danger. You have the makings of a possessive mother; don't carry the role too far.

✧ ✧ ✧

DEAR MISS DIX: Mother is our problem. We are two married sisters asking your opinion. Mother has grown away from us although we have asked her repeatedly to come over. Our husbands are very good to her in everything, but they are now getting discouraged over her actions. Lately she has gotten very fond of social life, lives way beyond her means, smokes—but doesn't think we know. We no longer feel we can take our troubles to her. We both have children but she doesn't seem to pay any attention to them. Her health is very good, but she seems tired—probably from so much going out.

LONESOME DAUGHTERS

ANSWERS: Don't condemn your mother so easily; give her credit for trying to live her own life instead of being dependent on her children for all social activity. If you love her, don't make present actions an excuse to avoid her. Visit as often as you possibly can, don't scold and don't—for the time being at least—try to change her way of living. She is making a gallant gesture of independence. Either ignore it when talking with her, or discuss it lightly. Don't make a tragedy or calamity of it.

Of course, the more you two girls draw yourselves from mother's company, the more determined she will be that she is not wanted and must make further evidence of her ability to go her way alone.

✧ ✧ ✧

DEAR MISS DIX: I am in my teens and this is my problem. Wally and I are very fond of each other. It is nothing but a beautiful friendship. His sister and I are

Says Recordings Aiding School Pupils

REGINA (CP)—Growth of musical insight in children can be aided by the judicious use of recordings in music appreciation classes, says Max Laidlaw, music supervisor for Regina public schools.

Mr. Laidlaw, who has set up a new system of teaching music in the schools here, said the music should be planned so that the children develop a "listening sense." This sense becomes discriminating in the higher grades as the child learns—through listening—to discriminate between good and poor music.

Mr. Laidlaw recommends the use of a piano for music appreciation—particularly in the lower grades. The fact that teacher is playing, even if only with two fingers, holds the interest of small children.

A better practice than having music periods in the lower grades was to make use of music throughout the day. When the children became restless five minutes of music put them back into a working mood.

Not Too Many Records

The use of records should be sparing with no lengthy introductions, he said. Discussion of music in the senior grades was encouraged after records had been played or songs sung.

In the higher grades in Regina schools, Mr. Laidlaw said, instrumental skill is encouraged by an arrangement with the music supervisers of the two collegiates who conduct instrument classes each week for public school students.

"These classes are of mutual benefit to both the collegiates and public schools," Mr. Laidlaw said. "They gave pupils with orchestral instrument ability greater scope for the activities and at the same time give the collegiates more opportunity to develop band activities and training."

Santa Entertained At Lively Party In YW Gym

A lively Christmas tree party took place in the YWCA gymnasium Wednesday afternoon with more than 250 children of the gymnasium swimming classes arriving to the sound of Jingle Bells. Among them were the children of the Shelter and St. Vincent's Orphanage who are guests each year.

Hovering near the well-laden tree, awaiting the arrival of Santa, were the sugar plum fairies, Diana and Marina Zakos, Earline Bellinger and Diane Mulcahy, and they did a special magic dance. Babies wearing pink silk tunics did a very pretty "mechanical doll" dance. A "Snowman dance" was put on by Nancy Girven, Marjorie Sherry, Catherine Ovens, Carol Howe and Linda Hayden.

Mabel McLaren sang several carols and then led the children in carol singing. One hundred of the babies gathered around the tree and pointing to the star sang "Away in the Manger."

Santa Claus (Stan McBride) arrived on the balcony to a great fanfare and then descended to the gym where he had a wonderful time playing and dancing with the children. He was entertained when Sophie Zakos, Beverley Martyn and Shirley Seymour danced the "Can Can" for him.

Carol singing from beautiful slides shown by Mr. K. McKee brought the happy evening to a close.

Mrs. B. McFadden Trinity WMS Head

Trinity WMS meeting was held Tuesday afternoon in the church parlour which was attractively decorated with the Nativity scene the keynote.

The call to worship opened the meeting which was conducted by President Mrs. A. Legon. In a short business session the various reports were read and approved. Corresponding secretary Mrs. J. N. Seasonal refreshments were served by the group in charge.

Queen Alex. Pupils Present Concert In Normal School

An enthusiastic crowd filled the auditorium of the Normal School Wednesday evening for the annual community Christmas concert sponsored by the Queen Alexandra Home and School Association. President Mrs. A. Black expressed a sincere welcome and Christmas greetings. Principal Mr. J. E. R. Munro was chairman for the excellent program.

Senior choir of the school, directed by Mr. Gaynor, sang two carols 'While Shepherds watched' and an old Bohemian carol "Yuletide Night." Miss Isabel Connelly's kindergarten children presented verse- speaking and a Christmas nativity play. Suitable costumes and characteristic acting made this playlet an outstanding number.

The Harmony Singers led by Mrs. Adam Sands sang "Syncopated Clock" "The Bells at Christmas" and "Lullaby," the latter two songs composed by Mrs. Sands. This group of women singers is fast becoming well known in the city.

Instrumental music by Mrs. Christopher Gledhill and Mr. Bernard Halloway, "Liebestraum" by Lizt and "Gavotte" by Popper, was much enjoyed. Two tap dancing numbers by Joanne Whitton in delightful costume were very popular with the audience.
